BRIEFS

Hate Crimes Bill Stalled

Washington, D.C. [NGLTF]- The first positive federal legislation to address violence against lesbians, gay men, racial, ethnic and religious minorities, stalled in the U.S. Senate because of threats by Senator Jesse Helms (R.-N.C.) to introduce sweeping anti-gay amendments. The Hate Crime Statistics Act which would require federal data collection on crimes motivated by prejudice against gay people and other minorities, was never brought to the Senate floor despite vigorous lobbying by a coalition of over 50 groups led by the National Gay & Lesbian Task Force (NGLTF).

Introduced by Rep. John Conyers (D-MI.), the Hate Crimes Statistics Act made legislation history when it passed the U.S. House of Representatives in May of 1988. The bill marked the first time federal legislation specifically addressing sexual orientation was passed by either house of Congress. Attempts to delete the sexual orientation clause were repeatedly defeated while the bill was in committee and were also defeated on the House floor.

The Senate version of the bill was introduced by Sen. Paul Simon (D-IL). The Senate bill achieved unanimous approval from the Senate Judiciary Committee in August. But efforts to bring the bill to the Senate floor crumbled as Helms told Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd (D-WV) that he would fight the bill unless anti-gay measures were attached. Helms planned to introduce a four-part amendment which stated the following:

"(1) The homosexual movement threatens the strength and the survival of the American family as the basic unit of society;

(2) State laws prohibiting sodomy should be enforced;

(3) The federal government should not provide discrimination protections on the basis of "sexual orientation";

(4) School curriculum should not condone homosexuality as an acceptable lifestyle in American society."

NGLTF lobbyist Peri Jude Radecic termed the amendment "totally offensive and unacceptable. We will never tolerate codification of this kind of bigotry." Radecic noted that because of Helms' delaying tactics, the hate Crimes measure must be re-introduced during the next Congressional session and will have to again pass through committees and the full floor of both Houses.

Activists interested in generating support for the Hate Crimes Statistics Act in the next Congressional session are urged to contact Peri Jude Radecic at NGLTF, 1517 U Street NW, Washington, D.C. 20009.

Violence? Report It!

Milwaukee- The City of Milwaukee's Commission on Community Relations' on-going Hate/Violence Monitoring Project will soon mark its one-year anniversary. The Commission, which will be absorbed into a different city agency under Mayor John Norquist's reorganization plan, assumed the job of gathering a record of all monitory criminal acts of hate/violence based on a group or individual's race, religion, or sexual preference. This monitoring project will continue after the reorganization.

The Commission has tried to gather an accurate assessment of the problems that will enable them to determine the breadth of the situation. The information thus gathered will help them to develop appropriate programs to eliminate prejudice, including homophobia, and to support victims of hate/violence acts. Tools they use are training workshops on understanding cultural differences for police recruits and others, human relations presentations and printed materials for young people and support and assistance to victims.

In Step recently contacted the Commission after an increase in calls to us complaining of an increase in verbal and physical abuse directed towards gays and lesbians in the Walker's Point & Old Third Ward areas of Milwaukee. Various reports have included tire slashings, smash windows, physical attacks and verbal harassment.

Commission spokesman David Novick told us that both GPU and BWMT-Milwaukee have been reporting groups for the past year, but had gathered only a handful of Incidence Reports.

Three local black weeklies, who have participated in the project since the beginning, have had good response and have gathered many reports.

The inclusion of gay/lesbian publications, therefore, as an active participant in the monitoring project seems most appropriate. As a result, In Step Magazine has become a reporting agency. Hopefully, our involvement will help to accurately reflect the true depth of the situation in the Milwaukee area.

If you care to report an incident, call us at 278-8310, or, you may call GPU or BWMT. We will ask your questions that will enable us to fill out a brief reporting form, and to see if it fulfills the definition of a documentable incident.

A news release from the Milw. Commission on Community Relations, said "Whatever affects an individual's rights in our complex urban society affects everyone indirectly. Your cooperation in this project will contribute to a heightened awareness of these acts in a constructive manner which will lead to their eradication."

Report Cards On 100th Congress

The National Gay and Lesbian Task Force [NGLTF] on Oct. 20 distributed Report Cards evaluating the records of all 535 Members of the 100th Congress to activists around the country. Each Congressperson's voting record was tracked on a variety of issues important to the lesbian and gay community such as: civil rights legislation, anti-lesbian and gay violence, federally-funded programs and educational materials regarding the AIDS epidemic, and anti-discrimination provisions for handicapped people including PWAs, PWARCs, and those who are HIV positive.

"The Report Cards are our way of holding Members of Congress accountable to their lesbian and gay constituents," said Jeffrey Levi, executive director of NGLTF. "We want to make sure that the promises politicians make are reflected by their voting records."

The report cards reveal that while many members of Congress support lesbian and gay issues, a great deal of educational work remains to be done. NGLTF found that over half the Members of the House of Representatives (56%) earned a grade of 'A' or 'B,' and almost three-quarters (72%) earned a passing grade by voting with the NGLTF position at least 60% of the time. By contrast, only one-third of the Senators (34%) earned a passing grade of any kind, and 66 Senators received an 'F.'

The Congressional delegation from Massachusetts scored the only cumulative 'A' with a combined score of 90%. Other states whose representatives scored well included Connecticut-88%, Vermont-86%, Rhode Island-85%, Washington-84%, Hawaii-79%, and Michigan-76%. Among those states whose representatives did the worst were New Hampshire whose delegation received a score of 35%, Idaho-27%, and Wyoming-25%.

