Welcome to Ruthie's Bitchin' Kitchen

Listen up, kids! My name is Ruthie, and I've got something to say: I've been around the block a few times. Okay...okay...I've taken the scenic route; regardless, I've seen my share of Christmases, New Years Eves and everything that goes with them. I've decked the halls in my trailer park and I've toasted Baby New Year in downtown clubs. Seen it, done it, celebrated it, put a bow on it and woke up underneath it the next morning.

Now that the holidays are over, it's time someone (like me) lay down a few basics regarding Christmas etiquette. Most of you are born with a lovely, gay sixth-sense that keeps this community a step ahead in style and panache. There are, however, a few of you that need a lesson in stylish holiday cheer that you'll, hopefully, take to heart when Christmas rolls around next year. Grab a hot toddy and let's review where folks go wrong each season, shall we?

Holiday Letters. When writing your Christmas cards next year, remember one thing: Holiday letters make the Baby Jesus cry. Let's get this straight; No one...and I mean, no one...gives a crap about your holiday letter unless they are grandparents. If someone tells you how much they enjoy your annual year-in-review (and they are not your parent or grandparent), they're dirty...filthy...liars.

Crazy Content. If you feel your friends absolutely must receive a holiday letter from you, for God sake, watch the content! Baby announcements and million-dollar lottery winnings are good topics for holiday letters. Athlete's foot and stomach issues are not. If you find yourself using words such as "vomit," "urine," or "booger," holiday letters may not be your specialty. Make a few phone calls instead.

Photo Frenzy. If you wanna take a photo of yourself, your pet or your family and slap it on a card, that's fine. If you're kids are old enough to grow facial hair and get tattoos, however, they're too old for you to slip their photos into the Christmas cards you send. I don't want to see your grown offspring posing for the camera for a photo that will ultimately be tossed out by everyone who receives it...except grandmas who eat up this sort of holiday crap. I don't want to see your adult children, unless they're at my door, asking to shovel my parking slab.

Give Me Five. Gay men do not high-five...ever. Not while bowling, not after starting the lawn mower, not ever. This has nothing to do with the holidays, but it's just been bugging me.

Timing Is Everything. The holidays start after Thanksgiving. Period. Don't host a Christmas party on November 1. Don't send me a Christmas card before Halloween, and don't expect me to jump with glee when you want to do a friggin' cookie exchange on Turkey Day. You're gay...you have a natural instinct for impeccable timing! Learn how to use it or buy a damn calendar!

There you have it, folks; Ruthie's Guide to Yuletide Gaiety. If you followed these rules, Santa likely left a treasure under your tree. If you slipped up, take heart and try your best not to sit on Dear Ruthie's mistletoe next year!

Ruthie's Bitchin' Kitchen

Nothing signals the start of a New Year like insane amounts of alcohol. As such, I've offered a few ways you can flavor vodka to your liking. They're cheap, easy and tasty...like me! You can even use the vodka to play the Skin & Steel Drinking Game! Simply read "Skin & Steel" in Outbound, and take a shot every time Brent starts a sentence with the word "well."

FLUID

A promotional poster for Fluid. The background is a large, stylized clock face with black tick marks. Two men in dark suits and ties are sitting back-to-back on the clock's hands. They are both looking towards the camera with serious expressions. The word 'FLUID' is written in large, bold, orange letters at the top. Below the men, the text '21 HOURS OF 2-4-1 EVERY WEEK!' is written in the same orange font. Underneath that, 'BINGO' is written in a smaller, bold, orange font. At the bottom of the text area, 'JANUARY 16 & 30 AT 4PM' is written in the same orange font. In the bottom left corner, the 'fluid' logo is shown in white, with a stylized lightning bolt symbol above the 'i'. In the bottom right corner, contact information is provided in white text.

In this edition of the Bitchin' Kitchen, I also tossed in an appetizer recipe from Scotty of Bayview. So whether you're ringing in 2011 or simply having a few laughs with friends, these change-of-pace recipes keep all of your days merry and gay! Now eat good and shut up!

New Years Vodka

Here's a great way to welcome 2011! Full of cranberry flavor, this sweet vodka shot is sure to be a hit at your shin-digs all year long!

