FORTUNES by Tycho

For the week of April 1st.

General Outlook: Some pushing and shoving, combined with a balanced reserve at just the right time could mean an important advance for the Gay Movement.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)-You want to be the top man. You want to be the chief. What's good in the bedroom may not work quite as well in the board room. Learn how to move in and out of roles.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)-Promises, promises. Think about what you really want to be before you go giving everything away. What's going to bring the biggest interest? Remember when you wanted some respect as well as some admiration?

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)-Love at first sight, coupled with a strong sex drive, could send you far from home. A beautiful romance doesn't have to mean abandoning everything else in your life. You can retain a sense of balance.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)-Don't be an April Fool. Wait a minute, an hour, or even a month before making important decisions. Think about the difference in proving yourself as a sexual being or a human being.

LEO (July 23-August 22)-The spring cleaning you've been doing pays off. After you've gotten everything else in order, you're able to see yourself in a new, clear light. You'll feel like the new guy in town. You're shining brightly.

VIRGO (August 23-September 22)-Your fantasy life is fantastic. Enjoy its pleasures, without letting it get in the way. Try some of those new tricks with an old love and watch sparks fly.

LIBRA (September 23-October 22)-A friend could become your lover, or a lover could become a better friend. That's fine with you, but those that you're close to might have troubles with each other. Share.

SCORPIO (October 23-November 21)-Just because you feel sexy, energetic, and enthusiastic, you can't expect everyone else to feel the same. Pay special attention to the needs of others. Don't get too hot to handle.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22-December 21)-Competition turns into cooperation. Idle fantasy becomes useful imagination. The sense of adventure and challenge that's so important to you could return in a new and exciting way.

CAPRICORN (December 22-January 19)-When you find yourself grumping about the frivolity of others, remember the reasons for what you're trying to do. At the same time, don't forget how to laugh. It couldn't hurt, could it? You've got big responsibilities, but that doesn't mean you can't get down and dance.

AQUARIUS (January 20-Febuary 18)-Your love, your loyalty, your sense of fair play, just the way you move, all are truly beautiful now. Without even looking, you could find that perfect relationship you've been dreaming about.

PISCES (Febuary 19-March 20)-You're infected with spring fever and a touch of natcissism, so Tycho's advice to you is to enjoy playing with yourself! At least, enjoy the childlike feelings you're having. Remember the positive meaning of the word "fairy."

Legally Speaking Coming Out By Ron Ehemann

"Coming out" for a gay person is like being "born again." Ask a Christian when they were saved and you will get the precise date and time.

I came out of the closet in rural Illinois...

DeKalb to be exact, To be perfectly exact, I didn't totally come out, I just sort of poked my head past the door a bit.

In 1976, when I first put my name on the masthead of G.C. News, I was sure I had come out. There it was, in bold black print on a gay newspaper for God and the Chicago Police to see.

If it wasn't the paper, surely it must have been the day I sat my parents down and explained the facts of life or when my partner and I hung out our shingle as an openly gay law firm.

Well, even if I can't put my finger on the date, it must have happened. After all, aren't people always telling me how luckly I am not to have to fear discovery at work? Don't my lover and I have both our names on the checks?

I am told that coming out involves three phases. You first admit it to yourself, next you tell some select friends, and finally you reach the point where you don't really care who finds out you're gay. If that's true, perhaps few of us really ever totally come out.

Several weeks ago I agreed to speak at an upcoming seminar for gay student groups. They asked me to talk about the employment outlook for openly gay people. Hosted by the Northern Illinois University Gay/Lesbian Union, the semiar would be held in DeKalb.

The last time I was "home" was in 1971. Phase two of my coming out had just begun. I was a police officer both at the school and for the town immediately east. Now I had agreed to stand up on a campus I once attended and speak as a gay person, to gay people, about a gay topic... my heart was pounding. What would the Chief of Police think? He was not only my employer, but a trusted friend, a "father figure" to me.

