Tell Trinity!

Quote du Jour: "When the eagles are silent, the parrots begin to jabber." - Winston Churchill

Dear Trinity,

My close friend is being cheated on by his lover. Everyone accept him knows it.
Should I tell him or let him find out on his own? Either way he is in for a big hurt!
Sincerely, Burning Both Ends Flint, MI

Dear Burning,

The question is not, do you tell him but rather how do you help him get hurt the least. He may also become resentful towards you for telling him. Thus, a) have an anonymous person tell. b) SUGGEST something like, "What would you do if...?"
c) allow (make it possible for) him to find out on his own. Or d) shut up and pray!
Being a friend unfortunately means learning to step forward at the same time, stepping back!
Good luck, Trin.

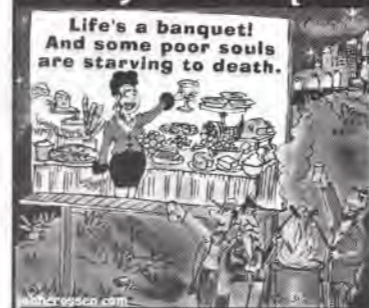

Hey Trinity,

Lately, it has been so hard appreciating what I have when I feel like my life has no meaning and should have been different or better. Trinity, what do you do when life doesn't make sense?
Thanks, A Better Life Milwaukee, WI

Hey A Better Life,

Every smart, healthy, growing person questions his or her life from time to time.
When my life STOPS having deep meaning I START baking a batch of "special brownies" and/or go off to a Radical Faerie Gathering! But I always remember,

Trinity's Banquet

D A T I N G DILEMMA #38

Hello Trinity,
With all the lies and deception I have been experiencing around dating do you think it's wrong to ask for a credit check, medical records, job resume and a family genealogy chart before getting serious with someone?
Yours, Get Smart Wilmington, DE

Hello Get Smart,

It may sound subversive and CIA-esque but today people are so desperate to empress that special someone that morals and wits can get tossed to the wind, then blown back in your face. In olden days people lived generations in the same communities so everyone knew each other's business, good and evil! But today everyone's a stalker, I mean a stranger. Credit checks, job resumes and genealogy charts may be too pushy but being a little bit more like a "private eye" before getting serious with someone may save you a lot of tears later on! When someone says, "I'm all this and more!" What the hell!, CHECK them out, quietly!

Dear Trinity,

Blah, blah, blah... and for the first time in my life I am having a tryst. I want it to last for as long as it can! Any advise?
Yours, Twists For Trysts Chicago, IL

Dear Tryst,
I have had my share of trysts, thank God.
Oh and guess what I just found?

TRINITY'S TASTEFUL THINGS TO DO BEFORE A TRYST*

(* a secret meeting arranged by lovers)

1. Preplace champagne, chocolates and a few cigarettes in a cool, refrigerated place!
2. Temperature control, i.e., fans, air conditioners and heaters make for a comfortable, LONGER lasting soiree!
3. Contraceptives, massage lotion and a few fun toys should be placed INSIDE the night table not sitting open in an old shoe box!
4. APPEARING "cleaned up" and spaying a little body splash "down there" promises that you'll be all smiles during this affair!
5. Needing or wanting MORE and more means sooner than later he or she will be running out the door.
6. ATMOSPHERE means candles, romantic music, clean sheets and oh yes, unplug the damn telephone!
7. Placing yourself into the perfect "FRAME OF MIND" can be as simple as breathing, being playful and leaving your troubles way behind!
8. Bubbling champagne flutes and truffles on a plate should be sitting ON top of the night stand not far away in the kitchen!
9. If "TIME is of the essence" this means be all hands, not words!
10. Lastly, when you're running back to work, the airport or home, CHECK for clothing stains, foreign perfume smells and erase your cellphone!

THE BIG BOOK OF MISUNDERSTANDING

"This is a sharp book...hilarious and painful." -- Mike Albo, author of HORNITO: My Lie Life Jim Gladstone, an american writer who currently lives in Paris, will be visiting Wisconsin in support of his dark comic debut novel, THE BIG BOOK OF MISUNDERSTANDING. He will be reading and speaking at

- MADISON...Borders Book Shop
Tuesday, March 19 7 pm
- MILWAUKEE...Harry Schwartz Books
(Downer) Saturday, March 23, 8 pm
- APPLETON...The Lavender Salon Reading Group [private] Sunday, March 24 6:30 p.m.

