Protest Causes FDA To Change Rules

Eight days after 1,500 AIDS activists demanding greater access to drug treatment successfully shut down the Food and Drug Administration in Rockville, Maryland, the FDA announced new, streamlined procedures that it says will put AIDS drugs on the market more quickly.

On October 19th, the FDA announced drugs to fight AIDS and other deadly diseases could get government approval twice as fast. Approval now comes after three to seven years of human testing-after animal studies have been completed. Under the new guidelines, the manufacturer would consult extensively with the FDA during early phases of testing.

The FDA plan has its critics, according to USA Today. "We see this as an attempt by the Bush campaign to appear to be doing something about AIDS," said Urvashi Vaid, of the National Gay and Lesbian Task Force (NGLTF). "We feel it contains little immediate hope for people with AIDS and HIV infection. What the FDA has done is avoid dealing with the problem of making experimental drugs more available while they're in the experimental stage.

The FDA plan is that if a drug shows promise in its early testing, it may allow drug companies to eliminate the final phase of testing and take the product directly to market.

In a Los Angeles Times service article in the Milwaukee Journal, FDA Commissioner Frank Young said "The plan encourages researchers to accelerate and condense their studies and assures that FDA will realistically balance the risks and benefits of promising drugs in light of the severity of the diseases."

AIDS activists protested that the FDA itself could sabotage the new procedures simply by declining to use them. They also complained the FDA lacked sufficient funds and personnel to carry out the new procedures.

American Foundation for AIDS Research (AmFAR) co-chairman Mathilde Krim, was quoted in the Journal article saying "These are sound proposals, but there's a big catch: They come without significant dollars attached."

The FDA staff has been cut from 8,000 to 7,200 under the Reagan administration, and the agency would realistically need more staff to fully implement the new program.

The action by the FDA follows a very publicized protest on October 11th at the FDA headquarters by AIDS activists. Starting at 7 a.m., demonstrators participated in a wide variety of actions, including die-ins, traffic and pedestrian blockades, and occupying FDA offices. "Silence=Death" and "Federal Death Administration" banners were posted over the main entrance to the building as another "Silence=Death" banner was hosted up the flagpole.

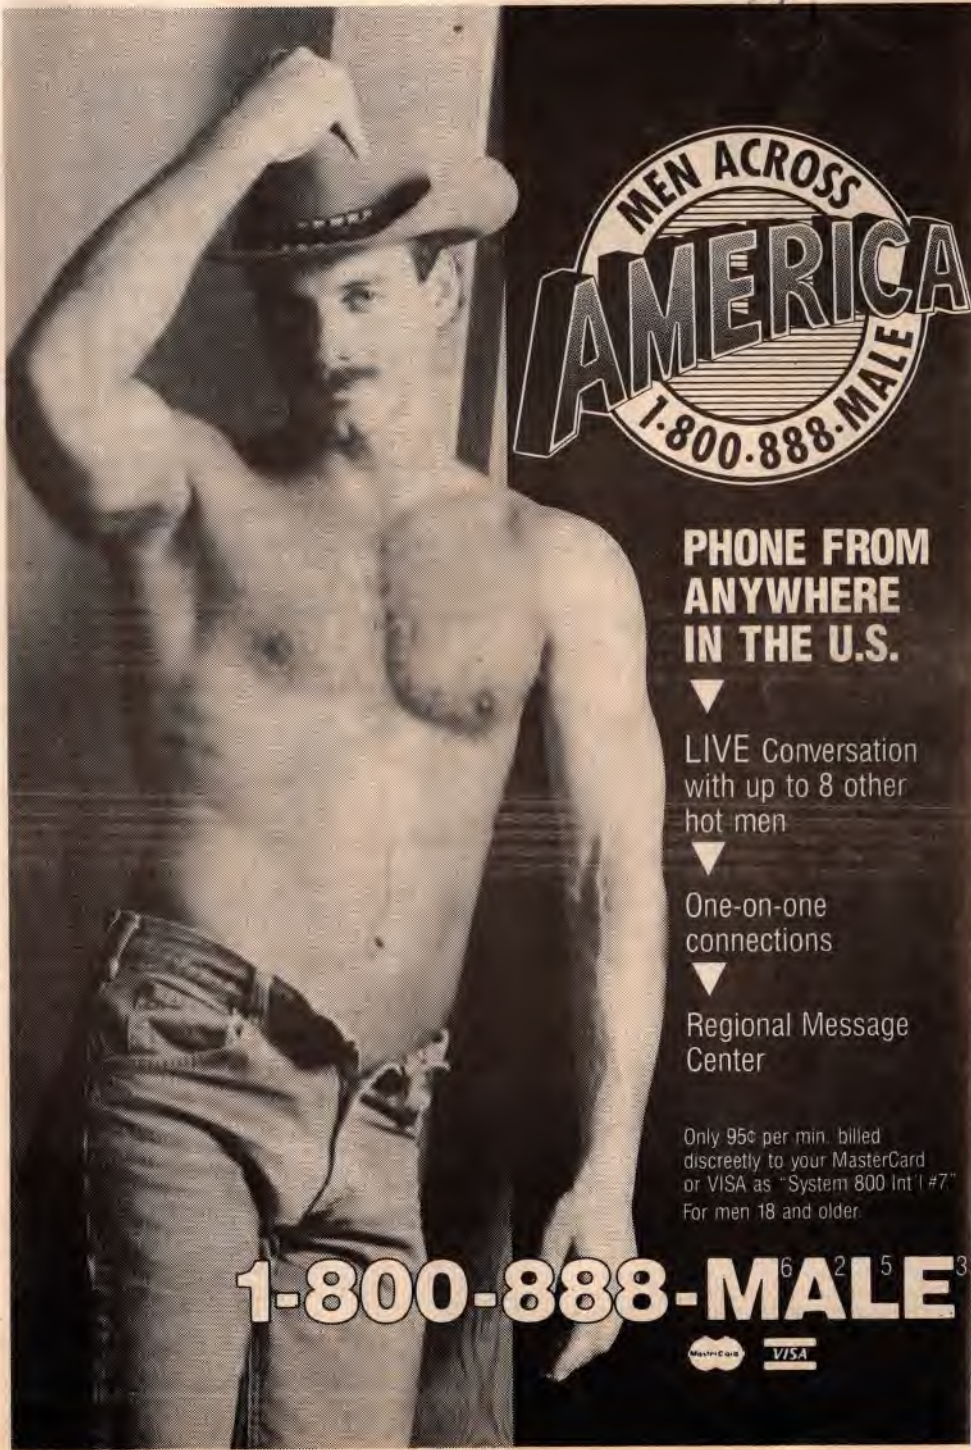

One hundred and seventy six individuals were arrested at the action according to a news release from Act Now.

"For the entire day, we were in control of the FDA. This action took us a long way in making the public understand that PWAs must have immediate access to experimental drugs that could extend their lives. We demand that the FDA seize control of the process of drug trials and release of treatments to the people who need them," said Sue Hyde, chair of the ACT NOW action committee.

The FDA action culminated a four day weekend of AIDS activist mobilization, which was tied in with the return of the Names Project Quilt to Washington D.C. for its one-year anniversary.

included an AIDS Activist teach-in attended by over 400 individuals on October 8, that offered AIDS activists from around the country the opportunity to build working relationships through their sharing of knowledge, ideas and perspectives on AIDS-related issues.

On October 9th an ACT NOW conference began the planning for future coordinated actions and to examine the role of the existing national network.

At a boisterous rally on the steps of the Department of Health and Human Services on October 10, a jury of over 600 found Reagan and his administration guilty of the murder of over 40,000 individuals who have died of AIDS. With Judge Carol Leigh, a well-known San Francisco performer presiding, five witnesses gave testimony of the horrifying response of the Reagan administration to AIDS as the crowd repeatedly chanted the guilty verdict.

Congress Approves AIDS Bill

[NGLTF]- In the final days of the 100th Congress, approval was given to a broad-ranging AIDS authorization bill covering research, education, health care, and testing activities of the Public Health Service. The bill passed October 13th by voice vote after Senator Jesse Helms withdrew his threats of a filibuster when the controversial confidentiality section was removed.

