DavidE's Dish... Have you missed me children? I recently returned from a fabulous trip to the Magic Kingdom. That's right honeys Mickey, Minnie, and the whole Disney gang were swishin' it up for Gay Days at Disney. This dancing queen is telling you right now, make plans to be there for Gay Days 2001. This is one event every gay, lesbian, bi, and trans should not miss. The parties were huge, the weather was beautiful and the eye candy was amazing. It didn't matter whether you were a party girl like me or a Martha Stewart homebody, there was something for everyone. Check out www.gaydays.com for photos and more. I'd tell you about the pool parties but this is a family magazine, and DavidE don't kiss and tell... (psst, email me for details)

Sweetie I jumped off that plane from Orlando and bolted to the lakefront for an excellent PrideFest 2000 weekend. Wow, does the party ever stop for DJ DavidE.? I think not! You could not have asked for a better weekend. On the music tip, the dance tent was rocking and the diversity of DJ's was awesome. People were kickin' up their heels (literally) like crazy. I hope everyone had a chance to shake their groove thangs. It's awesome to see so many people gathered together, relaxed and having a good time. Big thanks to La Cage for sponsoring the dance tent - I had a blast spinning there. If you want to continue the Tour of Pride Celebrations, check out Chicago Pride June 24 & 25.

You want dance music? DJ DaveE. will give you dance music. Check out these great CD's if you want to expand your club music library. "White Party Anniversary Edition" mixed by David Knapp - this CD is packed with great vocal anthems. If you like your diva music pick this one up, child! "Party of a Lifetime" mixed by DJ Abel - this disc is a dance floor pounding tribal sensation. Tribal music is less vocal oriented, harder on the bass, and no one does it better than Abel. And finally if you want a massive circuit CD, pick up "The Circuit Party, Vol. 4" - this 2 CD set is mixed by Peter Rauhofer and contains so many huge dance hits it's sickening. Try any one of these CD's and you'll be one step closer to realizing your true club queen potential.

I'm outta here sweet ums - questions, comments, phone #s, and bitchy back-talk can be directed to djavee@gayborhood.com. Don't miss me spinning at the Club Boom Underwear Party July 1st. It's gonna be naughty...

New CD Release

John Blair Party: NYC's Best DJ's
Volume 3, featuring DJ Monty Q
12 Tracks, Copyright 2000, Logic Records (BMG)
www.logicrecords.com

If you're looking for a good club dance disc, anything with the John Blair label will have you driving your car at about 95 mph...in town. I reviewed one of the earlier volumes, and am happy to say the current volume also did not disappoint. I listened to it the first time while working late at the office, and there were a number of times I jumped up and started dancing (to the chagrin of the boss!).

If you've been out clubbing in the last month or two, you've heard a number of the tracks already. I've heard the ATB "Killer 2000" track on occasion (a Seal/Adamski song George Michael remade a few years back), and I just reviewed "Lookin' 4 Love" by Italian divette Lucrezia. Two personal standout songs for me: Bed & Bondage's "Don't Take the Mick" and "Motion Blur" from Stingray. I was reeled in from the first track's hook sample "Helloooooo!!!" and continued enjoying the CD, even after hearing it three times in a row in one night. That says a lot about the quality of the deejay, Monty Q. The mix progresses through the tracks, keeping the dance energy up thru the entire disc.

I guess what I like about this comp is that it doesn't have the same nine tracks or mixes on it you seem to get when you purchase mix CD's in any given time frame. DJ Monty Q stepped up to the plate and sent one over the fence, and Blair should be happy to see his current volume keep up to the standards of the first two. You may not be familiar with all of the tracks, but this latest installment of The John Blair Party is worth a listen to add to your collection. ---Jess Littleman, Arts & Entertainment Editor

Tell Trinity!

