Cookie Recipes By Marti

Cinnamon Sugar Butter Cookies

Sugar and spice and everything nice, that's what transsexuals are made of! Hmmmm, it occurs to me that there just aren't many mainstream sayings, songs, or lore about transgenderists. So, I just fill in the blanks to suit myself, but some obvious bad ones are, but what am I? Jack and Jill went up the hill and Jack asked Jill for a makeover, a transsexual Mr. Ed or wearing mood rings while taking estrogen.

Love & hope, Marti

Cinnamon Sugar Butter Cookies

- |                                |   |  |
|--------------------------------|---|--|
| Topping                 | 3 tblsp. granulated sugar1 tblsp ground cinnamon  | • Preheat oven to 300 degrees F                                    |
| Ingredients for Cookies | 2 1/2 cups all purpose flour1/2 tsp baking soda1/4 tsp salt1 cup (packed) brown sugar1/2 cup granulated sugar2 sticks (1 cup) butter - softened to room temp2 lg. eggs2 tsp vanilla extract | • In a small bowl, combine sugar & cinnamon for topping. Set aside |

Directions

- In a medium bowl, combine flour, soda & salt. Mix well with a wire whisk and set aside
- In a large bowl, blend sugars with an electric mixer (medium speed). Add the butter and mix to form a grainy paste. Scrape side of bowl, then add eggs and vanilla. Mix at medium speed until light and fluffy
- Add the flour mixture and blend at low speed until combined. Do not overmix. Shape dough into 1" to 2" balls and roll each ball in cinnamon-sugar topping
- Place onto ungreased cookie sheets, 2 inches apart. Bake 18-20 min. Immediately transfer cookies with a spatula to a cool, flat surface

THE HISTORY OF THE LESBIAN LAND MOVEMENT

November 1982 (17 years ago this month): A Woman's Place, a lesbian land community and retreat in upstate New York, announces its closing.

In 1993, near the town of Overt, Miss., lesbian life partners Wanda and Brenda Henson founded Camp Sister Spirit, a feminist retreat and educational center, on a 120-acre pig farm. Camp Sister Spirit soon made national headlines when the Hensons began to experience harassment and receive death threats from the neighboring community. The chance of serious physical violence became so great that Attorney General Janet Reno finally sent federal mediators into the area. But the news reports rarely noted that the Hensons' center was part of a peaceful feminist tradition that goes back 20 years before the founding of Camp Sister Spirit to the early 1970s and the beginnings of the lesbian land movement.

The roots of lesbian land communities were in the countercultural "back to the land movement" of the 1960s. Some pioneers of the lesbian land movement had originally belonged to mixed-gender communes and had been partnered with men. When they came out as lesbians, their interests turned to establishing safe, collectively owned communities for women and children to live free of male domination and violence. These separatist communities were designed to provide an affirming, alternative living arrangement in which women could strengthen themselves physically and emotionally and get in touch with their creativity and spirituality.

Some of the earliest lesbian land communities were in southern Oregon, where land was forest-covered, abundant, and cheap. At WomanShare, founded in 1974 near Grants Pass, three women formed "a home and family of lesbians," purchasing 23 acres on which the only useful structures were a broken-down cabin and a chicken coop. A neighbor taught them carpentry, and the following year the collective members constructed their first cabin, made of recycled wood and costing only $350. Over the next few years, they opened their land to lesbian campers and took in apprentices who learned to build more cabins.

Life at communities like WomanShare was filled with hard work and isolation. Billie Miracle, one pioneer, remembered that in the early winters there was "so much rain, so many days with no new faces." At Rootworks, founded at Sunny Valley, Ore., in 1978, Jean and Ruth Mountaingrove had to edit and typeset their feminist magazine, WomanSpirit, in a nearby town because of a lack of electricity. As late as the 1980s, some of the communities still had out-houses.

Throughout the 1970s, separatist communities began springing up across the country. Outdoor women's events like the Michigan Womyn's Music Festival began in mid-decade and fueled many lesbians' desire to live in women-only communities. As one festival-goer and future commune member saw it, the music festivals were "the first time many of us saw how powerful and rich an all-women environment could be."