Gladstone has written for The New York Times Book Review, Billboard, the Lambda Book Report and many other publications. He has much to say about the state of gay literature in America today...THE BIG BOOK OF MISUNDERSTANDING has been chosen as the "Editor's Featured Selection" for February by InsightOutBooks and is reviewed in the February issue of OUT magazine.

Extensive background information available at...

MORE ADVANCE PRAISE...

"This is some of the most evocative writing about childhood that I have come across.

Gladstone's recall and rendering of that lost time is remarkable. He has an extraordinary memory for detail as well as the nuances of moments that we have all lived through, but have, for the most part, forgotten."

Joseph Olshan,
author of Nightswimmer and Clara's Heart

"This book is SWEET AND TRUE AND SURPRISINGLY HONEST in a world of worked-up horseshit. I related to all the characters in the book. I have met people like them. I've even been a few of them."

Susan Werner,
Singer/Songwriter (Time Between Trains, Last of the Good Straight Girls)

Drag It Out Of Me!

By Miss Lilly White

Grrrrrrl, Hell hath no fury like a drag queen scorned, and let me tell you I am not in the mood to be scorned. It seems that since a certain "has been" flew into town on her broomstick she has been using it to stir up as much drama as possible. Truth be told there isn't a queen in this state that doesn't have a story about tell about the delusional transvestite. Unfortunately, I am a lady and wouldn't dare repeat them. I can however issue a cross-dressing alert..."ATTENTION ALL DRAG DIVAS... watch your back, your jewelry, your make-up, and your fellow drag sisters that may be taken in by this wolf in women's (size XL) clothing. Approach her as if she is armed (with silicone) and dangerous.

Speaking of dangerous, that's what it was trying to get a drink at the M&M Club the night of Rona's birthday show. It was packed beyond maximum capacity and if someone would have sneezed the windows would have blown out. Let's face it girls, nobody can pack a venue like Miss Rona. She has been doing drag for some thirty odd years and unlike some girls, has never gotten old and bitter. She, as usual, had a lovely cast of dream goddesses that threw together a fabulous revue to celebrate the old gals 51st year on planet earth. As expected it was girls that do shows on a regular basis and should know better that arrived late and kept the packed house waiting for the show to start. The girls that only do a show once every blue moon were prepared and waiting...kudos to them! The highlights of the evening were the hilarious Dear Ruthie who tore up the crowd with a phenomenal puppet routine, the classic Karen Valentine giving us elegance in pearls, the stunning Wilma Fingerdo, Dame Edna with her gladiolas, the hot legged lesbo "Legs" and of course the gorgeous birthday gal herself, who was sporting an Olympic inspired Dorothy Hamill hairdo. p.s. Rona "remember Covergirl doesn't cover boy". Once again the illustrious Baby

J a n e Hudson provided the emcee honors and kept the show moving along as fast as her dice cup. It was definitely a highlight of the month and will have everybody waiting with baited breath for her next soiree.

Miss Wausau WI USofA was held the following evening at that great little bar OZ. This again is a much sought after title, as all the girls know what an excellent promoter Katrina Kaye is known to be. A few girls traveled from far away places to make a grasp for the tiara, Jasmine Roberts from Kenosha, and Taylor Vaughn from Milwaukee. Of course the competition was over the minute the gorgeous Cass Marie Domino waltzed through the door. The reigning Miss Continental made short work of the pageant with her fabulous dancing and jaw dropping good looks. I guess Miss Domino plans on capturing another state title for this year. Let's just hope she picks out the right back-up dancers. Congratulations to Cass and the best of luck at the state pageant this fall.

Being held the very same evening was the Annual Miss Minnesota

USofA Pageant. The gorgeous Miss USofA, Erika Norell flew in from her luxurious home in Miami, Florida to entertain the stone cold tundra of Minnesota's drag community. Former Miss Minnesota Neely O'Hara was also on hand to add a touch more glamour to the much-anticipated event. Unfortunately there were only 4 contestants that entered, much to the dismay of the promoters that usually have a record amount of entries. As expected Roxy Marquis easily won the title and faces were cracked when she even won Miss Congeniality, an award that almost always is given to Justice Counce, "or should I say Justice Paige". Apparently if you change your name to someone with talent, it doesn't automatically give you talent. First runner-up honors went to the relatively new girl to the drag scene, Cassandra King. A truly amazing night was had by all. Good luck Roxy and Cassandra in Dallas!

