ARIES (Mar. 22-Apr. 21)—The stardom you seek is close at hand, but the work is not over, an extra effort is needed for the final push.

TAURUS (Apr. 22-May 21)—Look over the situation with extra care, something that seems to be one thing may turn out to be the opposite.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—All of the ingredients are together, talk, share, and get ready for the work. The climate is ready for a success.

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—The tension you feel should lighten up when you feel like you are in your own surroundings. The path you follow will become easier to travel on.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—the recovery process has begun, you must sit back and allow it full reign. The cycle is almost complete.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—Look at things with an opened mind, the frustrations you feel are also felt by those around you.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 22)—Beware of giving more than you have in reserve. When you run out others may not understand.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 22)—The talent you have is great, don't let those around you use it and give nothing in return. Be selective.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—Broaden your horizons, let the ideas you represent take flight and be seen. You will be back on schedule soon.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20)—The high spirits you have felt may calm down for a while, regroup and build back up for the next surge.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—A change of pace and scenery is well deserved, but remember your insight and guidance is needed on the home front.

PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 20)—Those around you seem to be harder than is fair, but once the lesson is learned it will be over.

Heidelberg, 1938-55, II, p. 500 s.v. sons.

Mr. Sharkey, I have spent too many years studying etymologies to want to lie to you, or try to fool you, or to play ignorant. Etymology is a tricky subject. The reason, I suspect, you find my derivation of the word "sin" sinful, wrong, and blatantly implausible, is that you made the mistake many beginners make in trying to impose what you remember from your paradigms in the first year Latin (your "sint" = 's 'let them be'). You cannot make an etymology out of a partially remembered present conjugation. And if you force it your way, you will lose 'that which is really true', i.e. the etymology of the English word "sin" from the Latin esse.

Thank you for your sharp response, and keep up on your curiosity.

AFFECTION

Thanks to Man's Country's Dick Guenther for making Abba's "Lay All Your Love On Me" go on and on the other night. He followed it with "The Way Old Friends Do." After dancing the first, everyone cleared the floor for the second. The lights went down, and you got a sense of that brotherhood of affection that sometimes breaks through all the ... other.

A lot of the music this Swedish group seems apocalyptic (end-of-the-world)—something Scandanavian no doubt: According to their myths, the world is destroyed because of a broken promise, and a shining new hero who has been killed off in the old world returns in a resurrection. Not that I thought of this at the time, but it must be what lies behind the quality of Abba to give it that feeling of sweet hope.

This turns my thoughts to how everyone is talking about affection, or intimacy, or the loving feeling, lately. But it seems we have no easy way to get to it, which is very revealing. I mean sex is so easy to get by means of various signals and so on but there is no come-hither vocabulary for affection. You can't, during a song, like "The Way Old Friends Do" just embrace the nearest person in a spirit of loving without it being taken as a prelude to action. I understand women can do this but I suspect it crosses the minds of many men as well.

Truly the old world has to be swept away and it is especially in the gay community that I always think there is some glorious chance of this. Enough of us may take our preference difference as a cue to examine other unconventional areas. The old world is lacking in ordinary loving and affection and we still live in it.

Maybe if human beings had tails and just let them hang during sex and other activities, but wagged them during affection or just prior to it as an invitation, we would be better off. But before we go for the tail mounting operation, there might be some other things we could think up.

They say in psychology just ask for what you want. But this introduces the very dimension, language, that you don't want to bring in to what is physical and emotional per se. Suppose you said look I don't want to go through all the expertise of this and that scene right now. Maybe later or with someone else, but right now, with you, I just want to be close. Who would believe it? We are trained that affection is supposed to "lead to" sex. Many men are capable of exhibiting behavior that looks like affection but isn't, in order to "get" a romantic female or other male.

Then too, asking for something is asking for something—it puts the other person in the position of having to respond. What is better as something spontaneous and nonverbal is changed into matter for rational choice! And look at our literature including movies: a woman asks a man for affection and he shown as either fleeing or complaining that she is "suffocating" him.

