Shares more thoughts on love and life.

ON OUR COVER:

Muscle East Video, whose 1996 Premiere Collection received national and international acclaim, proudly presents The New Breed, their long-awaited second release in a series of tapes which showcase the top physique talent on the East Coast. In this production, seven bodybuilders are beach bound, eager to oil up and show off their award-winning physiques as told through a montage of powerful masculine images. This "breathhtaking" new video, says Scott Harrah of MuscleZine, includes some of the hottest self-admiration scenes ever conceived for the small screen. (Warren Fahr is pictured on our cover.)

Muscle East's audience attraction is largely based on the flex-appeal of its male models. "We're always introducing a new cast of fresh young faces with handsome hard bodies to match," says M.E.V. executive producer Frank Jacobs. New Breed viewers anticipating the models to "go the extra mile" may be surprised for the video contains no nudity. But, muscle worshippers, do not fret, there is plenty in this 60-minute tape to keep you hot under its spell! Now available exclusively thru mail order, The New Breed can be ordered by sending $49 plus $6 shipping and handling to: Muscle East Video, PO Box 5247, Dept. P, Atlantic City, N.J. 08404 or by calling toll free (800) 566-8523

PAST/OUT

BY DAVID BIANCO

What was NACHO?

In the mid-1960s, gay and lesbian activists for the first time initiated a broad effort to coordinate and unite the activities of the America's several dozen homophile organizations by creating the North American Conference of Homophile Organizations, or NACHO (rhymes with Waco, not macho).

In 1963, lesbian and gay groups in New York City, Philadelphia, and Washington, DC had begun meeting together and planning joint activities under the umbrella of East Coast Homophile Organizations (ECHO). The many protests and public demonstrations led by activists such as Frank Kameny and Craig Rodwell gave ECHO a "militant" reputation that attracted the attention of gays and lesbians across the country, many of whom felt isolated in their organizing, and saw ECHO as a model for a national, united organization.

On the weekend of February 18, 1966, 40 delegates met in Kansas City for the first National Planning Conference of Homophile Organizations. Mostly in their twenties and thirties, those in attendance represented 14 lesbian and gay organizations from different parts of the United States. Ironically, none of them were in Kansas City - the site of the conference was chosen for its central location, not to take advantage of the hospitality of any local organization. But the conference's presence in Kansas City inspired local activists, and within a month the "Phoenix Society for Individual Freedom" was born.

At the Kansas City conference, the decision whether to form a national organization was postponed until the next meeting, scheduled for San Francisco six months later. But those assembled did establish a national legal defense fund, begin plans for a series of nationwide protests in May 1966 against discrimination in the military, and start a newsletter to keep each group informed of the activities of the others.

At the San Francisco conference, dubbed "Ten Days in August," NACHO was formed. During the four years of its existence it helped start local organizations in dozens of cities, held an annual summer conference, and wrote studies and position papers on issues of concern to gays and lesbians nationwide. The legal defense fund financed court cases to challenge anti-gay discrimination in immigration, liquor, and military policy. Still, some activists faulted the organization for having no real authority over its member organizations, run as more of a "United Nations" of gay groups than an actual union of them. Also, many lesbians felt their issues and needs were rarely addressed by the NACHO's male-dominated political structure.

At the 1967 NACHO conference in Washington, DC, the strains of uniting an extremely diverse movement continued to pose problems. Important homophile groups such as New York Mattachine and ONE in Los Angeles refused to attend for a variety of procedural and substantive squabbles. Particularly at issue was the question of "credentials," the right to vote and be considered an official organization at the conference. Some East Coast members wanted to be very strict about letting questionable organizations participate, out of fear of infiltration by extreme left-wing activists. Others, particularly from California, felt that any organization or individual who wished to participate should be welcome.

NACHO's 1968 conference in Chicago was particularly notable, given that it took place just weeks before the stormy protests outside that year's Democratic Convention in the same city. Even though Stonewall was more than a year away, the 1968 conference was noticeably militant, adopting as the NACHO slogan, "Gay is Good" and pronouncing a 5-point "Homosexual Bill of Rights." The new slogan (which elicited protests from more traditional NACHO affiliates) was consciously patterned after the black nationalist credo "Black is Beautiful" - a reflection of the increasing influence of civil rights activism on the homophile movement. Still, the organization was wracked by internal dissent, and many lesbians who had earlier been willing to put up with NACHO's male-oriented structure refused to participate after the 1968 conference.

