Federal AIDS Policy Act 'Held Hostage'

Washington, D.C. [H.R.C.F. & In Step]- The U.S. House of Representatives, for the first time in history, passed legislation establishing federal policy for fighting the AIDS epidemic. The Senate passed its own version (S. 1220) earlier this year.

The House Bill (H.R. 5142)- "AIDS Federal Policy Act of 1988" and the Senate's "AID's Research, Care and Information Act," then went to a joint House-Senate conference, where it was being "held hostage" by Senator Jesse Helms, according to a Human Rights Campaign Fund (HRCF) spokesperson reached by In Step at deadline.

The House Action

In a stunning 367-to-13 vote September 23, the House passed their bill, which expedites AIDS research, authorizes $1.2 billion over three years for voluntary AIDS testing and counseling, and establishes a federal commission to study and make policy recommendations regarding AIDS.

In addition, the House rejected various "hostile" amendments offered by Representatives William Dannemeyer (R-Calif.) and Bill McCollum (R-Fla.) by overwhelming margins that startled even AIDS lobbyists working on the bill.

(In the Wisconsin delegation, all Representatives voted for final bill approval, contrary to other reports. However, Republicans Thomas Petri, Toby Roth and F. James Sensenbrenner Jr. voted for many of the hostile amendments that were eventually defeated.)

The House voted to reject amendments offered by Dannemeyer and McCollum calling for: mandatory reporting of names and addresses of people testing positive to state health officials; mandatory testing of marriage license applicants in any state where one percent or more of the population has AIDS; and mandating routine testing of all hospital patients between the ages of 15- 49.

The House voted for an amendment that would limit any mandatory testing of prisoners to those determined under current medical guidelines to pose a threat of infection to other prisoners or employees. By voting for this amendment, the House rejected a different one that would have mandated testing of all prisoners. AIDS lobbyists supported the second amendment in light of the wide-reaching affect of the other version.

"We applaud the courage of the U.S. Congress for passing this historic legislation and for rejecting amendments that would have undermined its effectiveness in fighting AIDS," said Vic Basile, executive director of HRCF. "Members of the House have sent a clear signal to Dannemeyer and others who support irrational, punitive, and homophobic AIDS actions that the time has come for responsible AIDS policy."

"The House is to be commended for passing the bill, although the legislation is not everything we wanted," said Steve Smith, HRCF lobbyist. "It does not protect HIV-infected people from discrimination, which is a major omission. It also includes mandatory testing and endorses criminal penalties for transmission. These coercive measures are bad public policy."

Numerous AIDS organizations — including HRCF, AIDS Action Council and the National Gay and Lesbian Task Force (NGLTF) — had been furiously lobbying the House to get the bill passed by the 100th Congress which was scheduled to adjourn October 8.

Tied Up In Conference

The joint House/Senate conference was to have combined the bills and work out differences in the legislation, then return the new bill to the House and Senate for final vote before adjournment, then on to the President for signing.

However, at In Step deadline, HRCF reported the Sen. Helms was blocking Senate appointees from participating in the conference committee, because he was upset about an earlier vote on AZT funding. Helms also wants to include amendments which would negate many of the positive aspects of the combined bill. With Helms effectively hold the bill "hostage", it appeared at In Step deadline, that the bill would not get out of conference in time to be voted on and passed before the 100th Congress adjourned for the year.

Human Rights Campaign Fund spokesman said "We'd rather take chances on a new bill in the next session, than sell PWA's down the river" by accepting a compromise bill that would pacify Helms.

Should the bill not be passed by the current Congress, lobbyists will have to start from scratch to pass the bill next year at the 101st Congress, which opens in January 1989.

HRCF spokesman estimated a new bill probably would not come up for a new vote until April '89. "If they don't pass the bill now, another estimated 20,000 people will have been diagnosed, and an additional 10,000 would die because Congress couldn't get their act together."

AZT Funding Extended

Washington, D.C.- The U.S. House and Senate passed and sent to President Reagan legislation to provide the drug AZT for indigent patients with AIDS.

The legislation which was passed by the House on September 29th, and by the Senate the next day, extends for six months the federal government's funding for Retrovir (AZT). The program had been set to expire September 30th, and required further Congressional action to continue. The Public Health Service had estimated that 6,000 people are on the program.

Senator Lowell Weicker (R.- CT.) "took the critical first step," said Human Rights Campaign Fund executive director Vic Basile, "he put together the political coalition needed to win in the Senate."

The bill provides up to $15 million to continue the program through March 31, 1989. Weicker also persuaded the manufacturer of the drug, Burroughs-Wellcome, to contribute $5 million of the drug at no cost. AZT is the only drug approved by the Food and Drug Administration for use in combating AIDS.

AZT can cost $8,000 to $10,000 per year. The program will continue to supply AZT through state health departments. Each state may develop income guidelines for distributing the funds.

Because of his support in this effort and in other areas, the HRCF has committed the maximum $10,000 it contribute to Weicker's campaign. Gays and lesbians all around the country have made personal contributions to his re-election bid, in a hotly contested race. All gays and lesbians are urged to support his re-election campaign by sending checks made out to "Weicker '88" to the HRCF. Milw. Gay Man Murdered [Milwaukee]- Part-time Your Place tavern doorman Steven A. Traindl, 30, was found shot in the head and bound in his second floor apartment at 3025 N. 39th St. on Wednesday October 5th.

Steven's parents found their son's body about 6:30 p.m. on the 5th after he did not report to work and did not answer his telephone according to an article in the Milwaukee Journal.

His body was found tied intricately with a telephone cord, binding his hands to his feet in front of him. The cord was wound around his neck according to police. The Medical Examiner said Traindl died of head wounds.

The man, who may have been dead since Wednesday morning, was clothed only in a shirt. A neighbor reported hearing someone leave the apartment about 8 a.m. on Wednesday.

His 1983 Mercury Cougar was discovered stolen after the garage had been broken into. Police issued a radio report on the car, but had no suspects at In Step deadline.

At Sturtevant, owner of Your Place, said the last time he had seen Steve was when he worked the previous Wednesday (Sept. 28), "and that was the last I saw or talked to him." Sturtevant continued, "Police felt it had to be someone he knew because there was no sign of forced entry."

Dasher Gets 8 years

Eighteen year old Samuel Dasher was sentenced to eight years in prison for manslaughter in the Dec. '87 brutal beating death of his 37-year-old, live-in lover Michael Koudelka. The sentence was handed down September 27th by Circuit Judge William D. Gardner.

Dasher had plead guilty in late July of aggravated battery and manslaughter-heat of passion after a plea agreement. Dasher was to have stood trial on a charge of second degree murder.

Koudelka was found dead in his East State St. apartment. An autopsy found he died from blunt force injuries to his head and chest. He also suffered crushing injuries to the neck and chemical burns to his body.