Wisconsin's delegation was given a combined 62% with Representatives earning 75% and our Senators receiving a 50% rating.

"The monitoring of the voting records of all Members of Congress augments our lobbying efforts," said Radecic. "We plan to issue Report Cards from each session of Congress as a method of both letting Members know how they have done on our issues, and informing our community how well we are being served."

Quilt To Be Part Of World AIDS Day

San Francisco, CA- The National AIDS Memorial, a huge quilt made of individual 3 foot by 6 foot panels, each bearing the name of a person who has died of AIDS, will officially become international on World AIDS Day, December 1, 1988.

Local NAMES Project chapters in Australia, Brazil, Canada, England, Norway, and West Germany will organize small displays of the Quilt, including panels made in their own countries. Chapters in the United States are also organizing displays, and several are holding community quilting bees or candlelight memorials. The NAMES Project Quilt will also be the backdrop to several other events throughout the day.

"In the United States, the Quilt has helped many people express the loss of their friends and loved ones, and it has helped many others learn about the impact of AIDS," said Jeannette Kojane, Director of International Programs for the NAMES Project. "But AIDS is a global tragedy and people from around the world have expressed interest in the Quilt's message. World AIDS Day will help them get involved with the Quilt."

On a local level World AIDS Day will help make AIDS information available, not only in the large cities, but also in smaller communities where accurate information can be harder to find.

World AIDS Day is sponsored by The World Health Organization's Global Programme on AIDS. It is a day for all AIDS organizations to talk about the disease and explain to their communities what is being done in education, research, and direct services for those with AIDS.

Smithsonian To Acquire Quilt Panels

Washington, D.C.- The Smithsonian's National Museum of American History will acquire several commemorative panels collected by the NAMES Project for its AIDS Memorial Quilt.

The acquisition will take place over a period of time in an effort to document the diversity of those who have died from Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome. The quilt panels will be added to the collections of the Division of Medical Sciences, which has an ongoing interest in issues related to the history of public health in the United States.

Museum Director Roger G. Kennedy, in speaking about this acquisition, said, "The AIDS Memorial Quilt is significant not only as a symbol of those who have died, but also as one aspect of the country's response to that loss."

During the coming year, the museum's Division of Medical Sciences, in cooperation with the NAMES Project, will identify and select a number of panels — based on design, message and gender and age of the individual depicted. The selected panels will join other objects, graphics and educational materials in the collections documenting the medical and social history of AIDS.

The division is an active member of the newly formed AIDS History Group, a national organization whose aim is to coordinate efforts to preserve and document the history of AIDS.

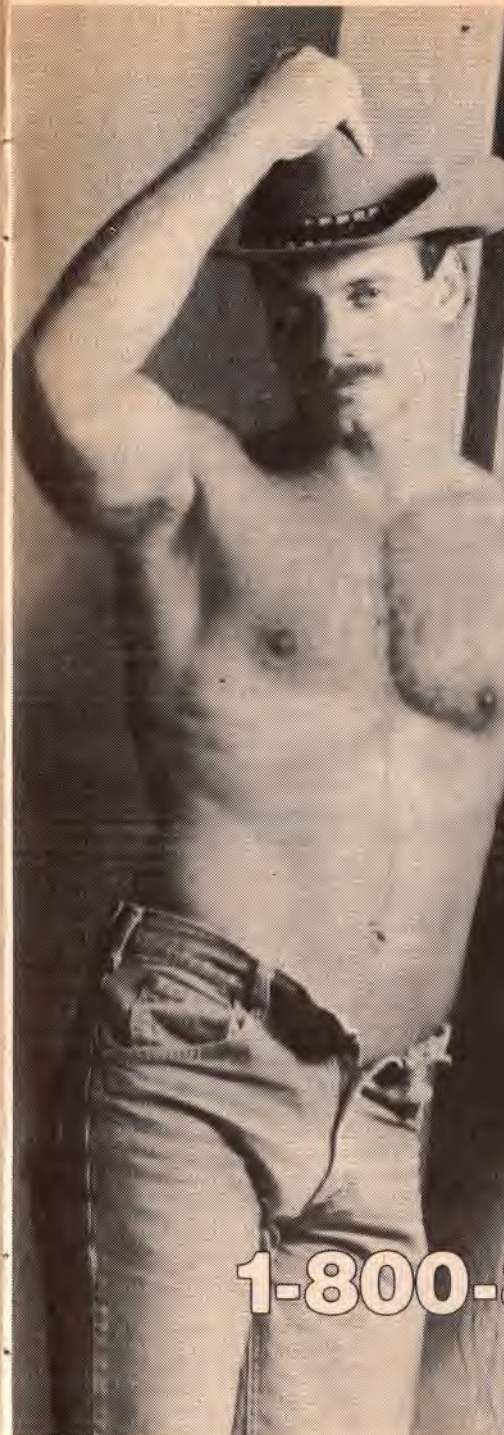

The museum, located at 14th Street and Constitution Avenue N.W. in Washington, D.C. is open from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. daily, except Dec. 25. Admission is free.

Study: Americans Still Misinformed

Boston, MA- People who test positive for HIV antibodies face a high risk of discrimination unless new laws are created to protect them, report researchers from the Harvard School of Public Health who reviewed 53 opinion surveys conducted between 1983 and 1988. Their resulting article appeared in the recent New England Journal of Medicine.

Researchers found that despite massive educational efforts, a large number of Americans object to working with HIV carriers or letting their children go to school with infected classmates. And many believe that those who are infected did something to deserve it.

