A Queer Geography: Journeys Toward a Sexual Self

by Frank Browning, Crown Publishers, Inc. New York City, 1996, $24.00.

Book Review by Jerry Wellens, Ph.D.

The author of the best selling The Culture of Desire journeys into the minds of gay men in America and around the world to discover how their lives--and their desires--are shaped by the time, place, and culture in which they live.

What makes up the gay identity? What part do upbringing, family tradition, and cultural "norms" play on the development of one's sense of self? In A Queer Geography, the author looks at the effect that geography--literally being in different places in the world--has on the definition of sexuality and sexual roles.

From the streets of Brooklyn to the waterfront of Naples, from a small town in Kentucky to the lusty side of Capitol Hill, Browning explores the gay psyche. Interweaving the personal stories of individual men with his own reflections of gay life in Italy, France, Brazil, and New Guinea, among other places, Browning argues that today's gay rights movement could have happened only in the United States. He discovers the roots of gay identity in a distinctly American experience, discussing such sure-to-be controversial subjects as how the Puritan compact led to the backroom bawdy house, how being "born again" is re-enacted as "coming out," and how gay men's search for their own identity profoundly echoes American's relentless quest for a national identity of its own.

The author suggests that gays and lesbians "come out" or are "born again" by defining themselves as distinct from the "straight world" as we see it within the geographical area we live. In other words, a gay identity would be somewhat different depending where we live.

The author also maintains that older gays are distinctly different than younger gays just coming out. Older gays see their gay identity as the core of their being because of all the pain it took to come out versus younger gays who see their gay identity as only a piece in a mosaic of who they are. In my judgement, this book gives gays and lesbians a valuable reframing of who we are in term of "gay identity." I would enthusiastically recommend that we all read this book.

PAST/OUT

BY DAVID BIANCO

May 15, 1897 (100 years ago): German gays and lesbians create the first gay political organization, The Scientific-Humanitarian Committee.

This year, the lesbian and gay rights movement marks its centenary with the 100th anniversary of the founding of the Scientific-Humanitarian Committee. The Scientific-Humanitarian Committee, which pushed for gay and lesbian rights in Germany and around the world during its 35-year existence, was founded in Berlin by the Jewish physician and researcher Magnus Hirschfeld, a leading scholar on sexual matters.

As implied by its name and its motto, "Justice Through Science," the Scientific-Humanitarian Committee believed that gays would convince the government to end discrimination and harassment by using scientific and medical evidence. The same approach is still used today, but Hirschfeld's science was somewhat different from that of Alfred Kinsey or Simon LeVay.

Hirschfeld believed that gays and lesbians were neither male nor female, but formed an "intermediate sex" that had physical and mental characteristics drawn from the other two sexes. He studied the bodies and minds of people who were attracted to the same sex and concluded that they formed a third sex, perhaps influenced by hormonal imbalances. Since to be an "intermediate type" was neither a matter of choice nor morality - and indeed was an expression of nature - all laws penalizing same-sex relations had to be stricken from the books.

The law Hirschfeld found most noxious was Paragraph 175 of the German penal code, which was adopted in 1871 when Germany unified. The law promised jail for any male who participates in "criminally indecent activities" with another male. The vast majority of the Scientific-Humanitarian Committee's political work was devoted to repealing Paragraph 175.

Unlike today, the German gay and lesbian pioneers did not hold marches or parades. They lobbied legislators, published journals and magazines, and counseled gays and lesbians dealing with issues of discrimination and coming out. But the focus of their work was on circulating a petition opposing Paragraph 175. The Scientific-Humanitarian Committee solicited the signatures of prominent politicians, artists, writers, scientists, and doctors to a statement that described the offending law as "contrary to progressive scientific knowledge."

The committee enjoyed tremendous success in securing the signatures of Germany's elite for the petition. Albert Einstein, Rainer Maria Rilke, Herman Hesse, Martin Buber, and Kathe Kollwitz all signed. The leader of Germany's prominent Social-Democratic Party spoke in front of the Reichstag in 1898, saying that the presence of gays "is so great and reaches so deeply into all social circles ... that if the police did what they were supposed to, the Prussian state would immediately be obliged to build two new penitentiaries just to handle the number of violations against Paragraph 175 committed within the confines of Berlin alone."