Dasher, was was 17 at the time, said he and Koudelka had a lover relationship. He said they had quarreled for several hours about Koudelka's drinking and supposed infidelities. The youth said he got so angry he began to hit Koudelka and pour liquids - ranging from drain cleaner to soda over him.

According to a Milwaukee Journal article, at the sentencing Judge Gardner said Dasher's rootlessness and dislocated childhood was a 'blueprint for trouble' but was no excuse for killing. Dasher had been abandoned by his father and taken from his alcoholic mother by the state when he was two, and then became a ward of the system. He went from foster home to foster home to group home.

Gardner said he saw Dasher as a split personality harboring tremendous rage. The Journal quoted Gardner as saying "The evidence in this case shows clearly that if you're properly enraged, you are a different person."

Speaking on his own behalf at the sentencing, Dasher tearfully acknowledged responsibility for the death but insisted that he cared deeply for Koudelka. The eight year sentence was two years less than the maximum.

Gardner also could have sentenced Dasher to an extra two years for aggravated battery, but did not. Having spent 331 days in custody already, Dasher will be eligible for parole in slightly more than a year.

D.C. Budget Sparks Anger At Congress

Washington, D.C. [Milw. Journal]-Congress has approved a $3.2 billion budget for the District of Columbia, but not before attaching a strong anti-abortion amendment and a measure allowing Georgetown University to deny certain rights to homosexual groups.

Now city officials are threatening to shut down the local government in retaliation.

"I'm not sure the outcome is in the best interests of this body, the District of Columbia, or the country," Sen. Tom Harkin (D-Iowa) said as the Senate approved the budget late Sept. 30th.

The bill was sent to President Reagan for his signature less than an hour before midnight, when the new fiscal year began.

The spending bill would allow Georgetown University to go back on its agreement to allow gay and lesbian student associations to meet on campus and apply for student government money.

The Roman Catholic School had reached an agreement with the groups in March after the District of Columbia Superior Court and Court of Appeals upheld a finding by the city's human rights office that Georgetown was discriminating against the groups.

Chicago Ordinance Poised For Reintroduction

Chicago [Windy City Times]- In the aftermath of the 26-21 defeat of the Human Rights Ordinance in mid Sept. lesbian and gay leaders reacted angrily both to the vote and to the viciously homophobic rhetoric which preceded it, and persuaded Acting Mayor Eugene Sawyer to call for reintroduction of the Ordinance at the October 14 City Council meeting.

Immediately after the council meeting at which the Ordinance was defeated, Sawyer had issued a call for reintroduction, but had resisted any "definite timeline," saying only that he would reintroduce the legislation "before the end of the year." However, community pressure quickly came to bear.

After the vote a group of lesbian/gay and disabled activists met and decided to push for introduction at the first meeting in October, and Windy City Times appeared with a first-ever front page editorial calling strongly for immediate reintroduction of the Ordinance. The next day, mainstream news media carried stories about lesbian and gay anger, and on that day Sawyer committed himself publicly to the October reintroduction date.

Peggy Baker, coordinator of gay and lesbian issues for the City of Chicago, said that the whole Ordinance process had been "educational" for Sawyer.

Community outrage had focussed not only on the outcome of the vote, but on Alderman George Hagopian calling lesbians and gay men "animals" and their sexual practices "filthy" and "unsanitary." Alderman Marlene Carter referring to gay men as "sissies," and other equally homophobic comments.

The Ordinance needs only four more votes to achieve a 25-25 tie, which the mayor could then break.

Hearing Set in Cop's Sex Bribery Case

[Kenosha News]- Donald K. White, 32, Clinton, a suspended Walworth County police officer, appeared before Court Commissioner Frank Parise Sept. 26 on charges of misconduct in public office, false imprisonment and bribery.

The charges stem from a June 19 incident in which the town of Bloomfield officer ordered a 17-year-old speeding suspect to do 100 nude push-ups and sit-ups in a town of Randall cornfield.

White then asked the driver to remove his clothes and do the naked exercises. An hour or so later, the officer allowed him to leave without a ticket, the complaint indicates.