I began to consider calling the campus and excusing myself from attendance. Realizing that the programs had been printed and the announcements already run in the local papers, I didn't cancel. But I did spend some time preparing to face my ex-colleagues in blue. Then it hit me . . . here I was worrying about a job I hadn't held in eleven years! How appropriate for someone who was to talk about employment discrimination.

I understood that employment discrimination goes beyond the fear that if discovered you will be terminated, or that you might not be hired in the first place. It goes beyond whether or not you will get that next promotion. When you are gay, the fear of exposure can effect the basic quality of your life.

My fear almost caused me to restrict my associations with other gay people.

The chilling effect on the freedom of association has been utilized by the courts for years as a reason for banning discrimination. Trade Unions and political parties have successfully argued that such fears which restrict those otherwise unseen rights are every bit as real as losing a job. And, those fears keep millions of gay people from reaching phase three of the coming out process. Down deep inside most of us never reach the point where we don't really care who finds out.

During prior speaking engagements I have been known to admit that I have never personally been victimized by discrimination. I hear other gay people make similar statements everyday. But to lthe extent that you decided not to attend your high school reunion, not to march in the parade or not to send that letter to your Congressman... to the extent you are afraid that everyone might know you're gay, you do experience discrimination.

Obviously I don't suggest that coming all

"Gay Day"

MILWAUKEE—The Gay Community at U.W.M. - (GCUWM) again is sponsoring its' annual "Gay Day" activities, Wed., April 7. In addition to films, a Union out-reach booth and special programs the group urges all gay men and women to wear "jeans" that day.

Joshua Dressler, Prof. at Hamlin Univ. of Law, St. Paul, will be the featured speaker in Union Room E 240 from noon-1:30 p.m. Prof. Dressler will speak on "morals" legislation and the Family Protection Act.

A "Queen of the Day" contest and party will be held in the UWM Fireside Lounge, Wed. 6:30 p.m. till 10. Dress up (or down) and you too could be the winner! Come and vote for your favorite "queen and/or find the "closet" woman. A $1 entrance fee will be charged to all contestants, with the proceeds going to charity. A Cash Bar will available.

the way out is right for everyone. Job loss is a reality. But I am suggesting that you make a committment to changing that reality, if only by refusing to say you have never experienced discrimination.

And there is hope. Last month, under pressure from civil rights groups, Reverend Sam Hart declined President Reagan's nomination to the U.S. Civil Rights Commission. Reverend Hart had publicly stated that gay people had no legitimate civil right claim. On March 19th, the Senate confirmed Reagan's choice for chairman of the commission, Clarence Pendleton. During his confirmation hearing Pendelton told the Senate Judiciary Committee, "Homosexuals are people, and, if they have their civil rights violated, they need protection."

I am going to make that speach in DeKalb. And for the first time I will honestly say, "I came out of the closet in rural Illinois ... DeKalb to be exact."

Think Pieces Pink and Blue

By gon-Henri Damski

At work, they call him Mr. Collins, or Gerald.

At play, his friends call him Jerry.

At work, in the trust department of one of the leading banks in Grand Rapids, Mich., Mr. Collins could be also be called Mr. Blue. He's always wears dark blue pinstriped suits —He has four of them the same color. He maintains a reserved, conservative image: herringbone overcoat, scarves and ties also dark-colored.

If Gerald is going to have an easy Friday, where he doesn't have to see his clients personally, or if he feels in an extra "up" mood because he has shared the trust of someone sweet the night before, he becomes a little daring and wears his maroon tie—not too wide and not too narrow. He is a banker, after all, not a pawn-broker or a punk.

Gerald is gay, but not obviously so. He is low-key, low-toned—he does everything in monaural and nothing in stereo. An exciting evening for him is staying home with a friend, listening to Judy Garland records.