HALLOWEEN '88

The report said that "persons diagnosed as having HIV infection, if that fact were disclosed, face discriminatory attitudes and even outright hostility from a substantial number of Americans." Among the findings of the study, researchers determined that:

- Twenty nine percent of those surveyed would favor a tattoo for persons who test HIV antibody positive. That figure has doubled since 1985.

- Seventeen percent say those with AIDS should be treated as those with leprosy were in an earlier era by being sent to "far-off islands."

- One in four surveyed said they would refuse to work alongside someone with AIDS and believe employers should have the right to fire a person for this reason alone.

- Thirty two percent said they would keep their children from school if a classmate was known to have AIDS.

- Thirty percent believe that a landlord should have the right to evict a PWA simply because of his/her illness.

Researchers concluded that "some national action beyond providing more public education may be required, especially if widespread voluntary HIV screening is to be encouraged."

Cuba Quarantines HIV And PWA's

[Milw. Journal]- Cuban President Fidel Castro told a visiting Milwaukee medical delegation that he was quarantining all Cubans who had AIDS or were infected with the AIDS virus to keep the disease from spreading through his island country.

He told members of the group that he eventually planned to test all 10 million residents to uncover anyone infected with the virus. He already requires testing of all persons admitted to the country's hospitals, he said.

Castro made the remarks during a three-hour meeting with eight members of the staff of St. Mary's Hospital here who were performing heart surgery and related heart care in Cuba for two weeks.

Michael Harloff, a heart-lung technician from Glendale, said Castro said that there were 175 known AIDS cases in Cuba and that they were "isolated from the rest of the country." Castro did not go into any further details about location.

Castro went on to compare his AIDS policy with earlier US tuberculosis policies when those afflicted with the disease were sent away to sanitariums for isolation and recuperation.

"I think he was trying to say that people with AIDS are just not taken out and shot," Harloff said.

Feds Kill S.F. Public AIDS Hospital

San Francisco, CA [Bravo!]- The decision of the Federal Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA) to grant only $300,000 to renovate the Public Health Service Hospital as an HIV subacute care center — a far cry from the estimated $5 million needed to complete the project — seems to doom plans for the facility.

The building is owned by the U.S. Army, which agreed to lease it to the city for $1 a year. HRSA was expected to grant at least $1 million for renovation costs: the $300,000 actually granted is only enough to fix the roof, not the elevators or interior paint.

HRSA granted twice as much — $600,000 — to a private hospital in San Francisco to set up its own subacute HIV care facility. However, the private hospital facilities will probably not be available to patients on Medi-Cal or without insurance, groups the public hospital was expected to reach.

Mark Cloutier, aide to Congressman Barbara Boxer (DSF/Marin), called the HRSA action "a slap in the face of San Francisco. It's what (Mayor) Art Agnos called the San Francisco penalty. We developed the model and are left holding the bag. It makes no sense to give the lease and not the money."

Madison's 'United'

Madison Community United, better known as The United, an organization serving the needs of the gay and lesbian community in Madison, recently published its annual report. Highlights from the past year include: consolidation of Counseling Services with the Gay/Lesbian Resource Center, expansion of the Speakers Bureau, continued sponsorship of diverse support groups, and several special projects including a homophobia workshop and Ron McCrea's Glad City history project, among other things.

The group has also set priorities for the upcoming year including: a more ambitious advertising and outreach campaign, continuation of support and improvement of counseling services, and undertaking an ambitious membership drive to strengthen community awareness and support.

The United is also looking for your opinion. When the group was formed back in 1978 it was felt that a non-descript name was needed. However, some feel that the group should "come out of the closet" with a new name. The would appreciate your suggestions and input. Write them at: The United, P.O. Box 310, Madison, WI 53701.

CCBA Reactivates With Costume Ball

On October 22, the Cream City Business Association [CCBA] officially re-committed itself to support of the Lesbian/Gay community; and became an active part of our community once again. C.C.B.A. celebrated this with a Halloween costume ball at Melanac's Wheel House.

The crowd of happy costumed guests all enjoyed the hors d'oeuvres and the fine dinner that was served. Melanac's Wheel House did a nice job of taking good care of all the guests.

Although the night was filled with fun and laughter, C.C.B.A. also used this event to present its "Hall of Fame Awards." This year's two recipients were, the Cream City Foundation and the late Mr. Peter Johnson.

The Cream City Foundation was awarded the "Hall Of Fame Award" for its financial support to the lesbian/gay community, as well as obtaining and maintaining the Foundation Community Center. Mr. Chuck Brotz, CCF vice-president accepted the award.

The other "Hall Of Fame Award" was given posthumously to Mr. Peter Johnson. It was a long over-due gesture, for Mr. Johnson's continuous help to the lesbian/gay community. Mr. Johnson's involvement in so many organizations inspired all of us who had the chance to meet him. To accept this award for Mr. Johnson, was his lover of 21 years, Mr. Jose Morales. Jose gave a soft spoken speech about Peters life and how he touched so many of us through the groups

20% Of Americans Abstain From Sex

Atlanta [Bravo!]- According to reports from the Federal Centers for Disease Control (CDC), more than one-fifth of all adult Americans abstained from sex completely last year, and another 60 percent had only one sexual partner.

But the CDC survey, which questioned 2,481 people, also said that a large number of single men have had 10 or more sex partners annually — a practice they describe as flirting with AIDS infection.

In the survey, conducted between February 14 and April 25, 21.5 percent said they had had no sex partners during 1987 and 59.6 percent said they had been totally monogamous. Of the remainder, 10.6 percent said they had had two to four partners and 2.2 percent said they had had five or more. The other six percent refused to take the test.

