Papa Joe

Just the pits, the weather I mean. Just like that, it went from too hot to be outside too, damn, it's fall already. - - It would have to chill out just when we are getting the landscaping done and ready to take long weekend rides on the Harley. Not to worry, I am in denial, my summer will last for at least another month. That's why they made longjohns and leathers.

But the weather was nice for THE WALK. If you were not there you can find many versions of what it was like, so I will leave it to others to fill you in. After the Walk, Jerry (Mr. SE Wis Leather) and the Castaways MC co-hosted a beer bust & raffle at The 1100 Club. An impromptu auction was held and the winning bid got to put whipped cream on Jeff's (Mr. Chicago Leather) very anatomically correct body parts. For a price, the cream was then topped with a cherry and eaten off. I went home broke but happy. No, there weren't nothing dirty going on.

FireBirds - - Just after my last deadline, I got word of a September 28 party to inaugurate The Boot Camp Saloon as their home bar - - and it will happen just after this deadline. Talk about timing, eh?

Not to worry, we got it together - - In fact - - October 26 they are doing a Rendezvous party & Club night and November 23 as a fundraiser for St. Camilus HIV ministry. Both of these events will be at the Boot Camp and start at 10 PM.

And speaking of the Boot Camp, the rumor of its closing persists. I first heard it in Sturgis, S. Dak. Last Monday, during attitude adjustment period, I heard the closing took place that day. Steve (BC's chief bartender) has quite a bunch of stories to tell of what he has heard.

By the time you read this, the closing deadline will have come and gone; I'll see you there for a beer.

For you guys who want to keep on top of the FireBirds activities or to get on their mailing list, call their information line at 414-299-9707; leave your name and address and it is done.

Talked to Beth Kelly at the 1100 Club after The Walk and she is sending follow up information on the regional Wisconsin Mr/Ms Leather contests. Just in case it doesn't get here before this deadline, look for one in Green Bay (October at Brandy's II) and one in Superior (November at The Main Club)

The rubber fetish party went off without a hitch; the participants found plenty of action and fulfillment. The weather turned chilly but the action kept things nice and toasty.

One interested newcomer attended. It was good to see some of the "old timers" take him under their wings and gave a dog and pony show tutelage. When he left, he expressed his gratitude to all for the introduction.

If you are interested in any of these types of events, keep your eyes and ears open. Don't be afraid to ask for an invite. Let them know of your interest and that you are a novice. You will find a new world opening up and many who will welcome you. If it turns out to be not what you expected, just say 'no' the next time. No one will be offended.

The Oberons club night ("Homeless in Milwaukee") at Just Us was successful. Some might ask why at a bar thought of as not "leather" and mostly "Lesbian?" The answer is best said in a note from Tim:

"When the Wreck Room closed, the Oberons decided to accept several invitations we had received to do guest club nights at other bars here in town - not all of them Levi/leather bars (Just Us and the bar known as Gargoyles, for example). So rather than try to find a new home bar right away, this gives us a chance to get out & see more of the community as a club than we usually do... Hopefully, the guest club nights in the coming months will continue as they started - hot & fun!"

Just Us really is a bar for everyone. The Shoreline Dancers call it home on Tuesdays & Fridays.

Tim also sent an e-mail, part of which follows. "... the night turned out to be a good one and fun for all involved - - hopefully, it helped along the process of tearing down some of the walls we in the Gay&Lesbian community have built between ourselves. Some in the leather community followed us over to 5th Street..."

ALSO from Tim announcing The Oberons Christmas Club, dated 23 Sept.

IT'S THAT TIME OF YEAR AGAIN!!!

The Oberons Levi/Leather Club of Milwaukee announces our 6th annual CHRISTMAS CLUB FOR CHILDREN WITH AIDS. Guest Club Nights will be held at three different bars this year:

Sat., Oct. 12, at B's.

Sat., Nov. 16, at South Water Street Docks (formerly Gargoyles).

Sat., Dec. 14, at 1100 Club.