1 cup water
1 lb fresh cranberries
2 cups sugar
2 sprigs fresh mint
4 cups vodka

In a large saucepan, bring water, cranberries, sugar and mint to a boil. Boil for 5-10 minutes or until cranberries pop. Stir well; remove from heat and cool. Pour vodka into a container, top with cranberry mixture. Cover well and store in refrigerator for 1 week. Strain cranberries and mint from liquid before serving.

Ruthie's Culinary Clues

Leave out the mint if you'd like, or consider tossing a handful of cherries in with the cranberries. Serve the vodka with a lemon garnish for a bright and gay presentation.

Poinsettia's Pineapple Vodka

Here's yummy home-flavored liquor from my twin sister, Poinsettia. Thanks for sharing this wonderful beverage with my readers, sis, but sorry, bitch! No free T-shirt for you!

½ cup chopped pineapple
2 cups vodka

Set the pineapple in a large container; top with vodka. Seal container and set in the refrigerator for 2 weeks, shaking container from time to time. Strain the vodka and serve.

Poinsettia's Pointers

Replace the pineapple in this recipe with oranges, cherries or lemons and limes. Feel free to keep the fruit and vodka mixture refrigerated for three weeks if you'd like. Add a sprig or two of fresh herbs to really jazz things up.

Pizza Onion Bites

I was invited to a party this holiday and had to bring a dish to pass. What to bring...what to bring? I know! How about this tasty appetizer shared by Scotty of Bayview? These super savory nibbles, dipped in pizza sauce, are impressive, tasty and friggin' addictive. Thanks for sharing Scotty. You're free Bitchin' Kitchen T-shirt is on the way.

1 teaspoon flour
½ teaspoon each garlic and onion powders
Dash of dried basil
1 teaspoon dried parsley flakes
2 eggs, beaten
2 tablespoons butter, melted
2 cans (2.8 oz each) French-fried onions
3 tablespoons shredded mozzarella cheese
1 tube (8 oz) refrigerated crescent roll dough
1 jar (8 oz) pizza sauce

Preheat the oven to 375 degrees. In a small bowl, combine the flour, garlic and onion powders, basil and parsley flakes. Stir in eggs until combined. Stir in butter. In another bowl (a larger one, this time), combine the fried onions and cheese. Set aside.

Carefully unroll the crescent roll dough. Separate dough into four rectangles. (It sort of comes that way, so this step is a breeze!). Take one rectangle and pinch the seams together. Cut the rectangle into four strips, and then cut each strip in half. (You'll end up with eight pieces.) Repeat with the other three rectangles.

Dip a piece of dough into the egg mixture; then in the onion mixture. Set on a nongreased baking sheet. Repeat with remaining 31 pieces of dough. Bake for 10-12 minutes or until golden brown. Serve with pizza sauce for dipping.

Ruthie's Culinary Clues

Don't use fresh parsley in this recipe. (It gets sticky in the egg mixture.) A dash is a quick flick of the wrist...no more, no less. Don't have pizza sauce on hand? Use spaghetti sauce instead.

Have a recipe for Ruthie? Send it her way via dearmsruthie@yahoo.com. If she publishes your dish, you'll get a free Bitchin' Kitchen T-shirt.

As you can see it is a new month, New Year, and lots to do!

Marquette University's Paul Milakovich ushered in not only a new year, but a new decade! A smashing party took place to honor Paul, including me given the honor to once again "roast" the host. I loved hearing celebrity server Doug Clemons of the Florentine Opera pass hors d'oeuvres and serenade us acapella Leah Marie Dueno, Dr. Michael Bernklay & Dr. Craig Larabee, Northwestern Mutual's Dan Riedl, ARCW's Doug Nelson, Tony Heller, Kate Venne of M.U., David Sagura all the way from Texas, Mike Bento of D.C., the marvelous Men of Connecticut, The Marcus Center's Paul Matthews, Gail – the guest of honor's beloved Mother, Stephen Heffron, the guest of honor's Love – who also catered the affair – d – vinely d-lish-ous-ly! Alas, to have such dear friends so much my senior... What a time! I love celebrating my Friends!