The CDC also reported that 4.6 percent of never-married men between 18 and 29 reported having 10 or more partners, as well as 2.9 percent of never-married men between 30 and 44. Such men "appear to be at considerable risk of sexual exposure to HIV-1 (AIDS) and other sexually transmitted diseases."

Of the 504 men who reported having one or more partners within the past 12 months, only 2.8 percent reported their partners were exclusively male; 91.3 percent reported their partners were exclusively female, 0.4 percent said they had both male and female partners, and 5.6 percent did not answer the question.

Of the 567 sexually active women surveyed, only 0.2 percent reported exclusively female partners; 95.4 percent reported exclusively male partners and the other 4.4 percent did not answer the question.

High AIDS Level Found On Campus

Atlanta [USA Today]- Nearly 1 in 300 college students is infected with the AIDS virus, preliminary results from surveys on USA campuses suggest.

The numbers are disappointingly high, says Dr. Gary Noble, AIDS official at the federal Centers for Disease Control.

The results are sure to cause concern among college health officials.

"It tells me college students are not really thinking that they are at risk and that they are not cleaning up their behavior," says Sherry Bell, health educator at the University of Texas' student health center in Austin. "It says to me that education has to start early, before students become sexually active."

The study launched earlier this year by the American College Health Association and the CDC, is designed to anonymously test 1,000 blood samples from each of 20 university health centers.

So far, about half the samples — collected by the centers for other purposes and not linked to names — have been tested. The findings, reported by Noble at a meeting for college newspaper editors, show an infection level of 3 per 1,000 out of at least 5,000 samples.

Other studies show infection levels among other groups:

- 1.5 per 1,000 military recruits and personnel.
- 3.1 per 1,000 Midwestern hospital patients.
- 4.1 per 1,000 applicants to the U.S. Job Corps.
- 35 per 1,000 prostitutes.

Ozone May Curb AIDS Symptoms

Los Angeles, CA [AP]- Two new studies suggest that ozone might be used to reduce symptoms in AIDS patients and decrease the already tiny chance of spreading the deadly virus through donated blood.

One study found the naturally occurring gas stopped the AIDS virus from multiplying in donated blood while leaving more than 90 percent of blood cells undamaged. The findings raise the possibility that ozone might be applied to further reduce the risk that donated blood could carry the AIDS virus, said Dr. Kenneth Wagner, a senior researcher at the Henry M. Jackson Foundation for the Advancement of Military Medicine.

In the second study, doctors at the Veterans Administration Medical Center in San Francisco administered ozone rectally through a tube to five patients with AIDS and or AIDS-related complex.

The treatment halted severe diarrhea in four of the patients, possibly by hindering the AIDS virus, said Dr. Michael Carpendale, the hospital's chief of rehabilitative medicine.

Medical uses of the gas have been limited largely to unsubstantiated treatments for various diseases by European holistic medicine practitioners.

But Wagner and Carpendale said they want to study whether the worsening of AIDS in patients might be slowed if some of their blood was removed, treated with ozone and replaced, or if they are given the gas rectally so it is absorbed quickly into their blood.

'The Last Temptation of Christ'

By Kevin Michael

A truly powerful film was Martin Scorsese's adaptation of the Kazantzakis' novel of the same name.

I wish that those who spent time outside of the movie theaters in this country with picket signs would have availed themselves of the opportunity to view the film before making a decision to protest it. By no means am I saying that this was a perfect film, but the quote from Kazantzakis himself at the outset stated quite frankly that the creation of the piece stemmed from his own particular questions of faith. Also, Scorsese made it quite clear that this was a fictional piece that was not based on the Gospels but upon the original novel. With that as backdrop, what was the problem for these people?

Personally, I found many of the questions that the film raised were most interesting. For most, are familiar with the Gospels and their presentation of Jesus. However, not many people realize that these are presentations offered by persons of faith written from the Resurrection backwards and from a faith perspective not that of history or of a purely biographical focus.

For others, Jesus, was a person so like God that his personhood seems to be something that was just added on to make his stay here acceptable. Somehow, I believe, he his viewed much like an alien from a science fiction perspective rather than as a human person. I do believe that this approach is one which the film answers extremely well. In point of fact, I also believe that those most uncomfortable with this understanding of a human Jesus, had the most difficulty with the film Jesus certainly couldn't have had any sexual understanding or feelings, could he? I find that to be the reason why so many had difficulty with the love-making dream sequence with Mary Magdalene. Jesus was God only and human enough to pass but not really... Right?

This characterization was brought out very well by Willem Dafoe in his portrayal of very real Jesus. Barbara Hershey was also quite formidable in her presentation of Mary Magdalene.

This film was also historically quite accurate. Jerusalem of that day was an international center which brought people from all over the world together. This was brought about quite well with a multi-cultural and multi-racial cast which was quite different than the look of all the other Hollywood biblical epics with which we are all familiar. Also, the profound use of tattooing, even among women, at that time did get a place in the presentation of these ever familiar characters from unfortunately mostly European perspectives only.

Lastly, I found it also most interesting that a religious denomination that refuses to allow the ordination of women teaches that Jesus ordained his disciples at the Last Supper. In the film presentation, also in attendance at the Sabbath meal with Jesus and his disciples were: Mary Magdalene, Mary and Martha, and Jesus' mother, Mary. If they were in fact there too, what of just a male only priesthood? Interesting question.

Should you have not yet decided to view the film, I recommend it just because of the questions that it raises.