The Scientific-Humanitarian Committee, which was male-dominated but did include a number of lesbians, had a tenuous relationship with the German women's movement. Many of the women's groups at the time supported women's rights within traditional families, and saw homosexuality as a threat. Other German feminists, however, saw a link between women's rights and repeal of Paragraph 175, especially when in 1910 a government agency proposed extending the law for the first time to apply to sexual acts between women.

After 25 years of circulation, the signed petition of nearly 6,000 prominent Germans was presented to the Reichstag in 1922. Seven years later, a Reichstag committee narrowly approved repeal, and the Reichstag as a whole was expected to follow suit. However, the stock market crash and the Great Depression soon turned Germany's focus to other matters, and the law remained on the books.

But the Scientific-Humanitarian Committee found success in other fields of endeavor. It published dozens of informational pamphlets and articles and arranged for presentations before a variety of organizations, especially trade unions. Also, its members sponsored a film in 1919, Anders als die Andern, (Different from the Others), that was the first film to address gay subjects. Hirschfeld himself appeared in the film in a bit part. That same year, the Scientific-Humanitarian Committee moved its offices to the Institute for Sexual Science in a Berlin mansion purchased by Hirschfeld, where it offered legal services for men arrested for violating paragraph 175.

With the rise of Nazism, the Scientific-Humanitarian Committee faced its ultimate challenge. Several meetings were broken up by Nazi thugs in the 1920s, including a meeting in Vienna where a gunman opened fire, wounding several audience members. When the Nazis seized power in 1933, Hirschfeld and his research were one of the new regime's first targets. The Institute for Sexual Science was sacked, and much of the contents of its library publicly burned, along with a bust of Hirschfeld. The Scientific-Humanitarian Committee shut down, as did most non-Nazi organizations in the first year of Adolf Hitler's reign. From exile in France, Hirschfeld watched newsreel footage of the destruction of his life's work and remarked that it was like watching his own funeral. He died two years later.

Keep Your Eyes on Robert Nugent Jones! On Stage Sat. & Sun. at PrideFest!

PrideFest crowds are in for a special treat this Saturday and Sunday (June 7 & 8) as Robert Nugent Jones takes to the Rainbow Cafe Stage with his own all original music, as he says, "without censorship!"

Singer, songwriter, synthesist and entertainer, Jones started writing music at age fifteen, and will perform a half hour of his own creations at PrideFest Saturday at 7 pm, with a repeat performance Sunday afternoon at 4:00.

In a recent interview with Quest, Jones shared a preview look! "Indestructible Pride" is a song inspired by the Hotel Washington fire...a favorite of his mother and grandmother is "You Are My Fantasy"... "Pleasant Surprise" is about Jones' partner, Tom...infatuation is what "Simply Gorgeous" is about..."Go Away" deals with relationships..."Honor Diversity" about acceptance of others...gay pride is the theme of "We Are Everywhere"... "Safe Is Hot!" needs no explanation...and the list goes on!

Robert Nugent Jones, a tenor, says his original pop style is heavily influenced by Erasure, Madonna and Pet Shop Boys. "And, I use a wireless mic and boogie as I sing!" He classifies himself as an "out gay songwriter motivated to write and perform songs that promote tolerance and acceptance. I hope my music helps others to be more comfortable with themselves."

Quest asked Jones what he had to say about the "Ellen" phenomenon; we paraphrase his response: "very positive...about time...courageous on Ellen's part...very pleased ABC did that...very risky...pleased with the reaction." It all fits -- Robert Nugent Jones is all about the same message!

A student at State University of New York at Potsdam (he grew up near there), Jones finished his degree at Trans-American School of Broadcasting at Madison (now known as Madison Media Institute). He has already performed for thousands in venues as large as Shoelkopf Stadium in Ithaca, New York to as small as the Steep 'n Brew Cafe in Madison. Robert also performed last year at the Links Block Party and BESTD Clinic Benefit in Milwaukee.

He works full time for the State of Wisconsin while he patiently waits for his show biz career to click into high gear. "I had pink streaks in my hair plus earrings and a nose ring when I went for the interview and was hired. I think this says something about Wisconsin being a gay rights state."

Quest urges you to check out Robert Nugent Jones at PrideFest! Who knows, we're apt to see him on an "Ellen" episode next season!

More PrideFest News

A new edition for PrideFest this year will be boat tours of Milwaukee's lakefront provided by Schmeil Tours on Saturday and Sunday, June 7 & 8.