The news release is reported elsewhere in this issue headlined "Oberons Gear Up for 1996 Christmas Club for Children With AIDS Project!"

Much love and easy riding, Papa

PS I'm sorry about the bad news concerning the re-building of Hotel Washington.

Comma Comma Down Doobie Do Down

by Jess Littleman

"We Need To Talk."

It's the four little words that transcend race, background, gender and preference. Most of us know the phrase as well from the giving end as we do from hearing it. This time, I was hearing it from Randy.

I wish I could say it was coming out of left field, but I haven't been myself since I got back from Mad City. Did Randy find out about my activities? Specifically, I don't think so. But he knows something is going on. I've been spending a lot more time at work, less 'together' time with him. I know where this is going when he led me to a quiet spot at the bar. I followed where he led, feeling like a death-row prisoner.

"I think we need to stop seeing each other," Randy says without preamble. I make a light protest, but I'm cut off. "It's becoming obvious we're at different parts in our lives, looking for different things, and I think it's best we stop this."

It wouldn't be so bad, I think to myself, except he's completely right. Although we enjoyed each other's company, we never really connected, much as both of us wanted to. He definitely wanted long-term, and I do, too, but I guess I didn't want happily-ever-after with him. I was with him just for the sake of being half of a couple with someone.

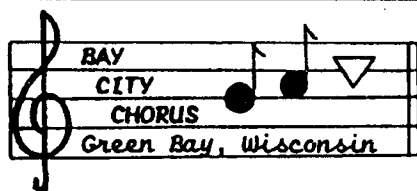

I need to make it clear (more to myself than anyone else) that I didn't make Randy break up with me so I could use it as an excuse to go after Mark. Quite frankly, I don't know what Mark is to me beyond a friend and occasional lover. Would I like to find out? Yes. Is this the way I wanted to do it? No. I should've played the part of "Adult" with a little more conviction by...well, I guess I don't know what I should've done differently.

I guess a Mad City romance was an inevitable--sooner or later, I was bound to let my eye wander and find someone else. Please never think I considered R casual--it was meant to last. It's just I didn't feel the passion he deserved from his man.

And so it ends with Randy. All in all, the most cordial breakup on record--no crying, no thrown glass objects flying through the air, just apologies and arrangements to exchange personal items we have of each others. We even make plans to meet for lunch later in the week. We hug, holding each other for a few final moments. We are still wrapped around each other when my friend Kate passes by. "So, what's up with you two?"

"We just broke up," I offer, and I let go of my hold on Randy.

The Pageant Now Accepting Applications and Advertising

The 1996-1997 Pageant will be held on Sunday, November 3, 1996 at the Milwaukee Hilton. (Formerly the Marc Plaza Hotel) After cocktails and a dinner of Prime Rib, the Grand Mother of all Wisconsin Pageants will begin at 8 p.m. with the most spectacular opening number since Jolson sang on the silver screen.

This year's contest has been streamlined by the elimination of the fantasy walk category. There is an increase from four to five minutes allowed for talent, and contestants will be free to wear the evening attire of their choice for the opening number.

Contestants and advertisers should call 486-6226 or 486-6233 for more information. Tickets for the evening can be purchased by calling 264-1155 or contact your favorite bar to see if a table or seats are available.

What is the history of the AIDS Quilt?

This month's display of the entire NAMES Project AIDS Memorial Quilt in Washington, D.C. is the fifth time the quilt has been shown in its entirety. For a decade now, gays and many others have been making panels to commemorate individuals who died of AIDS and demonstrate the human impact of the epidemic.

The quilt is the brainchild of Cleve Jones, a longtime San Francisco politico who as a college student in the 1970s interned for openly gay Supervisor Harvey Milk. Jones was one of the organizers of San Francisco's annual candlelight march to commemorate Milk's assassination and celebrate his contributions to that city's gay, lesbian, and bisexual community. As he prepared for the 1985 march, he learned that more than a thousand San Franciscans had already died of AIDS. Searching for a way to display such a large number, Jones invited marchers to write the names of a friend or loved one who had died on a piece of cardboard. When the march arrived at San Francisco's old Federal Building, the participants taped their pieces of cardboard to the wall, forming a mosaic of names that struck Jones as a quilt.