At work, they don't know for sure what Gerald is, but they know what he does—he does his job more professionally than the man who preceded him. This man, even though he was married and had three children, ran off with one of his widow clients and caused quite a scandal in the trust department.

Whatever Gerald's private life is exactly, with boss knows he will not run off with an old widow and disgrace the bank a second time.

At play, Jerry could still be called Mr. Blue. He tends to wear dark slacks and blue shirts. Were it not for one idiosyncrosy—his love of pink sweaters—Jerry would pass through any crowd as a good-looking but colorless young man.

When Jerry goes out cruising on the weekends, he always wears or carries his pink Lacoste sweater. He owns a dozen of them; they are his signature, his personal badge of daring.

In the winter you will see Jerry with his pink sweater on. In the summer, he uses his pink sweater as a wrap, throws it over his shoulders and ties the sleeves in front.

In the bars, Jerry gets kidded for his pink sweater with the little green alligator on the left. But pink is actually a comfortable accent to Jerry's low-key blue self. The pink sweater is a symbol of his personal daring. Gerald would never wear a dress, would never go in drag. For him, his pink sweater is banker's drag.

When you see Jerry in a crowd in his pink sweater, he doesn't scream "faggot", he discreetly whispers "gay".

A couple of weeks ago, however, Gerald nearly got raped or killed because of his pink sweater. He ran into three guys who thought his pink sweater "screamed faggot" and that it gave them the right to terrorize him.

Early Sunday morning, Jerry was coming k from an evening with friends in Hamand, Ind., and he stopped at an all-night coffee shop outside Union Pier, Mich. He noticed three guys in a booth staring and smiling silly at him. They made him feel uncomfortable, so he paid his bill and left.

As he got outside, the guys followed him. The said: "Hey, guy, we like your cute pink sweater—where can we get one like it?"

Jerry kept walking back to his car.

Then he heard one guy say: "I thought pink was for girls. Are you a girl?"

Jerry again pretended not to hear.

"Hey, guy, you in the pink sweater, are you a fag?"

Suddenly, Jerry felt his anger and shouted back at the bullies: "So what if am!"

"Hey, the guy's a queer!"

- Jerry want to his car, but he had done a stupid thing: He had left his passenger side unlocked. As he got in on his side, two of the thugs got into his car on the other side, one in front and one in back.

The third guy drove their truck alongside Jerry's window.

"Our friend there doesn't like pink sweaters, doesn't like faggots-and he's got his 12-gauge shotgun aimed at your head, faggot."

They kept tormenting and teasing Jerry. One of them said: "Do you want to suck my friend's dick?" "Or do you want me to put my big one up your little fairy ass?"

Jerry wanted out any way he could get out. "Sure I'll suck your dick, if you'll go and leave me alone."

He reached for the guy's pants. And the guy hit him in the mouth and made him bleed. "Take your hands off me, pink sweater, I ain't no queer!"

The bullies had their fun with Jerry and then split.

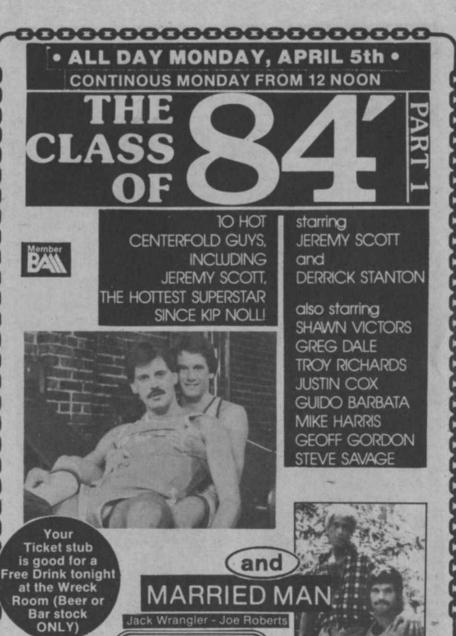

Jerry turned up his radio, after they left, to a hard rock station—not his taste, but he wanted some hard noise to drive out his fright.

