M&M WINS WRECK ROOM SOFTBALL CLASSIC TROPHY

You would have thought that the Brewers had won the World Series or at least the American League pennant as baseball talk and play dominated the gay Milwaukee scene for three days.

The event was the second annual Milwaukee Wreck Room Classic, which drew teams from as far away as Toronto, New York, Minnesota, Connecticut and the neighbors to the north—Chicago.

The Ball game was the site of a very friendly and rousing welcome on Friday, May 23 and the activities there set the temp for the rest of the weekend.

The opening ceremonies were held at Mitchell Park—the site of the regular Saturday Softball Beer League play.

All of the members of the participating teams came onto the field wearing their uniforms and carrying a banner which represented both the team and their home state.

Following the playing of the National Anthem, the games began both at Mitchell Park and at Orr Park on 20th and Oklahoma.

Competition was keen and the charming conversation to playful bondage.

And once you recognize love as an art: all you have to do is avoid the chief mistake in all art: that is don't overdo. Don't overlove.

Too many words make a bad poem.
Too many images make a bad picture.

So in love, too much love makes a bad lover.

Don't overwork at love. Be sparse. Who can take all of you at once. Who wants to be your womb?

"I loved him so much. I gave him everything." But you can't give more than he will take at the time.

"But I gave him the camera he always wanted."

"And did he give you anything in return, like the book or record you always wanted?"

"No!"

"Well, then you overloved him!"

The secret to success of any art is understatement. So with love, we have to learn to underlove.

Give him what is there to give, and no more.

Then your friends will not take you for a fool, but take you for what you are: a fellow artist: someone who has style and skill in loving.

Opening ceremonies for the Milwaukee Wreck Room Classic began with the presentation of the colors and the singing of the National Anthem.

spirits were high and the games were crowded with spectators from all the bars and out of town teams. One team, from Minnesota, even brought along their own cheerleaders.

Mark Upham, who headed a team of five umpires, had nothing but praise for the players and said the umpiring team had seen some of the best plays.

One outstanding play deserves mention since it occurs so rarely in slow pitch softball. That was a triple play by the M&M team while they were playing Kelly's of New York. A Kelly batter hit a line drive to short and the play went from short to second and second to first for the three outs.

Mother Nature held off the rain, too, but just barely. There were some ominous moments, but no rain and no sweltering heat.

The games ended Saturday afternoon with a hometown team—M&M defeating Kelly's for the championship. The Saloon from Minneapolis-St. Paul took third place and the fourth place trophy went to Toronto's Riverdale league.

Sunday saw the culmination of the weekend of events with an awards ceremony at the Wreck Room.

The players finally took the opportunity to party and party they did. The street near the Wreck Room was closed off and became the site of a fabulous buffet. Following the buffet, the awards ceremonies began. Ken Wenzel from the Ball Game, who served as an umpire during the games, produced a show featuring some of Milwaukee's best entertainers, including Momma Rae, Andretta, Ronny Marx, Mel Powell, Dave Vreek and Pat Doyle.

The crowd came to its feet cheering and singing when Momma Rae sang "Somewhere" by Dina Ross. Momma was brought back to the stage for an encore.

Following the show, all of the team managers were brought to the stage to receive their awards and say a few words and from this point there was nothing to do but party. There was no doubt the players knew how to party as hard as they played.

Many of the visiting teams and spectators began leaving the city on Memorial Day, but a lot of hold overs just couldn't leave the friendly confines of Milwaukee until Tuesday.

And as they left, the players and spectators passed on their thanks to Wayne Bernhagen and his Wreck Room staff for making this year's classic a success.

SHADOWS IN MILWAUKEE

Who would ever think that one of the best American restaurants serving old-fashioned American food would be a small 45-seat, gay-owned, and operated restaurant and bar, located at 2nd and National in Milwaukee called Shadows.

Chicago has nothing like Shadows. San Francisco has nothing better than Shadows. And Boston, Philadelphia, Toronto, and New York have no gay restaurant to surpass Shadows.

When Frank Thalacker, the owner, last February took over the bar Shadows and added a restaurant, he thought he was going into a good business and doing something needed in Milwaukee.

He had no idea that he was setting up a restaurant that would be the talk of traveling gays throughout the network from San Francisco, to Toronto, New York and Chicago.

Why in Milwaukee? Why Shadows? Most gay restaurants are either too loose or too uptight.

When they are loose, everyone feels free to camp it up, party and be outrageous. But no one feels the food should be clean or hot.

Oh isn't that waiter cute dancing on the table. And because it is gay-owned and operated, and we are still cousins together, we are supposed to overlook the burnt toast, the overcooked vegetables, and the worm crawling on our lettuce.

When they are uptight, you and your lover are never to hold hands for fear you will give away the owner's secret. And you are not to complain because you are in an award winning, nationally recognized Top 10 linen napkin restaurant; and so what if the food is as cold as the atmosphere, the portions are as thin as the waiter, and the price and time they let you eat are a pure hustle.

Shadows in Milwaukee is just right: the atmosphere is open and loosely gay; the food is warm, American, and excellent in every detail, and the prices are a bargain for everybody.

Frank follows the tradition of Milwaukee bar owners: they live with their customers, they don't exploit them. In Milwaukee you have to stay friendly to stay in business: there are not that many tourists to rip off.

Shadows is open for breakfast, lunch and dinner, 7 days a week, 11 to 11, and the bar stays open til 2.

Ricky, the Milwaukee Mick Jagger, and Joe, the Milwaukee Clark Kent, are sweetheart bartenders. They are great guys to wait around with until there is a table for dinner, and great guys to have after-dinner drinks with.

