Open 24 Hours

all profits will be donated to the Fox Valley AIDS Project; so attendance not only supports a more open gay community, your dollars will go to a worthy cause, Mack notes.

Tickets may be reserved by calling Act 2 at 738-9804, or may be purchased at the door.

Mack commented, "Why do a gay play in the Fox Valley? Two reasons: It's never been done before, and, any act of visibility and openness increases awareness and becomes a possible catalyst for acceptance. Basically, it's about time the Valley saw that there is more to the gay experience than Ru Paul and The Crying Game."

He concluded, "The members of The Actors' Workshop believe this production can help to open the eyes, hearts and minds of those who attend. We want to emphasize the seriousness of our lives, but know that laughter is often the most healing of medicines."

"STARRY STARRY NIGHT" Lesbian Variety Show Fri. & Sat., Aug. 18 & 19

Last year it was the talk o' the town, and, this year, it's twice as big!

That's right, "Starry Starry Night," Milwaukee's Lesbian variety show, is a two night event with a different show each night at the Broadway Theatre Center, 158 No. Broadway, downtown Milwaukee, 7:30 p.m. on Fri. & Sat., August 18 & 19.

Each show is brimming with absolutely fabulous performers who will serenade you, amaze you or make you laugh, laugh, laugh. An array of artists will grace the stage both nights...from acrobats and bagpipe music to multi-media performers and vocalists. Among the stars will be Stoney Jones, nationally known female Elvis impersonator; the post-modern rock, neo-folk band, MOOK; the sensational Singsational and Milwaukee's very own Chicano Lesbian poet and writer, Carmen Murguia.

For those at the Friday show, you'll have a chance to play the Starry Starry Night version of the Newlywed Game!

But, that's not all...an after-show party will be held in the Theatre Cabaret with special performances by Mook on Friday and by Stardust on Saturday.

Tickets? $12 for each show, and available in Milwaukee at AfterWords Books, Designing Men, High Wind Books, Just Us, Outpost Natural Foods and People's Books.

Guernsey Gala Corrals Over $6,000

Za's Terry is 1995
titleholder

With a vote tally of 2216 points, Terry was named the 1995 Guernsey Queen at the 4th annual Guernsey Gala August 5 at Brandy's II in Green Bay. Terry represented Za's nightclub.

First runner-up was Nora, representing SASS, with a vote tally of 1808. Second runner-up was Becky, representing Napalese Lounge, with 1110 votes.

The Guernsey Gala is an annual fundraiser for Center Project, Inc., northeast Wisconsin's HIV/AIDS resource center. The "friendly competition" between Green Bay gay bars was begun in 1992 and continues to be coordinated by dowager Guernsey Queen Elsie Bovine (aka bartender Wayne Thiele). Contestants earn votes for each dollar they raise during a month-long competition. This year's eight candidates raised 5862 votes, and with additional donations and performer tips the night of the show/pageant, to total topped $6000, an increase over last year's $4500.00 raised.

Julie Bell Honored By Positive Voice

Longtime Green Bay activist Julie Bell was honored for her contributions both to the northeast Wisconsin LGBT community and the fight against HIV/AIDS at an informal dinner held August 1 in Green Bay.

In presenting her with a commemorative plaque PV president Lloyd Schaefer cited Julie's long history of leadership and volunteerism in Northern Womyn, Positive Voice and Center Project. Julie has been active by serving on NWT's committee of the whole, and involved in the activities of the PV/NWI Education/Outreach committee. Julie has spoken to a number of groups on the subject of homosexuality and currently is involved with the Gay/Lesbian Guide to Northeast Wisconsin.

At Center Project Julie served as a clinic volunteer and as a resource researcher for the Life Care Services. Julie will join the Washington DC-based staff USA Today in September.

Positive Voice 3rd Annual Picnic

Gay fun in the summer sun...