In commenting on the Congressional action, Jeffrey Levi, executive director of the National Gay and Lesbian Task Force, said "This bill provides important tools in our nation's struggle against AIDS. However, this bill also fails to address two critical issues — antidiscrimination and confidentiality, elements that the entire public health community considers essential to the fight against AIDS."

As passed by the House of Representatives on September 23rd, the legislation included strong federal confidentiality guarantees for all HIV test results, whether or not the tests were performed with federal funds. The Senate had never considered such legislation, and Senator Helms blocked inclusion of confidentiality protections in the final bill. During House debate on the bill sponsored by Congressman Henry Waxman (D-CA), efforts by Congressman Dannemeyer and others to limit confidentiality and mandate testing in certain arenas were defeated resoundingly. "We deeply regret — and the nation will suffer for — the Senate's inability, for political and procedural reasons, to seize the initiative away from Jesse Helms," Levi said.

The final bill was the result of a compromise between Waxman's research, counseling and testing bill and the Senate's research and prevention bill, whose lead sponsor was the Senator Edward Kennedy (D-MA). It contained authorization for a number of programs including: additional personnel and space for all the Public Health Service agencies working on AIDS; expanded clinical trials for AIDS drugs, including community-based initiatives; a drug treatment registry for care providers and persons with AIDS; public education programs without restrictions on content that have hampered prior efforts; $100 million a year in funding for anonymous testing in those states that permit it; and funding for home care programs.

"Many of these programs will be important in the fight against AIDS," Levi said. "The space and staff problems, for example, have been acute. But it did not take great courage to pass that part of the bill. It would have taken great courage to pass the confidentiality provision."

Dukakis vs. Bush — The Candidates Compared

The comparisons were compared based on voting records, public statements and candidate position papers.

GEORGE BUSH

GAY AND LESBIAN CIVIL RIGHTS

Position: Opposes gay and lesbian civil rights as awarding "special privileges" to one group.

Record: Reagan-Bush administration supported Supreme Court Hardwick decision denying Constitutional protections to gays. The administration has not opposed the immigration reform bill.

HATE CRIMES

Position: No known position.

Record: The administration has indicated it may support collecting statistics on crimes against gays and lesbians.

AIDS TESTING

Position: Advocates confidentiality of HIV test results; supports mandatory or routine testing for military, immigrants, marriage licenses, those seeking assistance for sexually transmitted diseases and drug dependence, and prisoners.

Record: The Reagan-Bush administration has left issues of confidentiality and availability to the states. It requires testing for military personnel, immigrants, Peace Corps and Job Corps workers, foreign service employees and federal prisoners.

AIDS PREVENTION

Position: Believes people should be educated about AIDS but prevention efforts should stress traditional moral values and strengthen the concept of "family." Content decision should be made at local level.

Record: Under the Reagan-Bush administration, a nation-wide mailing, originally conceived in the mid-1980's, was not sent until June 1988 due to political in-fighting over contents. The administration refuses to provide information on sex and drug use.

AIDS DISCRIMINATION

MICHAEL DUKAKIS

Position: Supports civil rights bill and immigration reform bill. Supports non-discrimination with regard to security clearances. Opposes executive order protecting government employees.

Record: As Massachusetts legislator, introduced state gay rights bill in 1974. As governor, he has lobbied for the bill.

Position: Supports legislation providing specific penalties for violence against gays and lesbians.

Record: Support Massachusetts law that helped to define an assault due to sexual orientation as a civil rights crime.

Position: Supports increased voluntary, confidential counseling and testing; advocates mandatory testing of military personnel and immigrants.

Record: Dukakis issued regulations banning testing for health and group life or disability insurance. Allows life insurers to test for individual policies over $100,000.

Position: Believes that AIDS education, including explicit information on sex and drug use, should begin in primary school with based on age and ability to absorb material.

Record: Massachusetts was the first state to do a house-to-house AIDS prevention mailing.

Research Project On Hate Crimes Funded

[NGLTF]- On October 1, President Reagan signed into law an appropriations bill that calls for a major study of hate crimes by the Department of Justice. At the request of NGLTF, Senator Lowell Weicker (R-CT) added report language to the bill designating "sufficient funds for NIJ (National Institute of Justice, the research division of the Justice Department) to conduct an 'Issues and Practices' study on hate crimes - i.e., crimes motivated by race, religion, sexual orientation or ethnicity."

The Issues and Practices project will build on an exploratory study of hate crimes completed in NIJ in October, 1987, which concluded that "homosexuals are probably the most frequent victims" of hate violence. Despite efforts by NGLTF and more than seventy members of Congress to persuade the Justice Department to conduct a follow-up study, no action has been taken for a full year.

"We are delighted that Senator Weicker and his colleagues in Congress have directed NIJ to combat hate crimes," said Kevin Berrill, Director of NGLTF's Anti-Violence Project. "An Issues and Practices study should significantly improve the law enforcement response to bias-motivated attacks against lesbian and gay people and other minority groups. We are very grateful to Senator Weicker for his help on this issue and for his continuing support of our struggle to be free from discrimination and violence."

AIDS Research In Space

Cape Canaveral, Fla. [T.W.N.]- An experiment conducted on the recent four-day mission of the space shuttle Discovery may help to teach researchers more about HIV.

The protein crystal growth, or PCG experiment, was designed to provide scientists with a more detailed knowledge of the three-dimensional structure of an enzyme called reverse transcriptase, believed to be "a chemical key to the replication of HIV."

The experiment was conducted by Burroughs Wellcome, manufacturer of AZT, marketed under the trade name Retrovir, currently the only drug approved by the Food and Drug Administration for the treatment of AIDS. A spokesman for the company said that "Knowing the precise structure of a complex molecule provides the key to understanding its biological function and could lead to methods of altering or controlling that function. In the case of reverse transcriptase, this could lead to a way to inhibit HIV."

Tom Krinitsky, a Burroughs Wellcome enzymologist, explained that crystals grown on earth are small and flawed because of the planet's gravitational pull, but crystals grown in space are superior because "When a crystal forms in space... it's like a snowflake that just sits there in the air."

The Soviets have already conducted their own outer-space experiments on HIV while cosmonauts orbited the planet aboard the Mir space station.

Army Policy On Gays Tested In Court

San Francisco, Calif. [Milw. Journal]-The Army's exclusion of gays and lesbians from service is unjustified and caters to "private bigotry," a lawyer for a discharged gay soldier told a federal appeals panel in a historic discrimination case.

But the government, defending the ban, said the Army had the right to follow "society's moral judgements" against homosexuals.

In a packed courtroom, an 11-judge panel of the 9th US Circuit Court of Appeals heard more than an hour of arguments in reconsidering a decision by a smaller panel of the court that the Army's ban on homosexuals was invalid. The 11-member panel did not issue any decision.

In its 2-1 decision, the three-judge panel declared that "homosexuals," as a historically persecuted group, were entitled to the same strict constitutional protections against discrimination given to racial and religious minorities. It was the first federal appellate court to reach those conclusions.

The lawyer for former soldier Perry Watkins of Tacoma, Wash., told the 11 judges that the Army had no more justification in barring homosexuals than it did in locking up Japanese-Americans in World War II.

U.N. Report Replete With Homophobia

[Equal Times]- A recent report written for the United Nations Commission on Human Rights is being highly criticized for its homophobic nature, according to an article in The Washington Blade.

The report, discussed recently in Geneva by a panel of the U.N. Subcommittee on the Prevention of Discrimination and the Protection of Minorities, says that lesbians and gays face discrimination in social relations, jobs and housing and are the object of hatred "comparable to hatred of other minorities that appear to endanger the very foundation of society."

While the report confirms discrimination against gays and lesbians its language and analysis is strongly homophobic, critics charge.

The report is "stunning in its schizophrenia" according to Jeff Levi, executive director of the National Gay and Lesbian Task Force. "The report has a sort of underlying homophobia running through it," Levi said.

The report suggests that homosexuality is a matter of choice and the product of permissive societies. It cites unrealistic, unattainable virile male images in the mass media as a common cause of male gayness and bad experiences with men as a cause of lesbianism.

The report's sole author is Jean Fernand-Laurent, a 72-year-old retired French diplomat. A spokesperson for the U.N. said Fernand-Laurent was chosen to write the report because he "is an expert in this field," but was unable to explain why he is considered an expert.