Quote du Jour:
That which doesn't kill you, will set you free.
Unknown

etc. And yes I also think that before making a major life change one should take a break. Get away and clear your thoughts. But, my darling, The bible is not, definitely not, clear on homosexuality and does not mention transsexuality anywhere. If you send me a copy of the passage that mentions "transsexuality" I'll march down the center of my home town with a zucchini sticking out of every orifice in my body while singing "Proud Mary Keeps On Turning." Yours, Trinity

Recently, I got a letter which said, Dear Trinity, I have a 27 year old son who happens to be gay. And I love him very much. He [now] want's to have a sex change operation. This is something I am having an awful time dealing with. I feel you'd understand this situation somewhat better than me. Yours truly, Son Troubles

I asked you, my readers to help me answer this question and this is what you said. At the end of each letter I will give my thoughts on your answers.

Dear Trinity, Transsexuality is not something that should not be discussed in a free publication. There are special magazines that deal with these social outcasts. I'm sorry for this man and his troubles but Trinity, if you're going to have an advise column then print things that are socially conscious not sexually deviant. Concerned Citizen

Dear Concerned Citizen, Social outcasts! Sexual deviants! Well I never! Let me remind you my darling about the Native American tribes where transgendered people (Two Spirits and Brave Hearts) were revered as the highest of spiritual teachers. These transvested men and woman kept the culture and rituals alive, raised the children, took care of the men during battles, and often acted as the diplomats between warring tribes. So next time you want to stop free speech and free expression then go to a book burning ceremony rather than to Tell Trinity. In love not fear, Trinity

Hello Son Troubles, I'm a transgendered entertainer in my early twenties. My family still has difficulty with my lifestyle and my father and I do not speak. Anyone who has interest in changing their sex has to come to that decision on their own. Parents should love and support their children in anything they do when trying to develop themselves as HAPPY human beings. One can only decide what path to take in life by ones self. But having support from loved ones lights the way when it is dark. --Unsigned

Hello Unsigned, Love and support especially from parents is pinnacle in life. In every situation. It does light the way in the darkness. Unfortunately, supporting one's child when the child is going against everything the parent is taught is unbelievably hard for a parent. But isn't life a lesson in unconditional love. --Love you, Trinity

Dear Son Troubles, In the end, as a parent you must love your son and stand by him no matter what. So get support for him and yourself through these tough times. PFLAG: Parents and Friends of Lesbians and Gays is in every major city. They have not only focused on outreach to TS people and to their families for some time now, they also have excellent materials which are available through the internet. Just type in "parents and friends of lesbians and gays" and that will bring you to all the info. Call them for support. Good luck, Concerned Parent.

Dear Concerned Parent, This is excellent advise. PFLAG is a great organization. Moreover, love your son until it alters your entire perception of everything you know. We must allow our children (as best we can) to expand our understanding of what is right not use our children to prove ourselves right. --Love concurs all, Trinity

Dear Son Troubles I'm a Christian who empathizes with your problem. If it was my son I'd put him into therapy and take him away from his environment. Furthermore, the bible's condemnation of homosexuality and cross-dressing remains unmistakable. The Bible is clear. All sex outside of heterosexual marriage is a sin. However, those who acknowledge their sin will find forgiveness through Jesus Christ., Sincerely, Empathize

Dear Empathize, I always give thanks for the plethora of cultural diversity that lives in our land. And yes I do agree, anyone who wants to undertake a major life change should absolutely seek counseling, whether it be marriage, work, sex,

PAST/OUT

BY DAVID BIANCO

June 27, 1969 (31 years ago this month): Police raid the Stonewall Inn in New York City.

What is the history of New York City's gay Community?

Historians date the gay liberation movement to a few nights in 1969, when New York City queers took to the streets to protest police harassment of gay bars. But the city's gay community can actually trace its roots back at least 100 years.

In the last decades of the 19th century, many young people came to New York City from small towns, rural areas, and Europe, looking for the economic opportunities that the country's largest city offered. The new residents crowded the predominantly working-class neighborhoods. Among them were many queer folk who had felt isolated and alone in their hometowns.

