Gay Life in Rural Wisconsin

by Jerome M. (cont'd from issue 93)

Without hesitating I gladly got into the vehicle. Now that I look back on the situation my initial comment must have sounded so crazy, "what's up?" I blurted out. His reply, "that's up to you" just went directly over my head. As he drove out of the parking lot I was verbally expressing my disappointment as to the time of night and the restaurant closing. Then, with more of my stupidity, I said, "my car's back in the parking lot." He casually said, "let more hours from now, when WE get out of here, it'll still be there, I'll run you back out for it." As I reflected over the word WE it became quite apparent that I should reposition myself as my brain and hormones were kicking in (or trying to get out).

More prominent than the sound of the radio was the silence that came between us. I recognized the streets on which we were turning and so my anticipation over came me. I'd been at his house with all my straight friends, several summer cookouts, many winter parties. I never would have guessed that, one night, he could really be bringing me back to his house, my sister's best friend would be there, his WIFE.

As we pulled into the drive and the garage door was opening I noticed her car was gone. As with my other intelligent statements and a again not engaging my brain before my mouth, I uttered, stiffly, "is something wrong with Carol's car?" At that point I know he probably wished he'd latched on to someone born with a zipper instead of lips. "She's out of town for the next two days, don't worry, let this happen, we're fine."

After all these years I'm still not certain if I did the right thing, it was a turning point, as I reflect it was probably the one night that created a pattern. He wasn't a love, it wasn't a relationship, but 35 years later the second relationship in my life is again, a married man. I have no pros or cons as I have nothing to compare a my relationship with, I was never involved with a gay person that wasn't married.

The garage door closed, the bedroom door closed, there were no thoughts of pursuit until the next afternoon when he dropped me off, with his assistance, took both away from my car. That little unkind gesture took all the excitement and feeling from an otherwise wonderfully sexual encounter, and yes, even then, way back then, it was safe, yes, I thank him for touching me that even though it was force of habit as a birth control precaution.

Through cell after call I never got together with him again, then he stopped calling. I saw to it that I was always busy when Carol would invite me to a gathering. I owed her that, I owed both of them that courtesy. Two years later he left her anyway, he wasn't so careful that time, Carol is still incarcerated and each year a ceremonial run for him and most times in another column of the paper cars appears for his very young friend. That night could be a novel of it's own.

Several months before the tragic incident with Carol she herself had unknowingly introduced me to the person that executive director, AIDS Resource Center of Wisconsin, Inc. "This annual event has enabled the AIDS Resource Center of Wisconsin and its service agencies to consistently provide the highest quality case management and support services."

A capacity crowd of nearly 1,000 people filled the Pfister Hotel's Grand Ballroom in 1993 and raised over $84,000 for vital AIDS care, prevention and research services of the AIDS Resource Center of Wisconsin, Inc.

Items to be featured in this year's silent auction include hotel packages, a baseball autographed by Milwaukee Remover Darryl Hamilton, artwork, synchroons, aprons and bath towels, diners and a season boarding pass to the Mississippi Belle II Gambling Boat.

would turn my life upside down for the next 13 years, and I mean upside and then to a roller coaster down side, her brother-in-law, who I will call Doug. Now fully making my mind and when I expect my life becomes more explicit, these next years are graphically sexual.

Lemon Garlic Chicken Thighs

The secret to getting the outside of these chicken thighs so crispy and keeping the inside so juicy, is that they bake on a rack at a rather high temperature. Use a cooling rack to allow the fat to drip off. The tomatoes add a contrasting natural sweetness to the lemony chicken.

For 4 servings you will need: 8 chicken thighs, juice of 1 lemon, 1 clove garlic (minced), half tsp dried thyme leaves, white pepper, 10 cherry tomatoes, 2 tsp butter or margarine. Wash and pat dry chicken. Place chicken in a bowl, toss the thighs with the mixture of the lemon juice, crushed garlic and thyme. Refrigerate for 2 hours or more, turn pieces at last once. Place thighs on a rack in a baking pan, skin-side up. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Bake at 425 degrees for about 30 minutes. Halve cherry tomatoes. Melt butter, add tomatoes, cook 1 to 2 minutes to heat through. Put chicken on service platter, spoon on sauteed tomatoes. This chicken calls for a good spaghetti cooled sauce and the bested with butter, chopped parsley, and sprinkled with grated Parmesan cheese. A lot sauce salad with oil and vinegar and a crusty bread complete the menu.