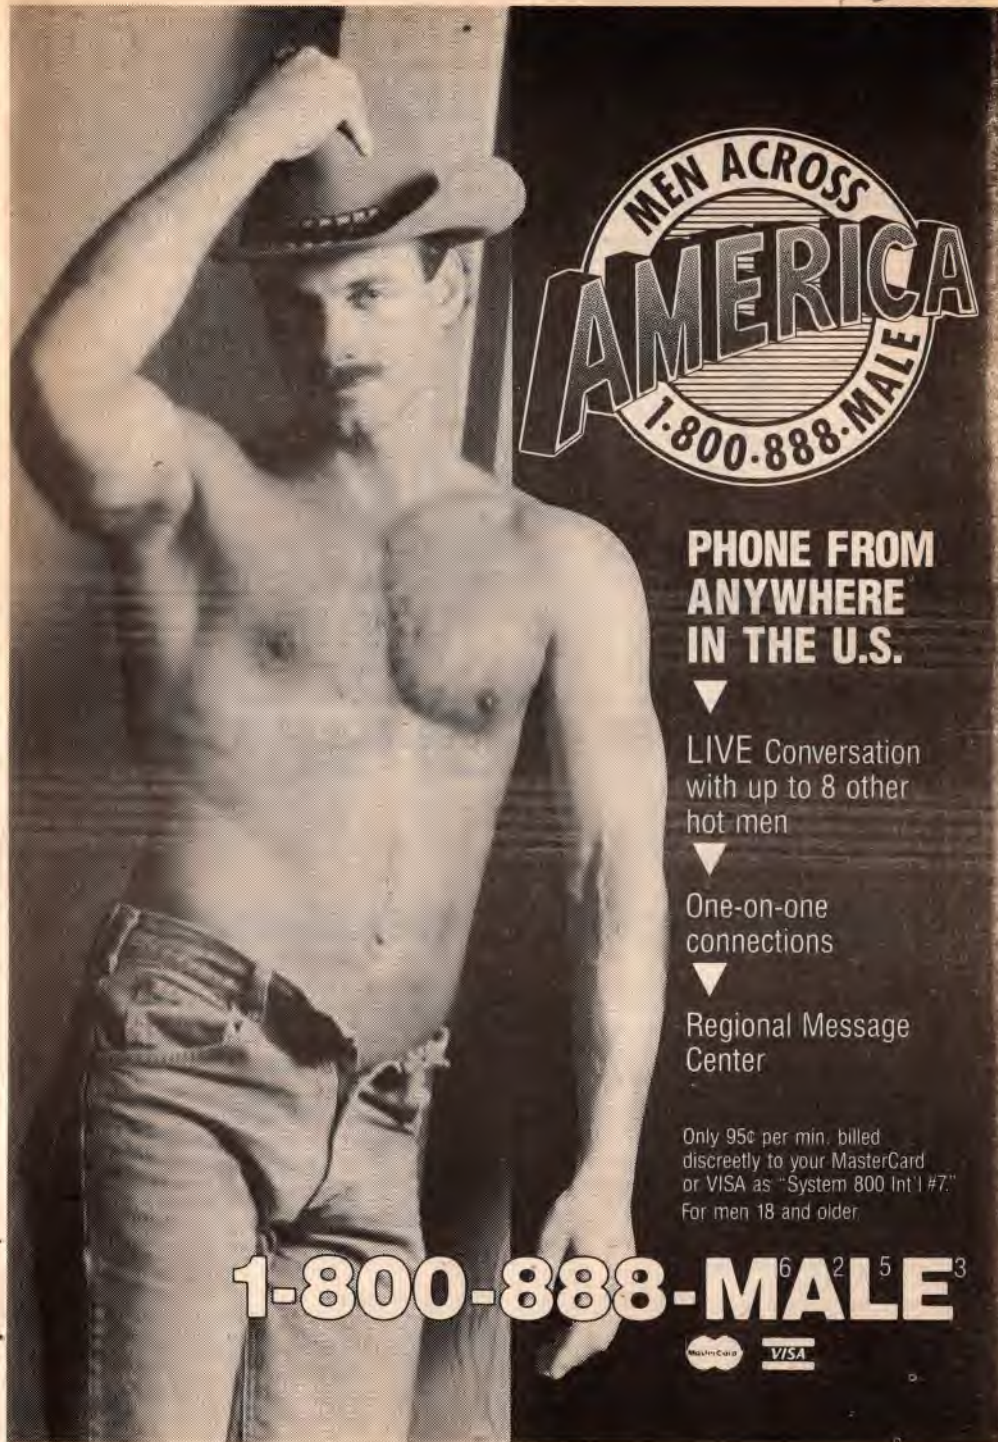

He faces three similar counts for a June 26-27 incident in Walworth County where he allegedly stopped a young motorcyclist, handcuffed and ordered him to masturbate.

St. Paul Gears Up For Ordinance Battle

St. Paul, Minn. [TWN]- The things you have to go through to get equal rights! Folks here are gearing up for a new ordinance which may make anti-gay initiatives a thing of the past. In 1978 the fine homophobes of St. Paul successfully repealed the city's gay and lesbian civil rights ordinance. Fearing a replay of the same incident and facing a city council eager to extend equal protection to lesbians and gay men, city gay and lesbian activists have developed a new strategy. The idea: to outlaw the referendum/initiative process from touching any ordinances which "prohibit discrimination in employment, education, housing, public accommodation or public services on account of race, creed, religion, sex, color, national origin, familial status, age, disability, marital status or status with regard to public assistance, and sexual or affectional orientation."

Simply put, they will be banning initiative repeals of any human rights ordinance before the gay and lesbian rights ordinance is passed. The group campaigning for change is called Yes For Human Rights. The St. Paul City Charter Commission has recommended the wording for the proposed charter, but it must first pass the city council, and would then, if approved, move on to the November ballot.

Chicago Bar Bombed

Chicago- According to the Windy City Times, late September 25th, a makeshift molotov cocktail was thrown into the outdoor beer garden of Different Strokes bar, 4923 N. Clark, doing little damage — harming no one, but missing "potential tragedy" by minutes.

Several city politicians and gay/lesbian community figures had left the bar where they had been attending an informal meeting just moments before the incident.

A Different Strokes bartender called police immediately after witnesses saw an incendiary device being tossed over the beer garden wall. Patrons were drawn outside by the commotion, and chased two youths thought to be the assailants. Patrons surrounded one of the youths and the other escaped to his nearby residence, shared with a third individual who emerged carrying two metal baseball bats and threatening to assault the patrons who held the other alleged attacker at bay. Police then arrived and took the surrounded suspect into custody. The second one who has fled inside was arrested in his home.

When the bomb was thrown and during the chase that followed, the youths yelled anti-gay epithets and threats at their pursuers.

As motivation for the attack the youths told police they "were tired of the fags taking their parking spots."

The two youths 17 and 19 are being charged with attempted arson, and will be tried as adults.

Some in the gay and lesbian community blamed the attack on rising anti-gay hysteria brought to the surface during the city's recent vote on the Human Rights Ordinance.

Hawaiian Lesbian Candidate Wounded

[Windy City Times]- Diana S. Holmes, openly lesbian candidate for the county council on the "big island" of Hawaii, remains in a coma after an assault last July by a machete-wielding attacker.

The well-known activist in gay and feminist circles was struck three times by an unknown assailant and has suffered brain damage, according to spokespersons at Queens Medical Center in Honolulu. She had received numerous death threats before the attack, which took place in her home in Hilo.

An article in the Honolulu Advertiser, Hawaii's leading daily newspaper, said the attack on Holmes is part of a campaign of anti-gay violence that has broken out on the island of Hawaii. Artist Dana Meyer of Kailua-Kona was murdered outside his apartment last April, and shortly thereafter vandals trashed St. Jude's Retreat Center, which serves persons with AIDS. Anonymous callers have threatened to burn the facility.

Holmes underwent sex-change surgery in the late 1970's and subsequently came out as a lesbian feminist. She served as president of the Hawaii Island chapter of the National Organization for Women.

According to Bill Woods of Honolulu's Gay Community Center, Holmes was "the primary liaison for gay information from Hawaii Island and a highly visible activist in Democratic politics."

O'Connor Condemns Gay Attacks in N.Y.

New York [TWN]- Celebrating his first Sunday Mass at St. Patrick's since the wave of anti-gay attacks in the city, most notably the highly-publicized attacks on two local gay men (Barry Finnegan and David Frank), Cardinal John O'Connor said that violent attacks against gay people amounted to violence against Christ. Lesbians and gay men have, for years, been critical of O'Connor's repeated protests that "practicing homosexuals" are sinners, are not entitled to equal protection under the law, should not have affirming worship services in the church, etc., etc. Taking a break from his ideological gay-baiting, he took the opportunity to condemn the recent string of physical attacks on gay people. After explaining how we are all "still" sinners and not deserving of equal treatment, etc., etc., he said "I say to you who perpetrate violence in any form against a homosexual person that you are doing violence against Christ himself. You do an evil thing."

Camouflaging The Camouflaged

Jacksonville, N.C. [T.W.N.]- The owner of a local gay bar here recently tired a new approach to help stymie the efforts of nearby military police's attempts to harass gay service members visiting this establishment, reports The Washington Blade. In response to a recent attempt by security forces from the Naval Security Service at nearby Camp LeJeune and the Onslow County Sheriff's Office to stop suspected military personnel in the parking lot of Friend's Lounge, owner Danny Leonard sponsored a 'Marine Look-Alike' contest at his bar. The idea: have enough gay patrons showing up looking like military personnel to totally confuse the anti-gay efforts and protect those gay service people from them. "Let's make a strong showing that we will not put up with this," said Leonard. "If this means shaving our heads to look like Marines, then let's shave our heads and wear camouflage-like outfits."