ARIES: March 21 to April 21

Be aware that recent transmits indicate that you'll not be able to simply be "yourself" for the next few weeks. Pressures from your career only seem as though they're cramping your style. Home is the safest and best place to let your hair down.

TAURUS: April 22 to May 21

Good thing that you like your job for that special someone is sure taking a dip into your change bag. With Christmas just around the corner you may really go into a financial setback with a lavish gift to your current squeeze.

GEMINI: May 22 to June 21

You're working too much! You're not giving yourself enough time off and you're heading for a collapse of some sort if you don't slow down. Rome wasn't built in a day, so what makes you think that moving mountains is like moving the car?

CANCER: June 22 to July 23

Someone has got their eye on you and with a romantic interest. In a month you should know who it is, but take this one with a grain of salt. Don't go after anything that you don't want to keep for this one might be hard to get rid of.

LEO: July 24 to August 23

Yikes! Looks as though you have your work cut out for you, in fact, not much time for anything else. It's okay however for this appears to be mainly foundation work to something brilliant. Take it "slow but steady" and beware of burnout.

VIRGO: August 23 to September 23

Finally! The housekeeping curse gets lifted from you when you find yourself with a system that works out well for everyone concerned. It seems as though it was only a scheduling problem anyway. Time to finally read that book...

LIBRA: September 24 to October 22

If you're single and planning on getting "married," wait until after the first of the year. Check out all of his/her references and take off those damn blinders before you find yourself in the middle of the barnyard. Life is what you make of it.

SCORPIO: October 23 to November 22

Things sure seem to be taking a turn-a- round for you, don't they. In fact, compared to all your sorrows and woes of last spring, you seem to be doing great. All that needs to be done now is to keep going in this direction.

SAGITTARIUS: November 23 to December 22

And the financial crunch hits again... For awhile your endurance is going to be tested to its limits, and you're being watched as to how you handle all this. Splurges and binges are not going to get you any brownie points this time.

CAPRICORN: December 23 to January 20

You're going to have to be hard on yourself if you plan on making it through this episode. It seems as though everything that you've ever done is about to catch up with you and there's no where to go. Sam won't be "playing it again."

AQUARIUS: January 21 to February 19

A door is about to open for you that will take you to "parts unknown." This has the markings of the break you've been waiting for if you give it everything you have. Looks like an all or nothing situation. Look before you leap.

PISCES: February 20 to March 21

Well... You went for the gold and got it. Now, what are going to do with it? May I suggest taking a class or two. At least that's something no-one can take away from you. A brief vacation would do you good too. Either way, you deserve it.

"Creating Change"

[NGLTF]- A faculty of leading gay and lesbian activists from across the country will conduct workshops on political issues and skill-building at the first national conference for grassroots gay and lesbian activists and organizations. Sponsored by the National Gay & Lesbian Task Force (NGLTF), the "Creating Change" conference will be held on November 18-20 in Washington, D.C.

The conference is designed to provide both practical expertise to activists working at the local and state level and to provide an environment for activists in the gay and lesbian political movement to exchange ideas about strategies and direction for the movement.

Forty-five workshop sessions are planned for the conference. The Conference also features three keynote addresses by: nationally renowned gay historian and author John D'Emilio; former NGLTF Executive Director and Deputy Director of the NYS Consumer Safety Commission Virginia Apuzzo; and leading Black lesbian activist Rene McCoy, Executive Director of the National Coalition of Black Lesbians & Gays.

The Conference will feature two special evening events: a screening of lesbian photographer Joan E. Biren's (JEB) new slide-show on the 1987 March on Washington; and a gala 15th Birthday Party for NGLTF.

Registration will be possible at the door, but is strongly urged in advance. To register or receive information, please call NGLTF at (202) 332-6483.

media have been calling this the biggest police corruption investigation in the city's history.

Off-duty Boston police protested the sentencing of their colleagues, accusing the prosecution of offering special protection to witnesses in exchange for their testimony. Gathering outside the U.S. District Court, 30 demonstrating cops chose a spokesman to read a statement which claimed that the detectives, were "victims of a terrible injustice by over-zealous prosecutors."

Jeremiah T. O'Sullivan, head of the Justice Department's New England Strike Force, called the statement "one of the most scurrilous pieces of trash I have ever read." He added that "the arrogance of many police detectives continues to exist. They refuse to believe they are subject to the law, and that bribery is a crime."

Joe D'Onofrio, manager of an after-hours gay club who claims he was repeatedly harassed by police, praised O'Sullivan's response. He said that references in the police union statement accusing him of trying to run an illegal operation by tipping off federal investigators were "grossly inaccurate."

Federal investigators said they were continuing investigations of alleged extortion and racketeering by Boston police officers.

Marines Jail Third Woman

Quantico, VA [TWN]- The U.S. Marine Corps has convicted a third woman on charges involving illegal sexual activity (read: having lesbian sex), according to The Washington Blade. Sergeant Glenda Jones pled guilty at a September 19 court-martial to charges that she engaged in sodomy and "indecent acts" (translation: had sex) with a female enlisted Marine. According to a Marine Corps spokesperson at Parris Island, Sgt. Jones pleaded guilty to charges of sodomy, indecent acts, failure to obey an order, and obstruction of justice in return for an agreement that she will only have to serve six months of her original

Boston Cops Get Light Bribery Terms

Boston [W.C.T.]- Seven Boston police detectives, convicted last month of extorting thousands of dollars from both gay and non-gay bar and nightclub owners, were sentenced October 11 to prison terms ranging from two to five years.

