DavidE's Dish...SHE'S BACK! Watch out Whitney, Celine, and Deborah - Madonna is back with her new single "Music" and it is fierce. I mean fierce! Hex Hector remixed the hell out of this sucker and it is tearing up dance floors from New York to L.A. Newcomer Tracy Young and old timers Deep Dish have also remixed "Music" so believe me you will be hearing this song everywhere. Look for it burnin' up the dance charts this month. I've heard that Whitney is so nervous about Maddie's new single she's doubled her "powered sugar" order and honey, it's snowing in August! Anyway, if you haven't heard "Music" get ready to be blown away - the entire album comes out in September.

Speaking of music, if you haven't run out of money buying all the CD's I've been telling you about, here are 2 more to try... "The Winter Party, Vol. 3" sums up The Winter Party, which is an annual beach party held every March in South Beach, Miami. This party attracts the hottest men and the hottest DJ's while raising money for the Dade Human Rights Foundation of Miami. Volume 3 showcases Monty Q on CD 1 and Tony Moran on CD 2. The music is light, fun and very beachy. As you're listening to these CD's just imagine yourself in Miami dancing on the beach with thousands of other Speedo clad hunks! I'm getting light headed just thinking about it. Needless to say, DJ DavidE will most likely be reporting live from Miami come March, 2001.

"The March on Washington 2000" CD commemorates the Cherry 5 party held in April which benefits various GayLesBiTrans organizations in our nation's capitol. This CD was mixed by Warren Gluck and features his exclusive mix of "What About Me" by CB Milton. I love this song and hope other DJ's out there discover it and play it! Warren told me it is only available on this CD though. If you attended the Circuit Mom concert in Chicago over Market Days weekend (and I saw lots of Milw. boys there) you heard Miss Gluck spin. It wasn't his best performance so don't compare that to this CD. The CD is flawless from start to finish. I suggest playing this CD in your car while on a fabulous drive - windows down and volume UP! You'll love it.

You may notice when I review CD's I mention if the CD benefits a charitable organization. It is important to realize that many of these music compilations donate profits to these organizations, and that the circuit parties I attend aren't just frivolous dance events. Both CD's above are donating all profits to their respectable organizations, so I figure hey you're getting great music and helping out the GayLesBiTrans community at the same time. What a bargain...

Well that's enough preaching from Reverend Davida for now. I'm getting geared up for the notorious Underwear Party at BOOM on August 19th. Mark those calendars! Also thanks to the Quest for showcasing me in the last issue, it was a blast. As the summer heats up so does the dance floor, and as Madonna says, "Music makes the people come together." I couldn't agree more...

Until next time - spend wisely and love freely! DJDaveE@gayborhood.com

Tell Trinity!

Quote du Jour: You'll never get to where you're absolutely suppose to be. If you're absolutely sure, you know the right way. Trinity

Hello Trinity,
Suddenly out of no where my partner wants to do drag. Is there anything I can say that will make him change his mind?
Drag Dramas

Hello Drag Dramas,
It seems like every once in a while some guy—gay or not—wants to try drag. And every once in a while that same man later, decides to become a drag artist. However, this is as rare as someone wanting to be an astronaut after being trapped in a closet for two days. So if you must tell him something tell him this, "I'm ready if you are, baby!" Once he takes two hours to get dressed not including the Lee Press On Nails (from hell), spends a night in heels and is wrapped up in genital torturing panty hose, panties and a girdle. Don't worry! He'll be worshipping high tops and carpenter pants as quick as you can say, "Down in front, soldier."
Not to worry, Trinity

Dearest Trinity,
I'm really a respectable hardworking girl but I'm now in a disrespectable situation. I'm dating two women at once and it's going to be a year. They both live in different parts of the country than me. That's how I've kept it going so long. Now unbelievably, they both want to move in with me. I'm a mess! Help! Three's Company

Dearest Three's Company,
You think you're a mess! I'm having my phone number changed as we speak. I don't want to end up like you. But on the other hand, I sort of do! How thrilling and dangerous all at once! How selfish and stupid, as well! Honey. Life is short. But not that short. I have two words for you honesty and decision. I hope this works. Tell the one you like the least what you've done and see if she says, "I love you anyway." then tell her you'll call her right back. Then quickly call the one you really like and tell her the same thing. If she dumps you then your left with one. If she says, I love you no matter what then get rid of the first girl by either paying her off or telling her the truth. Either way you're honest and left with one woman to love and hold and... Oh God I have to go now.