The boat tours would be ideal for children of all ages. There will also be evening cruises, including one for the fireworks (space limited). Reservations may be made at the Schmeil Boat Tours "booth" at PrideFest.

Twin Cities Pride Celebration is June 28! Bus Tour is Planned!

While a large delegation from northwest Wisconsin and Minnesota is expected at Milwaukee PrideFest, plans are also being made for a motorcoach tour to the Minnesota event at the end of June.

What's more fun than playing the old Abba Gold record Saturday morning while cleaning the house?
 Seeing BJORN AGAIN, pictured above, perform Abba live Sat., June 7, at PrideFest! Bjorn Again is one of the biggest retro 70's bands to be touring the U.S. They are going to bring the look, sound & feel of Abba to this year's festival. Performance is 9 pm.

Holy Union Set for Angels of Hope MCC Pastor Ken Hull and Partner Harry

"Reverend Ken and Harry are going to finally do it," says the latest issue of Angels' Voice, newsletter of the fast-growing MCC congregation!
 Saturday, June 28, 4 pm, at Angels of Hope MCC, 614 Forest St., Green Bay!

The union will be performed by Ken, Jr., an associate pastor of St. Luke MCC Church of Jacksonville, Fla., with Rev. Hull's daughter, Christina, Pastor of Madison Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) of Frankton, Ind. also participating.

"The church members and friends of the church are invited to come and celebrate with Ken and Harry," says the bulletin.

Angels of Hope MCC has worship services on Sundays at 11 am and 7 pm in Green Bay;
 Appleton worship (at 110 Locust St.) is at 5 pm.
YOU ARE WELCOME!

Members Eric and Allen are scheduled to "tie the knot" in July, as are Nelda and Larry.

A Literary Coffeehouse at PrideFest!

An exciting array of author appearances, poetry readings, writers' workshops and other literary programs will be found in the Afterwords/Wisconsin Light Literary Coffeehouse
 Sat. & Sun., June 7 & 8, at PrideFest '97!

The Afterwords/Wisconsin Light Literary Coffeehouse expands upon the extremely successful Afterwords Literature Tent at last year's PrideFest to include a beverage stand offering a wide selection of coffees, mochas, cold beverages and bakery items in addition to the scheduled literary events.

Festival goers are keeping fingers crossed that weather conditions for this year's PrideFest will be sunny skies and temperatures warm and pleasant, but, regardless of the weather, plenty of hot coffee can be found at the Afterwords/Wisconsin Light Coffeehouse.

Wisconsin native and best-selling author Jackie Calhoun will start things off Sat. at 1:00, reading from her latest (8th) novel, "Seasons of the Heart."

Afterwords also offers at 1:00 a particularly special program by popular lesbian columnist, Jorjet Harper. Following the workshop, she'll read from her latest collection of humor, "Tales From the Dyke Side."

organization). In short, people are noticing this new addition to the Wilson Hotel.

As Tony and I started talking more about his life, I found out much to my surprise that he has a strong interest in gymnastics.

TR: I used to be a gymnast, and I coached gymnastics for fifteen years. Now I'm kind of done with that, because you can only try to explain things to kids for so long before you decide to move onto something different!

JL: Did you compete in high school?

TR: I did All Around. I went to a private club for about three and a half, four years, and then I went to UW. I was a supervisor for the Gymnastics Club here. I started pretty late, so I just didn't feel like I should go on the team, although it would have been fun as you can well imagine.

JL: Actually, I can. Let's talk a little about the music styles of what's going on locally. How is the music where you're at different from other cities, like Chicago or Minneapolis? What makes the Madison sound unique?

TR: Well, I try to stay very contemporary as far as trying to get all of the current releases, plus all the imports, the stuff that people haven't heard yet, and I try to break it before it gets on the radio. My personal feeling is that we're ahead of a lot of clubs around here...I have friends on the Coasts, I have friends in South Beach, [they tell me] this is good and this is good. That helps me focus on what works and what doesn't work. Annually I go to the Winter Music Conference [in South Beach]. I met Christine W and Gina G. I met a lot of artists down there.

When I go there, I watch the crowds. I listen to what they play and after that, I bring a lot of that stuff back.

JL: What do you do that makes you different?

