From the Desk of Chinequa Advice for the Adverse

Dear Chinequa,

My boyfriend and I just moved in together and horror kicked in. It seems we have drastically different styles and we're about to kill each other. He wants everything black and red. I, on the other hand, want simple pale colors. What do I do?

Help Me Please,
 Dangerous Decor

Dear Dangerous,

I would hardly call that "differences in decorating". That difference is much deeper. Are you sure he's gay? I mean, you don't want to get yourself hooked up with a straight man who thought the only way to leave his wife and trailer was to play gay, at the expense of your new pad. Anyway, back to the 90's. The color combo has got to go. Like Nancy says, "Just say no". This is no time for compromise. Save that for conversations about vacations and monogamy, cause darlin', you can give in on either of those and still be able to relax in your living room. Well, here is the trick darlin', let him pick the color and you go to the paint store. Always worked for me! Just play blonde when you get home.

Always here for ya,

AND FROM EAU CLAIRE...

Mickie Here!

Time for another scoop from the "other" side of the state.

First of all, a little notice to all you shopping queens, Mickie's Junction (Eau Claire's only "OUT let) has relocated to 24 South Barstow Street, across from The Trading Company. Along with the new location, come new hours. Monday-Thursday (11am-9pm) Friday - Saturday (11am-10pm) Sunday (by appointment) call 715-832-7248. Mickie's Junction will also stay open later upon request. (plug)

Now, to keep the ball rolling, I have 3 words for you. 24 Hour Bar! Three more.....The Trading Company! (That's a plug-Wayne) The Trading Company and The Stage Door Cafe', combined, are now open over 40 hours every weekend. That is a lot of partying! At bar close on Friday nights The Stage Door Cafe' opens its doors for an after-bar no one should miss. Complete with pool, darts, food, coffee, and conversation with friends old and new. That's over 12 hours of amusement so far! Saturday, we go through the same routine. That is 12 more hours! After The Stage Door Card' closes at 5:00 am, it opens again at 11:00 am for Sunday brunch. Following Brunch, the bar is open again till 2:00 am, Monday morning. That is a lot of time to occupy. Don't worry, Wayne knows how to keep you entertained.

Eau Claire was Drag Haven again the weekend of March 30th. Hostess DIVA, (soul songstress comic and Queen of the updo), and The Trading Company, put together an Amateur Drag Contest with some special guests. Like Eau Claire's very own, and ever popular Ms. Kia Monet. (whose back breaking moves spellbound the audience) Ms Stephanie Brooks, (whose eye-popping boobs captivated the crowd) and numbers performed by DIVA herself. Third place went to Josh Taylor (Heather) with her rendition of Billy Joel's "Up Town Girl"

(That's right, a lesbian in Drag). She was fabulous, credible, and had the demeanor, appearance and motion of a man. Second place was taken by Savannah Skye (Floyd). First place was dominated by Mistress Mikayla (Dan) who captivated the audience to "Erotica". I could go on with the rest of the festivities of the evening, but unfortunately there is not enough space for an article the size of Encyclopedia Britannica.

Brunch Anyone? Yet again the Divas provided entertainment for The Trading Company's "Brunch with the Divas". Catered and presented by Anthony Draganowski. Performers from all over the state, and great cuisine, made the event momentous.

Well, that is all for now, I will keep your posted on upcoming events.

Peace, Love and Hair grease-group based in Minneapolis. All gay and bisexual men are invited to attend.

Camp Gaea (pronounced guy-ah) is located on 168 very private acres of woodland and grassland and a 15-acre lake. The easy accessibility of this regionally central location and alternative-lifestyle supporting ownership have been strong selling points for this rustic facility, where the event has been held each year. The MMNG event complements larger international gatherings held each summer and provides a shorter, lower-cost alternative for those unable to attend those gatherings.

This year's event will feature a wide variety of workshops ranging from massage to body casting to relationships, with ample time to swim, sun and socialize. Fun activities like body painting, nude game show and "drag" racing, will also return. New this year is a two-meal-a-day schedule that will keep appetites satisfied, yet open up more time to enjoy all aspects of the gathering.