While the report's conclusions include the recommendation that governments make discrimination against gays and lesbians punishable by law, it also says, "The state can and must protect society against the potential dangers which such practices represent for morality, public order and general welfare."

In reference to lesbian and gay teachers, the report says "a choice must be made between the wish to avoid exposing children to the influence of a deviant model and the wish to eliminate any possible discrimination of a minority."

At this time it is unknown what action will be taken on the report. The panel could choose to do nothing with it or could go so far as to ask the U.N. Human Rights Commission to issue a formal request to governments to follow the report's recommendations.

Mayor Orders Police Probe at Bush Rally

San Francisco [Windy City Times]- Mayor Art Agnos has called for a full investigation of actions taken by the San Francisco Police Department recently when protesters against the Reagan-Bush administration's AIDS policies were involved in a violent confrontation with police.

The confrontation occurred as 1,000 protesters gathered outside the St. Francis hotel where presidential candidate George Bush was appearing at a $1,000-a-plate dinner.

Dolores Huerta, vice-president of the United Farm Workers Union, underwent surgery in San Francisco General Hospital for injuries sustained when police tried to forcibly clear the crowd from in front of the hotel. Huerta has been a strong supporter of lesbian and gay rights.

The protest rally was made up largely of gay and lesbian organizations, but they were joined by the International Machinists and Aerospace Workers Union, "Jobs and Justice" representatives and Dukakis/Bentsen supporters.

T.J. Anthony, an observer from Supervisor Harry Britt's office, says he has testimony of several incidents of police harassment and brutality. Britt demanded a full investigation by the police commission.

Inside the hotel Bush's only remark concerning the demonstration was: "I must say you have a peculiar breed of demonstrators out there. I'm glad to be inside."

Gay Bashing Worse Than Race Violence

New York City [Windy City Times]- Because there are no laws forbidding it, violence against gays and lesbians is worse even than that which exists in a racial context, Governor Mario Cuomo told a press conference here recently.

Speaking in his New York City office, Cuomo deplored the fact that often a person's "very definition of who they are has resulted in their being singled out for violent attack." Citing the Howard Beach incident as an example of racial attack, he also noted that, "Just two weeks ago two young men walking along the Upper West Side in the early evening were stabbed and beaten by a gang of thugs because they were gay."

Cuomo called his press conference to note the inauguration of the Martin Luther King Institute, a "think tank" that will study violence in our society and offer ways to respond to it.

Cuomo mentioned a New York state "bias bill" that would criminalize acts of violence inspired by prejudice against various groups of people including lesbians and gays. He sharply attacked the state senate's Republican leadership for its opposition to including gays in the bill. Cuomo said, "by leaving out gay men and lesbians, New York State Republican senators have proposed to perpetuate the very stereotyping and bias it is their responsibility to fight."

Gay Ex-Cop Files Discrimination Suit

Los Angeles, Ca. [T.W.N.] - A former Los Angeles police sergeant has filed a $5 million lawsuit against the city, charging that he was hounded out of the force because he is gay. The suit is believed to be the first in the nation filed by a gay police officer against a police department for sexual harassment. Mitchell Grobeson, 29, who resigned from the force on June 13, told a news conference his fellow officers threatened to kill him because he is a gay man. The suit alleges the Police Department has "a policy of harassment" against gay officers and seeks an injunction to stop the discrimination and order the department to actively recruit gay and lesbian officers. A police spokesman would make "no comment" about the suit, but stated that the department does not discriminate on the basis of sexual orientation.

Grobeson entered the force in 1982. In 1984 rumors began circulating within the department that Grobeson was gay. Over

Tri-Cable Tonight 1 Yr. Anniversary

Tri-Cable Tonight, Milwaukee's monthly television program for the Gay/Lesbian community, is celebrating its first anniversary with an hour long live call-in show on Nov. 1 from 7-8 p.m., on Warner Cable channel 14. The program will be rebroadcast on Nov. 15 at 7 p.m. and Nov. 27 at 6 p.m., minus the live call-in portion. The number to reach the show on Nov. 1 is 225-3560, between 7-8 p.m.

Highlights of the anniversary show include: Juana along with co-host Mark Behar will discuss plans for the upcoming year, along with inviting viewer comments about what they would like to see. There will be on the street interviews conducted at this year's MAP Fest asking viewers at they think of Tri-Cable.

Other segments include a black poetry reading "When I Stopped Kissing My Father" produced by Rodney Johnson. Dr. Terry Boughner will talk about gay life among the Maya and Aztec Indians as well as discuss his new book "Out of All Time." Attorney Steven Byers will talk about significant legal developments over the last year, as well as taking viewer questions. Opinion writer Ralph Navarro will talk about the Lesbian/Gay Community Goal setting report, and will talk with call-in viewers as well.

Tri-Cable Tonight is produced by the Milwaukee Gay/Lesbian Cable Network, and functions as a committee of the Cream City Foundation.

The network is still seeking a new male co-host as well as volunteer talent and crew to help in all aspects of program production. Free training in portable and studio video production is available from Milwaukee Access Telecommunications Authority. For information, write to: MGLCN c/o Cream City Foundation, P.O. Box 204, Milwaukee, WI 53201-0204.

Tri-Cable Wins Awards

Producers and crew from Milwaukee Gay/Lesbian Cable Network received several awards at this year's 3rd Annual Community Programming Banquet & Awards Ceremony of the Milwaukee Access Telecommunications Authority (MATA), October 14 at Centennial Hall.

About 50 producers submitted over 100 programs in competition for the coveted Philo Awards, which are given annually for "Outstanding Achievement in Community Programming" in each of the categories.

Producer Bob Fish won a Philo in Performing Arts for his program, "A Layman's Guide to Safe Sex," a theatre production by Chicago's Lion Heart at the Ballgame. Producers Bryce Clark and Mark Behar won Philos for Tri-Cable Tonight in the Series Programming category, which featured excerpts of the best from the series over the last year, and for the September Tri-Cable Program in the Cultural Focus category which highlighted among other things, interviews with members of Black & White Men Together from their annual picnic. In addition, MGLCN producer Karen Sherer was recognized with a wall plaque for her contribution as a MATA volunteer, and the Milwaukee AIDS Project received recognition with a special Video Network's ability to successfully use access facilities to portray the Gay & Lesbian community was praised by MATA staff and board members as well as competition judges. Earlier in 1988, the Milwaukee Gay/Lesbian Cable Network won the Cream City Business Association's President's Award.

'Nylons' Benefit Madison's MASN

The Nylons, a popular acapella singing group, will perform a benefit concert on Nov. 12 for the Madison AIDS Support Network [MASN] at the Civil Center in Madison.

The group has been very active in raising money for AIDS. They recently performed with Roberta Flack in Baltimore, and last year were a part of the Los Angeles benefit for AIDS.

The ticket prices for the Madison show are $100.00, $75.00, $50.00 and $35.00.

The group will host a cocktail reception for those donations of seventy five and one hundred dollars.

For more information or tickets please contact Shelly at the MASN office at (608) 255- 1711 or write: MASN, 23 North Pickney St., Madison. WI 53703.

Quilt Completes Anniversary

The Names Project Quilt completed its year long journey by being unfolded on its year anniversary in Washington, D.C. on Sat. Oct. 8. The quilt is four times larger than it was a year ago, numbering 8,288 panels.

Throughout the day, friends, relatives and project supporters read names of the dead, while thousands of people walked the five-mile grid to view the colorful tributes. The quilt covered the Ellipse, a six-block park between the White House and Washington Monument.

The quilt was first unveiled in Washington last Oct. during a weekend rally and the march for gay/lesbian rights. Since then, the quilt has been displayed in twenty cities across the country.

Project organizers are uncertain about future plans for the quilt. They have received invitations from cities for future visits and have begun to search for a permanent home for the quilt, where it can be properly displayed and cared for.

ceremony involving special worship services and candlelightings. Already 13 clergypersons from six denominations have asked to be a part of this year's service. They will offer prayers of support for those with the disease, as well as for friends, families and loved ones of victims.