The next year, Jones made what was to be the first panel of the NAMES Project AIDS Memorial Quilt, in memory of his friend Marvin Feldman. Jones began encouraging friends to make their own panels, and along with NAMES Project general manager Mike Smith started raising money and organizing to bring as many panels as possible to the October 1987 March on Washington for a public display. As he prepared for the quilt display, Jones found out that he was HIV-positive himself.

The nearly two thousand panels of the quilt were one of the most striking - and enduring - aspects of the 1987 march. Thousands and thousands of gay and lesbian Americans who were sorrowful, angry, and wearied from the toll of the epidemic were extremely moved by the sheer power of so many personalized panels. The next spring, the quilt toured 20 American cities, raising a half million dollars for AIDS service organizations and collecting thousands of additional panels. When the quilt was shown in its entirety in Washington in October 1988, it had more than quadrupled in size. The quilt continued to grow, with panels pouring in to the NAMES Project's San Francisco office from all over the country and the world. Portions of the quilt were displayed in hundreds of communities, and subsequent full displays in Washington in 1989 and 1992 attracted thousands of visitors, many of whom wept silently as a voice on a loudspeaker read name after name of people who were memorialized by a panel in the quilt.

The panels of the quilt commemorate the rich and famous as well as the poor and anonymous. Many quilt panels incorporate items that were important to the deceased - from wedding rings to love letters to Boy Scout uniforms. A few even include ashes from the deceased themselves.

The quilt has become the most prominent symbol of the AIDS epidemic. The documentary, Common Threads: Stories From The Quilt won an Academy Award in 1989, and that same year the NAMES Project is said to have been considered for a Nobel Peace Prize.

The quilt has attracted some critics, both from Christian right-wingers who called it a "gerbil blanket" and from AIDS activists who called it a "boo-hoo rag" in their critique that the quilt has drained energy away from the crucial political battles needed to provide health care to the sick and find a cure. But the quilt has also helped many Americans - straight people in particular - see AIDS as a disease they should care about. Quite a few panels have been sewn by parents who were estranged from their gay sons because of their religious beliefs, who never would have contributed to a gay organization or cause - but saw the quilt as a way to express their feelings of loss. Visitors to quilt displays often come away with a better sense of the diversity of the people struck by the epidemic, not to mention the toll the disease has taken - not only on its gay and straight victims, but on their family members, lovers and friends.

This impact is no accident. The quilt's origins consciously drew on an old American tradition of quilt-making, a form of art and craftsmanship that brought communities together. As Jones (now a long-term survivor of HIV disease) wrote, "We chose the symbol of the quilt in a deliberate effort to evoke and recapture the traditional American values that had yet to be applied to this apparently 'nontraditional' situation - values of cooperation, mutual respect and individual freedom."

Oberons Gear Up for 1996 Christmas Club for Children With Aids Project!

The Oberons Levi/Leather Club of Milwaukee announces its 6th annual Christmas Club for Children with Aids, with guest club nights being held at three different Milwaukee bars this year, as follows:

Sat., Oct. 12, at B's, 1579 S. 2nd St.;

Sat., Nov. 16, at The Dock (formerly Gargoyles), 354 E. National Ave., and

Sat., Dec. 14, at 1100 Club, 1100 So. 1st St.

All club nights will run from 10 pm to 1 am with raffles and donations accepted at the door to benefit the fund for children with AIDS; a beer bust will also be available. In addition, many bars and other businesses will place our Christmas Club Fund jars out to receive your donations through the end of the year.

Since 1991, the Oberons Christmas Club for Children with AIDS has raised money to benefit these smallest of AIDS patients. Working primarily through the Milwaukee AIDS Project, they've supplied holiday gifts for the children at MAP's annual Client Christmas Party.