Registration fees are reasonable at $100 for a cabin space and $90 if camping when received by May 10 (slightly higher after that date). Space is limited to 175 attendees and a sell-out is likely, so early registration is HIGHLY RECOMMENDED.

STILL TIME TO REGISTER FOR LES-BI-GAY-STRAIGHT CONFERENCE! Lawrence University - April 19-21

It'll be a big event featuring award-winning actor, writer & producer Harvey Fierstein (who'll deliver the keynote address).

The conference planners also have area hotel-motel info to share.

For additional conference of registration info., contact BGLASS, Lawrence University Memorial Union, 615 E. College Ave., Appleton, WI 54911 (414) 832-6600.

CHICAGO GAY PRIDE PLANS REV UP! SUNDAY, JUNE 30!

Plans are already being made by various community groups for the flurry of Pride Month activities. Events already scheduled include: Choral concerts by several local groups; The Front Runners/Front Walkers Annual "Proud To Run," and the 27th Annual Parade and Rally on Sun., June 30, 2 p.m.

The international theme for this year's celebration is "Pride Without Borders." The theme refers to the fact that the gay movement that grew quickly in the United States at the time of Stonewall, has, over the years, become an international movement.

For more info, call PRIDEChicago, (312) 348-8243 - Richard Pfeiffer.

DADDY/BOY CONTEST APRIL 26 - 28 IN MILWAUKEE

This year's Mr. Daddy/Boy Contest, sponsored by the Argonauts of Wisconsin, Castways of Milwaukee, Oberons of Milwaukee and Madison's Unicorns is shaping up to be quite an event.

News of the week-end schedule, April 26-27-28, follows:

On Friday evening, there'll be a pre-contest cocktail party (cash bar) at Gargoyles from 7 to 9:00, followed by the Boy Contest at 10:00 at the Wreck Room, with an after bar party 2-4:00 a.m.

Saturday's schedule includes dinner at the M&M Club (cash bar cocktail party at 6:00, dinner at 7:00), with the Daddy Contest at 10 p.m. at the 1100 Club, with, of course, a 2-4:00 a.m. after bar party.

On Sunday, an auction will be held at the Wreck Room starting at 1:00, free admission. Items to be auctioned off include leather items, magazines and videos, with proceeds divided among the four sponsoring clubs, who, in turn, make donations to charities throughout the year.

Tickets are available from club members or at the three cooperating bars. Weekend passes allow entrance to all events, except the dinners (tickets sold separately).

Tickets for the Friday and Saturday evening contests will be available at the respective bars on nights of the events. Locations of after bar parties will be announced at closing times. (After bar party tickets must be purchased in advance.)

The Mr. L/L Daddy and Daddy's Boy Weekend - April 26, 27 & 28

The Daddy weekend, now in its fifth year, originally an Argonauts of Wisconsin Saturday night event at the 1100 Club, has grown to become the biggest weekend for leathermen in the State. It is hosted by four clubs and three bars. An added event this year includes a 7 p.m. Friday cocktail party at Gargoyles.

Each event will require a $7 ticket, and, except for the after hour parties, tickets will be available at the door. If you plan to take in more than two events, buy a $20 weekend pass, and, for heavens sake, arrive early if you want good seats.

I am not sure what other prizes will be awarded to contest winners, but do know $100 and $50 custom leather gift certificates will be awarded to the winners and first runner-ups of each contest.

The Wreck Room will host the Sunday auction, which is free of charge and open to the public. Again, get there early to get your bidder's paddle, or you are apt to miss out on some real bargains.

You can get a schedule of events for the weekend from the participating bar and club members. (See a separate article, this issue of Quest.)

Rumors are like eternity, always were and always will be around.