Federal prosecutors, who have been investigating the rackets since the early 1980s, sought 20-year sentences and $250,000 fines for each count of extortion against the convicted cops. The Boston

Exhibit Of da Vinci Inventions

Discovery World Museum is proud to be the chosen host of IBM's traveling exhibition of 26 working models recreated from Leonardo da Vinci's sketches. These "hands-on" models will be on display at Discovery World Museum, located in the downtown Library, 818 W. Wisconsin Avenue, Milwaukee, from November 12 through December 31, 1988.

The models are made of wood, brass, and bronze. They are displayed on tables or suspended from the ceiling and can be manipulated by the public. Museum hours are 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday through Saturday and 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. on Sundays.

Models based on sketches in da Vinci's extensive notebooks were first built in Milan in 1938. In 1940 the Italian Ministry of Popular Culture loaned the exhibit to the New York Museum of Science and Technology. In 1951 IBM commissioned recreations of the original models and began touring the exhibition all over the world.

Leonardo da Vinci was born in 1452 and died in 1519. He is best known for his paintings, including the Mona Lisa. Believing that mathematical principles were the basis for all knowledge, da Vinci explored areas such as anatomy, astronomy, botany, geology, flight and zoology.

Discovery World, Milwaukee's "hands-on" science museum, was chosen as the appropriate Milwaukee location by IBM to showcase this exhibit that will inspire curiosity and the spirit of invention in all its viewers. ▽

In this issue I will mainly speak about the Holiday Invitational Tournament (H.I.T.) tournament that is coming up soon. It's just around the corner bowlers, so again, don't forget to get your applications in by the deadline of November 10, 1988.

This is the 10th year for H.I.T. and the board members are expecting a fairly large turnout of bowlers from across the country.

This year we will see three divisions for the first time for Singles, Event and All Events. What is meant by that is you will compete with bowlers of similar averages. For example, averages below 129 will compete in the Minor's Division, bowlers with averages ranging from 130 to 169 will compete in the Major's Division, and bowlers with averages of 170 and higher will compete in the Master's Division. There will be trophies for 1st, 2nd and 3rd place in each division for the categories mentioned. These, of course, are only examples. Where the actual splits on averages occur depends on the number of bowlers and what their entering averages are. The reason for the 3 divisions for Singles and All Events is to allow bowlers to compete amongst bowlers within their average range, but it also allows for more people to win in our tournament.

The tournament will be held at Red Carpet Regency at 6014 N. 76th St. instead of at South Park. The reason being the larger turnout H.I.T. is expecting and the use of automatic scorekeeping. The schedule for bowling is:

TEAM EVENT: Thurs. Nov. 24 at 4:00 p.m.; Sat. Nov. 26 at 10:00 a.m.
DOUBLES/SINGLES: Fri. Nov. 25 at 11:00 a.m.; Fri. Nov. 25 at 5:00 p.m.

The banquet will be held at The Marc Plaza on Saturday, November 26th. If you have not received an application for the tournament as of yet, contact any board member to get one or you can contact Bob Gliniecki at 278-8686 and he will be more than happy to make sure you get an application for the tournament.

Applications received after Nov. 10 are treated on a first come first serve basis. So if you want to bowl the shift you selected, it would be in your best interest to get the application in.

If you have any questions or need additional information, again, please contact Bob Gliniecki at his office-278-8686 and he will be happy to help.

I've been Steppin' Out more lately — I was forced to since my photographer was on vacation. I was so busy I wore down a few pairs of heels!

The Triangle was just 'Divine' — especially on the nite of their Divine party (she would have been 42 if she hadn't keeled over!), but Milwaukee's own Divine Goldie filled in for her.

La Cage's video release party was very alive for their Dead or Alive party. The bar & Rock America gave away T-shirts, Records, Video's & cash for the best look-alikes and Lip Syncers.

Four women competed in King Productions 1st Ms. Southeastern Gay WI. Pageant held at Club 94. The winner was Sherri Miller from Racine. 1st Runner-up was Milwaukee's own Diane 'legs'. Mr. King & his coordinator Cassie Carter kept the contest moving right along.

The Mr. Wreck Room contest brought four choice 'pieces' to the crowded bar's stage. The winner — Billy 'The Kid', was to represent the WR in The Pageant, where he was to sing live. (The Pageant is over by the time you read this, but was past our deadline for this issue — complete coverage next issue...)

Eight guys barely nearly all in Cest La Vie's Wet Jockey Shorts Contest, with Bobby winning 1st Place. Miss McCall played hostess — leaky pool & all...

I had my typist Mary cover Y.P.'s Halloween kick-off/Rocky Horror Party. Unfortunately, she had camera problems & we have no photos. Mary said it was very good & contestants looked great. Cutter won as Riff Raff ($100) and John E. as Frank N Furter's won some cash, too. John & Cutter won 'The Time Warp' dance contest.

The Saturday shows at Dance Dance Dance "A Theatrical Production" have been pulling in an earlier crowd for the Holly & Company 9:30 show. Mary tells me they start "on the dot!"

R Bar in Wausau's "Hometown Talent Show" was a benefit for CWASG (Central WI. AIDS Support Group). Congratulations to all involved — they raised a grand total of $835 for CWASG!

The Triangle's Grand Opening Party was a celebration in excess — Lots of food, champagne & men. Congrats to owner Al, his manager Kevin & their cute & friendly staff... You've definitely started things off on the right foot.