Good Luck, Trinity

Dear Trinity,
I'm an affectionate guy but my lover is overly affectionate especially in public and this terrifies me. We live in a small town and I really don't feel safe as an openly gay couple. What do I do to get over this fear? Yours, Suburbiaphobia

Dear Suburbiaphobia,
I'm a true advocate of being out and living fearlessly. Yet, I also believe in living safely and strategically. That includes expressing yourself freely when in supportive environments. While being affectionate in public as a gay couple may not always represent a supportive environment, it may be executed strategically. Try being affectionate in a private spot in a public place. And spend time in gay friendly places like P-town where holding hands and such is commonplace. This will help you. And if you're still nervous after all that then take self defense classes, seriously. But eventually we all must face our fears in order to make them disappear! Be safe but free, Trinity

Trinity,
My husband started taking steroids. He wants to be a big hulk. But it's making us fight more than ever. We talk about it but he's set on doing this. How do I keep my marriage from exploding. Sincerely, Too Big Too Fast

Dear Too Big Too Fast,
Steroids- Looking like a beast and acting like one too. He's obviously feeling low self esteem and is in need of being more of a man. Or he's reading too many muscle mags. Before you move out, here are

TRINITY'S TOP TEN TIPS FOR LOVERS OF THOSE ON STEROIDS

1. Move into your guest room until the cycle's over.
2. Do impressions of him so he knows what he acts like.
3. If he needs steroids, you need therapy! Right away!
4. Force yourself to be more understanding.
5. Destroy the alcohol. Alcohol with steroids turns Dr. Jeckal into Mr. Hyde.
6. Love him for his needs, whether you agree or not.
7. Try to support him. That's your job!
8. Let him know how difficult it is for you.
9. Make him sign a will, in case you kill him.
10. And lastly, when it's over you may get a big surprise.

Hold on, Trinity

Drag It Out Of Me!

By Miss Lilly White

Girrrrrl,

Here I am again ladies ready to spill the tea! Thank you again to all my readers for the wonderful outpouring of e-mails. I really appreciate the positive input and if anybody has any suggestions feel free to e-mail me. I check and answer all my mail on a daily basis. www.misslillywhite.com.

Apparently, the weekend I was booked out of town at the La Cage in Aruba, plenty of memories were created. Nova D'Vine had a completely phenomenal benefit show at Capers, in Kenosha. She was originally scheduled to hand down the crown of Miss WI America that weekend. Unfortunately, due to some rather unhappy circumstances, the America system has been dissolved here in WI and is pending new ownership, which no one seems to know much about. Well, if somebody has any information on the status of the America system in WI, please clue the girls in! Nobody can say that Nova doesn't keep all her scheduled bookings. Even if they canceled her pageant! Everyone has informed me of a stunning cast of girls that performed with Nova. The abundance of talent made for a completely fascinating evening of drag.

The following night was Pridefest coordinator Chris Klein's annual 29th birthday party. All the girls donned their best party dresses and put on a fancy little show for the old dame. She seemed to be having a gay old time. I hope she made it home OK.

That week there was an apparent "Cinderella" sighting. A very well known queen in the community was seen stumbling out of La Cage with only one shoe on. Was she expecting Prince Charming to return her shoe, or maybe just another vodka press?

The weekend brought us a festive occasion at the M&M Club. It was a fund-raiser for the upcoming possum queen rally. The evening was chock full 'o stars, with Sasha Mitchell, Whiskey Eudoxa, Yoko Ono and many more. The ever lovely and talented

Dear Ruthie wowed the crowd with her antics as always. (Too bad her second tape snapped.) We were all very distraught and can't wait to see that number in the near future. Christina Chase was lovely as always, this time sporting new hair. I believe it was one of Tammy Faye Baker's old hairpieces. The glorious return of Chi-Chi and Karen Valentine made the night worthwhile. Add in the yodeling lesbian and a tantalizing striptease by Michelle "the sex change".....how can that go wrong? I'll tell you how. The evening plummeted when Milwaukee's own "White Trash Barbie" blew into the fine establishment drunk and passed out in the dressing room. When she finally woke up, she stumbled down into a crowded bar clad in bra and panties, no wig, demanding on doing a number. Falling over during the number, her wig flew off and she yet again passed out, this time under the jukebox. Girl, I have 12 things to say to you: "STEPS". My out of town house guests were served a delightful and scandalous evening they will never forget.