TR: I try not to be predictable. I think a lot of people get tired hearing the same stuff. Or, knowing what song is going to be played next. Generally what I do is before I go to work, I go to my collection and pick out maybe, three or four songs that are older, and I'll play them. Last Sunday night, I played "Obsession" by Animotion. I don't think anyone really expected that because I don't play it every night, every weekend. I probably haven't played it for four months, or something. That just adds to the mix. If you play everything from 1997 it can just get boring—if you play everything from 1988, it can get boring. But if you play a little bit of everything, it's a little bit more interesting. (Quickly adds) As long as, for me, it's dance music, which I categorize as pop, house, high energy. Basically, that's what I like the most. I don't play too much country...

JL: Good!

TR: (Laughs) ...although we are going to throw in a country night—once a month, the first Wednesday of every month. I don't know...the owner wants to do that. I'm like, "OK, fine—I'll see if I can find someone else to do it!" We're also having a Disco night the last Wednesday of every month, which will be so much fun...it's so funny: You listen to the old disco records and you swear you've heard it—because you have! For instance, The Bucketheads [song] "the Bomb", that's an old, old song from "Streetplayer." It's funny. What goes around, comes around.

JL: Are you going to be working any of the festivals this summer?

TR: Umm...well, I was thinking about doing the Milwaukee Pridefest, which is coming up in about a month...Then there's the Magic Picnic. Actually, I won't be at the picnic—I'll be deejaying at the club both nights. I'm going to be deejaying in the new Convention Center for the New Harvest Foundation. I think that's in November.

I've done weddings and parties. I do things for the Ten Percent Society; I do things for United Way—I've done things for [a number] of organizations locally.

The hour was growing late, so after double-checking on some facts and passing on some information from Za to Tony, I wished him a good week and replaced the handset back into the base. I can hardly wait until the next time I'm in the Madison so I can meet the person attached to the voice I just conversed with. I've been to Manœuvres on enough extended weekends, and next time I'll make sure to stop by the deejay booth and say hello.

3rd SHIFT HELP WANTED

LEATHER/FETISH

by Papa Joe

from Gus/Unicorns

First let me say that I turn to your column first after I pick-up each new issue of QUEST. I think it is important for Wisconsin's Levi/Leather community to be kept abreast of what's happening in Wausau, Milwaukee or even MAD town. As a recent arrival in Madison, I have pledged membership in the UNICORNS of Madison which is a social, educational and charitable outreach of the Madison Levi/Leather community. It is in this capacity that I am writing you. I hope you will consider the following two press releases for QUEST publication and perhaps mention in your column.

Speaking of your column, I spoke with John, the Unicorn pledge master, and he asked me to mention that we now have two new pledges.

What is the scoop on the Firebirds? I've heard that Jeff and Jeff are heading to the land of Dorothy"

Gus, you sure do know how to turn the old fart's head and because you are so sweet, your two releases are top of the list. But I have to edit them due to space.

Yes, Jeff Major has left and according to Firebirds Road Captian/ Randy S Jeff Minor will be leaving for Kansas City before long.

Regarding the outreach to more northern/western areas, I am not getting much response from those areas. I don't know if there is no one out there or they all go to the cities to party. Maybe someone will contact me and let me know.

In the mean time with PrideFest and all, there is just too much happening that has to be included in this issue. So I am sending the whole of your releases to the head office where they will try to find room for it. I am also sending you the E mail address of Wi. Light and InStep. Please copy them in - - HOWEVER, if you have some exclusive scoop, give it to me first.

Now for the highlights! GLSTN Scholarship

The Unicorns of Madison is pleased to announce that our May 3, 1997 "GLSTN FUN-RAISER" at Manoeuvres, 150 S. Blair St., Madison raise $376.00. The Unicorns donated an additional $124 making $500, the equivalent of one scholarship for the Gay, Lesbian & Straight Teachers Network - South Central Wisconsin (GLSTN-SCW).

Our members were busy receiving donations, selling tickets and entertaining the crowd with bondage demonstrations. One couple was clipped chest-to-chest. Another volunteer got "tied up in knots" as the subject of rope bondage. Most popular with the crowd was a totally chrome studded hood that members of the audience continuously came over to admire and touch.

Thanks to local community merchants, $265 worth of merchandise was raffled and to Ed Gruenwald and his staff at Manoeuvres and the MAD Bar, whose assistance was instrumental to the success and the crowd's enjoyment.