Oregonian Phobes 'Phight' On

Salem, Ore. [T.W.N.]- The battle against Gov. Neil Goldschmidt's 1987 executive order banning discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation is raging more fiercely than ever. Upon issuing his order, Goldschmidt incensed Oregonian homophobes. Immediately, they started fighting back and banded together to form the Oregon Citizens Alliance (OCA) and the off-shoot group "No Special Rights Committee." Ignoring an affirming poll which shows over two-thirds of the state's population supporting Goldschmidt's legislation, the OCA has announced plans to spend over $600,000 in their fight to overturn it.

Summarizing the intellectual genius of the anti-gay movement, one Oregonian fundamentalist minister said, "Discrimination against homosexuals in society and in the church is justified. The sin is of such a nature that it pollutes all society." The not-so-reverend's profound statements are based on an OCA fact sheet that charges "the homosexual lifestyle" is based on the recruitment and exploitation of vulnerable young males.

Doctor Charged With Sexual Assault

[Milwaukee Journal]- A Waukesha physician who is a resident at the Medical College of Wisconsin was charged with sexually assaulting a psychiatric patient at the Milwaukee County Medical Complex Sept. 8.

Walters, 31, of 2727 N. University Dr., Waukesha, was allowed to remain free without bail, and was ordered to return to court Dec. 2.

He is accused of fondling a male patient without the patient's consent. The patient, from the county mental health complex, had been sen to Walters for treatment of a throat problem, according to a medical complex spokesman.

ARCW Amends By-Laws

By Marc Hauptert
President, ARCW

The Board of Directors of ARCW, Inc., at its meeting on September 27, 1988, approved for consideration a number of changes to its by-laws which will be voted on at the October 25 meeting. Following is a summary of those changes. Individuals wishing to receive an exact copy of the amended by-laws may contact the MAP office during business hours. Any comments regarding these changes may be made by sending a letter to Cliff Heise, Secretary, c/o MAP, PO Box 92505, Milwaukee, WI 53202.

1. The first change is to delete all references to the MAP Operating Committee in the by-laws. The Board position which had been elected by the Operating Committee will now be a Volunteer-elected position, making the total number of volunteer-elected positions three.

Note: This increase in volunteer-elected slots will result (if passed) in the need for a volunteer election during november. In anticipation of the approval of the change, self-nomination forms have been distributed to active volunteers with the most recent issue of "MAP RAP."

The board position to be filled by appointment of the President to a person with AIDS or ARC is now defined as a person wit HIV infection.

3. References to MAP are now modified

4. The majority of by-laws changes refer to Board Committees. The changes were precipitated by the release of the Volunteer Study conducted by Les McAllan and Gary Hallander. The standing board committees would be: Council of Community Advisors, the Executive Committee, the Nominations Committee (which is currently merged with the Executive Committee), the Finance/Personnel Committee, the Development Committee, the Program Committee and the Medical Advisory Committee. Most committee responsibilities are self-explanatory from fund development efforts, the Program committee will analyze current services and suggest future directions (including the oversight of the complaint/grievance process), the the Medical Advisory Committee will be our resource for advice on policy matters of a medical nature. The scope of authority of the Executive Committee has also been limited.

5. Other "housekeeping" changes: enable the Board to conduct "executive sessions" when confidential matters are being discussed, when the notice of the meeting reports same; and the addition of a standard "indemnification" section of the by-laws, which indemnifies directors for cost in defending themselves in the event of actions taken against them as directors, or actions directed at the organization and at them by virtue of their directorship, if they are acting prudently and in good faith.

Want To Host A Fund Raiser For MAP?

In an effort to streamline operations and to provide for an accurate accounting of all fundraising activities, MAP has instituted a new procedure for fundraising events.

Anyone wishing to hold a fundraiser for the Milwaukee AIDS Project should contact Brian Dettmering, Business Manager, to make arrangements for staff assistance, promotion, and accounting for proceeds. A staff person will be assigned to represent MAP, offer any assistance and to accept the donation on behalf of the agency.

MAP fees this procedure will provide more control over funds being raised for MAP and will help assure that donations will be properly allocated to the appropriate department. If you have any questions regarding this procedure, please contact Brian at 273- 2437.

MAPfest A Success

Volunteer Study Results Presented

A five month study of volunteers which was funded by the General Electric Foundation with the Milwaukee AIDS Project (MAP) has involved the active participation of approximately one-fourth of the volunteer staff (including board members), all paid staff, and several clients. The full results of that study will be summarized in a technical assistance package by late October.

Key findings in this research find that:

Volunteers in AIDS do so out of a need to process the loss of someone they know or to process the potential loss of their own life; often feel confused and angry about the lack of clarity regarding clients and services of the organization; often feel confused and angry about what they perceive to be mistreatment of volunteers by the agency; are ill-prepared to address issues of death, loss, sexuality, and drug use with clients or in their own lives; experience turmoil associated with rapid

The completely new dance, titled "Due Process", also features a new score by Pease which will be presented in exciting quadraphonic sound. Bauer's newest work allies itself with the slowly evolving, plastique quality of the music through its primary focus of defining special structures.

In a reference to the company's history, the program also includes "Habits", a fascinating "medley" of revised work from "Giving Rise to Habit", a full company work from 1978, and its sequel, "All New Habits", a one-woman dance/theater work presented by Bauer in 1985.

organizational growth, and enjoy a high degree of emotional commitment and pride in their work.

There are numerous procedural implications of these findings within MAP and other AIDS service organizations. However, there are also significant policy implications. Because of this, several recommendations were made to the ARCW Board of Directors at their August meeting. Since several of the recommendations would either require changes in bylaws or fell under the authority of the executive director, board action is not complete at this time.

More information about the technical assistance package being developed will be available late in the month. In the meantime, many of the recommendations that will appear in that package are being implemented by MAP's Volunteer Resources Manager.

Clarenbach Elected To M.A.S.N. Board

[Madison, WI]- State Representative David Clarenbach (D-Madison) has been elected to the board of Directors of the Madison AIDS Support Network (MASN).

"MASN has established itself solidly as our community provider of assistance to people with AIDS. We must now meet the challenge of increased responsibility as the epidemic grows," Clarenbach said.

Others elected to the MASN Board were Sharon Cefalu, Bill Hazelton, Steven Kabat, and James Petzold.

We all know that bartenders are ready to pour you a drink or tell you the latest joke, however a group of bartenders are taking their role further. They have formed a group called Bartender Against AIDS [BAA]. Working in cooperation with the Milwaukee AIDS Project, they hope to offer their customers better advice about today's concerns.

You can identify a BAA bartender by the buttons they wear. They can assist you by giving you contact names and phone numbers to answer your questions and concerns about AIDS. They can also help if you wish to donate your time or services to groups like M.A.P. by telling you how to contact the right people.