One special service scheduled is a communion on Sat. Nov. 5 at midnight for the Rev. David Callentine. Rev. Callentine was the founding pastor of Angel of Hope MCC and died of AIDS this spring. He was also the Pastor of New Hope MCC, and lived in Milwaukee.

For more information of the vigil or the group contact them at: Angel of Hope, MCC, P.O. Box 672, Green Bay, WI 54305. Or phone 437-3876/437- 6194.

momentum. On Saturday, November 12 WAF volunteers will be at M & M Club, La Cage, and Club 219, collecting contributions and selling the popular t-shirt.

Over 2,000 t-shirts have been sold in the past four months to raise money to fight the battle against AIDS.

The Milwaukee Foundation established WAF to reduce the impact of AIDS and AIDS related problems in the state of Wisconsin and primarily the greater Milwaukee area by providing support for programs directed at prevention of the further spread of AIDS and care and treatment services for those who have already been infected. The Fund is intended to serve as a developmental resource for new services and programs to meet emerging needs or to fill gaps in the current health care system.

The effort to develop the Fund was initiated by a group of concerned individuals from a broad background, representing several local health and cultural organizations. Mary Ladish, Colin Cabot, Michael Lord, Dave Lubar, Tamara Stark and Edit Brengel to name a few. American Red Cross, Planned Parenthood and MAP (Milwaukee AIDS Project) are also represented on the Steering Committee.

The Fund is being supported by a grassroots effort, the corporate community, and local foundations. These groups have donated over $20,000 and t-shirt sales have generated almost as much. Rita Coolidge gave a benefit concert sponsored by Boston Store on the last evening of Bastille Days to also aid the cause.

Tax deductible contributions can be made to the Wisconsin AIDS Fund c/o Milwaukee Foundation, 1020 North Broadway, Suite 211, Milwaukee, WI 53202. T-shirts will be available through the Milwaukee Foundation, Monday-Friday (9:00 - 4:00). For further information please call 272-5805.

Thank You, Milw!

The 1988 Milwaukee Lesbian/Gay Pride

Committee would like to take this opportunity to publicly express its sincere thanks and appreciation to those organizations and their members who made the first annual pride celebration a huge success. Organizations are named below (in alphabetical order) and individuals will soon be receiving personal letters from the Committee.

Alpha Composition, Beer Garden, Beer Town Badgers, Black & White Men Together, Boot Camp, C.S.P., Incorporated, Chicago's Gay Pride Planning Week Committee, Cream City Business Association, Cream City Chorus, Cream City Foundation, Dignity, Fest City Singers, Gay People's Union, Holiday Invitational Tournament, In Step Magazine, Jet's Place, Lambda Rights Network, Lutherans Concerned, Meridian Music, Milwaukee GAMMA Inc., New Hope M.C.C., New Moon Productions, Saturday Softball League, Shadows II-Top Shelf, Shafer Design, Station II-Eastern Connection, 10 Percent Society at UW-M, Talisman Press, Triangle, Tri-Cable TV, and Wisconsin Light.

MLGPC estimates that over 1,500 people in our Community participated at or were involved in some part of the events which took place between September 10 and 24th. It was certainly a good beginning and MLGPC looks forward to an ever-increasing community awareness and involvement in the celebration of community Pride in future years.

1989 Pride Theme Announced

By Don Clabots

During the October 6- Oct. 9 weekend, the St. Louis Lesbian/Gay Pride Celebration Committee hosted the Seventh Annual International Association of Gay and Lesbian Pride Celebration [IAG/LPC] Planners Conference. Nearly 90 delegates represented many cities across the United States and Canada.

This planning conference included two and one-half days of workshops and open forums in order to exchange ideas and learn more about the various local activities conducted around the country and throughout Canada and, more

Now that the bowling season is well underway, we now have another sport season to start. The SVBL (Volleyball) will begin their season on Saturday, November 5, 1988. They are anticipating new teams from This Is It, The Ballgame, The Triangle, and The Alternative, as well as their warm-up session Saturday, October 29, 1988 from 3:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m.

If you don't have your teams set up as of yet, please get in touch with your favorite bar(s) and have them formed and get in touch with John Cowles at 962-7366. Also, if you have any other questions, please feel free to get in touch with John.

I know that I am now beginning to sound like a broken record, but just a friendly reminder to get your applications in early if you want to bowl in the H.I.T. tournament. The deadline, which is November 10, 1988, is just a few short weeks away, so to be able to bowl the shifts you want to bowl, it is best to get your applications in early. The earlier the better of course. Against, the H.I.T. Board Members are expecting a large turnout for the 10th anniversary of H.I.T., the oldest gay bowling tournament in the country. Even if you're not a bowler, please feel free to come on out to the bowling alley and enjoy the fun that all the bowlers will have. And of course, watch for all those out of town bowlers in the bars over the Thanksgiving Weekend as well.

Again, just as a precaution, if you do not find your bowling league' standings in this column it is due to the fact that it was not received by the deadline. Feel free to have one of your league representatives get in touch with In Step or myself for a schedule of when they are due. I mentioned it in the last issue, but received only one bowling standing just in time to have it published.

importantly, how and why they are held and something about each local Pride Planning Committee. Any person affiliated with a Pride Committee is eligible to attend and, after meeting certain requirements, can vote.

On Saturday, the Milwaukee contingent led a workshop on the Consensus Process. Not too surprisingly, this process is used to develop a consensus decision about any matter which requires input by everyone and which results in a unanimous consent. What was surprising to this observer is that this process really works well and without anyone feeling left out of the process or feeling left out of the final decision. To be sure, many disagreements, concerns and attitudes were voiced but the end result in all cases was agreement by consensus.

Alternately, each geographic area (East, Midwest, and West) has an opportunity to host the conference on a somewhat rotating basis between West, Midwest, and East. The 1989 conference will be held in Vancouver, B.C. In 1990 the conference will be in Minneapolis and either New York or Hartford will host the 1991 conference. Milwaukee and/or Madison has a good chance of being able to host the 1993 conference during the fifth year celebration of Milwaukee Pride.

On Saturday, during the last business session of the conference, it is customary for the conference delegates to pick the theme for the following year. 20 Stonewall: A Generation of Pride was submitted by the New York Delegation (12 members strong who came prepared with T- Shirts and sketches of possible designs) along with 21 other possible themes and after all possible discussion was had between attendees, this theme was selected.

The Milwaukee Committee has decided to hold a local poster contest to come up with its local theme and design for 1989. The details and rules will be available soon and local talent will be asked to submit camera- ready designs for competition based on use of the theme and text within the design.

The ML/GPC announced at the Celebration 1988 Dinner with Mayor John Norquist as the key speaker, that Milwaukee would celebrate the twentieth anniversary of Stonewall, in 1989, during the same time as the National Pride Week along with most of the other major cities. The dates of Saturday, June 17th through Wednesday, June 28th have been picked for Milwaukee's Celebration of Lesbian and Gay Pride. Mark your calendars now and plan to be part of it.

by R.D. Thompson

ARIES: March 21 to April 21

With everything going on around you, it's a wonder that you're able to get so much done. Concentrate on those items of importance first and then tackle the minor stuff with what energy you have left. Romance is in the air again.

TAURUS: April 22 to May 21

It appears as though you're forced to take a new look at partnerships these days. From out of the blue someone from somewhere pops into your life and really stirs up deep feelings that you never thought you had.

GEMINI: May 22 to June 21

Marriage just doesn't seem to be finding you in good spirits. Could it be that your idea differs from that of your partner? At any rate, events should be keeping this like a rollercoaster ride for some time yet.

CANCER: June 22 to July 23

Oh my gentle watery friends, with autumn setting in, I can just see you knocking yourself out trying to fill the freezer. This would be a great time to throw a party to end all parties, and get it over with before the holidays get here.

LEO: July 24 to August 23

Can't seem to get the housework done on top of everything else? Don't take it personally as you've got way too many irons in the fire as it is. Your going to have to plan a little time for yourself every day or you'll drop before long.

VIRGO: August 23 to September 23

Stay home and get the place winterized! There will be plenty of time to party later but for now get your heaven as comfortable as possible. If you don't get those windows washed the first snow just won't look the same.

LIBRA: September 24 to October 22

You'll never get into holiday ball dress if you don't take off the weight. Try to get your diary updated or started if you haven't yet. Then re-read what you've written to help you better understand yourself.