BESTD Clinic: Another 'Friend'

For some time now, Milwaukee's TV Channel 6, WITI, has billed itself as "A friend you can count on." During the recent deep freeze of '94, the Brady East STD Clinic joined Channel 6 as another friend you can count on. While Metro Milwaukee grounds to a virtual halt as temperatures reached new record lows, BESTD Clinic remained open and fully staffed January 13th through 19th. "It is from," stated Twentieth Ross Walker, that while government, service agencies and even business shut or slowed down, an all volunteer health care agency maintained it's regular schedule and full range of services. "63 clients braved the sub-zero weather to come to the clinic at 1240 East Brady Street for a variety of test, up and treatment. On Friday evening, January 14th, BESTD opened an outreach, anonymous HIV antibody testing clinic at the WRECK ROOM in the Third Ward. The owner of the WRECK ROOM provided food and beverage to keep the BESTD volunteers warm.

Walker, clinic Administrator, Bob Amelang and Medical Director, Dr. Kelly Ballist, also volunteers, with the leadership and determination to place personal comfort and "snow days" over public welfare, as a sideline, it was noted that Amelang had to wait for buses to get to the clinic, because his car was frozen. The Brady Clinic, celebrating its 20th year of service to greater Milwaukee, recently reaffirmed its status as an all-volunteer agency, offering services without charge and concentrating on delivering client services professional in sensitivity, current practices in addition to a anonymous HIV antibody counseling and testing and STD diagnosis, testing and treatment. A Women's Clinic run by women for women and support groups. The Clinic also produces a weekly call-in show on Channel 47, MATA, dealing generally with AIDS and HIV, especially prevention. For further information on services or schedules, call the Clinic at 272-214.

Dog Threat Guidelines

A threatening dog may show these signals:

- A. Hunchup, lips pulled back, ears erect.
- B. Stare back and tail.
- C. Stare you down, direct eye to eye contact.

- Your response:
- A. Never show you're afraid, take control.
 - B. Avoid the direct eye contact but always keep the animal in sight.
 - C. Clap your hands or shout in order.
 - D. Show your surroundings, if there is an object nearby grab it to use as a shield.
 - E. Never turn and never run. Slowly back away while always facing the animal.

It doesn't take a genius to figure out how important it is to be tested.

AROUND TOWN

Samantha: For Man is back. Gramma

To all: Have a great time on the run in Minnetonka Myrna

Bob: I enjoy our ice cream outings but most of all I enjoy you, Happy Valentine's Day. John Jerry (Argonauts - Green Bay): Heard you dialed a wrong number and got lucky.

Hathanders: Happy Valentine's Day Come and see me when you get a chance. I haven't changed, I can still captivate the best of us. Myrna Bob H. (Argonauts - Green Bay); I don't think that Mr. Otis wants people to bring their own "lids" on elevators. Just what "lids" were you intending to "graze" on? I heard you had a pocket full of condoms too. My, my, aren't we always prepared?

Samantha: Miss Piggy is back G. Schumway

Laurie B. (WhiteKnight): Remember January 16th? I do. Let's do it again. Love, Your Black Queen

Russel: Happy Valentine's Day. The other "plover".

Russel: Just what did you mean when you told Jerry (Green Bay) that he lost a pirate's dream - a stolen chest?

Carol (Walkers Point Marble Arcade): Why do you write "maybe" on all those cards? Your helper.

C. D.: Go for the White Knight, no more lonely nights. R.S.

Michael (1100 CLUB): Thanks for the bread but the birds thought it was "crummy", habashuhahin. Jerry M.

Anyone: Lil' Mark (1100 CLUB) wants to go skiing and is looking for a friend that's a 9/12.

Steve (GANUNGS): Heard you were at one of the local establishments spinning your rubbers. Or was that burning your rubbers?

Steve (1100 CLUB): Someone said

you choke on small bones, I have the remedy for you love the "chickens" alone. Mark

Rick B. (Oak Creek): What is this about your playing with a pickle on the foot rail of the bar? Pickles give warts, check your toes.