When he got home, he noticed blood on the right sleeve of his pink sweater. He never knew he bled; he was still in shock.

Driving to work the next Monday, Gerald thought: What kind of country is this? How much freedom do we really have? Sure, I was born a boy, I still wear blue to work every day-but on my time off, when I'm out on my own, can't I also wear a little pink?

Twelve teams have signed up to participate in the Saturday Softball Beer League this season, including four new teams. Holdovers from last year are the Beer Garden, C'est La Vie, Factory, Finale, M&M, Wreck Room Chaps, Wreck Room Spurs, and Your Place. The new editions to the league are Dawn's Chickletts, First Street, a new M&M team, and This Is It. A managers meeting was held on Sunday, March 14th. The rules were adopted for the league, and a schedule approved. Games will start on May 1st, and will run over an 8 week period. Teams were split into two divisions, and the winners of the 2 divisions, plus the two other teams with the best record will compete in a play-off at the end of the year to determine Milwaukee's entrant in the Gay Softball World Series to be held in San Francisco beginnig August 31. Other tournaments will be held in Milwaukee (Wreck Room Classic) in May, in Houston over the 4th of July weekend, and in Atlanta the last weekend of July. If we can get rid of all the snow soon, softballs will once again be flying through the air. Looks like an exciting summer coming up.

Some information has been received in Milwaukee recently regarding the "Gay Athletic Games" to be held in San Francisco from August 28-September 5. These "Olympic" type games (The U.S. Olympic Committee has forbidden the use of the word "Olympic" in the advertising of the Games) will feature 17 major sports. Included are Basketball, Billiards, Bowling, Boxing, Cycling, Golf, Power Lifting, Physique, Rugby, Soccor, Softball, Swimming & Diving, Tennis, Track & Field, Volleyball, Wrestling and Marathon. Men and women from all over the world will be competing in the games. According to information received, "The Games are designed to attract competitors from around the world, reflecting the prevalence of Gay organized athlet-

War never fails to provide some of the best all around dance music. This is true for the group's new 12-inch from RCA. Taken from their new "Outlaw" LP, "You Got the Power" runs 6:35min. with energy flowing from beginning to end. A high-powered pulse is provided by smooth-sailing harmonies along with a dynamic bass section that adds much punch to this selection. No doubt this will be a welcome to any dance floc.

The B-52's latest album from Warner Bros. is "Mesopotamia." The group has toned down its music into a more commercial and less raucous style. "Loveland" and "Cake" are hard-edged and danceable movers, while "Deep Sleep" is a lazy and haunting tune, perfect for latenight dancing. Once again, the B-52's put it all together and make it work.

From WMOT Records are two notable 12-inchers. "Watch Out" by Brandi Wells is an extended club version taken from her current LP. This slick production has easy-to-listen vocals with sizzling tracks that reach a high momentum as the record progresses. "Fun" by Bliss is the same peppy vein as "Watch Out," with snappy arrangements and a high energy flow along with smooth harmonies.

Be sure to catch the B-52's this week on "The Guiding Light" as they make a guest appearance to promote their new LP "Mesopotamia."

AB70 a look behind the Scene By Ron Gieman

The last issue of Example contained a lengthy article written by Attorney Ron Ehemann, reviewing the impact of passage of AB70, the "Gay Rights Bill." Example has been planning all along to do a separate article on gay activist Leon Rouse, and his efforts in passage of the bill. The last issue didn't have the space for the article.

MILWAUKEE—With the passing of AB70, The Gay Rights Bill, Leon Rouse, 24, gay activist, and UWM student can take a bow and a well deserved break.

Rouse has been involved in personally lobbying for versions of AB70 for the past two and half years. As a UWM student and member of the "Gay Community at UWM" Rouse lobbied for over 2 years with a total of only $1,204 in grant monies from the UWM Student Association. This and a few small private donations supplied only a fraction of the cost of his intense efforts on passage of the bill.