The GLSTN Scholarship Fund is designed to honor senior year students who have supported the mission of GLSTN by their actions throughout their high school years. A student does not have to be a GLSTN member to be eligible, nor does an applicant's sexual orientation need to be disclosed. Each year two $500 awards are presented, one to a female senior, and the other to a male senior. GLSTN-SCW can be reached at P.O. Box 259502, Madison, WI 53725-9502.

InQuest Run July 4-6, 1997

The Unicorns of Madison is holding a sky rock-eting run this July 4-6 weekend at St. Unicorn, a member's farm located 75 miles west of Madison. This year's run theme is "InQuest" or "What the inquisition could have been with a hot tub and a few very kinky heretics."

Entertainment is planned with a get-together social Friday evening, an entertainment extravaganza Saturday night and an awards brunch on Sunday. Catered meals will be served throughout the weekend with food and liquid refreshment available 24 hours.

This year's InQuest run promises all knights a chance to don their armor of choice and and go-off on their own quest or CRUISE-sade.

Due to space limitations all interested conquistadors should reserve their space at the castle now. Run cost is $80 and a $40 deposit will hold your reservation. However, after May 31 the ransom rises to $100 payable with your application. If thee seeketh admission, make haste and get thee an application from the court of The Unicorns of Madison at P.O. Box 536, Madison, WI 53701-0536.

from Richie/President, Unicorns of Madison (edited somewhat)

The other event on our plate right now is our InQuest Run held near Blue River July 4th weekend. It's beautiful camping area, that allows for privacy, with all the pleasures of a heated hot tub, showers, a dungeon, and mess hall. The InQuest will allow for up to 100 men from around the area to drink, eat and be horny.

Per usual, The Unicorns will provide security for the beer tent of the MAGIC picnic the weekend of July 19. It's a good time.

Our membership continues to increase. We look forward to initiating our current pledges, Jason and Don, into our brotherhood this July. cious hosts to us for the past 12 months. We look forward to another 12 months of frolicking and fun."

INTERVIEW WITH DJ Tony Ritschard

Photography by Darryl Strawser, Florida ©1997

The phone is a wonderful tool. Like most other Americans, I use this telecommunications wonder many times a day. I order food, do my banking, make and break appointments—even had sex with it on occasion. But this is the first time I've ever used it to interview someone for Quest. Even worse, I've never met my subject, not even in passing. As I dial the 608 area code, I check my notes one last time to make sure I don't make a fool of myself. Name: Tony Ritschard, a thirty-two year old graduate of psychology from UW-Madison. Main occupation: DeeJay, Manœuvres in Madison. As the line started ringing, I looked over my questions one last time. Let's face it: This interview could blow up in my face.

As it turns out, my fears, although they helped prepare me, were unfounded. The voice on the other end of my receiver was friendly, excited, energetic, and willing to give me the groundwork to help bring you this article.

Jess Littleman: How long have you deejayed at Manœuvres?

Tony Ritschards: I've been deejaying there since February of last year.

JL: Did you work anywhere before that?

TR: The NewBar.

JL: Well, it's kind of a jump from psychology to spinning records.

TR: Well...I went to school just because I should've been doing something that I really like to do. I liked school, but then I got into deejaying and it's become my livelihood now. I enjoy it.

JL: You must've started deejaying in college, then. Did you start out at parties, or the radio station?

TR: I was bartending, and that's how I got into the music. I was encouraged by some of the other deejays. They thought that I had a good ear for some of the music, they knew I knew how to dance, so they thought that I had some rhythm...

JL: What's deejaying like?

TR: (Thinks about it for a moment) Well, if you were here....I have a lot of records...maybe, 5000 [remixes of different songs] and quite a few CD's. I have most of them alphabetized, but it's finding the song you know you have, but you don't know exactly where it is. (Laughs) That's actually the most stressful part! I guess it's hard for me because when the Hotel (Washington) burned down, I lost nine hundred records. I'm jumping back from, "...OK, did that burn or do I still have it?"

I guess a lot of people were concerned about me losing my music—the nine hundred albums—when the hotel burned down. But [something like that] is not as important as the people that love you and your own health. I've almost died twice from rheumatoid arthritis...it's controlled, but there are some mornings when I don't feel like getting up at all. It can be really hard. But music really motivates me, keeps me happy and keeps my spirits up. There's more to life than material goods.