An array of saloons and dance halls catered to the social needs of the new urban dwellers, and patrons included numerous male "degenerates." The "fairies," who frequented establishments like Paresis Hall on the Lower East Side, "call each other sisters," wrote one observer, "and take people out for immoral purposes." Vice squad reports from the early 1900s show that gay men also frequented public spaces like parks and bath-houses looking for sex.

Because women led less public lives than men did, little is known about lesbians in New York before the 1920s. However, many of the city's labor organizers, social workers, suffragists, and academics of the late 19th and early 20th centuries were never-married women who lived in domestic arrangements with other women and had networks of close female friends. The membership of Heterodoxy, a middle-class women's political club founded in 1912 in Greenwich Village, included quite a few pairs of "devoted companions."

The period between the world

Wars witnessed an expansion of the artistic life of the city. Bohemian culture, which embraced both artistic and sexual freedom, took root in the Village. Queer artists like Edna St. Vincent Millay, Eva Le Gallienne, and Hart Crane epitomized the Village's "anything goes" atmosphere, making it a popular haven for gay men and lesbians.

At the same time, a queer sub-culture blossomed in Harlem. Many of the greatest contributors to the Harlem Renaissance of 1920-1935 were gay or bisexual. Drag balls and private parties called buffet flats "were not gay, but they were open," said artist and writer Richard Bruce Nugent.

As it did in many major cities, World War II furthered the development of a queer community in New York. After the war, many gay service members who were dishonorably discharged stayed on in New York instead of returning to small towns and disapproving families. In 1945, a group of gay ex-soldiers formed the Veterans Benevolent Association, a social club that held dances and parties attracting hundreds of gay men.

Bars remained the center of gay male social life in New York throughout the 1950s and early 1960s, helping to foster a sense of queer community. Separate women's clubs like the Bagatelle and the Sea Colony offered lesbians a way to meet friends and lovers, too. The "gay girl" culture of 1950s Greenwich Village, heavily dominated by butch-femme role playing, was popularized in pulp novels of the day, like Odd Girl Out by Ann Bannon.

Queer New York had its political side, too. Activist Randy Wicker, a member of the local Mattachine Society, launched a one-man campaign in 1962 to improve gay coverage in the media. Wicker's efforts culminated in the running of a gay story on the front page of The New York Times in December 1963 - a first for a mainstream paper. Although the headline was far from positive - "Growth of Overt Homosexuality in City Provokes Wide Concern" - the story cracked the wall of silence surrounding what had become a bona fide community.

In 1967, gay activist Craig Rodwell, also a Mattachine member, founded the first gay bookstore in the world in Greenwich Village. The Oscar Wilde Memorial Bookshop was an ad hoc community center, where as much organizing took place as did book buying.

After the historic riots at the Stonewall Inn in June 1969, New York was at the forefront of the new gay liberation movement. Over the next few years, the city witnessed an explosion of gay and lesbian groups. Some organizations founded in the city in the 1970s, like the National Gay Task Force (now NGLTF) and Lambda Legal Defense and Education Fund, are still leaders of gay activism.

New York City also took center stage during the AIDS crisis. The news story that broke in the July 3, 1981 issue of The New York Times - "Rare Cancer Seen in 41 Homosexuals" - led to the organizing of a powerful array of gay social service organizations and activist groups in New York, like Gay Men's Health Crisis in 1982 and ACT UP five years later. In 1985, the Gay and Lesbian Alliance Against Defamation (GLAAD) got its start when some queer New Yorkers became fed up with biased mainstream media reporting about the epidemic. Both ACT UP and GLAAD grew out of meetings held at the city's gay community center, which opened in 1984.

Many national gay organizations now call Washington, D.C., home and San Francisco is still the country's gay Mecca. But New York City has remained the symbolic heart of the gay and lesbian rights movement. In a June 1999 ceremony in the Village, the Stonewall Inn was officially placed on the National Register of Historic Places, the first gay site in the country to be so honored.