Rouse, a Milwaukee resident, paid all his own traveling expenses back and forth to Madison. The grant money helped cover mailing, duplication, telephone, and supplies used to contact legislators and religious community members.

The present legislation was originally drafted in May 1979. Rouse worked with Senator Jim Moody, Representative Disnis Becker, Representative Steven Leopold, and Reverend Jude Michaels of the Campus Ministry of Higher Education. The strategy forged by them was to work through the religious community for passage of the bill - make it a human rights issue, not a gay rights issue. With the close support of Archbishop Rembert Weakland, of the Milwaukee Archdiocese, the idea was brought before the Greater Milwaukee Conference on Religion and Urban Affairs in October of 1979. Rouse asked the conference for help. and out of that meeting was born the Committee for Fundamental Judeo-Christian Human Rights (CFJCHR), a committee of four ministers plus Rouse, himself a Roman Catholic.

Gay Activist Leon Rouse

Thanks to the quick efforts of CFJCHR, fifty ministers put their names on the bill asking for introduction. Among those 50 ministers were 22 Roman Catholic priests.

"GAY RIGHTS ORDINANCE"

The opportunity to introduce the bill in 1979 or 1980 didn't arise because of intense efforts to push the State Consenting Adults Bill. So, Rouse and CFJCHR put their efforts in passing a Milwaukee City Ordinance during the "Iull." After the election in April of

1980, the committee sponsored and introduced the city "Gay Rights Bill" to the Common Council. Thanks to the already organized religious support for the state bill, the religious community backed the city ordinance and it was passed after only 3 months.

In October of 1980 AB70 was redrafted (updated) and on January 3, 1981 was "jacketed" and numbered AB70 and sent to the Assembly. It was then assigned to the Health and Human Service Committee.

RELIGIOUS SUPPORT SWELLS

CFJCHR was still working within itself to encourage bishops to support the bill and urging them to write letters to the state supporting the bill that would be coming in the next session. The letters has started in February of 1981 and continued through August of 1981. Letters were received from:

Rembert Weakland, Roman Catholic Archbishop; Charles Gaskell and William C. Wantland, Episcopal Bishops; Bishop A.C. Schumacher, American Lutheran Church So. Dist.; Marjorie Matthews, United Methodist Bishop; Synod Bishop Robert Wilch, Lutheran Church of America/Wis. Upper Mich.; Presbyter Carl Simon, Presbyterian Exec.; Ralph Ley, President United Church of Christ Conf.; Unitarian Universalist Ministers; William Wells, Wisconsin Baptist State Convention; Presyter Rev. Singlinger, Presyterian Exec.; Vernon Anderson, Bishop American Lutheran/Church North, Conf.

While CFJCHR was working within the religious community, Rouse was researching each and every state legislator's record. He compiled their past stands on the "consenting adults bill" and other "liberal" issues. He also noted their length in office, education, winning vote margin, present popularity with their consituents and other pertinent facts including their religion. Rouse then went back to CFJCHR with a list of the "yes, no and swing" vote projections and with the help of the religious "network," contacted each legislator's home town ministers and urged them to write letters in support of the bill as well as to make personal phone calls to their legislator.

SUPPORT IN ASSEMBLY

During May of 1981, the Assembly's Health and Human Services Committee voted to send AB70 to the full floor by a vote of 8 to 6. Due to the summer legislative recess, begining June 1 and lasting until October 1, no legislation could be approved. At 11 a.m. on October 21, 1981 the bill came up before the General Assembly. One person lobbied against the bill—Rev. Richard Pritchard (the ill-famed Madison minister who has opposed just about everything). The Republican caucus condemed the bill and the Democrats praised it. Rouse was sitting in the spectators gallery along with several supportive priests.