Mark: Heard after Steve (1100 CLUB) was over for dinner that you had to visit the mirrored ceiling in your dining room. Was the "glaze" too much? Myrna Blanche: Is POS (Paint/Oh! Style) or is it just plain PMS?

Rehine/John: Hope the house deal works out for you!!!!

Readers: For what has to be the best steak sandwiches anywhere you must try Walkers Point Cafe. Mouth watering and wonderful.

Shannon (Kathy's Nut Hut): Why were you laying in the street cheating "I've had enough, I've had enough"?

Gramma: Please hang on to my life line and navy blue gloves - I'll be back, soon, you can count on me honey. The Blonde that peels her french fries.

Al (1100 CLUB): Friday afternoon, your 15 minutes are up and I'm still waiting. Myrna Tim (Cafe Pylitis): You certainly know how to play those keys! Sorry you couldn't make it for dinner Saturday night.

John: Happy Valentine's Day. David G.

Barb M.: Cheryl tells me that you having been rickin' hoses lately. How on earth can you get those logs that far apart ????? Curious

Mark: You did a beautiful job turning your goons into drapes but why did you leave all the black beans on?????

Black Queen: Heard you tired of the bathroom faucet as you miss the forplay. Is that true????

Ferry (MARBLE ARCADE): Move the round mirror back to where the flamingo's are.

Laurie: Let's put the PIECES back together and get on with our lives.

Your husband.

Mary (1100 CLUB): Wednesday nights are now divine, you're a great cook! Most everyone I've talked to that hasn't ever had Mexican cuisine is now turned on and loves it. Art

Michael: Happy Valentine's Day Ferry

Flaunders: As Mac West once said, come on up and see me some time. Especially on fish fry night when I'm working. Schumway.

Gregg: Remember, Birthdays and sex don't mix, besides, at our age, who wants to waste perfectly good heavy breathing on candles? Love ya lots, John.

Dale: Do not walk behind me, do not walk next to me, either. Walk a couple steps in front. (You've got a great butt!). Rick

Cheryl: When we named the kittens Hoppe and Bacall how come you didn't know the difference. We can't change their names now. Debbie Mark W. (S. Post): It was a pleasure meeting you and your friends at the 1100 CLUB. Hope your trip to Indiana was eventful. Look forward to talking with you and visiting your fine city in a few weeks. Thanks. Myrna Bob H.: If you're reading this it means your "Enquirer" has safely arrived. Tell me more about the 2nd Annual Miss America Pageant to be held in September '94". Myrna

Fred: Not to be forgotten. We heard you've given up FISHING and gone on to greater pastures. Guess thing that you're now job down's require moving, you'd have to retain two urinals. Have you told you know who yet that Art is moving again, March 1st or there abouts? Now he knows, you won't have to break the news to him, I took care of that, after all, what are friends for? Myrna Chuck: And this too shall pass. Isn't it wonderful to truly realize that you have more friends than you thought? Your friends at the 1100 CLUB.

Scott K.: I see you received my gift. Pat B.

Ron T.: Our deepest sympathy in regard to the loss of your brother. We're all here if and when you need us! ALL of your friends

Art: Please settle in, my phrase directory lists like a chicken with dirty feet walked across your page. Myra Anyone: Heard Grandma and Michael are getting rid of their puppy (cat). His name is P&W. Anyone interested should give them a call.

Vicki: Sorry to hear about your bird. If you had been checked the top of your hat before you went back outside the damn thing wouldn't have cracked when it fell and hit the sidewalk. Mother

Russel: Russel the wonder muscle. Heard the only thing it's seen lately is the seat of a snow plow. Talk, talk, talk. Kac

Bob & Glenn: Urve a call or stop down the bar, would be a pleasure to see you and visit for awhile. Myra and Myrnette

Ed: Tell Chuck and Dean to give Grandma and Myra a call or stop down to see us.

J.B.: How's the teeth? Did you hit the door or did the door hit you? Shamus has several versions.

Chuck & Paul (Green Bay): Aren't those 130day mary's just wonderful? Glad you kids had a safe trip back that Sunday. Myra Don't forget that you're members of the Comdo Club, geez, I don't think any of us will forget!

Terry R. (Florida): You and your friend would have been better off taking a shower in your washer, that way only one thing would have gone through the floor. Mikey and Gramma Thad: Once again, Thank you for a memorable visit to Metro Milwaukee, unforgettable. Bob H.