Congratulations to Al K and Steve J, our brothers (Argonauts of WI) who have been nominated for the "Green Bay Community Choice Award," for their outstanding contribution to the Community.

From Castaways MC/Milwaukee The Castaways MC is pleased to report that the auction and beer bust fundraiser for ARCW Dental Clinic raised over $1000.

The raffle for a weekend pass to the Argonauts & Castaways joint run, will conclude at our Sunday Beer Bust, July 2nd, at The 1100 Club. Proceeds of this raffle are also for the ARCW Dental Clinic.

The Sunday afternoon beer/soda bust on July 2 at the 1100 Club will be a underwear party. Guaranteed a HOT time. The beer/soda bust runs from 2-6 pm. Prizes will be given away.

Applications for the joint Argonaut/Castaway run on August 18, 19, 20, 2000 are available at the 1100 Club, South Water Street Docks and at Designing Men. This is an outdoor run. Great time! Lots of hot men.

A brief comment relating to the joint run. This year promises to reach maximum capacity - so get your reservations in early. As far as sleeping accommodations, the rooms in the barn are already filled, the bunk house space will be gone in short order and there are no motel rooms available if not reserved in advance. You have been warned.

From Minneapolis GLBT Pride / Twin Cities and Leather Pride 2000 presents a weekend, June 23 - 25, of celebration and fun. Be sure to buy a Leather Pride 2000 Dog Tag, your passport to fun and savings! Dog Tags are available for sale at all Leather Pride 2000 events. Dog Tags are $5 or $4 with a GLBT Pride / Twin Cities button.

If you haven't seen that Dr. Laura letter that has been going around, you owe it to yourself to read it. For those who haven't, the letter is from a "believer" who is asking advice as to handling some of the Bible's verses -

I quote, Lev. 25:44 states that I may buy slaves from the nations that are around us. A friend of mine claims that this applies to Mexicans, but not Canadians. Can you clarify? End quote.

What would happen, if we started to preach the hard and unchanged word of the Bible as the radical right does. You could sell your daughters and stone to death women in red dresses. Try cutting the throat of a bull and then burning it as a public offering - you will have most of the world down your throat.

I sure hope I don't lose the God I go to, for I might end up with the hate monger they found.

It's a lazy day, I am out of here

GAY GAMES RETURN TO NORTH AMERICA IN 2006

Gay & Straight Christian Youth Come Together for Conference

On August 3-6, the largest cross-denominational gathering of Christian gay, lesbian, bisexual and transgender individuals, their families and allies will be taking place in DeKalb, IL at Northern Illinois University just outside of Chicago.

Witness Our Welcome 2000: God's Promise Is for You (WOW2000) will be proclaiming that gay, lesbian, bisexual and transgender people are made in God's image, and are part of the goodness of God's diverse Creation.

Over a thousand people are expected to attend the conference, including several hundred youth under the age of 22.

NEW GAY WEBSITE

www.gayquestions.com - was launched recently, and members of the community (and perhaps others) are welcome to check it out!

The announcement was made by Richard Trifeletti and Mark McFee.

Their staff writer, Candice, pretty much states the case: "With the launch of gayquestions.com, we are entering a new chapter of information technology. If you have ever been in a situation of wondering and worrying about your sexuality or an element of it, look no further than this fully interactive website to meet your questions face-to-face and give you the answers you need."

New Online Book Club for the Gay & Lesbian Community

Quality Paperback Book Club (QPG), a division of Bookspan, launches InsightOut Books, the first book club ever created specifically for lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender readers, family and friends.

<http://www.insightoutbooks.com>

InsightOut will be the most expansive online provider of gay and lesbian literature with over 35 categories spanning fiction, non-fiction, biography, erotica, self-help, psychology, parenting, spirituality, travel and more.

