This is the Summer of Love!

Dance Music. Canada. Dance Music.
Canada. Dance Music. Canada.

Hmmm. Nope, no matter how many times you say it, the two just don't seem to go together.

At least that's what I thought, until the release of the single "You're a Superstar." It's the first single released off Love Inc.'s self titled debut album, and featured on the gay-friendly compilation album Logic Pride Vol. Two. You know you've heard the song—Green Bay radio's Kiss FM has been giving it a fair share of playtime, and video sources MuchMusic, MTV—even Za's has shown the video. I got a chance to interview founding member Chris Sheppard over the phone when he was at a Gay Pride festival in Long Island, NY where the group headlined recently. There was a loud din coming from the twenty-thousand-plus crowd, but I was still able to hear the distinctive accent in his voice (and, if I may be unprofessional for a moment, it was incredibly sexy!).

Started a year and a half ago, Love Inc. is composed of diva singer Simone Denny and spinologist / producer Chris Sheppard. Sheppard has an incredible resume featuring highlights such as compilation albums; radio deejay; rave promoter; remixer of songs by New Order, Skinny Puppy, & Jesus Jones; and member of ambient electronica group BKS. Sheppard heard a tape of Denny's work at BMG Records and knew he had to meet "that voice." "I knew from that moment I wanted to work with her," Sheppard says. The two became fast friends, and eventually collaborators in Love, Inc.

Their music has been described as "...pure dance pop music that will most definitely be embraced..." and "...Euro-splashed dance-pop rhythms..." But it's more fun to hear Sheppard explain his philosophy of inventing new sounds for the music: "I spend a lot of time trying to create quirky sounds, and I take these frequencies and bring them into a pop music context. I guess you could say that we create pop music with very sharp edges." Denny brings her own message of enthusiasm to the music as well. "The album has a very positive vibe," she says, "I sing the words 'Every Other Night You've Got Your Name In Lights / You're A Superstar.'

The message seems to be getting through. Love, Inc. has already grabbed a platinum album, took home MuchMusic's Best Video of the Year award, and nods from JUNO, the Canadian version of the Grammys. Stateside it debuted last May on Dance Music Authority's (DMA) Club chart above both Mariah Carey's "I Still Believe (Remix)" and TLC's "No Scrubs."

Still not convinced? Don't take my word (or theirs!) for it. You can see them for yourself when they visit Green Bay. Love, Inc. is performing at Kiss FM's (WKSZ 95.9) KISS Fiesta Loca, being held Thursday, August 5th, at The Daily Planet, Downtown Washington Street. Call the radio station for further details. Or, pick up a copy of either Broken Bones or Logic Pride Volume Two. Both are available from Logic Records <http://www.logicrecords.com> or by shopping online www.getmusic.com.

In the meantime, enjoy the Summer of Love!

Jess Littleman, a regular contributor to Quest Magazine, can be reached by email address jess\_littleman@hotmail.com. He'd also like to thank Jimmy Smith, his Media Contact at Logic Records, for all of his assistance and hard work.

August, 1953 (46 years ago this month): The Los Angeles postmaster seizes all copies of ONE, a gay magazine, on the grounds that the content is obscene.

What was the Supreme Court's first pro-gay ruling?

Romer v. Evans, the 1996 Supreme Court decision that found Colorado's anti-gay Amendment 2 unconstitutional, was not the first time the high court ruled in favor of gay people. In January 1958, the court delivered its first pro-gay ruling in ONE, Inc. v. Oleson, a landmark decision that allowed lesbian and gay publications to be sent through the mail.

ONE, Inc., a homophile educational organization, was founded in Los Angeles in 1952 by about a dozen members (mostly men, with one woman) of the Mattachine Society. The group intended to publish a monthly magazine, also called ONE, instead of just participating in the Mattachine's discussion groups. The name was chosen from a quote by 19th-century British essayist Thomas Carlyle: "A mystical bond of brotherhood makes all men one."

One of the magazine's early editors, Martin Block, recalled that, for the premier issue, "We thought if we had to, we would write articles ourselves. We called our friends and asked them to contribute." The underlying message of the magazine, Block said, was that people could be proud to be gay. "That in itself was radical," Block noted. "At that time, [being] gay ... was thought to be a disease."