The Miss Rainbow Room Pageant was recently held in Madison, with top honors going to the large and lovely Desire Matthews. The old gal brought the house down with her awesome drag skills, and

WOLFE VIDEO TO RELEASE THREE NATIVE AMERICAN GAY FILMS IN SPRING 2002

*Indie Hit BIG EDEN to Feature 2-disc Set of Commentary and Features

NEWALMADEN, CA-Leading Gay and Lesbian home video retailer Wolfe Video has announced the Spring 2002 release dates of three films featuring Native American gay and lesbian characters: the recent theatrical hit BIG EDEN, the DVD premiere of SALMONBERRIES starring k.d. lang, and Canadian lesbian drama JOHNNY GREYEVES. SALMONBERRIES and JOHNNY GREYEVES have a pre-book date of February 12th, 2002 and a street date of March 19th, 2002. BIG EDEN pre-books on March 26th and streets on April 30th. BIG EDEN about home and family that hits upon the universal longing and hope we each have for finding a place where we are loved, and the unconditional desire to see that those we love find happiness. BIG EDEN stars Arye Gross (Ellen, Minority Report) Eric Schweig (Skins, Dead Man's Walk), Tim DeKay (Swordfish, If These Walls Could Talk), and Academy Award winner Louise Fletcher (One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest, Flowers in the Attic). BIG EDEN was directed by Thomas Bezucha and produced by Jennifer Chaiken.

BIG EDEN is a uniquely American fable

Big Eden is a tiny town tucked away in the timberland of northwestern Montana, where Cowboys lounge on the porch of the general store to pass the time away. It is also the childhood home of Henry Hart, a successful but lonely New York artist who returns after years away to care for his ailing grandfather. Back home, Henry confronts his unrequited passion for his high school best friend and his feelings about being gay in a small town. Warmed by the openness and affection of old friends, in time Henry finds new possibilities for friendship and romance.

BIG EDEN wowed audiences in more than 100 theatrical markets from coast to coast and across the heartland, appealing to filmgoers in big cities and small towns alike. At year's end, BIG EDEN placed in the top ten lists of The Advocate, Planet Out, as well as many gay and mainstream film critics and won several Audience Awards for Best Film in it numerous sold-out festival screenings. BIG EDEN has also been nominated in the GLAAD Media Awards Outstanding Film category. Part of BIG EDEN's success stemmed from the fact that it is the first gay-themed feature to be rated PG-13 by the MPAA.

BIG EDEN is the first gay feature to make its DVD premiere in a special 2-disc set, which will feature a widescreen transfer, a director's commentary track, a behind-the-scenes short documentary, bonus footage and extended scenes, original theatrical trailer, bloopers, and cast/crew biographies. The VHS edition features the original theatrical trailer and widescreen format. The DVD retails for $24.95 and the VHS retails for $39.95.

SALMONBERRIES

Special DVD Edition Set in the rural landscape of Alaska, Percy Adlon's lesbian classic SALMONBERRIES makes its DVD debut featuring a new 45-minute interview the film's star k.d. lang and the video of her hit song "Barefoot" from the film's soundtrack. In the harsh and lonely Alaskan wilderness, an unlikely relationship blossoms. k.d. lang portrays Kotz, an androgynous young Eskimo. She is attracted to Roswitha (Rosel Zech, Aimée and Jaguar, Veronika Voss), a German expatriate and the town librarian. Although Roswitha initially rebuffs the younger woman, Kotz's innocent persistence gradually wins her over. Together, they find the freedom to face old demons and to express their hidden yearnings.

Beautifully shot on location in Alaska and Germany, the film also features Grammy award-winner k.d. lang singing the evocative song "Barefoot" throughout. The music video version of "Barefoot" appears on both the 10th Anniversary VHS and the new DVD editions. The DVD also includes an intimate interview with k.d. lang in her home. Speaking candidly to her old friend and SALMONBERRIES director Percy Adlon, lang reminisces about the making of the film and her impressions of the vast Alaskan wilderness. The DVD retails for $24.95 and the VHS edition retails for $19.95. has a pre-book date of February 12, 2002 and a street date of March 19, 2002.

JOHNNY GREYYES

The popular art house and festival film JOHNNY GREYYES is the powerful story of a Native American woman struggling to maintain strength, love and spirit. Since the shooting death of her father, Johnny has spent most of her life in prison. There, she forms a new family and falls in love with her cellmate Lana. But her responsibilities to the outside world weigh heavily as she attempts to pull together her fractured natural family. With a release date near, she valiantly strives to keep her two worlds together. JOHNNY GREYYES was directed by Jorge Manzano and stars Gail Maurice as Johnny and Columba Bobb as Lana.