NEW GAY COMEDY FILM "But I'm A Cheerleader"

The synopsis for "But I'm A Cheerleader": Megan (Natasha Lyonne) has got it all. She's popular, pretty, a model student, dates the captain of the football team, and she's a cheerleader. One day Megan comes home to find her family and friends have staged an 'intervention' in which they confront her with the knowledge that she's a lesbian. (She's a vegetarian, like Georgie O'Keefe, hates kissing her boyfriend, and listens to Melissa Etheridge). She is forced by her family to attend True Directions, a local homosexual rehabilitation camp run by the treatment directors, Mary (Cathy Moriarty) and Mike (RuPaul).

At True Directions she meets Graham, a rebellious rich girl who becomes her mentor in trying to become heterosexual. The girls are immediately drawn to one another, and hatch a plan to storm the True Directions 'graduation.' Megan confesses her love to Graham and finally convinces her to leave 'conversion' therapy.

The film opens in New York July seven, and will be released nationally on August eight.

The Midtowne Spa

Flashback to the mid-seventies: I'm a kid watching reruns of Bewitched on channel six, and Darin (the first one) decided he'd better stay at "his men's club" downtown that evening. Except for a really bad lounge set, you never ever really saw what the "club" was all about. Hmm...

Flash forward to Pridefest 2000 weekend: I can't get this recurring image of running into Uncle Arthur or Doctor Bombay as I enter The Midtowne Spa. in operation just over two months. The spa is located almost in walking distance (sober) from most of the bars in the Third Ward district. The two-story brick building, a former home to a maid cleaning service, has undergone a one million dollar renovation, and General Manager JC Michalek invited me in for a tour.

One of the first things I noticed about the place after walking past the registration desk was the decor--specifically, it had some. The remodel was more than just busting out walls and getting up to code, with the locker area & gym room featuring the exposed ceiling joists and brick I'm looking for in my next place. Don't get me wrong, there's a lot more to this place than a paint job. The gym is stocked with late-model Cybex equipment, free weights, & a stair-tread-bike-recumbent combo. After walking through to the 'wet' area of the first floor, you'll notice the steam room is large enough to comfortably hold eight to ten, the sauna about six to eight, with an open-plan shower room in between. From there, it's a short jaunt outside to the private deck area and the outdoor jacuzzi. I was there early afternoon

Saturday, and they were featuring brats, burgers & beer, complete with a salt & pepper daddy slaving over the gas grill. Yummy!

I got a chance to sit down with JC for a few minutes while the photographer was taking his photos. Originally from Texas, JC Michalek started his career off by working behind the counter of a Midtowne in his home state, although he's probably better remembered as an editor of the Houston Voice & Texas Triangle, both popular gay newspapers. Eventually, the owner of the Midtowne called JC up and asked him if he had any interest in opening a new location in our very own Milwaukee. Fortunately for us, he said yes! Accompanied by his partner David and a great staff (including Brian, our covermodel!) the business opened April 15th.

I asked JC what someone could expect at the Midtowne. "It's a great place where you can be yourself," JC drawled lightly, "an alternative for those who don't want to go out to the bar, or something to do before or after [hitting the town]...It's a safe, clean environment, no harassment, confidentiality assured..."

Right now, the Midtowne is one of the smaller spas you may visit, with forty lockers and twenty-plus changing rooms. But they already have expansion plans, such as the installation of tanning services on the second floor between the TV room and lounge, and expansion into the building next door with a "garage party" area, and perhaps indoor swimming. "We're always trying to come up with new services," JC said.

How do the customers feel about the establishment? One customer--we'll call him "Durwood"--had really good things to say about his first visit.

"I'm from [out of town] and I saw the ad. I couldn't believe it! A spa in Milwaukee?" mused Durwood, "It's got a nice layout, and it's clean...I'm telling my friends about it..."

The best thing to do is to check it out for yourself. Midtowne features half price Wednesdays (noon-midnight), a free BBQ on weekends 1pm-4pm...hell, just check out the ad, call or check out the website. Tell them Samantha sent ya!

The Midtowne Spa, 315 South Water Street, Milwaukee WI. Open 24 hours, seven days. Call (414) 278-8989, email midtownespamilw@aol.com or jump to www.midtowne-spa.com