In addition to serving customers BAA helped M.A.P. by raising over $200 at this year's M.A.P. Fest.

Members of BAA must take the AIDS '101' course offered by M.A.P. For information on upcoming '101' sessions contact MAP at 273-MAPS. Sessions are scheduled for Oct. 22, Nov. 9, and Dec. 14.

BAA has not scheduled its next meeting, but for more information on joining them - contact them at: Bartenders Against AIDS, P.O. Box 92505, Milwaukee, WI 53202. Or, you can leave a message for BAA by calling 273-AIDS.

Pneumonia Deaths On Rise

Atlanta, Ga. [Milw. Journal]- AIDS is believed responsible for an increase in pneumonia deaths among young adults in New York and possibly other cities.

The National Centers for Disease Control here reported recently that the mortality rate for men between 25 and 44 years of age from pneumonia increased in New York from 4 deaths per 100,000 people in 1978, before the advent of AIDS, to 19 per 100,000 in 1987.

For women, the rate increased from 2 per 100,000 in 1978 to 7 in 1987. Actual fatality counts were not included in the report.

"Most pneumonia-attributable deaths occur among the elderly," the report said. "In New York City, however, the number and rate of such deaths among younger persons have increased in association with (AIDS) infections among intravenous drug abusers."

The records of 192 New Yorkers between the ages of 25 and 44 who died with pneumonia in 1986 showed that 153, or 80 percent, were at high risk for AIDS, including 126 intravenous drug abusers. Fifty had possible symptoms of AIDS, and 26 were diagnosed as having AIDS.

Get Your Shots!

[MAP]- Influenza, an upper respiratory viral infection, is usually a mild disease in healthy adults. However, for those with chronic diseases, severe complications including pneumonia can result. This year, the vaccine is being recommended by the Center for Disease Control for those with the HIV infection.

Persons who have AIDS, ARC, or who have tested positive for HIV should discuss getting the influenza immunization with their physician. Also encouraged to be immunized are volunteers, family members, and others who are in contact with HIV infected persons. The immunization will prevent them from getting influenza and passing the disease along to those with the HIV infection. (Persons who should not be immunized are those allergic to eggs or those with fevers at the time immunizations are offered.)

Influenza immunizations should be obtained annually between September and December. Getting the vaccine at that time will bring the body's protection up to full strength at the time influenza outbreaks usually occur. The antibody protection declines rapidly, necessitating annual re-immunizations.

The City of Milwaukee health Department will hold immunization clinics for City residents on Thursday, November 3 and Friday, November 4 at five City Health Centers. The cost of influenza immunizations is $4 per person. Clinics will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and are located at: Northwest Health Center, 7630 West Mill Road; Keenan Health Center, 3200 North 36th Street; Lake Health Center, 4001 South Sixth Street; South Side Health Center, 1640 South 24th Street; and Municipal Building, (lobby), 841 North Broadway.

At these same clinics, pneumococcal vaccine to prevent many types of pneumonia will also be given. The cost of this vaccine is $7, and both immunizations can be received at the same time. General information on influenza and pneumococcal immunizations can be obtained by calling the City Nurse at 278-3616.

Once again, the Wednesday Goodtime Bowling League is still looking for additional bowlers. Their main need is for just one person to be a regular bowler on a team. You don't have to be a good bowler, as there are many new bowlers to this league, but just dependable and able to pay your fees from week to week. Of course, there are several teams in need of substitutes, so if you are interested please come down to Landmark Lanes on Wednesday nights at 7:00 p.m. and join in on the fun.

Again, another reminder about H.I.T. Be sure to get your applications in early for the shift that you want to bowl. It will be on a first come first serve basis. H.I.T. will be using Red Carpet Regency this year instead of South Park. This is primarily because of the number of people expected to attend the tournament plus the fact that they have automatic scorekeeping. Things are moving quite well for this year's tournament, so if you have not already made plans for the Thanksgiving Weekend, please attend.

Listed are the standard for the various bowling leagues. If your league is not included in this list, it is because In Step did not receive it in time to be published in this issue. If you are in question as to when the deadline is for the league standings to be submitted, feel free to contact Timm Short or In Step and we can give your league reps the dates.

the arts

by Kevin Michael

"Hey, Look At Us Now!"

Perhaps the Fest City Singers should have titled their cabaret show, "Hey, Look At Us Now!", a song which they performed well, rather than Abracadazzle, which they did choose as a title. It was clear that they had grown and developed since their last concert presentation at Lincoln Center with the Chicago Gay Men's Chorus. What was clearly in evidence was a group of performers who had grown in confidence and who were enjoying what they were doing. At the same time, that is not to say that there is not room for continued improvement also.

An effective opening was found with "Magic To Do" from "Pippin" and the black-light/white-glove effect found in opening of the show worked well here too. Inventive presentations of "The Masochism Tango" penned by Tom Lehrer of "That Was The Year That Was" fame of the 60's, "The Good Time Girl" from "Over, Here", which reprised the Andrews Sisters, and the Boy Scouts in "Be Prepared" were offered.

However, I would also mention that pacing seemed poor on opening night. The time between numbers seemed to drag on (you should forgive the pun) too long. Perhaps the use of a stage manager or different scheduling of musical selections might have eliminated what eventually became a problem as the evening progressed.

The selections from the musical, "Chicago" were fun to see and hear again. "The Cell Block Tango" and "All that Jazz" seemed less than effective because of the tempos chosen though. "Class" which was delivered much more straightforwardly worked the best and got the strongest audience response because the presentation of the number was more clearly matched to its original intent.

If a song works, don't necessarily rework it unless you have to. A Broadway focus is much different than a choral one. I'm not sure that the Artistic Director completely understands the difference especially in light of how some numbers were presented. Some examples worth noting might be the number with the nuns originally sung by the strippers in "Gypsy." Might not a closer match have worked better here?

Also, the "Chorus Line" rework to a gay focus was a choice that I'm not sure I would have made only because the original material is so good in and of itself. I believe that it is for such a reason "A Chorus Line" has become the longest running Broadway musical ever.

"Bosom Buddies" from "Mame" is an example of another good choice. Its simple presentation lends itself to a gay audience and the lyrical barbs are great fun if it is performed well.

I wish I'd had a program. "What'll I do?" was the best solo performance of the evening but I don't know who to credit for it.

One last suggestion to offer with regard to the director. If you have enough confidence in a performer to offer him or her a solo, why conduct them especially since the only accompaniment here was a piano?

The closing again was strong. "Stout Hearted Men" and "Ditty Boom" were enjoyable. The latter even seemed to have somewhat a "Muppet Show" approach which made it quite amusing.

All is all, quite an improved

ARIES: March 21 to April 21

A lack of communications could be the problem at home or with partners during this time. This should clear itself up as soon as the two of you finally sit down and have that long heart to heart talk that's overdue.

