Sexual Situation I Like the Least. Straight guys. Call me old-fashioned, but I like a man who is at least comfortable in that aspect of their lives. That also translates to first-timer gays. I like the idea of a somewhat even playing field.

Favorite Sexual Substitute. Aside a strong left wrist, my favorite stress-reducing activity would be driving a car, either long distance or in the country. I like driving through fog patches for some reason. Then again, maybe it's the road vibrations through a tight suspension!

And, last but not least, I'd like to send kudos to the gentleman who does a website named "Grumpy with the Feds." It's a simple homepage which features a new collection of twenty images of naked men every Monday or so from various sources. Instead of heading through multiple levels of spam (useless stuff) to get to one or two free images that suck. GWTF is fast and full of decent image—usually with a theme—plus, you can download all of them in a zip file. I don't know how long this site will remain up after this school year ends, but it's still worth checking out at <http://student-www.uchicago.edu/users/cmdavis/men.html>.

Well, this has been really, really good for me. I hope it was good for you. I'm stepping out to wash my hands and smoke a cigarette. See you soon.

Life Lessons from Melrose Place

(This is where I learned everything)

1. If your "significant other" leaves town for more than a week, sleep with whomever you want. After all, you can't be expected to wait around forever.
2. Never sleep with your boss or coworker. Just kidding. You should do both, often.
3. A good way to unwind after a hard day at the office is to build a fire, curl up with a good book, and rapidly drink seven large glasses of straight vodka.
4. Every once in a while, just go ahead and slap somebody in the face, really hard.
5. Pretend you're pregnant.
6. Feeling a little insecure? Buy a gun!
7. If marriage isn't working, consider a divorce. If divorce isn't convenient, fake your own death.
8. Don't walk too fast when feigning blindness.
9. Never base a relationship on lies and deceit. Just kidding! Dishonesty should be an integral part of any relationship.
10. When you leave someone to die of carbon monoxide poisoning, be sure to shut the door tightly on your way out.
11. Don't date drug dealers...unless they're really good-looking...or have a lot of money...or unless you can gain something from it in some way...or...oh hell, go ahead and date drug dealers.
12. Don't get too close to people in comas. Sometimes they wake up and try to choke you.
13. If you've got to fix your Harley, you might as well take off your shirt and do it by the pool.
14. Parents will be parents. Sometimes they'll nag. Sometimes they'll be judgmental. Sometimes they'll commit you to a miserable insane asylum where you'll be bound in a straightjacket and heavily sedated.
15. A good way to aggravate your sister is to tell her that Mom liked you best. Another good way is to sleep with her husband a bunch of times.

Jess Littleman

Ugh. There's no other word for this past month. June is only about a week old, and already it's been a ballbuster. I've been having problems sleeping lately, and as a result, pissing my boyfriend Jerrold off by ignoring all conventions of courtesy with him—breaking dates, showing up late, screwing around at work. Stress levels are at an all time high, with bills piling up and no good way to pay them, and the guilt that comes along with pushing personal and family commitments to the side. On top of all of this, Jerrold is out of town on business for the rest of the week, and I am in heat. Since I have given myself callouses and Carpal Tunnel Syndrome within the last twenty-four hours, I thought I might alleviate some of this frustration by writing about sex—specifically, me having sex. So, here it is...

TO ALL THE MEN I'VE HAD BEFORE

or, should I say, they once had me?

Don't get me wrong—I'm glad Jerrold and I are with each other. It's just, well, it's no coincidence that the words "hormone" and "horny" start with the same syllable. Sooooo, I'll just let my mind wander for a few minutes while I recall some moments of passion and pleasure. Let's start with an easy one (to remember, not the partner necessarily!):

The First Time With a Guy. OK, OK, I know I've already covered this one in a previous article, but hey! it was a lot of fun, all things considered, it was also the first time I ever spontaneously erupted while in a moving vehicle. Now that I think about it, I have to buy him a shot on Wednesday...oh, just dig out the issue of Quest from last year around this time and re-read it yourself!

The First Time I Was On Top. It was the Fourth of July. Rain may have canceled the festivities for everyone else, but I didn't miss the fireworks. It was about ninety degrees and ninety percent humidity, with all of heat heading straight to my groin. We were about the same age. I saw him selling tickets at the theatre, and immediately drowned in his crystal blue eyes, clear as ice, set in contrast to his dark Italian features. I later met him at the bar, and we went back to his place. I remember the wall full of maps, tributes to places he wished to go. The sex was great, hot and muggy like the weather. It was exciting for me to make another man "reach the heights" from that position.