By its last two conferences in 1969 and 1970, NACHO found itself increasingly overshadowed in a rapidly changing and expanding gay and lesbian movement. The momentum had clearly shifted to newer, more radical organizations such as the Gay Liberation Front and the Gay Activists Alliance. NACHO was never able to overcome its internal divisions and the fear of many of its member organizations that a strong national group would encroach upon their autonomy. Still, the history of NACHO can serve as a necessary corrective to the widespread notion that gay and lesbian groups before Stonewall were timid, desultory, and irrelevant.

LEATHER/FETISH

by Papa Joe

SWS Docks, Valentine's Day Underwear Party and Contest. Very interesting; you should have seen, ouivay. I should have some like that (at least once).

Saturday, the 22nd, Warren had his farewell party, also at SWS Docks. He is a young stud in uniforms, who tended bar there. Uniforms were the theme of his party and his was hot. Warren left for Pittsburgh where he accepted a new job. There were lots of hugs and tears as each said goodbye.

Warren sends his love and asked me to tell you, how hard it was for him to leave and that he will miss us. Also wanted to thank everyone for the show of affection and love.

New leather bar rumor: yes, but it is talk only. From what I have been told, it will stay that way. The person behind the idea has been promoting it for months. According to him and persons close to him, there is no plan or proposal, just talk. The people who've seen the facility admit the idea is appealing. It would be something new to offer the leather/fetish community. But, don't hold your breath.

Re: my comment about George and Ma. I understand some questioned if I was slamming them, NOT! We are long time friends, we in jest, have been known to viciously attack one another. BUT don't let that fool you, we are "sisters" to the nth degree. Besides, Mama always liked George best.

History of the Gay Leather Community.

For over 2 years, I have been putting an outline together of the L/F community's history. I had planned to use it piecemeal for this column. It doesn't seem to work that way. I don't seem to have the ability to condense chapters or sections to the space available and still be informative.

For instance, the first Club, The Silver Stars M.C. From the first meeting in the basement of the Buck Skin bar in that old hotel, to the meeting above the Wreck Room when I resigned, is just too interesting to be overlooked. I doubt if Si, Tom, I and the few others who sat in those first meetings could envision what was started that day.

A year later, The Chess Men, soon to change their name to The Argonauts of Milwaukee and now The Argonauts of Wisconsin came into being. Many changes were made for and by these and subsequent clubs/groups.

There also were several men who put their mark on our community. Probably, most notably, Si Smits, who with the exception of the Vipers, Argonauts and Unicorns, to the best of my recollection, directly or indirectly caused the start of every club in this State. This, in itself is quite a history.

Therefore, I will not print the history as planned, but hope to send my outline to all clubs and some of the old timers and ask for contributions, adjustments, input, etc. Then, it would be nice to make that history available to the entire Gay community, to be used as each sees fit. Maybe one of the mags will serialize it so you won't have to stand at the copy machine for hours.

Let's I forget, a belated Happy Birthday, Si. I just ran across a picture of him and me that goes back a few years. We are still as hot as ever?? (don't go there)

At the late January meeting, The Castaways elected the following officers: Jim B - President; Bob P - Vice Pres.;

George W - Road Capt.; Patrick P - Treasurer and Bob B - Secretary. Congrats, men.

From The Castaways M.C.

"At the February meeting of the Castaways, the members welcomed a new pledge and two former members who have applied for reinstatement to the club. Bob P reported on the Black Frost (Black Guard of Minneapolis) run that he and several members of the club attended. Friday started out with registration with three hunks serving food to guests and ended with a pool party at the motel.

The Atons hosted a hospitality room just down the hall; everyone had a great time and the room received the Pig Award. Go figure.

George, Dennis and Robert were right in there with the action. George was complaining his knees hurt the next day. Saturday began with brunch and eye openers. After that, folks went their separate ways (shopping).