Of course men do feel affection but those who can show it tend to reserve it for special partners. Perhaps they feel it is all right to be promiscuous when it comes to sex, but not when it comes to affection.

Now what would promiscuous affection mean? A completely different world, the one they talk about then they talk about peace on earth, good will toward men, brotherhood, and all the rest of the loving vocabulary. But people are evidently still tending to save loving feelings (affection) for some official lover of theirs, on the old heterosexual model of building "commitments" and "relationships." Trying to be everything for one person, trying to make one person be everything . . . As long as this goes on as the ideal situation (it's fine as one of many alternatives), there can be no peace on earth or general spreading out of loving.

Any two given people are "hopelessly" different when it comes to intellectual contact or sharing of interests, but the affections don't know such boundaries, and neither does sex.

It's nice that people can use sex as a way of relating to otherwise totally different people. And there is no real cause for disappointment if this is "all" there is. What is disappointing is that more people don't also have recourse to affection, physical, and otherwise, to relate to each other regardless of intellect, imagination, or interest in other things. But because a show of affection is the age-old come-on for eventual culmination in the "high point" of sex, people are not as warm as they might be because they don't want to get into sex with everyone they feel affection for.

They say the subconscious doesn't distinguish between what really happens and what you dream or imagine. So I recommend fantasy—think of someone, not even necessarily some particular person you have seen, and play "The Way Old Friends Do" or some other song and maybe you'll feel good. You'll be ready for the times of the New World of Love and even more ready to help bring it about. Form a group in your local area called the loving brotherhood. Only that sounds religious, and that only alienates people from each other. Affectionate sisterhood? They say picturing something pleasant in your mind generates beneficial brain waves. Also that the wish is father to the act.

Medically Speaking

BY DR. ROGER GREMMINGER

This week I would like to discuss ameba infections or amebic dysentery. For years this disease was thought to be spread mainly by contaminated food and drinking water. This is seen especially in foreign countries with poor sanitation to this day. Recently hundreds of gay men have been afflicted especially in New York and San Francisco. Last year San Francisco had about 500 cases and with 85 to 90% of infections having no symptoms, that means San Francisco has up to 10,000 gay men infected. That would be about 1 in 10 gay men. The way one gets it is by stool contamination during sex especially, by spat and rimming.

The disease is caused by an ameba called Entameba Hystolytica. It occurs in two forms. The ameba in the shapeless one-celled form eats into the bowel wall and causes disease. It also occurs in a form which has a hard coat called a cyst which easily survives outside the body whereas the shapeless form can't. The cysts are infectious to others but they do not cause disease in the carrier. However, at any time the cysts can convert to the shapeless ameba and cause disease. The amebas causing disease account for 10% of the infections. The cysts not causing disease accounts for 90%. So only symptomless cyst carriers are infectious.

When symptoms occur, they may be mild with loose bowel movements or very severe with heavy diarrhea—bloody at times, constant urge to stool, abdominal cramping. Common complications include the forming of pus pockets in the bowel wall or liver. Many other complications can occur;

Treatment can be very difficult depending on the presence of complications. The diagnosis is made by examination of stool which is still fresh within one hour at the city lab. You need a doctor's order to have the stool examined. Once diagnosed, you must tell all sexual partners especially those who rimmed you. They all need stool exams too.

At GPU/STD Clinic, we looked for ameba for more than two years. In October of '80 we found our first case and since have found a few more. In fact for 1980 we diagnosed 50% of the ameba infections reported in Milwaukee. So it has arrived. To prevent an epidemic here, I would like to make a few recommendations. First, rimming is dangerous and should only be practiced with a constant sex partner. Especially do not rim individuals from San Francisco or New York. Because a person has no symptoms, does not mean it is safe to rim him. Hopefully, with these precautions much disease and suffering can be avoided here.