SCORPIO: October 23 to November 22

This two week period should remain uneventful, however it would be a great time to get in touch with yourself and where you want to go in life. A visit to a nursing home or hospital may give you a few clear objectives.

SAGITTARIUS: November 23 to December 23

Better get plan B and plan C ready where financial matters are concerned. This period marks the beginning of a long cycle where there will be many ups and downs. Get a nest egg, a budget, and most of all.....STICK TO IT!

CAPRICORN: December 23 to January 20

There's no way anyone can call you socially boring for you're in the limelight alot these days. Being Mr./Mrs. popular has it's advantages but it also has it's drawbacks, such as work not getting done. Time won't seem to be working with you.

AQUARIUS: January 21 to February 19

Of course the grass looks greener on the other side of the fence but is it? This is not the time to drop the bird in the hand for the two in the bush, (one is very elusive and the other a mere shadow). Keep in mind there's a long cold winter coming up and unless you mind your P's and Q's you could end up spending it alone.

PISCES: February 20 to March 21

Sit quietly and examine A) where you've been, B) where you're at, and C) where are you going. Most think that C equals A plus B. This is not true for C equals whatever you want it to be. Dreams can and do come true if you want them bad enough.

Because being wholesome too, is a burden. People are surprised when I swear. They tell me dirty jokes to watch me blush. They say I conform to their image of me.

The other night I was at a restaurant, sitting across from my sexiest friend, Brad. Brad is sultry, intelligent and prone to making remarks I would only think about. He began talking about the state of his lust life. "I'm so horny I'm ready to grab the waiter." Our service picked up. "I can't sleep nights, I'm so frustrated." Brad fondled his breadstick to emphasize the point. My other friend Ed, who's also fairly 'wholesome', toyed with his salad uncomfortably.

I suggested that he divert his energy. To work, perhaps. He's an excellent cook and was thinking about catering.

"No I can't cook unless I'm being f---, I get too hungry." Ed stopped eating.

I was fed up. So I picked up a napkin and designed an ad for Brad's new business. I drew a cheesecake with a huge headline that said: "Eat Me." Brad grinned and agreed. Ed shook his head and frowned.

"That's not very nice Tim. It's offensive."

Talk about double standards.

The wholesome do have an edge. Strangers will stop to ask for directions and friends often ask for my advice. I'm always the one little old ladies would feel comfortable with sitting on a bus.

Still I wish someone would walk up to me and whisper some provocative line in my ear, but that will have to wait for some future self. Meanwhile, for the end of this life, I've prepared the perfect epitaph: "Here Lies Tim... He Was Cute." ▽

I Wanna' Be

In my next life I want to be sleazy. I want to be tall, tan, with a massive chest and deep blue eyes. But definitely sleazy. The kind of man who wear forms fitting Levis and a black leather jacket. The kind of man other men drool over. The kind of man that leaves you speechless. The kind of man I am not in this life.

Ever since adolescence, I have longed to be sexually threatening. The truth is, I wouldn't threaten a tenth grader. In fact, the other day while shopping a sixteen-year-old asked me what high school I went to... And I'm twenty-five.

I guess I should be a little bit flattered. To her credit, she didn't tell me I was cute. If I had a dollar for every time that adjective has been hurled my way, I could fly to Europe and have a operation to make me sleazy.

Of course, I doubt even European surgeons are skilled enough to surgically

"sleazify" someone who looks like they walked off a college recruitment poster. I'm the sort of guy who's' date always calls him the next morning, because all they did the night before was take me to dinner. I'm the sort of guy who when introduced to a date's friends always gets described as nice, just once I would like a date's friend to object to me.

But images, wholesome or trashy, are hard to overcome. My friend Tom, for instance is a man others long to attack. Tom is tall, muscular, and obscenely handsome. Sane males go limp (?) when he appears. What's ironic is that Tom professes to be quite romantic. All he wants from a man he says, are quiet dinners and discussions of popular authors. All men want from Tom is erotic murmurs between sexual encounters. He wonders why he can't maintain a relationship. Poor Tom is burdened by birthright with being a sexual fantasy. I would love to trade images with him for a day.

the next 3 1/2 years, "Faggot get out!" was scrawled on officers' bathrooms, a picture of Rock Hudson was posted on his locker and his car was vandalized. In several life-threatening situations, Grobeson requested back-up assistance and none came. A fellow officer later told him that they were trying to teach him a lesson. Grobeson complained to his supervisors, the police commission and to the mayor but got no response. Eight officers conspired to "set up" Grobeson by encouraging a man arrested for a narcotics violation to complain that Grobeson "engaged in improper behavior" during a strip search. Grobeson was exonerated of the charges but resigned less than a month later because the department did not discipline the officers in the conspiracy.

MASN Surveys Safer Sex Awareness

By Jeff Kirsch
for SPEAK ITS NAME

[Madison]- A Madison AIDS Support Network (MASN) survey conducted of 210 sexually active Gay/bisexual men has revealed that 82 percent find themselves at least "moderately comfortable" with their knowledge of HIV infection, AIDS and methods of risk reduction.

Fifty percent of the total indicated that they are "very comfortable" with their level of understanding, while only 7 percent said that they are "not comfortable."

Forty-three percent reported that they use condoms when engaging in anal intercourse "at least half the time." Twenty-eight percent of the total always use condoms, while one-quarter admitted to "never or seldom" using them. An additional 31 percent said that the question of condom usage "does not apply" to them.

MASN Public Health Educator Sue Krause, who carried out the survey, says, "It is not clear whether these men (the 31 percent) are not engaging in anal intercourse or if they are in a relationship in which both partners are (HIV) antibody negative/mutually monogamous and considered that the question of safety did not apply to them."

Krause says that the safest kind of condoms are made of latex (rubber), not animal skin. Recently, condoms have been manufactured with nonoxynol-9, a spermicide that kills the HIV virus in a test tube and may provide extra protection if a condom breaks during intercourse. Nonoxynol-9 is also included in some lubricants or jellies. Lubricants with oil or grease, such as Crisco or Vaseline are not recommended, since they can weaken latex to the point of breakage. Water-based lubricants are preferred.

In questions dealing with degree of risk, a clear pattern emerged. Anal receptive intercourse without a condom was considered by more than 80 percent of the respondents as a high-risk activity.

Most respondents also indicated that they believed that insertive anal intercourse (top) presents less risk than receptive (bottom). Eighty-six percent nonetheless said they considered insertive anal intercourse "somewhat risky."

"Whether or not this belief translates into behavior," says Krause, "this finding raises a concern about the receptive partner. Bottoms need to be protected."

Tim Tillotson, coordinator of the Blue Bus Clinic in Madison, says that although "single-time, unprotected sex presents more risk to the receptive partner," there is no data on the breakdown of people who have contracted the HIV virus through receptive vs. insertive anal sex. While affirming that anal sex is the most frequent mode of transmission among Gay men, Tillotson notes that other factors are involved, such as recent findings that an infected person's ability to transmit the virus to a partner increases with the length of the infection.

Responses about oral sex showed a mixed opinion. Thirty-four percent considered this "somewhat risky," while 40 percent believed it to be a "higher risk." Most safer sex guidelines consider that oral sex without ejaculation into the mouth is "possibly safe." (Ejaculation into the mouth is considered unsafe.) Tillotson says that "while probably not zero, the magnitude of risk associated with oral sex is much less than that associated with anal intercourse."

Almost 20 percent of the men surveyed reported participating in an activity in the past month that would put them at risk for HIV infection. Seventy-two percent said they had engaged in no risk during the same period of time; nine percent were uncertain if their sexual activity had put

It Came From Out Of My Closet!

For me, the darker spirits of Halloween can evoke long held terrors left over from an over-imaginative childhood. Fear of the dark, fear of what may be lurking under my bed, fear of the boogeyman hiding in my closet, (a man I later married, by the way). But as I've grown, these fears have changed and given way to newer demons which affect my adulthood. Fears that seem to be shared by other gay people. So, while Stephen King may scare the living beejesus out of some, I believe I can conjure up some real icky stuff that will scare the Hell out of most gay people!