Some can be vicious, most are petty and others provide a good laugh. Like the time a motormouth overheard part of a kidding conversation in which Ma said to me, "Joe, when you, et c. etc." When approached by this person, he thought he was being cut out of the 'loop,' when I denied it, and explained the remark had been made in jest, you wouldn't believe what he went through and the conclusions at which he'd arrived. To be sure, Ma and a few others fanned the flames for a while. Nothing can deter these people when they are on a mission, but, for the most part, they have little more effect than a babbling brook. That is, until a 'bad seeder' enters the equation. When a seeder does something like what Ma did, the fun begins, but every now and again, some not too nice person will use the motormouth to create an unpleasant situation. All too often, they do their dirt with an air of righteousness. Sorta, rush limbaughish.

Like I said, I like rumors, and, since they will be around, I want to write about them; in keeping, I will write about the latest rumor(s):

#1. I heard (isn't that how they all start?) that Bill (Wreck Room) put the leather community out on the street and did so in writing. In fact, the person telling me said the person who told him had a copy of the letter. When I called Bill to get his reaction, he stifled a yawn, denied it and said he hadn't heard this one. He asked if I had heard the one about him kicking out the Oberons...a move, which Bill admitted IF true, would go a long way to support the notion that Bill had stepped off the end of a dock, if you know what I mean.

Bill and I mused about how these get started and agree that, if you dug deeply enough, you could count on at least two of four people involved in most rumors.

LEATHER by Papa Joe

Most know who they are and just sit back to watch them in action. If there is a lull, We (note caps) have been known to seed just to see how it builds and how long it takes to get back. I am aware that it's not nice to play with minds of insecure and petty people, but, at my age, Friday nights needs to be jazzed up more.

#2 Michael of the 1100 Club is sending Grandma on a 40-day cruise and renting her stool out to paying customers. Grandma, no longer working the range at the bar, claims to have found her niche with all those cerebral men (and a few stevedores) on a floating hotel. Meanwhile, back at the bar, don't let your husband, sons or horses go in alone, Michael is on the loose and will be in serious need of de-horning.

Speaking of the 1100 Club, we recently had occasion to do Friday Fish fry and Sunday breakfast there. The fish is well prepared, the portions were ample and we enjoyed the prices as well. Same goes with the breakfast I had. Just a bit of caution; if you are really hungry, order only the regular portion. You could end up being stuffed all day because it was too good to stop. You've been warned.

#3. Beer Town Badgers (BTB) a club that folded a year ago and BTB, a fund raising arm of Si Smits of the Boot Camp. Don't get too excited, BTB doesn't have to mean Beer Town Badgers even if information was mailed in a Beer Town Badger envelope. Give it a chance to unfold. I am sure Si will fill in the community. The idea of a philanthropic arm of the Beer Town Badgers is not new. A number of years ago Si told me they were assisting PWA's directly instead of going through one of the established agencies. They felt that if money was raised in the leather community, it should go back to the leather community.

Stayed up past my bedtime to party with the Castaways and Unicorns who pulled off a fun club night on the 30th. Leather folk from Wisconsin and Illinois jammed the 1100 Club for the beer bust and raffle. It was one of those nights when everyone came out and was in a major party mood. Maybe it was Opie tending bar in tight fitting leather. Damn that child is hot!

Palm Sunday, for you heathens that's white in the right pocket, found us at the Chicago Eagle where Lee was part of a demonstration for the party hosted by the Chicago Council of Clubs. He and his little buddy Steve were put in plaster mummification by Rick of Men of Rubber, a new West group.

This old buck is going to get out more often, while Lee was all "tied up" so to speak, I was out socializing. Met a couple of body builders from Indiana sporting T-shirts from two fetish groups where I am also connected and finally Jack and Mike, hot guys who recently signed on to the Great Lakes Harley Riders.

Learned that the Fire Birds will be doing a first anniversary dinner and a bar night on Saturday, April 13th. Sorry guys, but by the time you read this the deadline for dinner registration will have passed, but drop in at the Boot Camp to wish them a happy anniversary. I'm out of here. Papa Joe that came with the largest ever gay athletic competition. At the opening ceremonies for the Gay Games in 1986, again in San Francisco, writer Armistead Maupin told the more than 2,000 athletes gathered there that the important word was "Gay," not "Olympics."