Upstate New York was another common site for lesbian land communities. In 1974, A Woman's Place was founded in the Adirondacks on the site of an abandoned camp, Moose Mountain Lodge, which had been a popular retreat for heterosexual families in the 1950s.

"Our original dream was a woman's utopia," Buckwheat Turner, one of the founders, later wrote. The women took out an ad in Ms. and in lesbian newspapers and were soon welcoming campers to their retreat. But in November 1982, AWP folded, a victim of the same problems that had plagued other land communities.

These problems went beyond grueling work and loneliness. Consensus decision-making was time-consuming and exhausting, yet all decisions regarding the community had to be reached by full agreement of the members. And conflicts were common. Should the community allow male children? How about transsexuals? Should the group practice strict vegetarianism?

Power and money also figured prominently. Though the ideal was to share power by rotating jobs and making all decisions jointly, women who lived on the land the longest wielded more power and influence. Newcomers often left after only a short time, saying they felt shut out and powerless. Members rarely had their own money. "We each had two to five dollars a week 'allowance,'" Joyce Cheney recalled of her years at Redbird, a land community in Vermont from 1976 to 1979. "We all shared one car and one truck." A member of Cabbage Lane in southern Oregon noted that, in her community, "it was politically incorrect to have greater needs than others."

Although lesbianism was a common bond at land communities, living in a tightly knit group of women-loving women could have a downside. Monogamy equaled "possession," but non-monogamy in a limited circle of women could and did lead to jealousy and arguments. At Redbird, one member ran away the first year, charging the collective with emotional abuse. Race and class issues, too, plagued the communities, whose members tended to be white and college-educated. One Latina lesbian who helped start a women-of-color community in California wryly observed that most of the other lesbian land communities were "retreats for white women who have fled the middle class."

Some lesbian land communities were able to deal with their problems, and several remain in existence today, though not with all their original members. New communities, like Camp Sister Spirit and Spiral Wimmen's Land Trust in Kentucky, continue to crop up. Lesbian Natural Resources, a nonprofit group founded in 1991, helps keep the land movement going by awarding grant money to those who start new communities or try to revitalize older ones.

Sensual Men will reveal the more erotic and seductive nature of Palmer's works as well as some of the timeless classics found over the years in the AIDS Benefit Calendar that have made him a respected favorite world-wide. Some of his newer works explore his more intimate fantasies and sensual dreams. "Some of the images may feel like an enormous departure to some of the longtime fans of my work," says Palmer, "but I have always experienced and photographed the passion and excitement of the male nude body. This first book includes a few of the edgier, more exciting images that keep me picking up the camera." It will make a perfect holiday gift for the "Sensual Men" in your life!

Foundation Laid for PrideFest 2000

The PrideFest Council spent a full weekend recently scrutinizing the 1999 festival, and laid the foundation for the 2000 event. Every aspect of the '99 festival was critiqued with the intent of making PrideFest 2000 thee festival to remember. Incorporating the ideas from people who contacted PrideFest directly and the council members, this year's visitors will feel the difference as soon as they enter the gates.

Among anticipated improvements is a youth activity area more visible than previously (near the front gate), better sound and seating for the Stonewall stage, a comedy stage, more diverse food menus, moving the Sunday Ecumenical Service to a larger area and adding vendor spaces on the north end of the grounds to alleviate crowding in the Market Place.

PrideFest 2000 will be held June 9-10-11 at Milwaukee's Henry W. Maier Festival Park.

People with ideas/suggestions are asked to contact PrideFest at PO Box 511763, Milwaukee, WI 53203 or 3-mail pridemilw@aol.com, or by faxing to (414) 647-8697.