On that first day of vote, a vote to table AB70 failed, assuring the bill would not be indefinately postponed. It was then ordered to a "third reading" which passed by a voice vote (no amendents allowed after that point). The second day of voting things got even more tense. The first vote asked the Assembly if they should "reconsider" the vote to send AB70 to a third reading . . . it was defeated. The second vote asked "shall AB70 pass?" it passed. The third vote asked "shall we message to Senate" . . . if failed (this referred to the last minute change stating no affirmative action plans would be required.) The Assembly Majority Leader moved to "reconsider the vote by which AB70 had passed" . . . which forced the bill into another vote on Tuesday, October 27, 1981. On Tuesday the move to "reconsider the vote by which AB70 passed" (49 to 45) was defeated . . . and the bill was then passed by the Assembly and sent to the Senate.

SENATE ACTION

After Christmas/New Year recess (November 1 - January 28) AB70 had a hearing in the State and Local Affairs Committee of the Senate (Senator Moody's Committee). The Committee added the "non-affirmative action" amendment to AB70 and voted 4 to 1 to pass the bill onto the floor.

On February 16 the Senate went through a preliminary roll call vote. The motion was on "non-concurrence" with the Assembly passage which failed 19 to 13. Immediately after on a vote - to concur with the Assembly's passage of AB70 — the motion was passed on a voice vote.

After passage of the Senate on February 16, AB70 was sent back to Assembly for concurrence with the "non-affirmative action" amendment. Representative David Clarebach (D-Madison), the main sponsor of the bill, requested that AB70 be placed on the Assembly's calendar as soon as possible. As main sponsor of the bill, Clarenbach stated his concurrence with the amendment, thereby getting AB70 on the agenda for floor vote within 48 hours.

GAY COMMUNITY PHONES TO THE RESCUE

On February 18 the Assembly vote concurred on the Senate amendment 88 to 9. The bill was then sent to Governor Dreyfus's office for his signature. Rouse was on the watch, and when he realized on February 19 that the Governor was receiving more calls against signing the bill than for it, Rouse put the gay community on alert and by Monday the balance of calls tilted as the gay community responded with an onslaught of calls urging the Governor to support the bill.

ROUSE'S PRESENT & FUTURE GOALS

Rouse's efforts are now centered on urging unions to endorse the bill, to help build support for the bill in case of any future repeal efforts. He also hopes to travel to other states to help assist in their gay rights bills.

Reflecting back, Rouse was propelled into action after seeing Anita Bryant's speech after her gay rights ordinance repeal in 1977. His first "political" involvement started that same year in getting UWM to amend their non-discrimination policies to include non-discrimination. From that beginning Rouse sees a future with governmental equal rights commissions and eventually political office.

Even though Rouse sees himself as "rather boring" the gay community needs to thank this "gay hero" who sacrificed and did the necessary legwork that enables Wisconsin's gays to hold their heads high and legally say "We Have Rights."

Medically Speaking By Chuck Poulson

Dear Readers,

While on a fun filled weekend skiing trip, I have taken it upon myself to evaluate this social interaction's health practices.

The positive health aspects of the well publicized ski trip (Got those tom-toms working overtime girls?) are as follows:

- 1) FRESH AIR-I don't breath nothing I can't see.
- 2) EXERCISE IN THE FORM OF SKIING-You got to be kidding! And take a chance on shortening my career as an entertainer?
- 3) ADEQUATE REST PERIODS— You get a B+ for this, Miss Piggy. Notice I didn't say with whom; my lips are sealed!
- 4) GOOD FOOD I must in all fairness compliment the ringleaders of this trip, because all meals were planned with the basic four food groups in mind. It wasn't their fault that someone near and dear to me was too hung over to eat breakfast, or imbibed a liquid lunch at a nearby chalet.

(Too plastered and slept through supper.) But don't forget the caloric value of brandy and Seven-Up. Looking on the bright side of this, I got out of doing the dishes.