1. Having a hot date sing, "Is that all there is..." after he sees you naked for the first time.
2. Discovering, while getting dressed for a very important job interview, that your entire wardrobe consists of torn blue jeans, t-shirts and a cockring.
3. Being diagnosed by your friends and doctor as the first man ever to come down with a case of PMS.
4. After sex, having your partner put out a cigarette rather than lighting one up.
5. Coming to grips with the fact that no matter how much leather you wear, your hind-end still has that nellie swish to it when you walk.
6. Having sex with someone in a dark room and discovering later that you were fooling around with the wrong person. This can be especially traumatic if that person was a woman.
7. Discovering ten years too late that you are no longer chicken.
8. Having your analyst tell you that you are probably a kleptomaniac just because you have this irresistible urge to steal things of questionable value, like your ex-lover's new boyfriend.
9. Deciding, after a soul searching session in front of a full length mirror, that you actually look better in a pink chiffon evening gown, than you do in a pair of tight 501's.

10. Inviting your friends over for dinner after a long day of protesting anti-gay violence in television commercials and discovering that the only food in your house is a box of Kellogg's Nuttin' Honey Crunch breakfast cereal.

11. Remembering, well into passionate foreplay, that your underpants have a skid mark in them.

12. Suddenly realizing that the man leaning against the jukebox, who you've been seriously cruising for the last three hours, is the teacher who gave you an "F" on your 8th grade science fair project.

13. Discovering that you are the first gay man ever to be born without an acute sense of color co-ordination.

14. Realizing that the longer you stay together with your lover, the more he reminds you of your mother.

15. Finally grasping that no amount of hair spray and styling mousse is going to make your expanding bald spot disappear.

16. Learning that if you decide to only have sex with men who are monogamous, honest, handsome, intelligent and sober, you'll probably be celibate for the rest of your life.

17. Finally finding Mr. Right, only to realize that he is your ex-lover and now you'll be spending the rest of your life in futile attempts to arrange a reconciliation.

18. Coming to understand that the more time it's been since you came out, the more you've become like a stereotype.

them in danger of contracting the infection.

When asked to answer the question, "Do you feel you need to change your behavior in some way to reduce your chances of being exposed to HIV infection?", 52 percent believed they did not have to, while 44 percent responded that some behavior change was necessary for them.

Sixty-nine percent of those surveyed said they believe that it is becoming easier to find partners who practice safer sex. Eight percent disagreed.

Forty-eight percent of the men use alcohol or drugs before sex at least half the time and 20 percent of the total reported usage almost always. Seventeen percent indicated that they never use drugs or alcohol before sex.

Two-thirds of the men surveyed said that they have known someone with AIDS.

The survey was conducted during July and August, 1988. Respondents were chosen at random at Madison's Rod's Bar, the New Bar, the MAGIC Picnic and the UW-Madison's 10 Percent Society Dance.

Krause said that this was the first such survey done by MASN and that "people were very open to it." She expects to conduct a similar survey in the Summer of 1989 for purposes of comparison.

According to Tillotson, all potential sex partners should share information about their antibody status and sexual history, as well as consider safer sex guidelines. "But the most important thing is to stop all unprotected anal intercourse. This, I'm sure, would cut new cases of HIV infection by a factor of ten."

NIAID Grants Given

[Washington, D.C.]—Robert E. Windom, M.D., assistant secretary for health, has announced that 7 Centers for AIDS Research (CFARs) are being established by universities receiving new 5-year grants from the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Disease (NIAID). The CFARs will promote the development of new scientific knowledge about AIDS, with the ultimate goal of improving the diagnosis, treatment and prevention of AIDS. The total costs for the first year are $6.7 million.

The CFAR program is unique because it is designed for groups of investigators who have established reputations for excellence in AIDS research and who are already receiving funds for AIDS-related research from NIAID and other Institutes at the National Institutes of Health. The awards provide core support for consolidating and focusing the AIDS research activities at their universities.

foreign countries where voting is mandated by law, the United States trusts their citizens to cast their legal ballot. This election truly has been marked with one yawn after another, only encouraging continued voter apathy.

Get involved. Write letters to candidates telling them that we would like a debate, not a staged presentation or extended campaign commercial. All of the candidates have been victims of management consultants, media advisors and clothing designers. For a change, we ought to express our views on the campaign.

By becoming involved in the process, we are part of the solution, rather than perpetuating the problem. From the local level, on up, we need to support candidates that believe not only in our issues, but in the process of free and democratic elections.

We, as gay and lesbian people, are at a crucial point in our political development. Seize the opportunity to be a part of the democratic process this November. ▽

Homophobia No excuse for Murder

Tacoma, Wash. [T.W.N.]- A jury has found Eddie Wayne Bell, 40, guilty of second degree murder in the beating death of Ruston Mayor Peter Brudevold, 61, despite defense arguments that his actions came as an emotional response to fear of a homosexual advance. (Commonly called "homosexual panic syndrome")

Puget Sound Gay Advocates expressed relief and satisfaction last month when a Pierce County Superior Court jury rejected Bell's claim that intense fear of homosexuals impaired his judgement, causing his mind to "switch to auto-pilot" when Brudevold, allegedly reached for Bell's crotch. Bell claimed to have been gang-raped before by men in a Texas prison. "This sends a message that (there are) defense attorneys who think a 'homophobia' defense is useful" said George Bakan, editor of the Seattle Gay News. "What this means is that a group of citizens showed great wisdom and recognized murder when they saw it."

Scientists estimate that more than 1 million Americans are infected with the human immunodeficiency virus (HIV), the cause of AIDS. Approximately 74,000 Americans have been diagnosed with AIDS since 1981, and nearly 60 percent of them have died. At present, only one antiviral drug, AZT, is approved for the treatment of AIDS, and it is not a cure.

Current scientific opinion recognizes that the epidemic of HIV infection requires a multidisciplinary approach involving a wide spectrum of basic, preclinical, clinical and applied research. The directors of the CFARS are expected to provide strong leadership in facilitating creative, interactive AIDS research activities among a variety of laboratory and clinical investigators.

Each director has been assured by his parent institution that the CFAR will be recognized as a major element in the institution's organization structure. Each CFAR director has also received a firm commitment from the institution to provide necessary personnel, facilities and space for research projects, laboratory and clinical equipment or services that will be shared by a number of investigators engaged in AIDS research will be funded by the center grants. Funds are available for upgrading laboratories and providing proper containment facilities for working with HIV and related retroviruses.

The CFAR directors are Stephen Byrn, Ph.D., Purdue University, West Lafayette, Ind.; Murray Gardner, M.D., University of California, Davis; King Holmes M.D., University of Washington, Seattle, Wash.; Eric Hunter, Ph.D., University of Alabama at Birmingham; Thomas Merigan, M.D., Stanford University, Stanford, Calif.; Arye Rubinstein, M.D., Albert Einstein College of Medicine, Bronx, NY.; and Paul Volberding, M.D., University of California, San Francisco.

witty individuals. The kind of intellectual stimulation Dan Quale depends on each and every day.

Don't misconstrue my political beliefs. I think George Bush is the perfect candidate for the Republicans. Bush, Quale and their voodoo economics will lead the United States right back into the 17th Century. That's pre-bill of rights. As a card carrying member of the ACLU, I am offended that a candidate for the highest office in the land does not support the Constitution of the United States.

Throughout his campaign, Bush has defended the actions of the Reagan administration, from the failed appointments of Bork and Ginsberg to the Supreme Court, to the wholly inadequate response to tragedies facing our society, drugs, medical care and the ever growing federal deficit. For the first time, we now have comprehensive AIDS legislation. Funny it should happen in an election year.

Of course the response of the voters has been less than enthusiastic. Unlike some another point of view...

by Darla Kashian

This column provides my last opportunity to harp about the upcoming election. Again, I remind you for the twentieth time, Register and Vote. It's easy and it only takes a few minutes. Unlike most states, we can register at the polls with appropriate identification. Call the Milwaukee County Election commission at 278-4060 if you have further questions about registering to vote.

No doubt, we are all tired of the constant bickering that has been going on in the Presidential race. Fortunately, certain candidates have managed to stay above the petty disagreements caused in the quest for power. I, personally, have found a few bright spots among the campaign.