I have to thank all the outstanding Citizens of our Community that turned out in droves to take part in December's Drag Queen BINGO! at Fluid. Toys for the less fortunate children out there as well as contributions of non-perishables to Hope House – nothing warms the heart more! Props to my co-hostess Miss Maple Veneer, Mr. Fluid, himself, Bill Wardlow, and Brian AKA Kitty who ran the bar, the music, and the visuals on the monitors – talk about multi tasking!

Madison Brooks and Viki Liberty added much fun and levity to the afternoon affair as well as John Weiler – Mr. Leather, who joined us in the Winner Circle calling numbers and pulling balls... Our game players were: Tim (Bianca) Martinez, Michael Jonas, Tommy Salzseider, Tootsie, Fluid's newest addition Andy, James, Carl T., Dennis, Pauly, Janet, the Men of Kruz: Nicky and Chuck, Keith, Walter, John Albanger, Velveeta HeadCheez, Princess Debbie, Heather & Phil, Dan Taylor of Taylor's and many more marvelous caring, compassionate Milwaukeeans.

The Holidays were here and one of my favorite gift(s) was: Our Holiday Show, "Who's Been Naughty and Nice?" at The Room of Boom. Dear Ruthie, Miss Goldie Adams, Candy Stick, Bambi, and Maple Veneer joined me in seasonal song as we wished one and all the sediments of the season. Thanks to David, Dan, Paul, Lance, and our wonderful Audience – Rona and two tables from Potawatomi, Baby Jane Hudson, Russ of the Trailer Sisters fame, Roger, Andy Cicero, Claudia Egan, Always Happy Hour's Andy & Brian, Mark & Kevin, Todd Richards, Roland Hoffmann, Jerry from Bay View, Jack Eigel & Brian, Bart, Kyle & John, Dan Musha, Tommy, Jerry Gin & Tonic, Bob Gliniecki, and many more great party-ers setting the mood & the mode of the night.

Chicago's Side Track is always one of my favorite escapes. You got to love their Show Tunes: Sundays, Mondays, and Fridays! Chuck Hyde does the unbelievable with videos, clips, song and dance that can enthrall me into Never, Never Land. Clap if You believe!

Another added bonus at Side Track is Lee Trudell remembered as one of Boom's favorite bartenders he can now be seen as part of the Side Track Scene.

Looking for a special place to have a special celebration? Kil@Wat at the Intercontinental offers great meals, a tasteful atmosphere, and superior service.

Steffan and his Staff take the usual and put a unique spin to every mouthful. This restaurant is also conveniently located near all the theaters, so an excellent suggestion for pre or post fine dining. Always a remarkable repast! For those of you old enough to remember Marc's Big Boy, the sensational signature sandwich is available here at lunch time. Now if they could resurrect the Brawny Lad!

Just as in the past, it's the Glamour, not the Grammar – Happy 20011 to each and every one of you as I remain Still Cordially yours,.

Well it is January, and last month was full of it! Hell it was so cold I thought my nipple rings were going to freeze to my truck every time I went to go somewhere. Well enough about me bitching let's talk about you my glorious readers. How was new years for you all? Do you even remember it? Do you remember where you threw up and who you took home to screw? Anyway, I guess you all embarrassed yourselves enough so I don't need to harp on you anymore. Let's get onto the piercing of the month. Let's talk about something that we haven't touched on in a while. The tongue piercing!

The tongue piercing in recent years has really become one of the most common piercings ever to hit western culture. It started gaining a lot of its popularity during the punk scenes of the 1960s and 1970s. From here it has grown into something that seems at least, every single girl from the suburbs has!

The tongue piercing is usually done in the center of the tongue, although this piercing can be done in the sides of the tongue as well, but keep in mind that just because this is a very common piercing it is actually one of the most technically difficult piercings for a piercer to perform. There are many large blood vessels that if struck can wreak havoc on the body and cause major bleeding which would need a doctor to fix! The tongue is relatively painless and heals extremely quickly, usually in about 3-6 weeks.

Now let's get to the part you all want to know, what you can use your tongue piercing for! The tongue piercing can be a very sensual thing, well unless you get it stuck on your partner's jewelry. (Not that I have ever had that happen to me.) It can be highly erotic just to see and even more to feel. For obvious reasons the tongue piercing is best put to use during oral sex, although some people have reservations about oral sex when jewelry is involved. Some people say that the steel doesn't feel comfortable against their skin; well we have a solution to that gripe. Jewelry companies have made products called French ticklers for a long time. What they are is little pieces of silicon molded into interesting shapes like spiky balls, atoms, and ribbed domes. These ticklers take the hard cold edge off the barbell and replace it with a soft squishy feeling. So from now on you have no reason to refuse head from someone with a tongue piercing.