The entire Halloween weekend — there were parties Fri., Sat., Sun. & of course Halloween Monday — was a blur. Thank God Doug was back from vacation by Saturday — The two of us were definitely kept busy. Too busy to cover everything, but we did the best we could. Photos contd. on page 26

"Speak A Thousand Words" so I'll let them talk for me. Besides New Year's Eve — I don't think there's any other Holiday that brings so many of us out & about... I saw faces I haven't seen for ages!

In between everything else that weekend — I traveled to Janesville for the grand opening weekend at The New Leaf Bar. Al & Bret, the owners & their staff sure did a nice job with the place. It was much bigger & had more to offer than I had imagined. My former roommate & Factory II doorman Mikey let me crash at his apartment (where he lives in downtown Janesville) & as the two of us approached the bar & saw all the cars in from Rockford, Milwaukee, Madison & all points in between, all partying & dancing. The Janesville Gazette newspaper ran a unwanted lengthy article on Janesville's first gay bar, which led to some minor "egg throwing incidents." However, the Sheriff has been very supportive, and the minor problems have all but disappeared.

Tri-Cable Tonight, Milwaukee's monthly cablecast Gay/Lesbian show celebrated their 1st Anniversary on Nov. 1st with an hour-long call-in show. They've come a long way in one year.

Our Place had to cancel their 'BYOB' Halloween Party, due to unexplained circumstances, but re-opened under Darren's new license on November 2nd.

Don't forget our Early Deadline for the next [Thanksgiving & HIT] issue. Deadline will be strictly enforced as 7pm Tuesday, Nov. 15th. Our printers want the paper in their hands a full day early, so we have to push things back to accommodate them. Ads and articles received the 16th or after will be held for the December 8th issue.

That's that for this issue, but now I'm going to introduce you to a new item I plan on ending my column with every issue. For years I've been telling you to play safe — and now I'm going to add CONDOM-SENSE to the end of each column...

CONDOM- SENSE: Don't be in a Jiffy — Cover Your 'Stiffy'.

2. Make a rule to never turn down an invitation when the alternative is staying home and doing nothing.

3. Stop thinking that you're too good (or not good enough) for the personal ads. Choose one to answer or place one yourself.

4. Make an effort to look good, even if you're going to the laundromat or grocery store. You don't have to dress up, just don't look like you've just crawled out of bed.

5. Develop an interest in bowling, there are several gay leagues. Whenever the moment seems romantically ripe, be sure your fingers suddenly get stuck in the ball. At least three macho types will dash over to help you extricate yourself.

6. Get a dog and walk it often. Dog-walking gays are as proud of their pets as a new father is of his baby and he will respond favorably to any comments you might make about their animals sparkling personalities or lustrous coats.

7. Smile a lot. Don't just grin at a particular man; instead be generous with smiles, directing them toward attractive people, both men and women. That way, when one of your smiles lands on a prospect, he won't experience it was contrived.

8. Invest in a personal computer or get access to one. Computer bulletin boards are the pen-pal services of the eighties. Users correspond instantly... and there is always someone waiting to talk.

9. Choose a night course that will jack up your self-esteem (conversational French, for example) or one where you'll surely make new friends. Stay away from things that you have no interest in, but would be tempting due to a high male enrollment, for example, auto mechanics.

10. Link up with a couple of close friends and have a dinner party, invite some single men you've always wanted to meet, and make sure to have extra wine on hand.

11. Learn the art of making subtle eye eye contact—no brazen staring please, but

Lookin' For A New Love...

So you found love and now it's gone. You've been dumped. You are burned, depressed and lonely. Worse yet, maybe you're getting close to thirty and losing your hair. You don't have to feel this way, and you shouldn't.

First, get rid of that person who has left you, or whom you have left. Yes you'll be alone, but if the other person is still in your mind or life, you're not really ready to begin again. If you're still clinging to the past, you are suffering from what I call a "love hangover." And it is not the one Diana Rose sang about a few years back.

Symptoms to look for:

- You see old friends you don't really care for to find out what he's doing.

- You hang out at places that used to be "your" favorites.

- You still live in the same apartment "for financial reasons."

- You feel guilt, and feel that you "owe" your ex something.

These are dangerous patterns, and can inhibit a new relationship. You have to promise yourself to make a new start. Don't limit yourself to the thought of one-life, one-love. Statistics show that a person can plan on having at least four important loves in their life. So, if your first (or second, or third) has gone sour, don't throw in the towel... yet.

Once you're ready to get on with your life, (and for many it's sooner than you think) here are some suggestions for meeting someone new.

1. Learn to seize the moment. Meeting new men means acting fast, turning promising eye contact into conversation without missing a beat. Opportunities for meeting new men abound, but are fleeting sexual encounters than you is considered to be a slut, unless you are dating that man, in which case he is considered to be sexually experienced.

The removal of your partner's skimpy bikini underpants prior to sex, will be delayed as they tend to ball-up around his ankles and will have to be snipped off with a scissors.

If you decide to use dirty movies as a means of sexual enhancement, having an orgasm at the same instant the star of the movie does is not considered a simultaneous orgasm.

A man you meet in a gay bar and who offers you a ride home, probably will neglect to mention that the ride is to his home.

A date who insists upon sipping champagne from your running shoe, either has a foot fetish or a drinking problem.

Starting at your partner's face and slowly working your way down is considered acceptable foreplay procedure. Starting at his feet and working your way south indicates disinterest or inexperience.

The best time to have the first fight of a relationship is on any auspicious occasion like, a birthday, Christmas, New Year's Eve or on your first visit to his parent's home.