To his credit, and in the spirit of a true campaign, Herb Kohl has refused to step down into the gutter and fight dirty with Englighter. Although his campaign has generated legitimate criticism, I also think that Kohl deserves a pat on the back for his positive messages about his experiences and plans.

Susan Engelghter, in her feeble attempt to capture the front page, attacked Herb Kohl for being a defense contractor. Apparently, Kohl had previously owned a company that sold coffee cake the United States military. Coffee cake can hardly be considered akin to nuclear weapons or $200 toilet seats. When was the last time a coffee cake destroyed a nation or killed an innocent person.

If you ask me, we ought to be selling coffee cake to the Russians. Mass produced bakery could slow down any military unit.

The coffee cake caper is one example of the strange attacks that have come out of Englighter's mouth. Correct me if I'm wrong, but aren't the Republicans in favor of defense contracting.

Englighter has also attacked Kohl because of his wealth.

No doubt because the party of Ronald Reagan and George Bush has suddenly become an advocate for the poor and downtrodden. Let us not forget that she and her husband have loaned her campaign over $300,000. This makes Susan a common person? The last time I had $300,000...?

Let us reminisce about the good old, really old, days of the Reagan administration. Ketchup is a vegetable. How about, most street people choose to live that way. Or, 'We begin bombing in 5 minutes.' Clearly a party of scholars and

"CABARET"

By Kevin Michael

"Life is a Cabaret, old chum, come to the Cabaret!" sounds the invitation. If you chose not to respond to this "Willkommen" when the touring company visited the Riverside recently, clearly the loss was yours.

I can't believe that I first saw this show on Broadway some twenty years ago! Joel Grey reprising his role as the emcee, has shown that this show like a fine wine has matured quite well. In point of fact, even with the film version directed and choreographed with a Fosse touch, it offered a welcome evolution of the piece to its present form. The film allowed the refocus on some of the characters and thereby allowed I believe for a clearer approach to the purpose of the piece. For example, it made clear that Cliff, the writer, had gay experiences prior to his arrival in Berlin. His past was something only hinted at earlier in the musical and suggested by his bi-sexuality in the film.

also, "The Money Song" here was expanded to include part of that song which was written later for the film but not contained within the earlier musical play.

Joel Grey certainly delivered in his performance. He surely did not "walk through" his role. In fact, the night I saw the show, Mr. Grey had a marvelous time with his character but the audience seemed somewhat unresponsive to him. He wished, I believe to deliver far more but the audience seemed a bit uncomfortable with the decadence of the piece. I rather enjoyed the "divine decadence" using Liza's description from the film.

Also, this cast seemed more balanced than the original which I saw. Nancy Ringham as Sally Bowles was a good choice and brought down the house with her rendition of "Cabaret." Marcia Lewis as Fraulein Schneider was also an excellent performer and I enjoyed her delivery of songs and moments on stage. She worked well with Michael Allison as Herr Schultz. I was only disappointed by Dorothy Stanley as Fraulein Kost. Her character didn't come across as well as it should have. She had ample opportunity to develop a character but didn't take advantage of that opportunity. It's interesting to note that the original actress in that role did capitalize on her portrayal and did win a Tony Award as best supporting or featured actress in a musical as did Joel Grey for best supporting actor in a musical that year. He continued to deliver, she didn't begin.

The male chorus vocal on "Tomorrow Belongs To Me" was excellent. The only drawback to the show was the size of the Riverside stage. Clearly there were limitations in the dance. The "Telephone Song" was a victim of too little space to adequately perform as were some of the other company numbers. However, the cast seemed to take it in stride and performed well even with that limitation.

All in all, an excellent touring company and a great show.

have been scheduled in the Stackner Cabaret on five Sunday evenings. The theater seats 116 persons and the cost of a ticket will be $10.00. The total ticket sale for each evening will be donated to the Milwaukee AIDS Project - that's a potential of over $5,000 total folks for the hospice program on ticket sales alone! Also, all performers are donating their time to the cause whether as performers or actors and actresses who will serve as waiters and waitresses and all tips will be donated to the project as well! Not to worry, the Cabaret serves liquor and the bar management has also agreed to donate 25 cents from the sale of each drink to the project! This puts the total which could be raised at well over $10,000!

The Sunday evening performances are to coordinate with the Rep's Theater schedule of plays being offered and will take a variety of themes.

Sunday, November 13th is the first evening. This will be a two character Christopher Durang play entitled, "Laughing Wild." It will star Ken Albers and Priscilla Hake Lauris. This is the only work that deals specifically with the AIDS issue directly but all others will be of benefit to our community.

Sunday, December 11th will be a repeat of "Laughing Wild."

Sunday, February 5th will focus on the life and music of jazz great Bessie Smith in "Nobody's Blues But Mine." It will feature Barbara Roberts, and Manty Ellis.

Sunday, March 26th will feature satiric sketches developed by Peter Cook and Dudley Moore in a piece called "Good Evening." It will be presented by Montgomery Davis and Bill Leach.

Lastly, the Sunday, April 30th program will feature "Irish Rascal" about Brendan Behan and will again feature Ken Albers.

Please plan to schedule one of these evenings with your friends. I have never asked anyone for anything in this column but I will break my word here for the first time. I beg you, I beseech you, I implore you, to participate.

In addition, one week of each mainstage show at the Rep has been designated as

Richards Appearing At M&M Club

Vocalist Sally Richards will appear at the M & M Club, Saturday and Sunday, October 29th and 30th. There is no cover or drink minimum.

Ms. Richards' vocal styling, with a four octave range, allows her to belt out the best of jazz, then mellow down to a cool, soulful R & B. From Broadway standards to Harlem blues to New Orleans jazz, Sally interprets each song as an intimate slice of her life.

Song stylist Sally Richards appears at the M&M Club Oct. 29 & 30.

Chicago's Gentry is among the many clubs Richard has headlined in her career. Beginning December 16th thru January 28th, Sally will be appearing Fridays and Saturdays at one of Chicago's newest gay nightspots, Hev'in, 54 East Walton.

Sally Richards has appeared with such blues greats as Junior Wells, Buddy Guy, Willie Dixon and jammed with Chicago jazz artists John Young, Von Freeman, Gene Esposito and John Whitfield.

Sally's last engagement at Gentry prompted Gay Chicago's Rick Karlin to remark, "(Gentry's) Cabaret Room gets quite a weekend-like crowd on Mondays and with good reason, Sally Richards is good with a capital 'G.'"

Sullivan Ensemble Offers Music

The Sullivan Ensemble continues its 12th season with two performances of Music of Britten and Elgar at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, 914 East Knapp Street, on Friday, October 28th at 8:00 and Sunday, October 30th at 3:00. Artistic Director/Conductor Charles Q. Sullivan will lead his 20-voice professional chorus in three part songs of Sir Edward Elgar — "The Fountain", "The Shower" and "Serenade."

James Melby, organist and choirmaster of St. Paul's Church, will offer solo performances of Elgar's "Sonata No. 2 in B-flat Major" and Benjamin Britten's "Prelude and Fugue on a Theme of Vittoria", in addition to accompanying the chorus in Elgar's "Te Deum and Benedictus" and Britten's "Antiphon", "Missa Brevis in D" for treble voices, and the "Festival Te Deum".

Pianist Diane Kachelmeier will join the chorus for performances of the Epilogue from Elgar's "Scenes from the Saga of King Olaf", Britten's "Lift Boy" for mixed chorus and "Ballad of Little Musgrave and Lady Barnard" for male chorus.

Tickets priced at $7.00 for adults and $5.00 for students and senior citizens may be purchased at the door. For further information call The Sullivan Ensemble at 332-2828.

Happy Birthday T.S.

[Milw.]- The Milwaukee Chamber Theatre [MCT] is celebrating the 100th anniversary of T. S. Eliot's birth with a special lecture and workshop, in conjunction with the company's production of the playwright's "Murder in the Cathedral." The play is being presented November 4-20, 1988.

Dr. Russell Kirk, who has been described as "one of America's leading thinkers," will discuss "T.S. Eliot and the Religious Imagination" at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, November 2, at Marquette University's Todd Wehr Chemistry Building.

Author of The Conservative Mind, he is the editor of "The University Bookman," as well as founder of the quarterly "Modern Age." Kirk, the author of 27 books, has contributed to dozens of periodicals and magazines, and has been a distinguished visiting professor at several colleges and universities.