TAURUS: April 22 to May 21

I find you taking an interest in someone that's totally unlike you. Don't know what it is about him but beware, indications are that you'll be the one who eats dirt in this involvement. Another lesson in life and love?

GEMINI: May 22 to June 21

Life seems to be plying you with all sorts of mixed messages these days. Just when you thought you had it all together, someone comes along to cause you to do flip-flops within your own emotional make-up. Be easy on yourself.

CANCER: June 22 to July 23

Work is taking a lot out of you and homelife is a mass of confusion for awhile, and to get away from it all you seem to be fantasizing about the ideal partnership. Better ask yourself why you're with the who.

LEO: July 24 to August 23

The saga of "the ever changing homelife" continues, as fall sets in and you have to prepare for the oncoming winter months. When choosing your bedwarmer, get someone reliable and not something that runs hot and cold. Electric blankets don't count.

VIRGO: August 23 to September 23

Be kind to yourself for you're under a lot of stress now. Doctor Mom says to make a list of all the things you need to get done, and then do them one at a time. You'll be amazed at how swiftly these things can be accomplished.

LIBRA: September 24 to October 22

If everyone could love like you love, all your problems would be over. This could well be one of those times that you feel as though you're running in circles, and that it's all for nothing. At least slow down to a walk and enjoy the scenery.

SCORPIO: October 23 to November 22

Ahhhhhh! The changes taking place with yourself are going to be great. Remember to show a little mercy on those who fall behind, when you get back in the race and start mowing them down by the dozens. You deserve 1st place.

SAGITTARIUS: November 23 to December 22

Though everyone adores you, you've been coming across in the wrong manner lately. This is a great time to take a look at yourself and change the rough act into just a simple no-nonsense routine. The new response will amaze you.

CAPRICORN: December 23 to January 20

Time to stop kidding yourself and get on the ball regarding your appearance. Ask a friend who will tell you the truth, and the truth will never hurt you as bad as the delusion you're listening to now. Chin up Cappy's.

AQUARIUS: January 21 to February 19

Don't be risking anything of value for the rest of the year. What starts out to be a small gain could (and most likely will) end up to be a big loss. If may not be your ideal wave, but ride this one for awhile anyway.

PISCES: February 20 to March 21

Like a rose is a rose, a creep is a creep, and the one that's been bothering you needs to be told so. Just tell the jerk where to get off and get it over with. You'll feel better in the long run and might even get an apology out of the whole thing.

performance. We're looking and looking appreciatively and proud at your accomplishments. Well done Fest City!

Encore Performance

ABRACADAZZLE has been held over at the Ballgame for a return engagement by popular demand, according to Bim Florek, music and artistic director or Milwaukee's Original Fest City Singers. The Encore Performance is scheduled for Saturday, October 15, at 8:00 p.m. For tickets, which are $6.00, call either The Ballgame at 273-7474 or the Fest City Singers at 273-SING.

The PM Ballet

The second season of the Pennsylvania-Milwaukee [PM] Ballet showed improvement over last. The company offered a varied program which had both highs and lows. Clearly they were much better than in their first season. The effects and reactions of their audience to last season were most evident in the less than full house to which they played opening night.

The Cream City Chorus' 2nd Annual Ice Cream Social at Fannie's included an outdoor performance on a beautiful Fall day.

Rather than a full ballet, a variety of offerings were on the bill. An introduction to the evening which included Artistic Director, Robert Weiss, pointed up the fact that such programs were presented to fill the variety of dance tastes of the Milwaukee Community. Also, Mayor Norquist was on hand to lend his support and voice to the importance of the arts within the Milwaukee community and that more should be supporting our artistic environment here by their presence. I couldn't agree with our mayor more!

The first selection of the evening was choreography by Lynne Taylow-Corbett to five "Brahams Sonatas". I found this work quite less than satisfying for me personally because the choreography which was to represent the inter-relationships of five couples was most difficult to follow. The second pair of dancers, Lisa Sundstrom and Meridith Rainey, telegraphed their lack of confidence to the audience which made for a choppy, unsure presentation. Phillip Otto, who paired Melissa Podcasy in the third dance, seemed clumsy and less than fluid in his presentation. The best was saved for last, Roseanne Germer and Marin Boieru presented a life-filled, charged, pair which left the audience feeling quite quite well about the piece overall.

A second offering was a comic ballet, "The Magic Flute", which was much more classical in flavor with a definite humorous touch. It clearly was well received by the audience. Classical dance still is not our PM Ballet's strong suit as is the modern because the limitations of the company are so clearly in evidence here.

Though there were still some rough spots, the improvements stood out as well. William DeGregory's number with the young children was received happily by the audience.

Last on the program was another modern piece, "Gallimathias Musicum". Richard Tanner's choreography spoke much more to me than did the opening modern piece. The use of the simple grey and black costuming coupled with the yawning, tagging along at a snails pace, a lack of interest in the latest designer fashions. If (and when) any of these occur, call it quits and move on, even if it means not getting that new outfit you've been eyeing up.

Remember that what you buy has to find a way home as well, so keep this in mind when you shop. A good rule to use ... a few shopping bags are fine, but anything that has to be tied on top of the car is not.

Getting Lost — When you're with one of your sisters and 'she' makes a wrong turn, you probably quip, "Mary, you dumb bimbo you missed the turn!", you laugh, and it's over. This attitude doesn't work on a vacation, particularly if you are in a unfamiliar city. When you are together in a new city the best thing to do is plan in advance, know where you want to go, and know how to get there. If you do get lost be patient, and don't get upset. Try to figure out where you went wrong and backtrack. Don't have a know-it-all attitude, it will only create more tension.

They best thing to do is stop and ask someone how to get where you're going to. Also, don't dwell on a missed turn or exit, it will only lead to a confrontation. Forget it. Remember, you're getting away from it all. Think about all the fun you're about to have.

Spending — Dollar Bills have wings when you travel, and no matter how you carry money, (handle it, split it, or pool it) it's bound to induce tension. Always take more money than you'll think you'll need and remember that you don't have to spend it. When on vacation do things you know you can both afford.

If money gets nasty, try this little trick ... go out and buy a bottle of champagne and stay in! By morning, he'll order room service and will agree to go shopping no matter what the weather is like!

Bauer Opens 15th Anniversary Season

The Bauer Contemporary Ballet celebrates its 15th Anniversary Season with 3 exciting world premier performances and some new faces at Alverno College's Pitman Theatre, November 4 and 5. The Friday and Saturday performances are at 8:00 p.m.

The production's first premier was choreographed by Native Milwaukeean Chris Komar. Mr. Komar, who serves the Merce Cunningham Dance Company in New York as Assistant to the Choreographer, has recently been active in setting Cunningham's "Arcade" on the PM Ballet for performance this month.