OPEN DAILY 3:00 PM – CLOSE

(Of course I don't think any of my readers would refuse head from a fat blind man with leprosy, so I guess that last line doesn't mean much.) Well that's about it when it comes to tongue piercing so let's get on to something else.

Well I think I've got enough room for some reader mail so let's see what we have:

Dear Brent,

Here is my question. . . How do you do piercings? I don't mean the actual act of it, but more so how did you get into the job and how can you force yourself to hurt people for a living. - Abe

Well Abe, you ask a very hard question to answer, so let's start with your first question. I got exposed to body piercing when I was very young through national geographic magazines and tribal themed television shows. I was hooked at that point and learned everything I could about tribal cultures. I didn't know it back then but I know now that I needed piercing and tattooing in my life from the first moment I saw it. From there, once I turned 18 I walked into Avant-Garde and got my tongue pierced, at the time I said it would be the only piercing I would ever get. (God was I wrong) From there I started hanging out at the shop, eventually I started working at the shop for free just so that I could have an excuse to be there and learn something new.

Then one day the owner Jim asked me if I wanted to work at the shop and actually get paid to do it, of course I jumped at the chance and now that chance has led me into a partial ownership of Avant-Garde. As for your second question all I can really say is that you have to have a certain mentality to do this job. It's not really about hurting people, but you do have to have the will to be comfortable around pain. That's about all I can say, thanks for the letter Abe.

Well I think I have now run out of room for this month, until next month try to stay warm and if that doesn't work, then drink a fifth of vodka and imagine that you are warm! Please also don't forget you can reach me anytime by e-mail at Avantgarde@voyager.net. Just put Skin & Steel in the subject line, and remember you can e-mail me about anything. Thanks and have a great month.

Employment Opportunity HIV Prevention Research

The Center for AIDS Intervention Research (CAIR) in the Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Medicine at the Medical College of Wisconsin announces openings for two positions in a new National Institutes of Health-funded research project that will develop, implement, and evaluate the effectiveness of community HIV prevention programs for African American men who have sex with men (MSM). The project's objective is to determine if friend-to-friend HIV prevention approaches that work through natural social networks of African American MSM in the community can reduce sexual risk behavior, sexually transmitted diseases, and HIV infection. Both Research Associate positions require extensive experience, knowledge, and understanding of Milwaukee's African American MSM community including settings, ways, and places where African American MSM at high risk for HIV can be reached. For both positions, relevant community experience and involvement with organizations that serve African American MSM are more essential than prior formal research experience. Positions will require frequent field work on evenings, nights, weekends, and during nontraditional hours.

Research Associates will perform activities related to the identification of community settings in Milwaukee for reaching African American MSM and for carrying out community outreach to recruit, interview, and conduct HIV prevention activities with social networks of Black gay or bisexual men. The Research Associates will also be responsible for outreach-based recruitment of friendship groups of African American MSM in community settings, for interviewing participants, and for seeking to engage friends of already recruited men to also enroll in the research. Strong interpersonal communication skills and comfort in community settings where the target population meet are important position requirements. Relevant community experience may substitute for some educational requirements.

Both positions offer competitive salaries and excellent fringe benefits. In addition to a resume or completed job application, we welcome applicants to provide an accompanying letter that describes any additional formal or informal community experience, volunteer work, or involvement with community organizations that serve the targeted population if those experiences are relevant to these positions.

The Medical College is an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer.

If interested in applying for the role, please visit www.mcw.jobs and search for position number 326.31322.

XXX DVD RELEASES Dripping Wet & Trapped in the Game

Dripping Wet 3, Falcon

Many of the most iconic Falcon titles over the years have featured fit and tan California boys poolside, where the real fun didn't begin until the trunks came off. The long-legged blondes might be gone but little else has changed in this third 'Dripping Wet' entry. Director John Bruno has assembled an appealing, hardworking cast of brunettes, including such familiar porn favorites Brandon Lewis and Rod Daily.