Wisconsin Cream City Chorus Holiday Concert "Fall into Winter," Sun., Dec. 12

Diversity is back this holiday with the "Fall into Winter" concert, a look at the season's many reasons for song. Imagine December 12...the days are growing shorter, Christmas is growing nearer, and the Wisconsin Cream City Chorus will be thrilling you with a choral look at everything from Autumntime through Halloween and the Winter Solstice, right up to Jolly Ol' Saint Nick himself.

Under the direction of Kristi Uttis, the chorus will bring you its usual unusual assortment of traditional holiday tunes, inspirational pieces and humorous takes on this, the snow-filled time of the year. "Fall into Winter" will be presented on Sunday, Dec. 12, 3 pm, at Plymouth Church, 2717 E. Hampshire, Milwaukee.

Tickets are $8 in advance, $10 at the door, and are available at The M&M Club, AfterWords Book Store, chorus members and the Chorus office. Call (414) 276-8787 or write the Wisconsin Cream City Chorus, 170 So. 2nd St., Milwaukee, WI 53204 for tickets or more information.

The Wisconsin Cream City Chorus is a non-profit choral organization dedicated to the positive promotion of gays and lesbians throughout the community through quality performances and community activities.

New Milwaukee Restaurant One of Many at Jolly Holly Folly - Tuesday, Nov. 30

This year's Jolly Holly Folly fundraiser for the AIDS Resource Center of Wisconsin will feature savory entrees from over twenty of Milwaukee's best restaurants; the Nov. 30 event will include the Milwaukee Repertory Theatre's production of "Noises Off."

One of the newest entries to Milwaukee's vibrant Mexican restaurant scene, Cempazuchi Comida Brava, will bring the flavor of authentic Oaxacan food to this year's event. Oaxacan food was born in southern Mexico and found its way to Milwaukee's Brady Street with the help of Cempazuchi's co-owners and founders, Sal Sanchez and Bryce Clark.

The event will be staged at the Milwaukee Center Arboretum and Gallery and the Quadracci Powerhouse Theatre.

The evening begins at 5:30 p.m. with hors d'oeuvres and open bar by Miller Brewing, SKYY Vodka and the Market Basket, followed by the production of "Noises Off" at 7:30 pm.

FMI (414) 225-1577.

New Year's Eve Pink Party (Madison) Tickets are Now Available

OutReach's New Year's Eve celebration and benefit - The Pink Party - will be staged at the Madison Civic Center, 211 State St.

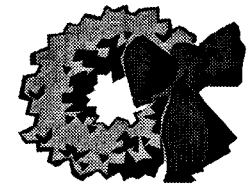

Last year, more than 1,200 attended; this year's millenium event is expected to draw an even larger crowd.

Acclaimed Chicago cabaret singer and pianist Michael McAssey will entertain with Linda Lenzke, a Madison comedienne.

At the countdown party, which begins at 10:30 p.m., DJ Tony Ritschard will spin the hottest dance music until 4 a.m.

Tickets are available at the OutReach office, A Room of One's Own, Home Environment, Community Pharmacy, Border's Bookstore East (& West), all of Madison; Bongo Video, Atwood and Williamson; and at Milwaukee's Designing Men and AfterWords Bookstore.

Tickets ($12) may also be ordered by phone (608) 255-8582.

WORLD AIDS DAY EVE

At the Weidner Center, Green Bay

On Tuesday, November 30th, the Entertainers Against AIDS will present a variety show at Green Bay's Weidner Center for the Performing Arts to honor those affected by HIV and AIDS. Falling on the eve of World AIDS Day, the entertainers are anticipating lots of media attention to raise awareness about AIDS-related issues. Overwhelming community support has allowed the EAA group to present this program free of charge to the public. The event runs from 7:30-9:30pm with a half hour snack 'n bev reception to follow in the lobby of the Weidner Center.

LEATHER/FETISH

by Papa Joe

Happy Thanksgiving, whether going home to family or having them and friends over, do enjoy. This a good time to give thanks for the good things we've experienced, forgive ourselves for dumb things we've done and proceed as if today is the first day of the rest of our lives. It is and so will be tomorrow. What we do matters.