ONE appeared in January 1953 with the Carlyle quote on the first page. It featured articles on the Mattachine Society and several personal essays. The longest essay, "To Be Accused Is to Be Guilty," was by Dale Jennings, one of the magazine's founders. Jennings described his entrapment in a Los Angeles park by a plainclothes policeman in 1952 and his subsequent trial and acquittal. "The only true pervert in the court room," he quipped, "was the arresting officer."

From the beginning, the founders insisted on a professional look for the magazine. Even though they were paying the initial publication costs themselves, they opted to typeset and print ONE instead of mimeographing it (which is how many underground organizations reproduced their publications). ONE distinguished itself with bold graphics, eye-catching artwork and, eventually, paid advertising (one of the first ads was for men's pajamas).

To distribute the new magazine, the staff visited newsstands that carried physique magazines (which attracted gay buyers) and asked them to also carry ONE. They found a pool of eager subscribers in the membership of the Mattachine Society, and, within a few months, ONE was selling 2,000 copies a month. Its readership, of course, was much higher because many people would pass their copies along to friends after reading them.

Besides drawing gay readers, however, ONE also caught the attention of law enforcement officials. At the height of the McCarthy witch-hunts, FBI agents in Los Angeles began collecting copies of the magazine in hopes of finding obscene or communist content. In July 1953, the FBI initiated a full-scale investigation, sending copies of the magazine every month to the national headquarters in Washington. FBI agents even wrote letters to the employers of ONE's editors, advising them that their employees were "deviants" and "security risks." Despite these underhanded tactics, none of the ONE staffers lost their day jobs, and the FBI never succeeded in shutting the magazine down.

Postal authorities, however, were nearly able to close the magazine several times. The first time was in August 1953, when the Los Angeles postmaster seized all copies of ONE on the grounds that its content was obscene. But U.S. Post Office officials in Washington decided that ONE did not violate federal law. The following year, a Republican senator from Wisconsin, Alexander Wiley, renewed the attack on ONE, writing to the Postmaster General to protest "the use of the United States mails to transmit a so-called 'magazine' devoted to the advancement of sexual perversion." Wiley's letter led to a second effort by the Post Office to keep ONE out of the hands of its subscribers.

In October 1954, postal officials once again seized the magazine and charged the editors with sending obscene material through the mail, a violation of the 1873 Comstock Act. The Post Office cited a poem, "Lord Samuel and Lord Montague," and a short story, "Sappho Remembered," as "obscene, lewd, lascivious, and filthy" (obviously thinking one adjective wasn't enough). The poem offended, officials claimed, because it suggested that homosexuality was common among British lords. The short story was "lustful" because it depicted a woman who left her fiancé for another woman.

ONE's editors hired a heterosexual defense attorney, who argued in federal district court that ONE was educational and strove simply "to create understanding of an extremely knotty social problem." But the judge ruled for the Post Office, contending that the magazine was intended not to educate but to "stimulate the lust of the homosexual reader." On appeal, a second judge concurred, dismissing ONE as "cheap pornography."

Determined, ONE took its case all the way to the Supreme Court. On January 13, 1958, the Court delivered an astonishing unanimous pro-gay decision, overturning the rulings of the two lower courts and limiting the power of the Comstock Act. As a result, lesbian and gay publications could be mailed without legal repercussions, though many continued to experience harassment from the Post Office and U.S. Customs.

Over the years, ONE, Inc. expanded its focus beyond the magazine, publishing books and pamphlets and offering classes. Though ONE magazine folded in 1967, ONE Institute for Homophile Studies continued the educational mission of the group's founders.

Gay Essentials, a collection of David Bianco's Past Out history columns, is forthcoming from Alyson Publications this October. He can be reached at DaveBianco@aol.com. For more Past Out, visit www.planetout.com.

G/L Community Center & Community Trust Fund Grants $1,000 & Names Board Members

At the recent G/L Community Center and Trust Fund annual meeting, board members and officers were elected, and $1,000 in grants approved. Elected to two-year board terms were Philip Amador, Ron Marks and Si Smits.

Grants were approved for six organizations: SAGE/Milwaukee, Gay Peoples Union library/archives and phone line, The Counseling Center of Milwaukee, The Youth Group of Milwaukee, The Queer Television program and the Metropolitan Community Church of Milwaukee.