Komar's new work, "ReVision", is the third work he has created for the Bauer Company. A duet, "ReVision" will be performed by Artistic Director Susie Bauer and Company dancer Karl Browman. A new score by James Pease will accompany the dance.

Traveling Together: A Crash Course

At last. You — just the two of you — are going on a vacation together.

At first you'll gaze into each others eyes, fall into each other's arms and admonish yourselves for not having gotten away sooner. "What were we thinking?" you'll ask. But wait.

This brief period of self-recrimination will subside, and in its place, slowly, will come a really nasty, ugly, four-star vacation fight. A blowout.

But it doesn't have to be this way. There are warning signs on the road to Vacation Hell. For example...

Overpacking — Overpacking is one habit a lot of us have been guilty of. For heavens sake don't bring a lighted make-up mirror on a camping trip, a blowdryer to the beach, or ten pairs of shoes for a weekend away. Keep it light. Think about where you're going and what you will need. Chances are you won't change outfits five times in one day. Remember too that luggage takes up space, so don't pack a trunk if you know that you'll be riding in a sports car.

Keep in mind that we are all tied down by jobs, routines, and responsibilities. Vacations are a time to feel free, 'to get away from it all'. It's hard to do that if you take half of it with you.

Shopping — We all know that shopping and gays go together like bees and honey. However, timing is important. You should not suggest shopping on a day the sun is shining and the surf is up. It could put an abrupt end to your trip, not to mention your relationship. Once you get to the stores, watch for signs of boredom,

Once again, Wisconsin's nightlife has been extremely active and with Halloween coming up, it promises to continue that way. Let's jump back to September 22nd & I'll do my best to give you an overview on activities...

The Alternative hosted their Mr. Alternative Contest, and five men competed for the title. A man of many titles, Christopher, won, with Joe coming in second & Tony in third. Christopher won his way into the judges' hearts with his vivacious, athletic dancing.

Meanwhile Guy Hartman was given a bon voyage party at the Triangle. Guy, past president of U.W.M.'s 10 Percent Society, has moved to La La Land (L.A.).

Milwaukee's first Annual Gay & Lesbian Pride Celebration wrapped things up on the 23rd with the Holiday Invitation Tournament's [HIT] 'Scotch' Doubles Bowling Tournament. Then on the 24th, In Step, Wisconsin Light & UWM's 10 Percent Society hosted the First Annual Pride Dance at UWM's Union Ballroom. Attended by over 150 people, the event was dwarfed by the sheer size of the Ballroom. It's not the best place to have a dance (lack of proper 'effect' lighting). It still was one of the best attended pride activities. Thanks to Tony (Dance/Dance/Dance) & Kim (219) who kicked off the evening with the hottest dance music around. 10 Percent Society member Craig took over the turntables at 10 and kept the crowd dancing the rest of the night.

It was announced at the dance that next year's Pride Celebration would take place in late June to coincide with the rest of the

Dating Vocabulary

Dating Vocabulary List — The evolution of gay dating has brought with it an entirely new set of definitions for the words we use to describe our dating rituals. And certainly, it would be dating suicide for a man to enter the gay singles scene without being armed with the true meaning of today's gay dating jargon. So, to help prevent the early demise of an inexperienced gay man's dating career, I have compiled the following Dating Vocabulary List.

Attraction — The intensity of your attraction to a date is directly proportionate to your degree of horniness. To determine your Horniness Quotient, use the following equation:

$$H.Q. = \frac{(\# \text{ of days without sex}) \times (\text{degree of desperation})}{(\text{amt. of light in room}) \times (\# \text{ of drinks consumed})}$$

Breaking Up — The termination of a relationship. An event which usually takes place within the first month of dating when the supply of new sexual positions is exhausted and the fear of intimacy sky-rockets.

Butch — A term used to describe any gay man who does not swish when he walks.

Call Waiting — The telephone feature offered by the phone company which lets a man interrupt his conversation on a Sex Phone Line to take a call from you.

Disco — The place gay people spend hours getting all dressed-up for in order to sweat in their nicest clothes.

Ex-Lover — The person in the disco your date is trying to make jealous by pretending to be having a wonderful time and dancing suggestively with you.

Fart — The loud physical outburst that disappears during the first weeks of dating and then blatantly returns after you've moved in together and you no longer have to impress him.

Gourmet — A man who enjoys the taste of Dijon mustard on your weenie.

Hung — A term used by a man to describe the physical dimensions of any date who is more endowed than he is.

Love — The irrational feeling that causes gay men to drop all their friends and life-long interests in favor of spending time with a man they hardly know and who his friends can't stand.

Net-Worth — Another word for lover. Often used while flirting or to describe your living arrangements to your boss.

Slut — A word used by gay men to describe an attractive hunk who they can't have.

Trick — A previous date you will try very hard to ignore the next time you see him.

collections of Suits, Evening Attire, Casual & Sweaters. The evening was capably emceed by K. Valentine & Doris de Lago.

The Cream City Chorus held it's 2nd Annual Ice Cream Social at Fannies on the 25th. The Ice Cream was scooped up and the chorus performed as well.

That afternoon my Mother left to go back to Pennsylvania, after her enjoyable two week visit. Thanks to everyone who helped make her visit even more fun.

On to the 29th & the Triangles birthday gay-la for Mary Richards was complete with a fine line-up of entertainment. Happy B-Day Girl! I won't ask your age ... The next day Tracy celebrated her 'Not quite 50' birthday at the Mint II, with food and music. Happy B-Day you old queen!

October kicked off with a bar opening in Janesville ... The New Leaf is the first gay/lesbian bar ever in that city & where there was a DJ on weekends and is an 'oasis' of gayness in the otherwise straight Southeast Central Wisconsin area. Give it a try ... their Grand Opening Weekend comes up, the end of October.

Our Place hosted Miss O.P. Morgan Brittany's show - "Wig-Stock" to an appreciative crowd.

The Wreck Room [WR] hosted two events in one day. In the afternoon, they held a benefit for the Foundation Community Center with mini raffles offering great prizes & drink specials. Over $200 was raised for the center. That evening was the bar's monthly party night with prize drawings every 30 minutes. The Wreck Room Saloon (back bar) will hold it's grand opening October 15th.

The Ballgame played host to the Fest City Singer's cabaret/variety show - 'Abra- Ca-Dazzle'. The show dazzled the sold-out crowd with a wide range of material, much of it of a campy nature. The show proved the F.C.S. have come a long way in a relatively short time. The show was repeated the 8th and 9th, because those were both sold out, another show is scheduled for Saturday October 15, at 8:00 p.m. Go see it!

Lesbian Rights Conference

[NOW]- Between 500 and 1,000 lesbian rights activists and supporters of lesbian rights are expected to attend the National Lesbian Rights Conference, October 7-10, in San Diego, sponsored by the National Organization for Women Foundation. The purpose of the conference is to provide a forum for developing recommendations for a National Lesbian Rights Agenda in cooperation with other organizations and individuals committed to eliminating discrimination against lesbians in American society.