Argonauts Daddy/Daddy's Boy 2000 - The Argonauts had a meeting the other day to discuss plans for the 2000 Daddy/Daddy's Boy contests. Although EVERYTHING is very tentative, we are shooting for an April 29 contest in Green Bay. We will be talking with the owners of Napalese Lounge this week about having the weekend events there.

We are considering a Saturday evening beer bust, both contests Saturday night and an after-hours party. The auction to benefit our Club charities fund is planned for Sunday. We are lining up the emcee and judges. More details as they develop and/or are confirmed.

On going through Dec. 5: Argonauts Holiday Food Drive for ARCW. Collecting non-perishable food items in all Green Bay and Appleton bars.

Nov. 30: Argonauts supporting Entertainers Against AIDS at their World AIDS Day eve performance at the Weidner Center. Showtime is 7:30 p.m. Admission is free. Several Club members will be performing in the show. The Club will also be assisting with greeting and seating attendees.

Dec. 4: Argonauts Holiday club night at Buddies in Green Bay. 9:00 p.m., raffles, prizes, beer bust, entertainment.

AND NEW: Dec. 11, a "mini-club-night" at Brandy's II in Green Bay, 9:00 p.m. Raffles, Al K dee-jaying.

January 15: WINTERQUEST 26 at Za's in Green Bay. Festivities start at 3:00 p.m. with a wine & cheese reception and entertainment. Banquet & installation of new club officers at 6:00 p.m. Applications available soon. Cost: $45. ($50 after Jan. 8). We are planning a few surprises that should make this year's WinterQuest a load of fun.

Michael/Argonauts

Thank you, Michael, for the info. It is refreshing to see so much happening in Green Bay and how many Argonauts (current and former) are in the center of the activity, if not out front. AND I should mention, have been out in front for many years. Example, Center Project, Inc., started by Thom and Mike of The Argonauts maybe 15 years ago. The first money donated to assist PWAs, was a check from the Argonauts and the next year it was bigger check and then still another. Within a couple of years The Argonauts managed to raise thousands of dollars for the cause and now have gotten to the point of needing a separate corporation for the purpose.

The Argonauts are to be commended for their leadership role not only with their charities in Northeast Wisconsin, but for their efforts within the Leather Community far beyond the borders of our state.

Castaways M.C./ Milwaukee - Due to the holiday season push, the usual 1st Sunday of the month afternoon beer bust will not happen on December 5. With the exception of the members Christmas dinner gathering, there are no activities planned until January.

To follow up on an earlier report about the Widow Blanch who has been painting the town with a studly young man, Tom from Detroit - - WELL, he is back and she is grinning ear to ear with the F.F. look about her. They again carried on like trash and now she's about to take a long weekend in Detroit. If you know anyone there, warn them.

Mr & Ms Olympus Minnesota Leather Contest, Dec. 10 -12th Friday night meet and greet @ the Mpls. Eagle 7-10 pm.

Saturday, Leather and Artisan market @ Saloon 3-8 PM. Sunday MN. Olympus Leather 2000 contest @ Saloon 6-9 PM.

Leather Swap Meet/ Jan 22, 2K, Woody's, S. 2nd St. at Lapham, Milwaukee

What is a Swap Meet? Here again, the origins of swap meets relates to bikers. It was a get-to-gether for the purpose of buying, selling or swapping bike parts or gear you didn't need for something you couldn't find or didn't want to pay new prices for.

Things have changed, today's meets are major productions bringing in many slick retail vendors and dealers, but you still can find used bike parts being sold or swapped by real bikers. The largest in this area happens at McCormick Place/Chicago and one of the smallest is in Jefferson, WI.

This Leather Swap Meet came about when some of the local Great Lakes Harley Riders were looking for an excuse to gather in the winter. No one expected it to be so popular, but because it was, it is now in its fourth year.

As in the past, other groups are invited to co-host the event. This year's co-hosts are Mr. Wisconsin Leather Man (the contest) and Men In Boots Club International; both will have information about their groups available.

More details in December.