Other organizations and programs, including ARCW and BESTD Clinic, will be receiving funds upon completion of the Possum Queen campaign.

An annual fundraising dinner and auction will be held this fall.

FMI, write the organization at PO Box 1686, Milwaukee, WI 53201 or phone (414)643-1652.

Mr. International Rubber 2000 Contest is Announced - Chicago, Sat., Nov. 13

The Mr. International Rubber 2000 Contest will be held on Sat., Nov. 13, 8:30 pm, at Chicago's Cell Block, 3702 N. Halsted St. The winner of this contest will receive $1,000 in cash as well as other prizes.

Contestants must be at least 21 years old, and, while they do not need a sponsor to enter, clubs and businesses who cater to the rubber fetish community are encouraged to select contestants to represent them.

The contest is part of the Rubber Blowout Weekend '99 at the Cell Block, which includes cocktail parties, the annual Rubber Buddies' Brunch, Rubber swap, the contest and Rubber Ball Beer Bust. The entire weekend package is $35; tickets to individual events are also available.

FMI, weekend registration, contest applications or vendor space, you may write Mr. Int'l Rubber, Inc., PO Box 577515, Chicago, IL 60657-7515 or contact David Boyer or Patti Brown at the Cell Block (773) 665-8064. You may also want to check the Cell Block website at www.cell-block-chicago.com.

Chicago 2006 Committee Formed to Bring Gay Games to Chicago!

The City of Chicago is endorsing and working with the efforts of Chicago 2006, a new non-profit organization researching to bid on bringing the Gay Games to Chicago in the year 2006. The Gay Games are the world's largest athletic endeavor, and take place every four years. The 2002 Games are in Sydney, Australia, and already more than 14,000 athletes and 100,000 spectators are expected.

A Board of Directors is being created for Chicago 2006, and board members will be elected during a community kick-off party and meeting on Thursday, Sept. 16, at Ann Sather's Restaurant, 929 W. Belmont Ave., Chicago. The free event will include hors d'oeuvres and a cash bar from 5:30-6:45 pm, with the meeting starting at 6:45.

The Sept. 16 kick-off is being sponsored by Ann Sather's, the Chicago Area Gay & Lesbian Chamber of Commerce, Steamworks, Outlines/Nightlines newspaper and Gay Chicago magazine.

More than three dozen community organizations, businesses and individuals have endorsed the concept of bringing the Gay Games to Chicago. They were held in Amsterdam in 1998; last held in North America in 1994.

Career and Job Choices - LGBT

by Patti Jorgensen One Voice Counseling Services

So far, the articles I've contributed to Quest have been focused on mental health issues that are faced by gay, lesbian, bisexual, and transgendered people. You are possibly wondering why I'm writing about career and job choices? What does this topic have to do with mental health?

Those of you who have worked in a less-than-satisfying job understand how quickly this can become a mental health issue. The average person who works full time spends at least eight hours a day at work, eight hours sleeping, and the rest of the time doing everything else - time with friends, watching tv, household chores, etc. In other words, one half of the time that we're awake we spend at work. This is a lot of time to spend in a work situation that's bad or even horrible. The results of working in a bad job situation can include high levels of stress or anxiety, frustration and depression.

Let's be realistic - perhaps the "ideal" job doesn't exist. By nature of being employed, there will always be parts to a job that are tolerated better than others. But it certainly isn't necessary to hate every minute - it probably isn't even necessary to dislike most of your job. It certainly is possible to like your job, even come away from a work day feeling good about yourself and what you've just spent the day doing.

Up until a couple of years ago, I had the misconception that choosing a job or career was a game of chance, largely dependent on being in the right place at the right time. Don't get me wrong - a lot of people make career and job choices that way and have found satisfying jobs. However, considering the amount of time spent at work, it seems risky to leave a decision this important up to chance.

So what are the alternatives? How can a person make a sound choice that will ultimately lead to a fulfilling job or career? The first step is to take some time to consider what sort of person you are and what things are important to you. Studies have shown that people are happiest in jobs that match their personality traits and values. For example, if you know that you are a person who likes to be alone, you probably wouldn't be happy working in a retail setting where you're around people for the entire day. Maybe you're creative, or maybe you work well with numbers - these traits can give you valuable clues about what you might be good at and what types of jobs you would enjoy.