The First Time I Was The Bottom. It was at a small afterbar party. The host had passed out on the couch, and the roommate and I were talking about...well, whatever, who cares? There was a moment where we both looked at each other...y'know, the look...and he invited me to stay over. He seemed way up there on the butch scale, and I was still real new to all of this, but I figured if I was going to be a gay man, I decided I should try out all aspects of it. In for a penny, in for a pound. He was patient, but not gentle (thank God!). "Bottom" Line: Yes it hurt, yes I liked it. For a while, this guy was my partner of choice. He was very, very good.

Favorite Location Sex. Dig, if you will, the picture, of two men, naked except for their shoes, sharing a moment of passion on the hood of a sports car driven into the bay. It's a warm spring night, and it begins to rain ever so gently in the glow of the Tower Drive Bridge. Way cool. (P.S. The "naked except for your shoes" thing, common in porn flicks? More difficult than it's really worth, in my opinion...)

Marathon Sex. Three and one-half days. We met on the job, did a late dinner, then did each other. We left bed for about a total of four hours, and even then just proceeded to fool around in other areas of the house. That was a fun eighty hours. The only bad news is that's exactly how long the relationship lasted. Because of this, he turned into...

Guy I've Unhealthily Obsessed Over the Most. What can I say? It was a case of wanting what I couldn't have. Didn't return my phone calls, wouldn't answer the door. It only took me two weeks of stalking before I got the hint. Glenn Close Rules!! Second place: Actor Brendan Fraser—I saw Encino Man hundreds of times. 'Nuff said'.

Sex I Didn't Think I Would Like, But Really Did. The ever popular Menage a trois I kid you not, the first time was immediately following a screening of the movie Threesome. I thought there would be a ton of pressure to perform, but at least for me, it took a performance anxiety away. I figured, hey! if I wouldn't do something, one of the other guys probably would! There was even a couple I thought of maintaining a relationship with, but that's another story...

PAST/OUT

BY DAVID BIANCO

June 7, 1977 (20 years ago this week): Dade County, Florida, repeals its gay-rights ordinance, setting off a string of other such repeals around the country.

What were the civil rights setbacks of the late 1970s?

The decade after Stonewall was a heady time for the American gay and lesbian civil rights movement. Gays and lesbians were more visible than at any previous time in American history, and laws that penalized private same-sex behavior were repealed in many jurisdictions. In addition, more than 40 municipalities passed laws protecting citizens from discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation. Although conservative forces opposed these changes from the start, the battle was not truly joined until 1977 and 1978, when a series of cities across the country voted on whether or not to keep such gay-rights laws on the books. The strategies used by both sides in these referendum campaigns helped set the boundaries and the tone for hundreds of future skirmishes over laws protecting gays and lesbians from discrimination.

The site of the first such popular vote on gay and lesbian rights was Dade County, Florida, whose non-discrimination ordinance drew the ire of orange juice spokesperson and former Miss America runner-up Anita Bryant. In January 1977, Bryant testified before the Dade County commission that a proposed gay-rights ordinance threatened "the rights of the overwhelming number of Dade County constituents." When her emotional testimony failed to sway the commission, she formed an organization, "Save Our Children," to begin collecting the 10,000 signatures necessary to force a referendum on the June ballot.

At first, many gays and lesbians did not take Bryant's campaign seriously. But when the 37-year-old singer's organization collected more than 6 times the number of signatures necessary, gays and lesbians in South Florida and around the nation began organizing for the June election. Led by Jack Campbell, who owned a nationwide chain of gay bathhouses, the Miami gay and lesbian community raised $350,000 in contributions from around the country. Hundreds of gay bars stopped serving orange juice, and dozens of volunteers flew to Miami to canvass neighborhoods and work the polls. An elaborate media strategy was developed, emphasizing broad themes of human rights and freedom.

But in the end, Bryant's message was more convincing: gays and lesbians were a threat to America's children, and any law that prevented employers from firing homosexuals increased the opportunities for a new generation of children to be recruited into the gay lifestyle. The expected opposition of traditionally liberal constituencies such as blacks, Jews, and working-class voters did not materialize, and the ordinance was repealed on June 7 by 202,319 to 83,319. Gays and lesbians in South Florida were devastated.