As far as the job itself, it changes from going to liking a lot of classic "poppy" songs and getting more into your own style. I have my own production called SLT Productions, which stands for "Sounds Like Tony", and that's just the stuff I like. Tony also talked for a while about another job he's taken—that of manager of a new gay-themed gift shoppe-slash-expresso bar called We are Family. The business is picking up as the weather improves, and you can find him there in his capacity of manager most of the time.

Tony has noticed the differences in clientele between Manœuvres and We are Family. The shop seems to attract a more diverse mix of patrons (read: not just 'Family').

Another focal point of the shop is the ever-changing front window display. He notes the window attracts a lot of attention, both good (straight men purchasing the "No One Knows I'm a Lesbian" t-shirts) and bad (complaints from a local religious

Other Unicorn news:

Nominations for office: Pres. - Richie; 1st VP - Sean; Jason, 2nd VP; John S. Sect; Jason, Treas. & John L. Wow, you guys sure know how to move. I want pictures of the totally chrome studded hood and of all things that you hot studs do. I keep telling you guys, send pictures, it fills up space. Besides, who wants to read when hot pictures are worth more than a thousand words? from Tim/Oberons

"Busy, busy, busy!! May 10 was our guest club night at South Water Street Docks, where Jerry reminded everyone what a watermelon is "really" for! The next Saturday, the 17th, about 25 people joined the Oberons for our first Chicago Bar Crawl, with stops at Cell Block and Touche. Our next club night is June 14 at 1100 Club.

And, of course, we're in the thick of things preparing for our 10th anniversary, Acorn X, June 19-22. There's still time to pick up applications at the 1100 Club. It's shaping up to be a great time with lots of hot men from out-of-town!"

>From Bob/Castaways

"Ma Barker, Tom R and I attended the 20th anniversary run of Nimbus at Douglas Dunes in Michigan on May 16-18. Approx. 117 leather men were in attendance. The Grand Rapids Rivermen are taking a sail boat across Lake Michigan to attend the Oberons run in June.

The FireBirds had a nice turn out for their 2nd anniversary dinner party, club night and after-hours party at the Hotel Wisconsin. Again, no pictures to show you, but you should have been there!

The June club night will be June 14 and The Firebirds will host an after hours party June 20, at the Acorn 10 run. This is for Run participants only (Randy S. thinks). If you want to attend, check with the Oberons.

There will be no Club nite in July for the Firebirds but from August thru December they will be back on schedule doing the 1st Saturday of each month.

A reminder for you bikers and biker buffs, The Great Lakes Harley Riders will have their annual reunion ride the weekend of June 13 -15. There is no number to call to get involved, but you can expect to find some of the riders to be gathered at The 1100 Club, M&M Club and SWS Docks on Friday. If the weather is decent, they will be on a ride and won't be back until Sunday sometime.

The local Drummer contest is on at SWS Docks. Warren called with the dates; for a June 21 warm up party and the Contest, July 26. Don't hold me to the dates I wrote them down and lost the note. Some reporter, I would make.

Warren tends bar at The Docks Thursday nights. You can pick up the needed stuff and information there.

PRIDEFEST June 6-8

If you haven't volunteered, why not? I'm not on a soap box; my point is, we as the Wisconsin Gay Community have been fortunate to be legitimized by all but the radical religious right, some redneckers and a number of politicians. We, our families and for the most part, Main Street Wisconsin, have said it is OK to be Gay. WE HAVE TO REINFORCE this by our participation and deeds.

from Queer Scout via a PR
(somewhat edited here)

"Leather Reception June 6 to benefit Milwaukee LGBT Community Center Membership Program & Library.

Mr. Wisconsin Fantasy aka Queer Scout and the 1100 Club will be hosting a Leather Reception - Friday, June 6, at 10:00 pm to kick-off the membership program and raise funds for the Library of the Milwaukee LGBT Community Center.

Volunteers will be there to sign people up to become members during the reception from 10pm to midnight. A complimentary beer/soda bust will be provided to those who sign up at the reception or may be purchased for $5.00. Community Center membership dues will be used to cover operating expenses while all other proceeds from the reception will be ear-marked for use in creating a library at the Center after it opens.

FMI contact 342-5115." end

And the next night, again at The 1100 Club, Saturday June 7, Onyx out of Chicago, a Club for Leathermen of Color, is holding a beer bust and after hours party.

This is one busy weekend and I hope to be up to it all.

Guys, I am way over my word limit but will take the time to say watch for CAMP M.U.D. August 8-10. A rubber fetish weekend in central WI.

Love you all. Papa