The fun didn't stop there! During the show, a wig got "borrowed". Well, the owner of aforementioned wig walked all the way from the M&M Club to La Cage in pantyhose, no shoes, to claim the "borrowed" Afro. Maybe if she weren't so busy passing out, she would have remembered lending it out.

The ONLY Adult Bookstore on Broadway!

That same night in Green Bay was a fabulous benefit show for Kelli Jo Klein. From what I heard it was a great night of talent, including the lovely Justine D'Zire, Nova D'Vine, C.C. Domino, Monica Devine, and Dee Dee Winters. I also heard that there was a quite entertaining rap song done by Neely O'Hara. I never knew she was so into rap. I assumed the only Eminem she knew about was the kind she buys in 5-pound family size bags that you can get in plain, peanut or almond. I am sorry I wasn't there to take part in all the fun times. I will see Kelli Jo this weekend in Louisville, Kentucky for the National Entertainer of the Year Pageant. I want to wish her the best of luck, and break a heel girl!

This past Sunday we all assembled at La Cage for the annual Miss Cream City USofA Pageant. It was another festive occasion, even though it started an hour and a half late. Three beautiful ladies entered and there were many classy guest performers on hand. One particularly classy lady stole all of Kylie's tip money and $250 from a contestant's wallet. Now that's KLASS! Doesn't anyone believe in karma anymore? The pageant went over wonderfully with Eileen Dover capturing the crown, Taylor Vaughn taking first runner-up and Lady Rose catching the bitter bus back to Eau Claire.

This Thursday brought on two spectacular contestants for Talent Night, with a surprise guest appearance by Joey Black. I always love working with her and she really knows how to wow the crowd. It was great to see her again!

I am still waiting to hear more information on the show that Miss Simone has been putting together here in Milwaukee. I heard one time it was at The Attic West, then I heard it was at The Empire Room downtown. If anybody knows when and where this party is happening please let me know so I can check it out! Inquiring minds want to know!

That's all for now girls! Please feel free to e-mail me with any questions, comments, or a little bit of dish, at my web site www.misslilywhite.com. I'll be back in two weeks with all the grease...Stay fierce girls!!

DUSTY SASS

I'm back!!! Did you miss me? Well, I missed keeping all my faithful readers informed on what was going on in their favorite haunts.

Since this is a new paper for me and it's been awhile since I wrote about what the ground rules for this column are, I thought it might be best to lay them out again.

This column is to keep you informed on what is going on in Milwaukee and Madison's bar scenes.

Dusty After Dark is NOT a column to push advertisers. Of course, if an advertiser has an event, I always try to make sure that I am there to cover it. After all, they pay the bills. However, as always, I also write about bars that don't advertise. And whether a bar advertises or not, I will never write that I had a great time there if I didn't.

I try to get to as many places as I can to give you a good flavor for what is going on, but I can't be everywhere. Also keep in mind that I don't like negativity. I like to build up, not tear down. If I see something that I think is wrong, I may comment on without mentioning names. I don't like ripping into people.

So if you don't see a particular bar mentioned, it's either because I haven't been able to get there lately, or I WAS there and didn't think it was all that.

Recap - I had a great time last Saturday taking my first official bar tour in months. Almost everything seemed to be just where I left it!

Over at 219, the strippers, I mean exotic dancers, were very hot. The bar was fairly crowded, and, as usual, Kim was keeping things lively with some great music. Not that anyone was dancing - except for the aforementioned exotic dancers. The patrons didn't want to miss the performance art the management had so thoughtfully provided.

Speaking of Kim, she is recovering nicely from her recent knee surgery. Hmmm, wonder how they got wore out? I asked about that, but Kim would only smile and tell me that she's looking forward to trying out her new and improved knees soon.

Dish was also a hot time (like when isn't it). As usual the crowd was a good mix of Lesbians and Gay men from the under 30 set. I had a great time dancing up a storm with a couple of Lesbians. That's one reason why I like Dish so much. It's one of the few places where there doesn't seem to be any barriers between Gay men and Lesbians.

There was a large crowd at Switch when I stopped in to say hi. I asked owner Craig what the special occasion was. "It's Saturday," he said. Craig also told me that he is getting ready for the Packer season.

As regular readers know, Curt (of In Between fame) moved his Packer parties to Switch last year, which was a good thing since us real fans needed another place to go when In Between closed.