The number of black, loose-fitting designer outfits your date has hanging in his closet is directly proportional to the amount of money he spends weekly on diet pills and Diet Coke.

Gay men who believe the physical dimensions and sexual acrobatics of porno stars are enhanced by special effects and trick photography are the same men who use explicit videos as a standard by which to measure the sexual performance of their partners.

While cruising in a crowded bar, the length of a trip to the restroom will be proportionately increased by the distance you will have to travel out of your way to pass near-by the cutest men in the bar.

The Laws Of Gay Dating

Just as our world is governed by the laws of physics and nature, there are certain truths that impact upon today's gay dating scene. And as Albert Einstein revolutionized the way we think about the universe with his famous equation  $E=MC^2$  (squared), I will attempt to shed new light on the way we look at our dating rituals with the following, laws of Gay Dating.

The phenomenon of "love at first sight" is directly related to the degree of horniness two gay men experience upon meeting each other for the first time.

The first relationship a man has with a drag queen should be considered a dress rehearsal for the relationships that will follow.

The less you are interested in the man you are dating, the more difficult he will be to get rid of at the end of the night.

A date who keeps a yard stick within arm's reach of his bed is more interested in the size of what is held-in by your zipper than he is the size of your heart.

The endearing little qualities and cute habits that originally attracted you to your current boyfriend, will turn into acceptable ground for justifiable homicide after a couple of months.

Any man you judge to have had more ## another point of view...

Fundraising. It's a nasty word to most people, and it's no different in the gay and lesbian community. This week, I'm going to try to convince you that each and every gay/lesbian person has a contribution to make to our community, and it's not always in the form of money. The holiday season draws out the major annual appeals from United Way. What can money do for our community? Every gay and lesbian organization in Milwaukee is operating on a shoe-string budget. In spite of that fact, Milwaukee's gay and lesbian community has been able to host candidate forums, establish a community center, host concerts, sponsor lectures and produce other social and political events.

For starters, the Cream City Foundation (CCF), clearly the leader in the gay and lesbian community when it comes to fundraising, is making major strides forward. Earlier this year, CCF opened Milwaukee's first gay and lesbian Community Center through the joint effort of private donors and local businesses. Because of their work, we now have a safe place to gather for a variety of purposes.

CCF also contributes to various worthy organizations in Wisconsin through their granting ability. Recently, they granted money to Grapevine, The Legal Aid Society, Lambda Rights Network, Gay Fathers and others. This is all as a result of the generosity of the many supporters of the Cream City Foundation.

Of course, they have big plans. Your gift to CCF, or a group like them, could help tremendously. It could keep the Community Center going, buy stationary, heat the Center, assist other needy gay and lesbian causes, and overall, increase the awareness of gay and lesbian people in the community.

We all have our favorite charities both within and outside the gay and lesbian community. Starting at home is important and will lead to growth in our community. Even United Way offers opportunities for us to give to ourselves. If your employer is encouraging the United Way campaign, designate your gift to the Milwaukee AIDS Project, Cream City Foundation or any certified non-profit organization.

If you're in the closet, select A CHOICE, a coalition of progressive non-United Way groups in Milwaukee. A CHOICE includes Jobs With Peace, Wisconsin's Environmental Decade, the Wisconsin Civil Liberties Union, Citizen's for a Better Environment, Cream City Foundation and others. Part of your dollars will go to CCF through the A CHOICE designation.

The Ad Council recently developed a marketing campaign called Give Five. 'Fiving' is a challenge to all Americans, including us gay folks, to give 5% of our income to charitable causes, and volunteer 5 hours a week or more to the cause of our choice. Can we do it? You bet!

Imagine if you and a couple of your friends showed up at the Task Force on Battered Women and volunteered 5 hours each week. What a boom this would be to most organizations. Or if during the organizing of the HIT Tournament, every gay bowler in Milwaukee offered 5 hours a week toward the planning of the event. All of our lives would be easier because help would be available for such events.

According to statistics, we folks in Milwaukee are doing O.K. when it comes to volunteering our time, but when it comes to financial contributions, only 71% (vs. 91% nationally) make charitable contributions. Worse than that, our percentage gift is low as compared to the U.S. average. Milwaukeeans give only 1.8 % of their income (2.4% nationally) to charities.

Give Five presents a challenge to all of us to evaluate our civic duties and decide how best to give of our time and money. If we respond to the challenge, and of course most of us will, our community will be stronger as a result. The stronger we become, the less likely we are to be defeated by our enemies.

As long as I'm hitting people up for

Lesbian Conference: 'Into The Gay 90's'

Washington, D.C.- The first meeting to organize a comprehensive national conference by, for and about lesbians, was held here September 24 and 25, to launch coordination of the idea born of the October 11, 1987 March on Washington for Lesbian & Gay Rights. An ad-hoc group of east coast lesbians convened the open meeting to begin to set goals and to establish the initial planning structure for the conference, which is tentatively scheduled for late 1989 to early 1990.

The conference envisioned as the first of its kind, is conceived as a broad-based coalition effort to set a lesbian agenda for social, economic, and political change, to increase lesbian visibility and to acknowledge lesbian diversity and common ground.

Regional planning meetings on the national lesbian conference are being organized throughout the country in the months ahead. The first national steering committee meeting, with representatives chosen by each region at the regional planning meetings is scheduled for the weekend of March 4-5, 1989 in Raleigh-Durham, N.C.

Lesbians interested in getting involved should watch for local announcements of regional planning meetings. For more information, write: National Lesbian Conference, P.O. Box 3057, Albany, NY 12203.