NOW Foundations President Molly Yard said this year's conference is particularly important because of the potent impact of starting the process of developing a national agenda, she explained, but in fact a full-scope national agenda that will include both those issues and efforts best pursued by NOW and, frankly, those issues and efforts best pursued by other organizations and individuals.

Yard said that NOW, which has a long history of fighting for equality and justice for lesbians as part of its women's rights agenda, is proud to provide a forum for developing a National Lesbian Rights Agenda. She also predicted a highly successful conference, pointing in particular to the mix of nationally known political activists, award-winning artists, clergy, attorneys, psychotherapists, educators, and others who are scheduled to participate in the conference.

Joining Yard as plenary speakers at the conference will be: Jean O'Leary, executive director of National Gay Rights Advocates, who has been an effective leader in the gay rights movement for more than 17 years and who is an active national figure in Democratic Party politics. Robin Tyler, a feminist comedian, producer, and lesbian rights activist. Karen Thompson, a Minnesota University professor who has fought for the past four years for guardianship rights to care for her severely disabled lesbian partner. Robin Morgan, award-winning poet, writer, political theorist. Carmen Vazquez, coordinator of Lesbian and Gay Health Service for San Francisco County, and an activist on issues of concern to lesbians of color.

Some 39 workshops have been planned on a variety of specific issues, including various forms of discrimination, lesbian families, religion, education, health, lesbian battering, coming out, politics of AIDS, electing lesbians to office, equity in the workplace, and images of lesbians in the media. Charlotte Bunch, feminist theorist, author, and organizer, will lead a special discussion on the future of the lesbian rights movement.

The conference, which is being held at the Holiday Inn Embarcadero, also will include a concert featuring singer/songwriters Deidre McCalla and Lucie Blue Tremblay; singer and film/record producer Kay Weaver; and San Francisco comic, Marga Gomez.

Onsite registration will be conducted throughout the conference at no additional fee. For registration information, contact Nancy Buermeyer, Project Coordinator, NOW Foundation, Suite 800, 1401 New York Avenue NW, Washington, DC 20005; phone: 202/347-2279.

return of the 'Sunday Sundown Sundance Social' on October 2nd by bringing Mr. and Miss Gay Wisconsin (Scott & Miss M) & their friends for a show and reception. The Y.P. & The Alternative got together and took a bus out to the 'Mad City' for the evening. I went along for the ride and I am not sure which was 'madder' — the bus trip, or the city, itself. After the show at The New Bar, it was off on a bar crawl to the Shamrock & Back East. What a night!

The Y.P. had to cancel their Mr. Y.P. contest due to the lack of contestants. It seems the only person to sign up was one of Uncle Al's ex-lovers! La Cage later in the week had to cancel their 'Dead or Alive' Release Party & reschedule it to Oct. 20th. The record company didn't have their act together on time...

La Cage's Mr. Contest drew five contestants to the crowded bar. Congrats to winner Charles Golden (he of the golden voice), 1st R.U. Squealer and 2nd R.U. Michael J.

Another birthday — Tom, owner of the Short Circuit bar, celebrated his with free beer & food. (All these birthdays...lots of Libra's around...)

The Mr. and Miss Contests will continue through the end of the month as everyone prepares for The Pageant November 6th. By the way, I suggest if you want a table for the Pageant that you make arrangements with the Pageant Committee, now! Call Nel or Jerry at 645-1101 for info.

community, Hurricane acknowledged their lesbian base directly.

In the past, we had "women's music," "women's theatre," "women's dances," etc. Anyone who didn't know better might think that women's means just women, and not lesbian. As we've hid behind women, we've neglected our lesbian tradition.

Congratulations to Hurricane for stepping boldly towards naming ourselves, and thanks for bringing JoAnn Loulan to Milwaukee. Most of all, thanks to all the women who "came out" Saturday night and joined in a truly remarkable evening.

another point of view...

by Darla Kashian

JoAnn Loulan, certified sex therapist and renowned lesbian author, entertained and thrilled a full house at the Kenwood Methodist Church on Saturday, October, 1. An unexpectedly large turnout forced sponsors including Hurricane Productions, The Counseling Center and The Women's Crisis Line, to open the Church balcony to accommodate a crowd that exceeded 300.

Apparently, advance ticket sales for the show, titled "What's So Funny About Lesbian Sex?," were not as high as expected. I guess most women didn't want to buy a ticket to a clearly identified lesbian event in public, let alone a program about sex.

I must admit that I was skeptical about the show. Even though Loulan's books, Lesbian Sex and Lesbian Passion, are educational and entertaining, I wasn't convinced that Loulan's show could effectively translate the messages contained in her books to a live audience.

I was wrong! Loulan effectively communicated with the audience, using both humor and education, to stress the importance of self-esteem as the primary foundation for healthy relationships. With the understanding only a lesbian could have, Loulan outlined the primary reasons that we, as lesbians, are a little crazy, and how the impacts of society impair our ability to relate effectively.

For the first time, I heard a rational explanation of why lesbians act like we are 15 years old when we first come out. According to Loulan, it's because we are 15. Emotionally, we have the responses of a teenager going through puberty. Dating becomes exciting, and of course, sex is wonderful, perhaps for the first time.

Unfortunately, we don't have parents to order us around. As a result, and many of us are victims of this syndrome, we get really involved really quick. We all know friends who have moved in together essentially after the first date. Your place or mine for about 3-6 months and then they actually move the furniture. At 15, no parent would have let their child behave in such an irrational manner, but parents don't play a role in adult lesbian dating. So, when you tell your best friend to grow up, you may be serious.

Throughout the two hour presentation, Loulan used her education and personal experience to better explain issues in the lesbian community. While discussing the methods of AIDS transmission in lesbians, Loulan told the audience that she, in fact, is at risk because the father of her son is a gay man. This clearly is very scary, and not an issue most lesbians need to consider. Her sharing of this information was very effective, though, because it reminded women that depending on our lives and lifestyles, we may be at risk.

The funniest moment of the evening was the practical, where Loulan displayed how dental dams are used in safer sex. A willing volunteer from the audience allowed Loulan to place the dental dam strategically between her legs and simulate, not stimulate, the use of dental dams.

For those of you unfamiliar with the technical application of dental dams, they are pieces of latex that fit over the vagina and can protect partners from the transmission of sexually transmitted diseases. Her demonstration was very effective because it showed women that dental dams can be fun in addition to enhancing the safety of sexual contact.

As the evening came to a close, Loulan drew all women from the audience into intense thought and internal exploration. On several occasions, the intensity of the discussion required that she remind us to breathe. Loulan drew out a real sense of community as the evening progressed.

"What's So Funny About Lesbian Sex?" was a sort of coming out for the entire lesbian community. In addition to discussing sex, we also gathered for a truly lesbian event. For the first time in as long as I've been around the lesbian