The main cocktail party was hosted by the Atons of Minneapolis. The 120 plus people were bused to the Gay 90's for a fantastic dinner and show in the upstairs lounge. "Kate Smith" did two numbers and also an encore. (PJ note, guess who wrote this piece)

About 12:45 the pool side party began and the hospitality room re-opened.

Sunday, it was brunch and awards. Later the Castaways and Atons hosted a beer bust at the "Men's Room" in the Gay 90's complex, the proceeds of which were given to Bob J of the Main Club in Superior.

The plans for the Daddy/Boy contest are well underway. Flyers and posters are out, tickets will go on sale soon."

Thanks, my friend, for the report. I heard about those young studs doing canapes and the Atons "sty". Eilean and George on knees?? People will start talking. Next time, bring back a doggie bag with a stud for me.

BTW, the contest posters at the 1100 Club and SWS Docks are hot; who did the art work??

Included with the above message, was the Castaways activity calendar for the whole year. (You talk about planning, that new president, must be pushy)

Here's the list through May '97: Apr. 18-20, Kansas City Pioneers run; April, 25,26, Daddy/Boy contest in Milwaukee; May 1-3, The 1100 Club anniversary; May 16-18, Nimbus of Michigan run; May 22-26, International Mr. Leather Contest.

Some time in April The Firebirds will be marking the beginning of their third year as a club. I have not heard if they will doing a dinner party as they did last year. No mentioned of plans on their info line. They will be doing a club nite at the Boot Camp on Saturday, March 1st.

From The Oberons/ Tim,

"Please include the following notice in your "Calendar" section for the issue covering early March: Saturday, March 8th, 1100 Club (Milw):

Warren (center) & friends at his farewell

Oberons' Club Night, "No Matter the Weather, We're Marching in Leather"; $5 Beer Bust & Raffles. As always, the Oberons thank you for your support." Brief and to the point. Thanks, Tim, AND mark your calendar for June 19-20, the Oberons Anniversary Run Weekend.

For you folks in Minneapolis or traveling to same, listen up. From the Saloon Bar:

Starting March 9, The Saloon Bar is opening

and Sunday, April 20th, 4 to 9 PM, "Fundraiser for Community thrown by Mr. Northwoods '97 Colin Priestersbach". (I am not sure what this is, but it is as written.

BTW, thanks for all the good wishes you folks in MSP sent back with The Castaways, very kind of you. You clubs, groups, bars and other leather/fetish folks, Robert Uyvari, a nationally known gay artist with roots in Milwaukee, died of complication of AIDS in 1986. His diverse works are still sought after by collectors. BESTD Clinic is grateful to be recipient of this significant piece.

Cream City Chorus Spring Concert

Look for a continued theme toward history this spring, when the Cream City Chorus performs Faure's Requiem and a selection of other pieces commemorating the times of our lives as part of their ongoing 10th Anniversary Season. "To Every Season..." to be held Sat., April 5, will include a musical tribute to those who are no longer with us, and an uplifting second half as we move forward through what the life has to offer. Those who love grand performances won't want to miss this!

"To Every Season..." under the musical direction Chuck Ellingson and Kris Nedrow, will held at 8 pm at Cross Lutheran Church, an affirming church which welcomes gays and lesbians into their membership. Cross is located at 1821 N. 116th St.

Tickets for "To Every Season..." ($8 advance, $10 at door) are available at BESTD Clinic, AfterWords Bookstore, Mama Roux and through the chorus office - PO Box 1488, Milwaukee, WI 53201 or call 344-9222.

For the fun-hearted, look for the third annual The Gay Concert -- "The Gay Soiree" -- in June. It will climax the Chorus' 10th Anniversary celebration, and will feature camp, silliness, and a variety of entertaining music, as well as some special surprises.

Due to the closing of Club Cheeks, Katrina Kaye's USofA on Parade show on March 7 has been moved to Napalese Lounge

The other day I realized I was dating a guy.

No, my gender identification skills are intact. What I mean is I was given a first-hand look at what it means for a man to have a relationship with another man as opposed to a woman. It's amazing the differences are so subtle, yet make a great impact on the people involved.

My revelation was inspired by the announcement of my friend Jules getting engaged to her boyfriend, Montgomery. I was honored to be asked to stand up in her wedding party, but my main job is to play Wedding Consultant--let's face it: If it weren't for gay people, weddings would look more like a tailgate party.