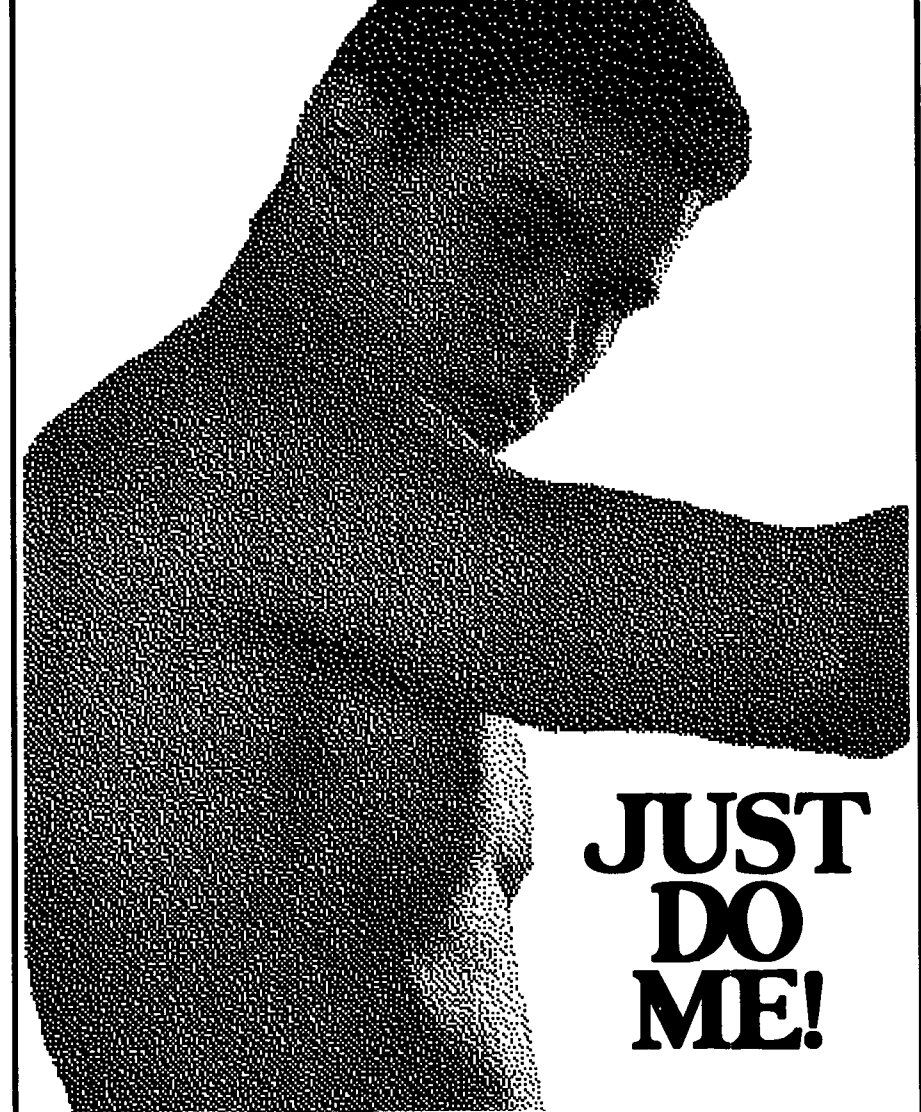

Positive Voice's annual picnic will be held Saturday, August 19, beginning at Noon in the open air shelter at Colburn Park of the west side of Green Bay. PV will be providing burgers, brats and fixin's for members, families and guests, and picnic-goers are asked to provide a dish to pass and their own non-alcoholic beverages.

Highlighting this year's event will be the drawing for the 3-2-1 Raffle at 3 PM. Tickets are still available and will be sold at the picnic. Other picnic festivities include volleyball, croquet and the water balloon toss.

Picnickers should use the park's Ninth street entrance and parking lot. To avoid the West Mason street construction, those from the east side of Green Bay should take Main/Dousman or Walnut/Shawano to Oneida, turn left and proceed to Ninth. Turn right on Ninth. Colburn park will be four blocks west on the right side of the street. Out of towners, take Highway 41 to the Lombardi Avenue exit and head east toward Lambeau Field. Turn left at Oneida and left again at Ninth street.

GAY COMEDY ON APPLETON STAGE AUGUST. 13-14-15

The curtain goes up Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, August 13, 14 and 15 on "Talking with Jacob," a gay comedy, at The Little Sandwich Theater in Appleton's Valley Fair
Mall...and deserves your support!

Appleton Playwright John Mack (cover model for this issue of Quest) chatted with us recently about 'Jacob,' an Actors' Workshop production.

With a cast of four, Jacob is full of belly laughs! Brian Lewis, of Appleton, plays Jacob...and, like the famous play's principal character "Harvey," can only be seen by the audience. Mack says Lewis' performance is truly outstanding.

Mack himself plays Nick, the gay everyman,
who attempts to deal with a society which hates him because of those he loves.

Ryan Rooyakkers is Nick's love interest, the impulsive Trick.

Joey is Nick's best friend (Miss Stability) and is portrayed by Michel Leah.

The 26-year-old John Mack has been involved with theatrical productions all over the Fox Valley in many capacities over the years. Mack is a 1991 UW-M graduate, having taken his freshman and sophomore studies at Lawrence University in Appleton.

'Jacob' takes homosexuality out of the closet and onto the live stage...and not even in the safety of 'The Bars.'

Performances are at 8 p.m.; tickets are $6, and