Craig and I headed down to the Triangle where I found that something was NOT where I left it. Owner Rob is no longer owner Rob. The bar is now owned by one of my favorite people, James AKA Lana St. James. Craig and I had a great time with Lana and with the aforementioned Curt, who was also there.

By this point an entourage was building so we all went back to Switch, (Lana, Craig, Curt, friends and I) for some additional carousing.

It wasn't long before the pulsating beats of La Cage called us to move across the street where we finished off the evening with the help of my favorite DJ tag team, Tanya and DJ Dave. It was a great end to a great evening.

Raving in Madison -It seems that some bar types in Mad Town think that La Cage was behind the rave party held during Madison's Pride Weekend. To some, this smacked of a Milwaukee bar cutting in on what should be their biggest weekend of the year.

In truth, other than offering a bus for anyone, who wanted to attend the rave (and pay for the bus ride) La Cage had nothing to do with it. A promoter who has done some special events at La Cage produced the event. George and Corey said they cancelled their bus for lack of interest.

Well, that's a wrap for this column. My thanks to "Mark Z" for giving me this space. Hope to see you out and about soon. Meanwhile, stay safe and be proud.

Unlike Kim, Dusty doesn't need knee surgery, but he would like to hear from you about what's happening at your favorite bar. You can reach him by sending an email to:

By Wik Wikholm, gayhistory.com

Who was Frederick the Great?

Frederick the Great was such a complicated man that one biographer dubbed him "The Magnificent Enigma." He was a warrior who championed tolerance, a humanist who started wars that killed hundreds of thousands, and a sodomite who ruled a land where sex between men was punishable by death.

Frederick earned the title "the Great" by building his German kingdom's army into the conquering terror of 18th Century Europe. But as a child, he showed few signs of military prowess. His father, King Frederick William I, wanted his son to grow into a fighting Prussian, but young Frederick preferred the French novels and music he learned about from his tutors to the military lessons ordered by his father. The king regularly thrashed his son to force him to toughen up. Frederick, still less than 10 years old, surrendered to the king's demand that he excel in daily military drills, and he learned to hide from his father when he played the flute and read his favorite books. Still, the beatings continued.

In 1730, the 18-year-old prince colluded with two soldiers, one his friend, the other his lover, to escape from his father and flee to England. The king discovered the plot, and sent soldiers to arrest the three. Frederick's friend escaped, but the soldiers captured the prince and his lover, Lt. Hans von Katte, and jailed them.

The king had long believed that his son and Katte were lovers, but what enraged him now was their disloyalty to him. After a military tribunal convicted Katte of desertion, the king ordered the lieutenant killed. On the morning of the execution, Frederick William dispatched soldiers to his son's cell to force him to watch Katte die. Frederick fainted in front of his cell's window moments before an executioner chopped off his lover's head in the courtyard below. The king considered killing Frederick, but friends dissuaded him. Instead, he forced his son into a year's service as a low-level bureaucrat to humiliate him.

Katte's death showed Frederick that he could not escape his father's control, so when Frederick William ordered him to marry a noblewoman three years after the execution, he complied, though he told friends that he detested the idea. The 1733 wedding cemented a political alliance, but the bride and groom disliked each other. Although Frederick claimed that they tried, the couple never produced an heir.

In 1740, Frederick William died and the crown prince became king. Just after he took the throne, Frederick issued a flurry of orders that made Prussia more humane. Inspired by the Enlightenment philosophy expressed in the French books he loved, the king outlawed censorship of the press and encouraged religious tolerance. Even Jews, a people excluded from much of life in Europe at the time, enjoyed new freedoms.

At first, Frederick's rule seemed to promise a more comfortable existence for the Prussian people, but Frederick plunged Prussia into war within a year of his coronation. Frederick had absorbed his father's vision of Prussia as a great power and invaded neighboring Silesia, a wealthy country, to expand Prussia's borders and to help pay for a larger military. After two years of fighting, Silesia fell.

The Silesian campaign was only the first of many wars of territorial expansion that Frederick won, but the Prussian people paid dearly. Commerce stagnated under army and navy financial demands and taxes were raised even on the poor. But the financial costs were small compared with the price in human lives. In a single bloody year, 1759, 60,000 soldiers died on the Prussian side alone, a staggering loss for a country inhabited by less than 3 million people.