As Jules and I were talking about her and Monty, I began to think about Jerald and myself. One of the things mentioned was the two of them decided to wait to move into together until they were engaged. Jerald and I never really officially moved in together: I just ended up there every night, and we decided to look for a place we could call 'ours' around the time I started doing my laundry there.

There were other things, too. Jules knew the exact date she met Monty, almost down to the minute. Monty knows it, too (Smart guy. Really smart guy!) and gave her a night on the town for their six month anniversary. I asked Jerald once if he knew when we met, and he was as clueless as me. Even driving in a car is different for different types of couples. Jules gets and decodes the directions; Monty drives and navigates through the traffic. Jerald and I almost went to couple's counseling after driving in unfamiliar surroundings while on vacation. It may not be specifically a guy thing, but I think it is. By the way, Jerald and I are much, much better traveling companions now. We bought a street map.

There are other little things, nuances of the differences between what she's got and what I've got. We've dated about the same number of guys, but where she has dated more guys, I've gotten involved with more of the guys I've dated. But then again, her serious relationships were more, well, serious than mine.

It brings us back to Jules' Wedding. I've always wondered about the whole deal on why it seems lie only in recent history have same-sexers pushed openly for marriage. It's easy to blame a government based on outdated puritanistic religious dogma, and I will, but we shouldn't overlook ourselves, either. We need to examine our culture along with some good introspection and ask what it is we really want in relationships. I've personally been in situations where I'm glad I didn't have to drag myself through the court systems to 'divorce' my other half. On the other hand, it would be nice to invite friends, family and Family to officially celebrate a marriage between my lover and myself.

When all is said and done, it doesn't matter who or what type of who you love, I suppose. It doesn't matter whether you have a big wedding and reception and get a lot of gifts, or you two choose a year lease instead of month-to-month. In the end, the only things that are important are the closeness, the friendship, and the love.

So here's to Jules and Monty, to Jerald and me. Even with all of the nuances, I wish us all joy.

Popular Records

a New York based independent label distributed by Critique/BMG sent Quest a couple of CD singles to review in time for this issue of Quest. Since we would like to encourage all record companies to send dance music for review and possible club play and because, hey, they're both good, we are reviewing them here.
(Next time include a few photos guys...)

Dolce & Gabbana: "Music"

By now most clubs have been charting this song by the fiercely popular fashion designer duo Domenico Dolce and Stefano Gabbana. I have personally been using the music video for several months and we have featured it on our top 10's recently as well. "Music" a former #1 Italian pop song features 5 mixes on this CD single produced by the best international DJ's and remixers in the business including Junior Vasquez.

"Music" was inspired by the 1970's era of music and specifically by the 1977 disco hit "Music" by Montreal Sound. Stefano explained he wanted to communicate with young people not only with their clothes but also through music.

This single is selling very well retail at the moment, so you should have no trouble finding your copy in the stores.

France Joli: "Touch"

Canadian singer France Joli is best known (and loved) for her smash disco hit "Come To Me" She is making her comeback with Canadian super producer Tony Green who produced her earlier hits as well. An album is currently in the works.

The CD single features several versions of the same song, but the radio version and extended club mix are really the best of the bunch. If you like high energy dance music, you will love this song. Pop enough to make it big on radio yet definitely dance music! Touch has already made it to #1 at Arena in New York, the club where Junior Vasquez spins.

Center Project & MAP on Verge of Merge!

A formal announcement expected as we go to press announced the merger of AIDS Resource Center of Wisconsin, Inc. located in Milwaukee and Center Project, Inc. with offices in Green Bay and Appleton.

Boards of both groups gave the green light. Quest has learned, and the April 1 merger is expected to result in better service to AIDS patients throughout Wisconsin, and will meet new state law funding requirements.

ARCW executive director Doug Nelson & Stan Kocos, Center Project's Director.

In the joint statement released Monday, March 3rd, the groups announced that after several months of negotiation their respective Board of Directors voted unanimously to merge the organizations. "Our merger with ARCW will increase AIDS services in Northeast Wisconsin and assure cost effective use of resources," said CPI Board President Harry Spiegelberg, a retired executive from Kimberly-Clark Corporation in Appleton. "It is the smartest move we could make to guarantee long-term high-quality services in our region." ARCW Board Chair Ed Hashek, an executive with Bank One Corporation in Milwaukee, called the merger "a perfect partnership that will strengthen both agencies enabling us to better serve the HIV/AIDS community in Wisconsin."