But the war had just begun. Bryant, thrust into the limelight by the Dade County battle, began a nationwide tour of cities which had passed gay-rights legislation. Organizations similar to "Save Our Children" formed in many municipalities to fight the gains of the gay and lesbian movement.

The spring of 1978 was a particularly difficult time for gay and lesbian rights. In April, St. Paul, Minnesota, the capital of a traditionally liberal state, repealed its gay rights law by a nearly two-thirds popular vote. The next month, Wichita repealed its gay-rights protections by almost five-to-one. Within weeks, gay rights were also repealed overwhelmingly in another liberal haven: Eugene, Oregon.

In each city, national forces on both sides sent money and personnel, but the defeat of gay-rights was ultimately based on a simple message to local voters: gay rights are bad for your children. For example, the anti-gay forces in Eugene included the following line in their literature: "Other areas adopting pro-homosexual legislation have observed an increase in V.D., public indecency, and boy prostitution. Vote YES to protect your family, job, and community."

The momentum against gay-rights laws finally hit a firewall in the fall of 1978 when two anti-gay measures were defeated on the West Coast: California's Briggs Initiative, and Seattle's Initiative 13. The Briggs Initiative outlawed gay and even pro-gay teachers from teaching in public schools, and Initiative 13 threatened to repeal Seattle's non-discrimination law. Each measure lost because of specific, local reasons, but the overall effect was to stall the movement against local gay-rights laws. In California, while early polls showed the Briggs Initiative with a comfortable lead, a concerted campaign by gays and straights throughout the state combined with a late endorsement of the "no" position by California's most prominent conservative, Ronald Reagan. In the case of Seattle, a strong emphasis on the value of the "right to privacy" for gays and straights alike worked in concert with the negative publicity for the initiative's backers when one of the police officers who initiated the measure killed a black youth while on duty.

The widespread publicity over these anti-gay initiatives caused the issue of non-discrimination to be the first public battle over homosexuality in the post-Stonewall era - which perhaps explains why "gay rights" and "non-discrimination laws" have become virtually synonymous in America's lexicon. Even though the two decades since Bryant's first battle have been wrought with controversy over AIDS funding, the military, marriage, and adoption, the assumption that gay equality means simply adding or keeping "sexual orientation" as a protected category along with "race," "sex," and "religion" has been quite resilient.

Art of Katt Yanda at BESTD Gallery

"Cutting a new path: the art of Katt Yanda" opens Mon., June 16 at BESTD Clinic and runs through Aug. 29.

The one person show will feature a variety of works reflecting the life-long career of Yanda, a long time Milwaukee resident, formerly of Appleton and Green Bay.

Yanda received her formal training at The Milwaukee Institute of Art and Design, primarily as a student of Harold Huber.

A full-time artist, Katt Yanda was philosophically inspired by poet Maya Angelou's words, "I looked up the road I was going and back the way I came, and since I wasn't satisfied, I decided to cut me a new path."

The gallery is located at 1240 E. Brady St., Milwaukee; gallery hours are Mon., Tues. & Wed. 10 am - 9 pm; Thurs. & Fridays 10-5.

Acorn X, June 19-22, the Oberons 10th anniversary. A four-day affair this year and I have heard the Church Lady and Ma are going at it again. That's probably just a rumor.

It's shaping up to be a great time, and with hosting the Mid-America Conference of Clubs, should see a lot of hot men from out-of-town!

You can still pick up applications at the 1100 Club, from any Oberon member or via e-mail at (tijones@execpc.com).

Unicorns of Madison - InQuest Run July 4-6, 1997 The Unicorns of Madison is having an outdoor run July 4-6 at St. Unicorn, a member's farm located 75 miles west of Madison. The run theme is "InQuest", "what the inquisition could have been with a hot tub and a few very kinky heretics." The now late fee for the weekend, which includes food and beverages 24 hours a day, entertainment etc. is $100.00. You can still get apps from the Unicorns at P.O. Box 536, Madison, WI 53701-0536. e mail (worknboy@rocketmail.com. ChromeRich@aol.com),

It's a beautiful camping area with privacy, with all the pleasures of a heated hot tub, showers, a dungeon, and mess hall. Knowing the guys of the Unicorns and the kinky people they hang around with, this is going to be a weekend "party" to remember.