Other things to consider early in the job seeking process are your values. What things are important to you? Do you see yourself working at something that benefits others? Is your number one goal to make lots of money? Do you want to be able to be open about your sexual orientation or gender identity with your coworkers? Would you like to have weekends off? All of these considerations will help narrow down the field of possible job options and will save you the risk of getting a job that you won't be well-suited for.

Depending on how elaborate you want to get as you do your personal exploration, there are personality tests available that assess your personality traits and list out careers that would be a good match for you. Many counselors or career centers have these available. The Myers-Briggs Personality Inventory is one example of such a test.

Another step that will make your job search much easier is an up-to-date resume. A resume gives a quick overview to a prospective employer showing your education, job experience, career goals, volunteer work, etc. If you need help putting a resume together (or with any other aspect of job search) there are career centers in most counties (now called Workforce Development Centers) that will help you (and it's FREE!). They also have resources for finding jobs through the internet or job postings that are available for public use.

You don't need to stay in a job that is causing you anxiety or frustration. With a little bit of work on your part, you will be able to find a job or career that is satisfying and better for your mental health!

Final Miss Gay WI Prelims Announced Miss Gay WI USofA Set for Oct. 2 & 3

There are three dates left for Miss Gay WI USofA preliminary pageants - Tues., Aug. 24 (Miss Gay Cosmo Pageant, at Club 219, Milwaukee) and Sat., Sept. 11 (Miss N.E. WI at Za's, Green Bay).

The Miss Cream City Pageant has not been dated yet; tentatively, it will be held at LaCage, Milwaukee.

All qualifying contestants for Miss Gay WI USofA 2000 (winners and first alternates of previously held prelims) should call Kelli Jo Klein (920) 490-0725 a.s.a.p. to review final details. "Thanks in advance for your cooperation," says Kelli Jo.

The Miss Gay WI USofA 2000 Pageant will be held Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 2 & 3. Interview will be Sat. afternoon (approx. 5 p.m.) with a preliminary-to-pagenat show at 9:30, both at Za's in Green Bay. The pageant will conclude Sun., Oct. 3, at the Regency Suites Hotel and Conference Center in Green Bay.

Tickets for the prelim show are $5; tickets in advance for finals night are $18, $20 at the door. This is a reduction from last year's ticket price, with the hope of filling the event to capacity at these special reduced prices.

This year's event is expected to be professionally video taped by the same Louisville, Ky group which tapes most USA state pageants.

LEATHER/FETISH

by Papa Joe

PrideFest - - The Leather segment of the parade is coming together well and should make quite a showing. From what my sources tell me, there is to be several floats as well as quite a number of people involved to make this section stand out.

Talked with a couple of the Great Lakes Harley Riders Presidents who said they will be riding with them this year. After being our front last year, it was agreed they would feel more a part of it, if they could ride with, instead of out front.

They have invited other M.C. groups and friends to ride with. If you or your group want to join them, just show up at the staging area. If, however, you want your own group to ride as a group, see Rick F, the parade director for an application and you can join the party.

The Argonauts and Castaways again this year are staffing the beer tent, the one on the right of the Miller Stage area. A good place to park your buns, munch a brat, sip your Miller and listen to the music while waiting for hot leather folks to gather and mingle.

The whole weekend will be fun - well, one exception, the weirdoes at the gate and along the parade route who speak for God and Jesus.

Saw a T-shirt the other day, "Thank you, Jesus, for protecting me from some of your followers"

Argonauts of Wisconsin have a new web page - - pretty snazzy, too. Check it out at <http://www.angelfire.com/sys/toolbar.html>

BEWARE! A Scam - - At last count, I have learned of five persons have been hit up by the old scam of "I am stranded at an airport and have no money and I am begging you to send me some." It is an old scam, but it still works. Why? I am not sure.

All the persons being used have their names in the public eye. All of the marks or hits also have a higher than average profile - - and this is important - - a phone #. This could be a bar, business, church or a person.

To my knowledge, Papa Joe has been used twice for this scam. Once, as I mentioned a couple of issues ago, and just recently, calling the Boot Camp collect. Huck answered the phone, and knowing my voice well, knew it wasn't me. Unaware of the scam, he played along for a while trying to find out what was going on. It wasn't long and the person made the second mistake by asking for the owner. At that time, Huck knew whoever was on the other end not only wasn't me, but didn't know me, Si or a damn thing about us.