Due to the overwhelming support of the gay and lesbian community, the Oberons have also been able to supply the Child Care Center at the new MAP building with childrens furniture (including cribs, daybeds and changing tables) and with other items as needed, including books, videos, a TV and a VCR. Excess funds have been donated directly to MAP or to Camp Heartland, which provides summer camping experiences to thousands of children with HIV/AIDS.

goal of spreading the message of diversity through song.

There are several avenues of financial support open to interested persons. These include sponsoring a chorus member, underwriting concerts, community appearances or recordings or donating to the chorus' general operating fund. Other financial needs include the New Music Fund to purchase or commission new music and the Keyboard Fund to purchase a quality electronic keyboard for the chorus. Each of these fulfills a vital role in the chorus' quest to promote gays and lesbians throughout the community.

The chorus urges anyone interested in making a sound investment in the community to contact Matthew Pamperin, chorus president, at 344-9222. Donations may also be sent, along with a letter specifying the preferred use of funds, to the Cream City Chorus, PO Box 1488, Milwaukee, WI 53201.

Honey van Campe releases literary magnum opus and runs for President!

New Orleans, LA -- Honey van Campe, renowned Drag Personality and Authoress of the just-published and inevitably successful The Drag Queen's Cookbook & Guide to Sensible Living, published by Winter Books, an Imprint of Pontalba Press of New Orleans, Louisiana, is proud to announce that she is throwing her bonnet into the political ring and launching her campaign for the Office of President of the United States.

Honey's monumental handbook and manual is her initial stride towards the White House. Surely, she's a "shoe-in" for President

Here are some excerpts from her book:

"Any women's book I found, especially those which were written in the years B.C. (Before Chanel), was often out-dated and containing little relevance for the Transvettite of our age. They ramble on about a woman's place being near the hearth, and under the heading of hearth they seem to dwell for the most part on the topic of being regular. Well, today, anyone, Drag Queen or otherwise, can tell you that the only satisfaction derived from being close to the hearth involves a chilled glass of wine and a hot date. And, as for being regular...I always thought it more important to be fashionably late."

"Always remember, You've traveled many streets to be who you are, occasionally lingering on their corners, and perhaps at times even lying in their gutters."

"Good drag is neither cheap nor easy, even though Drag Queens are often both."

"There will be no jockey shorts on any of Honey's girls! You must decide from the outset if you are going to be fish or truly foul!"

Gay & Lesbian National Hotline Set to Take Calls! (Nationwide & Toll-Free)

New York, NY -- After nearly 14 months of planning and national fundraising, an important new non-profit, all-volunteer organization, including service to gay and lesbian youth, has debuted. The Gay and Lesbian National Hotline (GLNH) officially opened its toll-free telephone lines Oct. 1. The phone number is 1-888-THE-GLNH (1-888-843-4564).

The GLNH will provide peer counseling, information and referrals to gay, lesbian and bisexual people, as well as others concerned with gay-related issues. The services are without charge and totally anonymous.

"The Gay and Lesbian National Hotline meets a critical need in the gay and lesbian community today," said Brad Becker, president of the GLNH. "Last fall we conducted a survey of local gay and lesbian switchboards throughout the country. We quickly learned that many vast areas of the country went unserved, or, in areas with access to a local switchboard, the hours of operation were often limited.

"The Gay and Lesbian National Hotline aims to meet that need," he adds. "Callers anywhere in the country will be able to reach volunteers, any week-day evening, toll-free.

"A young person struggling with sexual orientation questions often times has nowhere to turn," Becker says. "Our volunteers are well-trained and compassionate -- they know how to listen and that can mean a great deal to a caller."

In addition, the GLNH maintains a database with more than 13,000 local community groups, organizations, businesses and professionals. With this extensive resource of information, the GLNH can link callers with thousands of services available.

The entire organization is run by volunteers. All financial donations go directly to supporting these services.

The hotline accepts calls weeknights from 5 p.m. to 10 pm, local time. With additional fundraising the GLNH hopes to expand its hours in the future.

More information on the GLNH can be obtained on the world wide web -- <http://www.glnh.org>. Individuals interested in volunteering for the GLNH may call 212-633-7492.