I will be at a family reunion, so one of yous (that's for you, Al) guys get pictures and write it up for me. OK?? Tnks

Weekend of July 19, the MAGIC picnic. This is always a good time. As usual the Unicorns will be doing security for the picnic.

From: Russ/Argonauts

Just wanted to announce that the Argonauts will be hosting a club night at Brandy's II, in Green Bay, on Saturday, June 28. Will start at 9 p.m. There will be an auction at 11 p.m., with the proceeds to go to our Emergency Relief Fund. Items will be raffled off throughout the evening..

We will also present our colors to Brandy's II and officially designate same our home bar.

A special thanks to Sharon and Hope who held a very successful first annual cribbage tournament raising $235 for the Argonauts.

Everyone on our mailing list should have received applications for our joint run with the Castaways M.C., Aug. 15, 16, and 17, 1997. Those who have not and/or would like an application, Contact members of the Argonauts or Castaways, who can be found at Brandy's II, the 1100 Club and the Condo Assoc. Meetings also held at SWS Docks. Also U.S.P. or e-mail at (Argonauts 1@aol.com, Russcc@aol.com, hfk00A@prodigy.com)

The Firebirds will not be doing their 1st Sat of the month Club night at the Boot Camp in June and July.

They will instead do an after-hours party June 20 at the Hotel Wisconsin during the Oberon's Acorn 10 run. If you are interested in attending, check this out, for Randy thinks this is for run participants only.

Come August thru December they continue doing a Club night the 1st Saturday of each month.

The 1st annual Milwaukee Drummer Contest, Aug. 9, 9 pm, at SWS Docks. Dates have been firmed up. Warren R, who is running this years event is also doing a beer bust Saturday, July 12 as a warm-up. If anyone is interested, I would suggest you get your butt over to the Docks that night so you can get a feel as to what will be happening.

The winners go on to the Great Lakes Mr. Drummer '97 regional contest August 24 in Columbus, OH. From there on to the International Mr Drummer Contest held in San Francisco at the Folsom Street Fair, Sunday, Sept. 27.

A Kinky party, from ChromeRich/Madison-

Men of Rubber (MR) announce a weekend of mud, oil, and w/s plus rubbery fun and games on a private, 90-acre farmsite in central Wisconsin August 8-10.

To be called "CAMP M.U.D." (Men Under Duress), the event will feature structured and informal activities, with both solo and team competition. Why is the word roof in ""?? s'pain.

While on the subject of specialty parties that cater to many tastes, there are plenty happening. Every now and again one opens up to newcomers, but for the most part they are small, held in private space and not publicized and you need to know someone to get in. It isn't that there is a need to hide, it is that if you tried to meet or party in a bar-like setting, there are too many distractions.

In the recent past, national and international organizations have sprung up to fill the needs of these special interest. Magazines, newsletters, contact rosters and websites are there if you want to find them. You need to know that, with few exceptions, the participants can be gender and/or sexual preference specify or mixed. For the most part we are normal & nice people finding people who share and appreciate us for what we are.

Just to give you an idea, there are pervy, super heros, leather, rubber, latex, vinyl, bikers, mudders, muckers, bondage, S&M, boots, daddy, boys and the list goes on. The Bears are perhaps the largest network I can think of, unless you count the leather scene and all its diversity.

Later, dudes, saving room for pictures of you guys at PrideFest and related activities.

New Central Wis. Group 'in the Wind'

No doubt about it, there'll be discussion at the picnic about the need for a group living in this area who face rural isolation, etc. as a result of their sexual orientation."

The group, whose function will be determined by the participants, will "offer companionship, social support and possibly establish a political presence," according to their flyer.

Angels of Hope MCC Receives Award

At the recent GLD Conference, Angels of Hope MCC (with services every Sunday in Green Bay and Appleton) received outstanding recognition!

An award was received for having the largest percentage of pre-registered delegates for the conference, another for being the second fastest growing church in the district during 1996, and Pastor Ken Hull received a plaque as the Great Lakes District Clergy person of the year 1997!

Sunday services are held at 11 am & 7 pm in Green Bay (614 Forest St.) and at 5 pm in Appleton (110 Locust St.).