ARCW is the largest AIDS service organization in the Midwest. In 1996 it received the highest rating for cost effective use of funds in a national survey of AIDS service organizations conducted by POZ Magazine.

The Milwaukee AIDS Project, Northeastern Wisconsin AIDS Project, Southeast Wisconsin AIDS Project and Wisconsin AIDS Research Consortium are all service agencies of the AIDS Resource Center of Wisconsin.

Tammy Baldwin Issues Action Alert!

YOU are Needed at Wausau Mon., March 10

State Rep. Tammy Baldwin has called for your attendance at a public hearing on the first anti-gay legislation in Wisconsin in over a decade. The legislation would permanently deny marriage rights to gay and lesbian couples (even if Hawaii legalizes them).

Baldwin says the bill is on the "fast track" with a hearing set for Mon., March 10, at North Central Technical College in Wausau, 10:30-5:00.

She urges all to attend the public hearing and register in opposition to the bill, to testify at the hearing, provide moral support by simply observing the hearing and/or to submit written testimony to the committee.

The bill is (AB)104, authored by Rep. Lorraine Seratti.

"Town Hall" Meeting for '97 Possum Queen Campaign

A meeting will be held on Tuesday, March 11, 7 pm, at the M & M Club Banquet Room (Milw.) to begin planning for the '97 Possum Queen Campaign. It's purpose is to both look at Possum Queen Campaigns of the past and make plans for this year's event. A steering team will be formed at the meeting to insure the success of this annual fundraising event for AIDS victims.

Everyone attending will be given an opportunity to express concerns, ideas and opinions about past events, and to help shape the size & scope of the '97 campaign.

In 1991, the Possum Queen Campaign generated $800 in revenue for AIDS patients; in 1996, Possum Queen candidates raised $22,000.

"Now is the time to sing your praises and vent your criticism," states Max Barnett, coordinator for the past several years. "This will be an open forum for those members of the community who want to positively influence the future of the Possum Queen competition; therefore, I do hope that a lot of people will attend. The event has grown beyond anyone's expectations, and a steering team is needed to accommodate and adapt to that expansion."

"Of course," Barnett notes, "we want the 1997 campaign to be the best ever!"

New Wally Pate Art Show at BESTD Clinic!

The BESTD Gallery opens a new exhibit Fri., March 7, featuring the work of Wally Pate of Milwaukee. Wally describes himself as singer, dancer, song writer, arranger and artist. Each of these talents have enabled Pate throughout his life to touch the lives of others and take the etched memories of them and transcribe them artistically on canvas and on paper.

Through the years, Pate has lived in New York, San Francisco, Las Vegas and in Canada, sleeping on newspapers while looking for work on the street of New Orleans. He sang in the seediest of clubs, performing while strippers danced and drunks fought and died in the streets outside. Throughout the vast range of experiences, he sketched and drew the faces of the eager, the hungry, the desperate and the rejected.

This self-taught artist has never displayed his works in galleries or shows, but has sold pieces privately. His partner and friend of 43 years has assisted Pate by effectively displaying his work, cutting the glass, framing, backing and repairing. They are truly a team!

"The Art of Wally Pate: And When I Dream" runs through the end of May at BESTD Gallery, 1240 E. Brady St., Milwaukee. Gallery hours are Mon., Tues. & Wed. 10 am to 9 pm; Thurs. & Fri. 10-5. FMI (414) 272-2144.

BESTD Clinic Given Uyvari Painting!

An early Uyvari self portrait in oil was given to BESTD Clinic by the estates of Larry Colle and Glen Looker, formerly of Milwaukee, both died in Florida.

The gift was arranged by Florida friends Ed Shill and Floyd Woldt.

Although the Clinic was given the option of selling or auctioning the piece, it was decided to display it in the BESTD client reception area so that the Community could enjoy it. Special thanks to Mike Wavra of Grava Gallery who cleaned and restored the painting and its original frame.