If you are a mover and shaker, you have an increased chance of getting hit up. If you know of someone who is apt to be a target, warn them.

If you are called, take the time to talk with the person on the other end of the line. Pretend you've just awakened, maybe ask stupid questions like who did you say this is, how did you get my phone #?, where are you at, what is your phone #?, what did you say your name was?? "How do I know you?" is a question that may set your best friend back, but will go a long way to verify who they claim to be or prove who they aren't.

Do your best to make sure you are helping out a close friend, not a junky. In a heartbeat, without asking any questions, I have picked up a bleeding buddy at 3 am in a not too savory NW side, but 200 - 400 bucks - lots of questions.

Would put out that much for someone you know about, might have met casually, or even bedded without making sure?

You can lessen your chances of being a target by not publishing your home phone number - - ANYWHERE - - especially on the net, even in those mass mailed announcements and newsletters that clubs and groups do so frequently.

This just in from Robert Davolt, Drummer International. I have left out paragraphs but I haven't change a word -

"CHICAGO MAN ARRESTED FOR SEXUAL BATTERY OF SF DRUMMER BOY" by Mark Norby

Chris Dover, winner of the 1999 San Francisco Drummer Boy contest, was released from St. Francis Medical Center Tuesday, July 27, after sustaining serious injuries including nearly 150 lashes with a bull whip, being repeatedly boot-kicked and beaten on the testicles with a mallet, and suffering possible HIV infection after the suspect, Duncan "D.J." McKenzie, allegedly ejaculated several times on the victim's open, bleeding wounds, and also into his anus. -end quote.

According to the rest of the story, the suspect, went back to Chicago and one reaction was livid about him not being jailed.

Make sure this doesn't happen to you - - watch out for this type of weirdo and when you find one, tell the world - - how about branding on the cheek? You know, sorta like The Phantom used to mark the bad guy with his skull ring. Yeah - That'll learn em.

Multi-State Phone Scam Targets Wisconsin Gay Community

Since late June an ongoing telephone scam has defrauded about two thousand dollars from LGBT supportive individuals and organizations in Wisconsin and Minnesota.

At least two different men have been making collect calls to people who are co-workers or acquaintances of a number of highly visible members of Wisconsin's Gay community. The callers claim to be the community member and claim to have been robbed, mugged or had their car towed resulting in the loss of all their personal possessions. The scammers then request money be wired to them for plane tickets, towing fees, etc.

The con men have been using the automated collect calling services such as 1-800-CALL ATT or 1-800-COLLECT. They usually call at odd hours of the day and on weekends. People who refuse to accept charges are repeatedly called until they relent, which apparently adds credibility to the phony emergency.

The names of four well-known Gay men have confirmed to date. These include Patrick Price and Papa Joe Mallien of Milwaukee and Mike Fitzpatrick and Jeff Jennings of Green Bay.

Price name was used on June 23, the day after he was the subject of statewide news coverage as the first Wisconsin man to receive the experimental AIDS preventative vaccine. Mallien and Fitzpatrick, columnists for Quest and Wisconsin Light were the next to be impersonated. The con men were using multiple Mr. Gay Wisconsin titleholder Jeff Jennings name as late as July 26.

The scammers have attempted to obtain funds from LGBT community members, business owners and others supportive of the Gay community in Milwaukee, Minneapolis, Kenosha, Madison, Green Bay, DePere, Sturgeon Bay and other cities. Amounts which have been sent to the con men have ranged from $200 - 500 and were picked up at wire service offices in Wisconsin and California.

Because the scam involves individuals in multiple states, people with information about the schemers or who have been victimized either by wiring money or by the use of their name should contact the nearest local office of the FBI.

PrideFest Parade Grand Marshals Announced

The PrideFest Council proudly announces the selection of the 1999 Grand Marshals for this year's Pride parade on Sunday, August 8.

They are PFLAG (Parents and Friends of Lesbians and Gays) Elna Hickson and Brigitte Vojcsik.

Together, they have authored the healing of hundreds of families after a family member has come out. They've held hands, listened to and counseled parents, helped take away false guilt and shame ....reinforced the fact that being gay and lesbian is not a choice, a but a reality of their children's essence. And they have helped to create a loving, healthy environment that nurtures acceptance and growth.