The Gay Games have grown geometrically since then, with the 1990 games in Vancouver, and the 1994 games in New York drawing thousands of tourists to those cities. As athletes around the world prepare for Gay Games V in Amsterdam two years from now, the squabble over the name is barely remembered.

NATIONALLY KNOWN DUO OPEN MILWAUKEE PRIDEFEST JUNE 7

PrideFest proudly announces it will open its June 7, 8 & 9 Wisconsin Les/Bi/Gay Pride Celebration on Milwaukee's Summerfest grounds on Fri., June 7 with "The Rainbow Party," headlined by the nationally known music and comedy duo Romanovsky & Phillips.

Known as R & P to their legion of fans, they've been delighting Les/Bi/Gay audiences since 1983, with seven albums to their credit. Their polished blend of music and humor on the condition of queer life in America has won over gay and non-gay critics alike. (Their latest album - "Let's Flaunt It" - includes hilarious songs like "Some of My Best Friends Are Straights" and "Homophobes in Robes.")

They'll be joined by Milwaukee's Singational, show opener, and Pulsations, a Chicago high energy disco band, in what promises to be a dazzling evening of entertainment.

When R & P last performed seven years ago in Milwaukee, a packed house rewarded their efforts with numerous ovations, demanding (and receiving) a number of encores.

ban gay rights laws. Early indications suggest the Court will be sympathetic to opponents of Amendment 2, but should they decide the other way, many activists are likely to call for a return to the Colorado boycott.

Unlike the Coors and orange juice boycotts, however, the Colorado boycott has generated significant controversy within the gay and lesbian community. Some gays and lesbians have questioned whether by boycotting the state, activists were abandoning Colorado when it needed outside help most. Others questioned the wisdom of boycotting Gay Ski Week in Aspen — a city which had passed a non-discrimination law that Amendment 2 had voided — and instead vacationing in Park City, Utah, which never even protected gays from discrimination in the first place.

On the other hand, the boycott has deprived Colorado of millions of dollars in convention and tourism revenue. More than simply punishing the state for its 1992 vote, Colorado's loss of funds has sent a financial warning to other states and cities considering such initiatives.

Why aren't the Gay Games called the Gay Olympics?

They were, once. In 1982, Olympic decathlete Dr. Tom Waddell organized what he hoped would be a "Gay Olympics" in San Francisco. More than a thousand athletes from around the world came to San Francisco for the August event, but arrived to find out that the name had been changed to the "Gay Games" because of a court order secured by the United States Olympic Committee (USOC).

Of course, the USOC had no objection to the Police Olympics, the Special Olympics, or even the Canine Olympics, but the Gay Olympics was unacceptable to them. Waddell's organization sued, and the case went all the way to the Supreme Court.

In one of the highest-profile gay or lesbian cases ever to come before the nation's top court, the justices ruled 7-2 that the USOC did have the right to stop the gay olympiad from using the word "Olympics." The case, San Francisco Arts and Athletic vs. United States Olympic Committee, held in effect that the Amateur Sports Act had given the USOC broad rights to determine who could and could not use the term "Olympics."

The initial reaction among Gay Olympics supporters was anger and protest. The city of San Francisco even defied the initial court order and declared August 28, 1982 "Gay Olympics Day." But soon the squabble over the name was overshadowed by the sense of power, unity, and fun

New Community Business Co-Op

Milwaukee-It has been a number of years Since the Cream City Business Association (CCBA) expired. Since that time, there have been suggestions made to create something to take its place. Now, something is being done.

On March 13th, 18 people gathered at Just Us bar, all of them engaged in business within the community.

Topics discussed included the purpose such an organization would serve, organizational structure including a name- and possible sources of seed money to get such a group started.

According to those who were there, major interest was shown in the idea of developing a business guide for those both living in Milwaukee and those visiting the city.

A steering committee of volunteers for the guide was formed. Included are: Rick Finger and Sheldon Shur, Colleen Downey, Bob Mazzacone, Suzanne Saatkamp, & Joe St.Clair.