Dale is a courteous waiter. And Mark and Jack are real down home cooks: you won't get better cooked eggs and hunks of ham, pork chops, and steaks, and broccoli in any restaurant.

That's the point. Shadows is a first rate restaurant first, and a first rate place for gays.

Guys come in business suits for a working lunch, or in softball uniforms and cleats for breakfast before the games and lunch and drinks after.

Breakfasts and lunches run around $3; dinners between $5 and $9.

Frank realized that a lot of gays live semi-transient lives and he wants them to have a well-balanced meal they can afford.

He is generous with his blue cheese dressing and sour cream.

His desserts of hot apple pie or cheese cake will make you forget your last trick.

And if you go to Milwaukee as a visitor, you will probably find that Shadows will be your home base there too.

Astrologay

GEMINI—Sign of the Twins. You are dexterous and extremely flexible, mentally alert, changeable and are socially inclined. You are best when your intellect has free rein, but often become restless when interesting projects become scarce. You may be a devoted lover one day and unresponsive the next. Physical charm may entice you, but you need more than physical compatibility to maintain a lasting relationship.

Gemini

ARIES (Mar. 21 - Apr. 21) — The friendly encounters you've been experiencing will recur more often now that you're closer to someone near to you.

TAURUS (Apr. 22 - May 21) — Pleasure comes in a variety of packages. Don't overlook the odd size ones. Some surprises await you.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21) — Single adventures (especially during this period) could create disharmony unless the ground rules are followed.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23) — Break away from it all for awhile and take a look at the whole situation from a different perspective.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23) — Where there is smoke, there usually is fire. The situation you've been put in may require a major move on your part.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23) — The market place can be full of adventure, but caution the applause you hear may be not quite what you want.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 22) — You've bristled a few feathers in your recent approaches. Certain situations require a tactful handling.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 22) — The insight you seek can be found not by looking toward others, but rather by an examination of your own motives.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22) — Close friends are trying to give you a message, but you're not listening. Trust those close to you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20) — The new venture will prove a success if you realize there'll be a lot of hard work and a few lean days ahead.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19) — You are going to have to bring the situation to some sort of resolution. Don't hold on to a dream if it can't be a reality.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar. 20) — Time is needed to clear your head. The upcoming period should prove valuable for you.

Lockner: "I'm just an average guy"

Recently, Dan Di Leo had the opportunity to interview Clint Lockner, one of the new Colt Studios models, while Lockner was in Chicago for a personal appearance at the MR. REDOUBT Contest. Lockner, 35, 6 feet, 175 lbs, has sandy brown hair, green eyes, and he admitted, nine inches. He grew up in Detroit, and joined the U.S. Navy when he was 18. After four and a half years in the Navy, he switched to the Marine Corps. Following his military career, he joined a police department in California. (Lockner asked that the name of the department be withheld for personal reasons). While a cop he worked uniform patrol duties, juvenile, narcotics, homicide, burglary, theft, auto theft and vice—specifically bookmaking. He resigned in September, 1979.

DI LEO: Did you like the police department?

LOCKNER: I loved it. Fantastic. I met a lot of nice, hot people.

DI LEO: Why did you quit?

LOCKNER: I quit because of the attitude of the police department. The attitudes were prejudicial against just about every minority with gays being number one on the list.

DI LEO: Are you talking about the police department itself or the men in the department?

LOCKNER: The men themselves. The cops on the department were among the most honest you could find; however their attitudes toward minorities left a lot to be desired.

DI LEO: Why do you think that is?

LOCKNER: I think it's their own insecurity—the insecurity of their own masculinity. Being a cop, after all, is a macho trip, and I would say that the majority of the guys who go on a police department, whether they'll admit it or not—and they may never admit it, not even to themselves—do it because it is a macho trip. They get off on it; they like that macho image. And in fact, there's not a single cop that I worked with that didn't point out every girl walking down the street, saying how he would like to lay that specific girl. And it gets to be pretty annoying. No other person in any other profession that you meet anywhere does that to that extent. And it's nothing more than to prove their masculinity. So, it's my opinion that they are just expressing their own insecurities. Otherwise they wouldn't be taking out their hostilities on the weakest point they can focus on—the gays, who as far as the law is concerned, are almost defenseless.

DI LEO: Do they see in gays the exact opposite of what they are trying to be?

LOCKNER: Not necessarily. Yeah, in a lot of cases. But, I would say, there might even be a form of identification there that makes them jealous. There's a freedom there, they (gay people) are enjoy-belie people's image of a porn star; I mean, generally people think they have a hot body, and that's it.

LOCKNER: I went to Ventura College for two years and I majored in English. I tried very hard to get into college after I got out of high school, instead of going into the service, but I couldn't afford it, my parents couldn't afford it. So I had no other choice but to go into the service. While in the service, I went to night school and managed to accomplish two years of English and the rest was all done through correspondence courses. I do not have a degree, but I think it is important for people to be able to communicate at any level. When I was on the police department, for example, I might have to deal with a kid from the slum who had a poor educational background. I would talk with him on a different level than I am right now with you. I look at people for what they are. If I meet somebody, I can tell instantly whether or not I like that person. If I don't like them, I just feel that this person, no matter what I say or do, is not going to try to be a friend. He'll be attacking me one way or the other because of the pornography or the police department connection or whatever. It's not worth my time or energy to waste my time on that person, but I do find that very few people fall in that category. Generally, I meet people and there's an instant liking.