Elna has continually worked on behalf of LGBT people, serving as president of the Milwaukee Public Schools Gay/Lesbian Advisory Committee, having been involved since 1995. She's currently serving as a Youth and Education Advocate for PFLAG Milwaukee.

Guernsey Softball Tournament

They braved the heat to play ball and raise money for the Guernsey fund which benefits ARCW Green Bay. The month long contest to see who becomes the next Guernsey Queen concludes this month at Buddies on Saturday, August 7.

which is just north of the WI/IL border. Can't miss it, it's the house with the mouse on the top.

Joe G, who came up with the idea, has done a fine job pulling things together. The official host will be WI Mr. Leather, Andrew, and most of the clubs and groups in the leather fetish community will be a part of it.

There will be a beer and soda bust, raffles, demonstrations, games and, of course, nature walks in the woods of this seven or so acres. Also available will be grilled foods and the full services of the bar.

Here is a line from the e message Joe sent me - - quote "Entertainment: horseshoes, volleyball, and ping-pong available. Stripper "Boy in Boots" Romeo will perform on stage. Possible Demos to include Bondage and boot black? Photo sessions for calendar?" end quote Regarding the photo session for the calendar - - If you want to be a candidate for the 2000 Leather Fetish calendar and feel you can represent a segment of our community well, bring all your props and give it a shot. If you are not trying out, bring your props and fun things anyway, who knows what opportunity will present its fun head?

Yours truly, moi, has been asked to line up some folks to assist with grill and tapper chores and at the door. If you are going to be there and can help out for an hour or so, just let me know. I will see you at the Argonaut and Castaway PrideFest beer tent where I will have a sign up sheet.

Expect this party to continue well after it is officially over - - and not to worry - - arrangements are being made for very reduced rates (really cheap) at the motel across the road.

I owe a bit of an explanation relating to the last paragraph of my last column. It was not to piss off Scott. Recently, I saw a personal that went something like this - - Two Harley Bikers (Daddy and boy type), seeking a weekend boy for servicing bikes, leather, boots and, of course, us. Other chores will include standard household duties. The new boy must be a natural boy, eager and willing to learn.

After wishing we could boast of a boy like that, I picked up on the word "natural". It sunk in. These two guys had to be real, no bull shit, basic types. No stand and model who needed to be dressed in the polished, studded leather, proper uniform with all the right piercings to feel comfortable about the impression they make in all the right places. .

Sure enough, they weren't.

They were two hot men from the SW USA, both over 6 foot tall, dusty heavy duty boots and well worn leather with Testosterone oozing from every pore (I like that line). One a definite caring top and the other a natural adoring bottom who just couldn't get enough of his Dad using him any way he wanted. Yes, I mean any way he wanted. It came natural to both of them. They were easy-going, fun-loving, don't-give-a-shit bikers who were at ease wherever they were.

Next. I remembered, Carl and Brian - - Natural - - all the way. Brian would come home from work, bring his collar to and kneel so his master, Carl, could lock it in place - - From there, he disappeared into the kitchen preparing the evening meal which would be served at the same time every day -- OR ELSE

He was happiest when serving Carl or laying at his feet. The master was very content scratching behind the ear or petting his "pet" while reading the paper or conversing with others. Still, another couple, the top would regularly whip and paddle his bottom. Neither would change their roles in life nor think of changing partners.

Later, I remembered a letter The Great Lakes Harley Riders (for which I use to write a newsletter) received from a person calling himself a "master" and looking to ride behind a Harley Man. Part of the letter said he trained for a few years as a bottom and now, after more training, is a top. In a picture he sat on the trunk of his car, the vanity plate said MASTER, dressed in a studded harness, tailored chaps and a leather jacket and still looking.

This person left me out in left field. I had no idea where he was going with his letter. He did not come off natural. Yet, there are some who are novices and inexperienced, who are natural.

The above examples pop into mind when I try to say to me there is a very natural quality to persons who are in their element and know it. It doesn't matter if it is a "heavy duty" or just a "we like to screw in gear" type relationship, you can always tell if it is natural.

Does it matter if others think these types are unnatural and unholy? Not in my book. Does it matter if the relationship is loving and nurturing -- YOU DAMN RIGHT it does, if for no other reason, than it is good for them.

I'm out of here, see you at PrideFest