Sammi: If you ever had a doubt about Myra being a friend, forget it, what other Queen do you know would throw a fuzzy shower for an honest goodness straight girl? Mom

Thrift Shopping

by Rob H

Picture a Saturday morning in Milwaukee. What should I do today? I could go shopping at Yanders or maybe Grand Avenue, so, not what the mood is calling for.

Well, if your short on cash, as we all are these days, and you want to do some serious thrifting, honey, walk the dog, get your pumps on and your purse ready as you'll be one the better part of the day.

Thrift store shopping is not only fun, it's a real emotional experience, especially for those of you that think the elite stores are the only store. That could be the thrill of a lifetime.

For those of you that love to treasure hunt I suggest hitting the thrift shops bright and early on Friday mornings as it has been my experience, for many years, that Don's the day they put out all the newly delivered stock that they've taken all week cleaning and polishing. Another, and most important reason, used stores, on Friday's and Saturday's have their half price sales, that could be on clothing or everything in the store.

For those of you that want worn out jeans and don't want to pay $45 or more you can pick them up for a mere $1.75, not only will you have those worn jeans but with a little imagination you can fantasize about who had them on before you and what those jeans may have seen.

From jeans to suits, dresses, shirts, coats, pots and pans, many miscellaneous housewares and wonderful furniture bargains for a fun filled day, with little to pay. Thrift store shopping is any kind of day.

Many of these stores are listed in the yellow pages or you can ask your friends where they shop.

Until we meet again, happy shopping.

YOUR RIGHT TO DIRECT YOUR FUTURE HEALTH CARE

You have the right to make decisions about your health care. This includes the right to accept or refuse medical or surgical treatment. You also have the right to plan and direct the types of health care you may receive in the future if you become unable to express your wishes. You can do this by making an advance directive.

An advance directive tells, in writing, your choices about the treatments you want or do not want or about how health care decisions will be made for you if you become incapacitated and cannot express your wishes.

An advance directive expresses YOUR personal wishes and is based upon your beliefs and values. When you make an advance directive, you will consider issues like dying, living as long as possible, being kept alive on machines, being independent, and quality of life.

If you are 18 years of age or older and of "sound mind", you can make an advance directive.

An advance directive speaks for you when you are unable to do so. Because it tells others the care and treatments you do or do not want and/or who will make health care decisions for you when you cannot express your wishes, it may relieve your family from the burden of guessing what you would want.

There are two ways to make a formal advance directive. You can complete either a "living will" or a "power of attorney for health care" document. These forms may be available from your health care provider or can be obtained from the Division of Health Department, Milwaukee County.

You do not need a lawyer to complete these forms. However, two persons must witness your signature to these forms. The forms themselves describe who may or may not be a witness. You may also express your wishes using other forms and do not have to use these formal documents to make an advance directive.

A living will informs your physician that you want to die naturally if you develop an illness or injury that cannot be cured. It tells your physician that, when you are near death or in a Comatose On Page # 13 Col 1 vegetative state, he or she should not use life-prolonging measures which postpone, but do not prevent, death. A living will allows you to refuse treatments or machines which keep your heart, lungs, or kidneys functioning when they are unable to function on their own. A living will goes into effect only when two physicians agree in writing that you are either near death and are unable to understand or express your health care choices, or are in a vegetative state that cannot be reversed.

The power of attorney for health care is a form in which you appoint another person, health care agent, to make health care decisions for you if you are not capable of making them yourself. When you complete this form, you give authority to your agent to make a wide range of health care decisions for you, such as whether or not you should have an operation, receive certain medications, or be placed on life support. In some areas of health care, your agent is not allowed to make decisions for you unless you give him or her specific authority in these areas when you complete the form. These areas are listed on the form itself. Because your agent will make decisions for you based upon what he or she knows about you and thinks is best for you, it is important to choose someone who knows you well and to discuss your treatment preferences with him or her. You can also include specific instructions about the type of treatments you want or do not want, such as surgery or tube feedings, when you complete the form. A power of attorney for health care goes into effect only when two physicians, or a physician and a psychologist, agree in writing that you can no longer understand your treatment options or express your wishes to others.