Pastor Ken also announced that The First Methodist Church of Gillette has given a two manual organ with full foot keyboard to be used for Appleton worship services. "We praise God and thank the First United Methodist Church of Gillette; it seems as if God just keeps blessing our church."

"A Boy Named Phyllis" Now in Paperback

Frank DeCaro's irreverent weekly column "Frank's Place" was one of the first openly gay columns to run in a major daily newspaper, New York's Newsday. Now, his hilarious wit and timeless wisdom are back, offering readers a doozy of a memoir about growing up gay in an old-fashioned Italian household, smack dab in the heart of New Jersey during that glamorous era that gave us bell bottoms, disco and David Cassidy.

"Humor mixed with touching honesty...makes A Boy Named Phyllis stand out," The San Francisco Chronicle critiqued.

Published by Penguin Books ($11.95), 'Phyllis' signals the arrival of a fresh voice -- a gay New Wave Erma Bombeck -- and broadens gay coming-of-age literature with a comic touch.

DeCaro is currently on a promotion tour (which included

Positive Voice Annual Picnic

Positive Voice, NE Wisconsin's Les/Bi/Gay support, education, social and outreach organization is hosting their annual summer picnic at Wilder Park, Green Bay (east side) on Sat., June 21, from 11:30 am - 5 pm.

A family event, PV will provide the entree, non-alcoholic beverages and 'the fixins.' Members and their guests are asked to bring a dish to pass.

Games, croquet and a raffle are on tap as part of the entertainment for kids and adults alike.

Wilder Park is located off Edgewood Dr. behind East Town Hall.

Directions from I-43: Exit Mason St. and proceed south to Edgewood (just a few blocks) and turn left (east) to the park.

FMI (414) 499-5533.

SEWAP Plans 7th Annual AIDS Benefit -Cruise on Geneva Lake

The annual fund-raising twilight cocktail cruise on Geneva Lake will again set sail from the Riviera Docks in downtown Lake Geneva on Sat., June 21.

The announcement was made by the Cruise Steering Committee of the Southeastern Wisconsin AIDS Project (SEWAP), the sponsoring agency serving Racine, Kenosha and Walworth Counties.

The cruise will be aboard the elegant paddle-wheel excursion boat, Lady of the Lake, a replica of the historic excursion boats that sailed Geneva Lake a century ago.

The 1996 event grossed over $20,000 to be used to support AIDS care and prevention services in SE Wisconsin. The three-hour excursion ($45 per person) is highlighted by entertainment, an array of hors d'oeuvres, an on-board auction and ample time to view the stately and historic mansions that surround the picturesque lake.

Again this year, the event will be preceded by a raffle with the winning tickets being drawn during the cruise.

Information on where to purchase both cruise and raffle tickets may be obtained from SEWAP by calling 1-800-924-6601 or (414) 657-6644.

Argonauts of Wis. Set Club Nite at Brandy's II!

The Argonauts of Wisconsin will hold a club night and auction on Sat., June 28, at Brandy's II in Green Bay, announced club president Steven L. Jones.

There will be a beer/soda bust 9-2 ($6) with auction beginning at 11:00. Raffle drawings will be held throughout the evening. All proceeds to benefit the club and its many projects.

Everyone is welcome to participate, Jones said; many auction items will be available for bidding.

Twin Cities Pride Parade to Have TV 9's Robyne Robinson as Color Commentator

The Sunday, June 29, Minneapolis/St. Paul 1997 Twin Cities Pride Parade will have the voice of Robyne Robinson (TV 9 - KMSP) as color commentator.

The parade route is changed for the first time in a long time - will start at Loring Park and work its way down Hennepin Ave. to Nicollet Island.

Robyne will be introducing Pride Parade units and giving a brief description of each unit in the color commentary.

People or organizations interested in marching in Pride Parade or general info should contact the Pride Line (612) 362-3680 or 1-800-PRIDE-YA or TTY (612) 362-3690.

Central Wisconsin Group Plans Summer Potluck Picnic

Their flyer says - "Good for You, You're Gay" - as they announced a central Wisconsin Lesbian, Bisexual & Gay summer potluck picnic for Sat., June 21, 1 p.m.

The event will be staged at Standing Rocks County Park, which is east of Plover in Portage Co. and is "designed" to serve Portage, Wood, Marathon, Waupaca, Waushara and Adams, etc.