Frederick's battlefield successes earned him the fear and respect of many of Europe's other monarchs, but his royal court provoked rumors and jokes. At Sans Souci, his Potsdam palace, he rarely invited women to court, and his wife was never welcome. The all-male environment he created was infamous for homoerotic banter, and Frederick's own sexual affairs with men were an open secret. The worst punishment he suffered was the knowledge that his sexual predilections drew snickers among his fellow royals.

Had Frederick been a common sodomite, or "warm brother" as Prussia's sodomites were called, he could have been executed. In spite of his power to change it, the law that mandated the death penalty for sodomy stayed on the books throughout Frederick's reign.

Frederick the Great died of a fever on August 17, 1786. He left behind an army 180,000 strong and more than 30 volumes of original writing. His nation had doubled in size during his rule, and the liberal reforms he championed saved his subjects from torture and censorship. The more humane climate may have reduced the number of sodomy arrests, but since conviction could still mean death, Prussia's warm brothers had little reason to mourn the passing of their sodomite king.

More from Dore Alley

It was confusing, for it seemed that one corp/group was collecting money and giving it to another one who then seems to spread it around even further. ALL of these groups were in the stable of Mr. Smits.

In letters to Mr. Smits asking for clarification, and if the G/L CC and the Milwaukee LGBT C/C were related, the shit hit the fan. Many of you know of that situation and firmly believe what you have been told. Thank you IN Step for shining a light on this subject and opening the debate to the community.

Dore Alley & San Francisco, It is still there and if it weren't for the weather (hot or cold and always humid), it would be a near perfect place to spend a lot of time. After all, where can you see so much eye candy in such a small section like Dore Alley. And then there is the food - except for that hamburger shop that was on Market just up from Church, I ain't found a bad restaurant there.

North Worst Airlines pulled another first on us. I am sure it is not a first for them when they lost a bag before we left the ground. As we were rolling down the runway, the flight was aborted due to a pump malfunction. After three hours of waiting in line to be re-booked, they couldn't find one of our bags. It was the bag with all our gear; so we couldn't get to the boot party as planned. Geezzz

Anyway via Dallas, we got there late - - very late and very tired and in the dark, dug the bike out from behind the eclectic treasures our host gathered since the last visit. It started up on first crank and off we went to the Loading Dock for some attitude adjustment.

Dore Alley is worth the trip - - just to stand in front of the Loading Dock to watch the human parade. WOFFFF. The more that come, the better they looked. Fetish gear all over the place. After about two hours worth of eye candy and a whip lashed neck, we took in the Eagle where it was fairly quiet for a couple of hours. Then it hit WOFFFF.

Monday we took a day trip up the coast for lunch and back via a more inland route. It was bundle up cold near the Pacific and hot as all get out inland. The change was so great we had to adjust the idle on the bike each time we went from one to the other. Going over the Golden Gate bridge on a bike is something else. The fog hits you like rain. As many times as I have gone over that bridge, I have yet to see more than 20 feet up.

Ran into Bob Devolt, says he is doing well and has settled down with a boy. He still claims his proudest accomplishment was winning the Wisconsin L/L Daddy contest a few years back.

Heads UP - - please know I will be dropping AO Hell in favor of Earth Link Please adjust my E - mail address to PpaJoe@earthlink.net. After a couple of months of using Earthlink, I found the harassing tactics (you got mail (pause) - good bye) of AOHell; too damn annoying - -

Three Strikes & You Lose...a Fairy Tale About Hepatitis B

Once upon a time there was a gay man who was very sexually active. (So, what's so unusual about that, you say!). Well, about two years ago, he came into BESTD Clinic and got a screening for hepatitis B. Because he had never been infected with the hepatitis B virus, he was susceptible to infection and was urged to come in to the Clinic for a series of vaccinations to immunize himself. He didn't do it!

A year ago, he came in again and asked for another screening test. Samo...samo...negative again; urged to come in for the vaccination series and he didn't.

This year, same story, but different ending. He got the screening test and it revealed that since the last test, he was INFECTED WITH THE HEPATITIS B VIRUS, and even more tragic, he is a chronic carrier with the ability to infect others, especially through his sexual activity. He is now infected for life with a virus that can cause severe disease and possibly even death. He can also spread this virus to anyone with whom he has unprotected sexual contact...oral or anal.

Most fairy tales have morals and this one does, too. Come into BESTD Clinic, 1240 East Brady St., Milwaukee, any Monday or Tuesday evening 6-8 pm. No appointment needed. Request a hepatitis B screening. If the result informs you that you have never been infected with HBV, begin the series of three vaccinations to protect yourself and, of course, those with whom you have sex. You have the power to give your story a happy ending!

