It was cold, foggy and misty Saturday, May 17, but that didn't stop players and spectators from showing up at Mitchell Park for the Saturday Softball Beer League games at Mitchell Park. Here some of the crowd watches the action. This week, the second annual Milwaukee Wreck Room Classic will be held. Story and other sports news begins on Page 10.

To be gay and 30 lbs. overweight is the pits.

Your straight friends reject you because you're a queer, and gays reject you because you're a fatso.

And being fat you're not likely to have many gay friends.

I don't know where Hell is, but it must be somewhere in between. Because you're 30 lbs. overweight, you're in the middle, in between being a person who is fat and a fat person. And it is Hell.

In the straight world, ten years after school most people gain 10 to 30 lbs., but they also have settled down with a marriage and sexual partner.

In the gay world, ten years after school, it is quite normal to be still on the cruise, still playing the dating game.

If you are still cruising bars, baths, bookstores, streets, and parks, still trying to pick up partners, you better not weigh 30 lbs. more than you did in school. For all you will pick up is a series of sad and quick rejections.

Guys will go home from bars with bombed and boxed out creeps, if they are thin, before they will even say hello to a guy who is overweight.

Oh I know, everyone says it makes no difference once you get to know the person. But the point is: just as in some games it takes jacks or better to open, in the gay cruise it takes thin or better to open.

You can get mad, or you can get sad; or you can wallow in self-hatred and pout your life away. You can cry your heart out about how you are being mistreated, how unfair life is. And you will be right!

But: do you want to be right or go home with that guy?

Granted: it's an unfair choice, but it's the kind of choice gays have to deal with. And that is why most talk about diets, nutrition, exercise, and health miss the point for homosexuals.

What diet has ever told you that to go home with a boy, you have to look like a boy. Or at least that's the image you have to present.

And what diet has ever told you that sometimes sex food is more necessary and more desirable than food food.

That one night with your heart's desire may be worth it, worth all that discipline and struggle a diet entails.

The Hell of being just 30 lbs. overweight is that you are in the middle.

Say you are 5'11" and weight, 185. You are not a fat man. You are a man who is fat. And to call you a fatso is unfair; but they will.

You could, you know, go in the opposite direction. Gain another 30 or 40 lbs. and then become a real fat person. Eat everything you want anytime you want. Be a glutton, indulge.

Nothing Personal

There are plenty of fat people who do quite well at cruising. They keep their cheerfulness, their wit, and their seductive charm.

They really like themselves. They have accepted the conditions of being fat. They know sometimes they have to spend some up front money to get a kid interested, but they can play it from there.

The point is: they love themselves, and can get others to love them too, because they are not always moaning over their weight problems.

Then there are a surprising number of gays who are former fatsos. I mean they were the fattest pigs in high school, but today they are slim and

Observations of cruisable.

In fact, many of the winners of the Mister contests were former fatsos. Guys who have lost from 50 to 120 lbs., realizing early that they could never make it in their chosen life style being fat.

So if you stay stuck in the middle,

Nothing Personal

30 lbs. overweight, you will stay in your private Hell. You'll keep thinking and pretending to yourself that you are not a fatso, that you are not a sinner, just because you like chocolate-chip-mint ice cream, and a slice of pizza after bar and before bed.

Okay, so you're not a fat person, just a guy who loves to eat; and is a little overweight. But other gay guys will, at a glance, read you as a fatso; and David will not jump down from his statue and start cruising you.

Eventually, you will come up against it and realize your weight problem is your weight problem and no one else's. And if you want to change it, you will have to change it yourself.

And if you choose the Elizabeth Taylor route, and go on a diet, make sure you use your brains a little more than your impulses!

Calories do count! Or something has to be counted to lessen your intake of food.

Learn a few basics of high school nutrition: coffee is not a starch, and a strawberry waffle is not solid protein.

No B.S., that is: bread, butter, and sugar will help.

Do your own diet and don't try to force everyone else at your table to eat what you're not eating.

If your lover gains 5 lbs., you may gloat more than if you had lost 10; but it is still no weight off you!

Exercise is fine, if it doesn't make you cheerless and grim.

Even better than forced callisthenics walking, disco dancing, softball, bowling, and locker room sex.

Finally, diet in Greek means "way of life." So, if you change your diet, you change your way of life. Not something you can do easily or by gimmicks. But something that takes a long time, and quiet determination.

As of press time, no charges had been filed against Wagner, manager of the Factory.

According to witnesses, it took police almost 30 minutes to arrive at the scene of the accident to extricate Dessel who was pinned beneath Wagner's car.

TWO PERSONS ATTACKED IN SEPARATE INCIDENTS

Two persons, both employees of Shadows, were attacked this past weekend in separate incidents.

Bruce Crisp, a waiter at Shadows, was attacked by three youths as he was walking between Shadows and the Wreck Room. He was hospitalized for five hours for treatment of injuries. The incident took place about 12:30am Saturday, May 17.

In a separate incident, Joey Day, a bartender at Shadows, was attacked by two men in Menominee Falls. According to Day, the two attackers hollered at him, asking him if he was "one of those fags."

The attack took place late Sunday night (May 18). He suffered bruises to the face and fingers when one of the attackers apparently tried to bite his fingers off.

2ND ANNUAL WRECK ROOM CLASSIC OPENS MAY 24TH

There will be a lot of balls floating around Milwaukee the weekend of May 23-24-25 and if you strike out it will truly be your own fault.

This Memorial Day weekend, the Wreck Room will be hosting the second annual Milwaukee Wreck Room Classic—two days of heavy competition in 12" softball and teams from

New York, Toronto, Minneapolis and Chicago, plus the Milwaukee teams, will be competing.

The action will take place on Saturday, May 24 at both Mitchell Park, S. 27th St., near National Avenue, and Kinnikinnick Park, S. 20th St. and Oklahoma Avenue. Saturday's games begin at noon at both places.

On Sunday, May 25 all the games will be played at Kinnikinnick Park with games beginning at 8am. An awards banquet will be held at the Wreck Room Sunday evening beginning at 7pm.

Friday night, as the softballers begin to arrive in town, the Ball Game (where else, but) will be the site of a reception for the softball participants.

Spectators are welcome at all the functions and are urged to cheer their favorite team to victory.

single game for the 10-week season, bowling a 269. At least 15 bowlers so far have bowled games of over 200.

The high series of the league still is held by Wendy H. (610), while Steve A. (578) holds the high series for the men. Next in line for high series are Steven O. (587) and Walter L. (581).

Bowlers interested in forming a fall scratch league should contact David Theiss at 744-3111. Two nights are being considered, either Tuesday at 9pm or Fridays at 6:30pm.

THREE TEAMS UNDEFEATED IN SATURDAY BEER LEAGUE

Three teams remained undefeated after two weeks of play in the Saturday Softball Beer League.

The Wreck Room and M&M teams scored their second consecutive double header victories in games which were played in the fog and mist and under heavily overcast skies.

The Factory took two games from the Finale to move within one game of the league leaders.

The games are played at noon and 3:30pm every Saturday (except for May 24th when the Wreck Room Classic is scheduled) at Mitchell Park, behind the domes on S. 27th Street near National Avenue. Spectators are welcome to come out and cheer their favorite teams. And, after the games, you'll find the victors and the loses partying in a number of Milwaukee's bars.

Chicago is a Milwaukee on speed.

Living in Milwaukee is an act of kindness.

Chicago has dirty parks and dirty politics; Milwaukee has clean parks. Could they also have clean politics?