He also is the recipient of the Christopher Award for his book, "Eliot and His Age."

A reception at MU's Haggerty Museum of Art will follow Kirk's lecture.

The workshop, "The Centenary of T. S. Eliot: 1888-1988," will take place Saturday, November 12, 1988, at Marquette University. The workshop will focus on Eliot's post-modern ideas presented in "Murder," the use of poetry in contemporary drama, and Eliot's place in 20th century literature.

Professor Samuel Hazo, well-known poet and lecturer, will discuss these subjects with workshop participants.

His presentation will be followed by a panel discussion, chaired by Marquette Professor Joseph Schwartz. The panel will include Montgomery Davis, MCT artistic director; William Leach, who will portray Thomas Becket in "Murder," and Dominique Noth, Milwaukee Journal features editor.

The audience will be encouraged to participate in the discussion.

The panel discussion will be followed by a talk-back session with the audience.

steppin' OUT

by Ron Geiman

After my last two verbose columns — I'll try my best to make this one short, but sweet... well, maybe just a bit bitchy!

Flashing back to October 7th — here's what has been happening...

Our Place's birthday party for Miss P, turned out to be the last party the bar had before an unscheduled closing that came about October 9th. It seems Paul & Darten split ways as partners... I won't get into the story because I only have Darren's side — Paul hasn't returned my phone calls. Anyway, Darren reports he will have the bar re-licensed & open by November 2nd, and plans a 'BYO' Booze/Halloween Party on the 29th as a fund raiser to get the bar open again. He also says he plans on opening another bar just down the street, with a laid back atmosphere, and calling it Miss P's. That should be open by Mid-November.

The Fest City Singer's Abra-Ca-Dazzle Variety/Cabaret Show at The Ballgame was such a hit that even their encore performance show was S.R.O. We're looking forward to the Holiday Season concerts...

Bonnie Bitch was back to the "Gay Rights State" for shows at The New Bar, & Dance Dance Dance, and this time she brought along 'Stripsation', a group of California dancers. The La Cage door man wouldn't let my photographer Doug in with his camera (it was in Stripsation's contract), so we don't have beefcake photos (damn!). I heard Bonnie was right on target with her comedy. George Prentice said "It was the best show we ever had... Bonnie made me laugh so hard I cried & had to use 3 napkins to soak up the tears."

Shadows II played host to a birthday bash for Bobby, Greg, Yolanda & Scott, who provided beer & a buffet for the celebration.

That 'Woman of Dimension' Doris De

Lago hosted the Miss Your Place Contest Oct. 10th, which had eight contestants. Congratulations to winner Mary Richards, 1st runner up Joey Black & 2 R.U. Dynasty.

Carl Cliver was named Mr. Triangle at their well attended contest on Oct. 13th. Squeeler was 1st runner up & Terry took 2nd R.U. Carl was also 1st R.U. in Midwest Mr. Drummer.

That same night 219 held their 1st Annual Closet Ball, where 9 contestants first appeared as men, then had 45 minutes to make the magical transformation into 'girls'. The hands down winner was the muscular, hunky Garret who transformed himself into the ravishing Regina. (Where'd you hide those muscles, boy?).

219 owner Tony introduced his "twin sister" Sophia Canfora to the delighted crowd. A very nervous & shakey Sophia brought down the house as DJ Kim played 'That's Amore.' Sophia may fly back from Sicily for a return Halloween engagement. (Now that George, Si & Tony have been queens for a day — what about you other bar owners?).

Baby Jane Hudson & a flock of friends decided 'Oh What The Hell....' and did another show at Jet's Place. (They'll have to change Brittany Morgan's title to Miss Our Place, Phase II!)

The chi-chi crowd was munching crab claws at La Cage's new Jazz while waiting for the golden sounds of Charles to fill the air. Seems that he wanted to rehearse (while he performed) and that didn't go over too well.... Vocalists are encouraged to apply....

That Holiday designed to sell cards, flowers & chocolates — Sweetest Day, brought us some sweet party's at Jet's Place & Station 2. The Station, in cahoots with The Trollop Club, had a beautiful sunny day for their hayride.

A History of the Pageant

Back in 1970 a group calling themselves M.G.M. was formed consisting of Tiger Rose, Mama Rae, Ken W. and John. They began the Miss Gay Milwaukee Contests in bars. This group carried on for four years. The three Miss Gay Milwaukee Winners were crowned at the Castaways (now the ballgame), the Neptune, and the Factory.

In 1974 the contest was changed to Miss Gay Wisconsin and also was held at the Factory with the added attraction of a Mr. Groovy Guy Contest.

In 1975 the contest was moved to the Centre Stage Theatre which was located on 2nd street between between Wisconsin Ave. and Michigan St., this not only took it from bar setting but enabled the two contests (Mr. & Miss) to be held at the same time in a larger setting.

In 1976 a group of about 50 Milwaukee performers was begun which called itself "The Entertainers Club of Milwaukee", the M.G.M. committee then gave the rights to the contests to E.C.O.M.

The arrival of 1980 saw a name change of the contests to Mr. and Miss Gay Wisconsin as the title Mr. Groovy Guy had become outdated. The contest was then moved to the Crystal Ballroom of the Marc Plaza Hotel.

In 1983 the Entertainers Club had more or less dissolved. This led to the formation of Pageant Productions. The Pageant Production Committee changes slightly from year to year, but it is still proudly carrying on a tradition begun back in 1970, eighteen years ago.

Following is a list of all past winners and Pageant Productions thanks them all for their participation in this on-going Contest.

The Wreck Room Saloon (The WR's Back Bar) held their grand opening on the 15th to a packed bar. The aroma of leather was pervasive.... The Saloon has brought back some of the old WR crowd that had abandoned the front bar after that bar's remodeling.

The New Bar went 'Old World' with their Bavaria 500 Road Rally & Pig Roast. I heard it was a real squeal! I can just see all those sissies careening around the Mad City trying to figure out the rally clues.

Speaking of The New bar - They've become Wisconsin's first G/L establishment to hold a weekly Non-Alcoholic night for those 18 years of age & up too young to go to the bars. Their Tuesday nights are called "The Young & The Restless" are geared towards gay & lesbian youth, and offers them a safe environment to gather, dance & converse.

Former Mr. Gay America, Vocalist/Performer Ered Matthews made an appearance at The Pivot Club. Ered is well received in that area of the state due to a number of past performances in that area.

La Cage's Miss Contest brought 4 contestants to vie for the title. Mary Richards won yet another title in the "Race for The Crown", with Joey Black coming in as 2nd runner up & Goldie Adams as 1st R.U.

That brings us up to deadline of the 19th, but I do have a few other tidbits for you - It seems three cast members of 'Cabaret', which had a recent run at Milwaukee's Riverside Theatre made a Round of Milwaukee's bars. Our photographer caught them at The Triangle.

The Wisconsin Light celebrates its 1 year Anniversary in November, Cheers! To Jerry & Terry on making it through the 1st year - it's always the roughest! Wisconsin Light & In Step will join hands in February to celebrate Gay/Lesbian Media Awareness Month. We're both involved with the Gay and Lesbian Press Association & we'll do our part to raise money to GLPA & to foster media awareness here in Wisconsin. Watch future issues for more details. We'd like to do something in Milwaukee, Madison, The Fox Valley & Wausau... We're open to your ideas!

Just before Miss M gives up her crown as Miss Gay Wisconsin, she also, it seems, gave up managing The Alternative. After repeated calls to the bar asking for "M" I was told Steve is the new manager... I couldn't get hold of Michael for a comment.

Steppin' Out is the name of this column, and that's just what Kin Z. my roommate and 219 DJ did - but in the wrong way. He stepped into the path of a car and got hit - at 3rd and Wisconsin. Other than 11 stitches in his head, a very sore body and a bruised ego (Girl - right at 3rd and Wisconsin!), he came through it okay.

Photographer Doug & his other half David were leaving for a 7 day Caribbean Cruise as we were on deadline. David won the cruise from Radio Station 97FM (WLTQ) in a Summer promotion. Don't you just love it - a gay couple treated by a Radio Station to a cruise. Have fun guys! (And take lots of photos!)