LEATHER FETISH

by Papa Joe

From: Argonauts of WI/Green Bay AOW news- Although I am sure it will be covered elsewhere in QUEST, the Club is very proud of Steve Jones, our current club Secretary, who was crowned the new "Guernsey Queen" this past Saturday at Brandy's II in Green Bay, for raising OVER $7,000 for A.R.C.W. Steve applied all of his Argonauts fund-raising skills, and possibly even some skills we don't want to talk about (KIDDING!!!), and helped make the "Guernsey Gala" a great success. The club congratulates Steve and applauds all of the contestants for their efforts.

With Joint Run 2000 less than 2 weeks away, we DO have some bunk spaces left; so if anyone was thinking of NOT coming due to lack of bunk space, reconsider! Looks like there is going to be a good-sized crowd again this year, so there should be plenty to see and do.

Also- if anyone is interested in attending the run for one evening's festivities only, a "one-day" pass is available ($25 for Friday, $50 for Saturday) that will entitle the holder to full use of all facilities and amenities until 2:00 a.m. (Sat. or Sun.)

For more information, contact any member of the AOW or the CMC.

Part two of the reported rumor is now a reality. The Harbor Room, tho far from complete, opened its doors July 26th and received a great reception. We took in Sunday's fun Shirtless Party which had a capacity crowd. Later, we had a chance to chat with Gregg and Mick about their goals and hopes. Both said they are trying to establish a Wreck Room atmosphere, maintaining a Levi and Leather venue while welcoming all without attitude.

The bar room is shorte, but wider, than Boot Camp's and, as of now, is the only section up and running. The most striking feature is the floor, antique hardwood which was salvaged from under 2 inches of concrete. There will be a patio and a game room as well as a restaurant when it is all finished.

I have already heard discussion about leather/fetish gatherings happening.

Nice job, and good luck, guys. Good seeing you again Mick. It has been a few years; give my best to Mark.

It's the buzz - - The Possum Queen Campaign donated to the G/L Community Center.

Like many of you, it was my understanding that ALL money raised by the candidates for Possum Queen went to AIDS related charities and that THE New Possum Queen directed where the money went. Well, at least it was the tradition, and in the past it has been reported as such. We were wrong.

If you read IN Step's July 27 Cover story "The Battling Community Centers" it just ain't so anymore. Like many of you, I was more than a bit surprised when IN Step reported that G/L CC was funded by contributions - - I quote "such as a large donation from the Possum Queen Campaign." end quote.

How much is large? Who gave it? Whose authority? Why to a tightly held 501 c 3

It's a Group Thang:

A Review of Channel 1 Releasing's Locked Up & The Orgy

Sometimes, this is just the best job in the whole entire world! Paid to watch porn---mmm mmm mmm! It helps when the subject matter heads right up my alley, particularly with our first title, The Orgy. Well, the name says it all. Early warning system enabled: No plotline. One location. No character development. One line of dialogue--"I'm gonna hit the showers. You guys have fun!" Hell, it doesn't even have a music track. But that what made this video one of my favorites this year--it was good-looking well-toned porn stars having sex in many positions at the same time. Even though no new ground was covered here--six gay twenty-somethings in an overly-stylized locker/shower room getting naked--it was just really well done! The best part was the absence of a music soundtrack. They left the grunts and groans intact, so all I did was play a club CD at half volume. I wish more media would give this option (DVD manufacturers, you're on notice!).

Up next is a little slice of heaven entitled Jack Warner's Locked Up. Once again, sparse plotline: Police officers & their ward have sex in jail. Sparse dialog: "Get your sweet ass over here, Bitch!" Finally, a general lack of realism: I wish my apartment was as spacious as the cells in this jail, and the only way you'd have this much stud meat locked up at one time is if you had just raided a modeling agency. Once again, however, all of the above mentioned are not detriments--they make this tape rock! The actors are all way up on the bod & face scale, definitely awesome looking without being pretty.

Okay, okay, there's two actors who could do "barely eighteen", but their roles called for it, and they were fun to watch! Although on the rougher side, this tape should appeal to those of us who like our tapes more slick than fetish. Too bad, though...all of those freestanding toilets and no one using them! I highly recommend both of these tapes as rentals, even as purchases if you're starting off a collection.

For further information on these and other videos, contact Channel 1 Releasing at 1 (800) 997-8072 or www.channel1releasing.com.