5) COMMUNAL HYGIENE - This is a high class term for deep sea diving in the hot tub. Never the less, warm water does increase body circulation and the oil bath did maintain supple skin tone, the body's first defense against bacterial invasion.

Now that we have tiptoed through the positive aspects, let us take a peek at the reverse:

- 1) INGESTING CONTACT LENSES— Must be some new college fad like swallowing goldfish or sitting on flagpoles.
- 2) DIVING INTO COMMUNIAL HYGIENE RECEPTACLE- Without the use of a diving board and with all clothes on. I have exhausted all my resources to find out the benefit of oil bath on designer jeans. I'm sure this persons sudden loss of equilibrium was due to Maybeline toxicity.
- 3) BRUISING- I personally woke up Monday morning to discover (after I counted all my teeth) multiple bruises all over my body. Must have been from all those ten foot poles they said they wouldn't touch me with.
- 4) SEVERE OSMOLER SHIFT -- Commonly known as pruning. This is from staying in the communial hygiene receptacle too
- 5) OVERLY POLISHED FURNITURE-Because of several near fatal oopses, I have come to the conclusion that furniture wax is dangerous to one's health.
- 6) OLD HIGH HEELS Because of ill fit, they can severely limit one's mobility.

If you or anyone you know is planning a social interaction and you would like a health survey done, please don't hesitate to get in touch with moi.

until then, Happy Trails!

FORTUNES by Tycho

For the week of April 8

General Outlook: Conflicts between the individual and the group. If a strong man emerges, watch out for his motivations. Everyone has something to say this week. Pay attention to the one who speaks from more than self-interest.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)-You know what you want to say, and you know what you've got to do. You also know that those big horns of yours can be pretty dangerous. There may not be any holding you back this week. Don't abuse your power.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)-You might find the answer to last week's problem: too many promises to too many people. The answer looks like one special person who can make you feel soooo gooood.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)-Invest. No matter what the amount is, or whether it's time or money that you're investing, whatever you stash away will provide rewards in the future. Good advice is a form of investment, too. Take one more look at last week's love at first sight.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)-A casual affair, a one-night stand which at first seems relatively unimportant, could show you something of great importance. You do need a new perspective on that self-image problem you've been having. Pay attention.

LEO (July 23-August 22)-Those feelings of excitement you've been having in waking hours might be explained in your sleep. Write down your dreams. Look for continuing images and patterns. Your subconcious mind is trying to get a message through.

VIRGO (August 23-September 22)-When your friends are the people that you work with, you need to give special care to who tells who what and how. When romance and work become intertwined, the possibilities for trouble are multiplied. Who's the real boss?

LIBRA (September 23-October 22)-OK, your position is important to you, and you take your role seriously. That doesn't mean you have to be cold and unfeeling. Try fun and games this week. Some kinky play could go a long way in relieving tension.

SCORPIO (October 23-November 21)-Are you in for a surprise! Someone special needs you in a special way, and you didn't even know it. . . until this week. All those around you who are having hard times see you as a fortunate big brother or sister.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22-December 21)-You don't mind working hard to get what you're after. Something that seemed bizarre to you may now look very original. Take that something and add it to your creative repertoire: you may come up with a treasure.

CAPRICORN (December 22-January 19)-Feeling like you're not getting through? Trying adding a bit of humor to the argument you're having. Investigate the teddy bear behind the iron mask. Be generous with smiles.

AQUARIUS (January 20-Febuary 18)-Looks like a textbook case of the Boy Scout Syndrome this week. You're brave, loyal, courteous, and all that. If friends get down on you for it, you won't mind. You know the difference between a do-gooder and doing fine.

PISCES (Febuary 19-March 20)-Don't be foolish. Taking pride in being impractical or unusual just for the sake of being different isn't going to get you anywhere. Channel that crazy energy into giving a helping hand. Develop a sense of community. Get with it.