First at the pool is relative newcomer Jake Austin. Lounging under sun-drenched skies, his sojourn is disturbed when brawny Parker London playfully spritzes him with water.

Austin reveals an equally playful smile when Parker reveals his veiny erection which quickly gets Austin's full and undivided attention. Austin's smile, not to mention his cock, grow even bigger once Parker gets his lips locked on his own more than ample manmeat. Parker keeps up the tongue-lashing even as he primes Austin's furry nether region with fingers and later with his tongue. Both are completely drenched in sweat by the time Austin's ass is well and thoroughly pummeled. Yet Austin ruthlessly rides Parker's sheathed poker until he can't hold the cum back any longer.

Smoldering brunette Topher DiMaggio is next in the pool, appearing to float the afternoon away. Meanwhile, A.J. Irons, a near doppelganger for Topher, is at watch poolside. In a blink, A.J. is in the pool, lips locked over Topher's fully loaded torpedo. A.J. looks content to spend an eternity making a meal of his partner's primed piston, happily burying the cock down his throat until his nose is tickling Topher's neatly trimmed pubes. In short order A.J. is on a pool chaise, his legs high and wide open with Topher's fingers busily teasing and stretching the dusky sphincter. Once he starts, Topher drills A.J. like a champ but A.J.'s half-hearted attempt at dirty talk made this reviewer wish there was a ball gag hidden poolside along with the unseen condoms and lube.

In the next scene Brandon Lewis and Tucker Scott act like two big kids who just can't get enough of playing around in the lawn sprinkler. Keeping the sprinkler between them, Brandon wastes no time getting Tucker's briefs down and his partner's slender prong at full attention. Brandon is already and quite impressively rock hard when Tucker takes his turn down on his knees. As Brandon face-fucks him mercilessly, Tucker looks like it is all he can he can do to hold on to Brandon's truncheon for dear life. The scene heats up another notch as Brandon lies on his back and Tucker slides down the quivering ramrod, impaling himself just as mercilessly, again and again and again. Once Brandon starts plowing him missionary, Tucker pops his creamy cork. Brandon quickly strokes his load onto Tucker's smooth chest.

If you were hoping for a couple of classic long-legged Falcon blondes in the finale, forget it. Instead you'll be treated to the pairing of Robert Axel, a veritable man mountain and Rod Daily, another muscle stud. The hot tub heats up immediately as Rod joins Robert and quickly begins munching his manmeat through the wet shorts. Rod then manfully tears off the shorts, cranks up Robert's legs and starts tonguing the meaty ass cheeks and hairless hole. When it is his turn at the bat, Robert works Rod's rod with impressive gusto while Rod takes the opportunity to strike a few bodybuilding poses, just in case the neighbors happen to be watching. Rod then takes charge, riding Robert as if riding a massive, mechanical bull. Soon enough Rod gets his chance flex his muscle, plowing Robert at the edge of the pool before each stroke off a load.

Too bad director John Bruno didn't think to stroll through memory lane, airing out some of Falcon's legendary pool pairings of years past. It surely would have been time well spent. Instead, Dripping Wet 3 is yet another in an increasingly long list of uninspired Falcon offerings. Solid Falcon camerawork & production values can't hide the Bruno puts his cast through their predictable paces in merely workmanlike fashion. The jackoff reel is a nice bonus. Rating **1/2 of ******

Trapped in the Game, Lucas Entertainment

If the folks at Falcon (who recently merged with Raging Stallion) need to see how it should be done, they need look no further than Michael Lucas' Trapped in the Game. Both films boast four sex scenes and a cast of eight but that's where the similarity ends. A triumvirate of directors (Michael Lucas, Mr. Pam and Nate MacNamara) set the mood with stunning Jonathan Agassi waking up beside a Berlin water fountain clad only in a pair of sexy white briefs. How did he get there? Who left the bag of clothes? His search first leads right into a white hot pairing with Adam Killian. This explosive scene provides no answers and Jonathan continues his search, a three-way with Rob Nelson and Giuseppe Pardi providing additional distraction. The final pairing of Hugo Martin and drop-dead gorgeous Harry Louis is totally off the charts hot. Don't stop at scene's end, there's a nifty plot twist yet to come. Keeping it all in the family, Jonathan Agassi's father can be seen in a brief but pivotal cameo.