A Second meeting will be held on April 10th, at 7:00 p.m. at the M&M Club, 124 N. Water St., to discuss further possibilities and organization of the group. Everyone interested is urged to attend.

For further information, call Bob Mazzacone or Jim Bigger (Designing Men) at (414) 389-1200; or Rick Finger or Sheldon Shur (Brady's Bunch) at (414) 289-8322.

PAST/OUT

BY DAVID BIANCO

What are some of the products gays and lesbians have boycotted over the years?

Boycotts have been a useful form of political action for the American gay and lesbian community in the last several decades. While petitions and marches bring some measure of publicity and visibility to participants, boycotts are much quieter. They allow a lesbian in rural America who would be terrified if her neighbors knew she favored gay rights to register her protest by simply ceasing to buy orange juice or visit Colorado.

One of the first nationwide efforts by the gay and lesbian community to boycott a specific product came in 1973, when gays and lesbians around the country began to boycott Coors beer. As with many boycotts, this one spread by word of mouth much more than by organized political action. Reasons for the boycott included unfair labor practices at Coors (including asking potential employees if they were gay) and the anti-gay donations by the Coors family. The local Coors boycott in San Francisco was organized by none other than future supervisor Harvey Milk.

In 1977 Coors took out ads in The Advocate declaring that the company and the Coors family do not give money to anti-gay organizations, but the boycott continued. In 1982, the company even filed an unsuccessful lawsuit against Solidarity, a gay organization pushing the boycott. In 1987, when the AFL-CIO settled its labor disputes with Coors, the boycott fizzled, but some gays and lesbians still refuse to drink Coors, and some community bars still don't sell its brand of beer.

Another major beverage boycott by gays and lesbians came in 1977 when Florida orange juice spokeswoman (and former pop singer and Miss Oklahoma) Anita Bryant began her crusade to repeal non-discrimination laws in Miami and other parts of the country. To protest the "Save Our Children" campaign, Bryant opponents around the country stopped purchasing and drinking Florida orange juice. Some gay bars even displayed signs which insisted "We use California orange juice only." In 1980 Bryant was dropped by the Citrus Commission, and Florida orange juice reappeared on the breakfast tables of same-sex households throughout America.... at least until Rush Limbaugh was hired by the Florida Citrus Commission in 1994.

Probably the biggest gay and lesbian boycott in recent years hasn't been of a product, but of a state — Colorado. On election day 1992, just as gays and lesbians around the country were celebrating the election of Bill Clinton, Colorado voters approved "Amendment 2." This measure, sponsored by Colorado for Family Values, sought to forbid any jurisdiction within the state from protecting gays and lesbians from "any claim of discrimination." The very next day, activists announced their plan to boycott Colorado's tourism industry, which continued until a court suspended the initiative. The case has been appealed, and the Supreme Court is expected to render a major decision this spring as to whether states can

Dear Chinequa

You have to help me with my son. He is 6 years old and I think he is gay. He always dresses up as a woman, calling himself Tracy. He spends all his time pretending to be Cinderella, and playing with his Barbies. We have tried everything we could to get him away from girls and get some boy friends. What should we do.

Tracy's Mother

Dearest Tracy's Mother

Silly woman, not that I am one to put my nose in where it's not welcome but six seems a little young to be encouraging him to have a boyfriend! I mean my mother never let me date till I was 12. Anyway back to the other problems. First of all if you are wondering if he is gay you need to rely on better information than a few stereotypical activities reinforced by popular television and movies about little girly boys growing up gay. (although nearly every homo I talked to supported those theories.) You will just have to wait until he can decide for himself, despite the writing on the wall. But you can at least make sure that his Barbie is at least well dressed and that he understands she needs to study and work hard to get that Malibu Palace. From there on Cinderella will be fine. Other than that, give him a break, and don't rush him at such a sweet age to be one label or another. God knows whatever label he gets sooner or later will be there a long time. Just be his mom and let him be your little, loved boy, Tracy. Remember it is rare as an adult that we allow ourselves the luxury to break the rules and be who we are.

Keep on writin, Chinequa