Some people I guess have trouble finding the clinic. It is at 2578 N. Booth (Booth & Clarke). Booth is located one block east of Holton and Clarke is one block south of Center. Please consult the Cruise Map in the back of this magazine for streets. It is about four blocks from the Finale. Clinic hours, all with doctor present for treatment are, Tuesday, 7-10pm and Saturday, 1-3pm. Also please note, there is testing at Milwaukee Club Baths every second and fourth Friday from 7-10pm.

Help us to help you. Please be generous to the clinic.

Softball season has started, and that will be even more evident as Milwaukee gears up for the Wreck Room Classic on May 23, 24, & 25. In the photo above is David a player on the Factory team.

MILWAUKEE WRECK ROOM CLASSIC III

By Tom Salzseider

It's Milwaukee Wreck Room Classic time again. Time for Milwaukee to throw out the welcome mat to our out of town visitors. Thirteen teams from outside Milwaukee are ready to converge on Milwaukee from May 22-25 for a weekend of softball and fun. The east will be presented by Partners of New Haven, Connecticut and three teams from the Big Apple, New York—Kelly's, Buddies, and Spike. From the west, we'll have 527 Club from the City By the Bay, San Francisco. From our friendly neighbors to the north, we'll have two teams from beautiful Toronto representing the Cabbagetown Group Softball League and the Riverdale Softball League. Incidentally, Toronto will be hosting Gay Softball World Series V from Aug. 30-Sept. 5, so you better start making your vacation plans now to attend. Last, but certainly not least, the Midwest will be represented by two team from Chicago, Dugan's Bistro and Redoubt; Minneapolis will send four teams, Saloon, Gay '90s, Alternates, and Gallery V; and members of the Saturday Softball Beer League of Milwaukee will round out the field.

Games on Saturday will be played on six diamonds at two parks, West Milwaukee Park at 50th and Burnham, and our usual home park, Mitchell Park, near 27th and National, behind the domes. Games will start at 9:30am on Saturday. The official ceremonies of the tournament will be held a 1pm at Mitchell Park on Saturday. Everyone should see this.

All the teams will be marching onto the field in their uniforms and carrying their banners. Some of the banners at last year's ceremonies were spectacular, and this year they will probably be even better. It should really be something to see all these people lined up on the diamond, and then sing the American and Canadian National Anthems. There are also other surprises planned for this event. Again, come out and let's show the visiting cities that Milwaukee is honored to have them here. After the ceremonies, games will resume at the two parks at 2:30 and continue until 10:00 that evening. The best eight teams will advance to Sunday's final round. The games will start at 10am on Sunday, and all games will be played at Mitchell Park. The third place game will be at 2:30pm, and the Championship game will start at 4pm. Come out both days and cheer for your favorite team, and also see some outstanding softball. The competition will be keen.

The awards ceremonies will be held on Sunday evening at the Crystal Palace, 19th and National. Cocktail hour is at 6:30pm, and a sit down dinner is at 7:30pm. The awards presentation will follow dinner. Tickets for the dinner can be obtained at the Wreck Room, and the ball park during the games. The price is $10 per person. Banquet tickets are being donated to all participants of the tournament.

Opening Day, 1981. The Saturday Softball Beer League kicked off its 4th season of softball on Saturday, May 2. The games were played under almost perfect weather, although it was slightly chilly for some of the fans. It was obvious that opening jitters hit some of the teams, but there was plenty of good hitting, pitching, and defense. The cheerleaders were in mid season form. The Factory group was plenty loud, and the Wreck Room "Yellers" gave much needed moral support to pull their teams to victory. Looks like the Saloon Spirits will have plenty of competition this year. The first games saw the Factory come from behind to edge the M&M Mustangs, and the Finale route the Prologue. After the games, it was party time as the teams moved from bar to bar. Wherever you went, the players and their fans were celebrating their victories or trying to drink away their sorrows in defeat. There were no losers in the bars after the games. The partying continued until the wee hours of the morning.