The first feature film focusing on Native lesbians, JOHNNY GREYYES is a deeply humanizing portrait of life behind bars. After premiering at the 2000 Sundance Film Festival, JOHNNY GREYYES won the Freedom Award at Los Angeles' Outfest and was nominated for Best Picture at the 2000 American Indian Motion Picture Awards. JOHNNY GREYYES makes its home video premiere on DVD and VHS on March 19 with a pre-book date of February 12. The DVD retails for $24.95 and the VHS edition retails for $39.95.

Since 1985, Wolfe Video has been the premiere company providing feature films on, and to, gays and lesbians. LOGIC RECORDS & WESTEND TREAT US TO NEW RELEASES

Logic Records sent us "WAKE UP" by BEKI on a CD single including mixes by Guido and Johnny Vicious. This is definitely a club record and probably won't make it to radio. The lyrics are sparse and the music is typical club music. Nothing new here, but it has a nice sound and of course sounds best played loud in the club. Best mix is probably the Guido Dirty Original mix, but I also like the JV Vox mix (last on the CD). The CD is available everywhere now.

WestEnd Records, a label famous for great dance music from the late 70's and 80's has been back in biz over a year now and is making club people in New York very happy. They have released "Masters At Work" The 25th Anniversary Edition MasterMix. This double CD is chock full of classics and includes some heavy hitters from yesteryear by the likes of Karen Young "Hot Shot" and Taana Gardner "Heartbeat". Relax, if you don't recognize any of these it just means you're younger than I am.

This is not your average oldies CD. You aren't going to find all the same old crap, oops I mean same old Pop Disco Hits that are on every other CD. This stuff is true club music and much of it was responsible for developing the sounds you now love today. The music is definitely funkier and much much slower than you are used to in today's dance halls. Some of it reminds me of what Jamiroquai has been trying to recreate with his retro sounds. Grab a couple of drinks and invite a few friends over and give this a listen. It might catch you by surprise.

YOUR STORE WITH MORE - ON BROADWAY - FOR OVER 20 YEARS

from bar rag to bar mag... 9 YEARS & GROWING!

Fiestaware was originally made in Ohio. It's getting more and more rare in Ohio because of all the gay people collectin' it! That's a whole comedy sketch right there: "We can't break up! We have a whole demitasse set!"

JL: Omigod, That's a little too precious for me!

There's a very sweet but slightly psychotic guy in Tampa whose mother worked for the Fiesta Factory. So she saved and saved and saved a lot of it. It wasn't valuable then—it was just everyday dishware. You go to visit him is his house, and he has ten of everything! He has no house. Everything's just lines and lines of every colored pitcher. His entire backyard is garage, filled with rows and rows of it. I think all people collect, but I think gay people are just better at it! We go that extra step.

JL: We'll buy that second Cher doll, just because it's got the shoes!

(laughs) That's so Real! I can't stand it!

JL: Well, what do you think of Northeast Wisconsin and Green Bay?

I've never been this far up north before. So far...it's sort of like...a live and let live thing. "I have to shovel snow, I have to go to work, I don't have time to be worried about whatever your little extra thing is." (pauses) Everybody here is accepted, if you just sorta "go along." I'm not sure yet if you're in a situation if you can make a big fuss. Don't know if there'd be community support for that.

It's mentioned that for most people, gays and lesbians included, this area is a 'nesting' community.

You think it's the cold? Once you find someone... eLook, you got a furnace? I loves you! I'm gonna live with you forever!" Or, "Hey, is that a wood burning stove?"

JL: That's why I stayed with my boyfriend Jessie! What did you think of your show at the West Theatre?

Last night was rockin'! I had such a good time. It was really, really fun...and the boyz showed up, too. (Imitating a young gay man) "I didn't know it I could come, because it was lesbian, but I understood all of it! And I not a woman." I said, "Honey, you are more a woman than anyone here!" I love gay people. Don't you just love us?

Suzanne then talks about her comedy and how it relates to her as a lesbian.

I don't think there's really lesbian humor. I mean, just because it's funny to you (pointing to a member of the group) as a lesbian, doesn't mean it's funny to you (pointing to another member) in the same way as a lesbian. But...there is the fact that I'm lesbian, and I think that colors it. Everything that Chris Rock says as a standup is flavored by the fact that it's a black man that grew up as a black man in this country. So everything that I say—even the things about my dogs—is going to have a tinge of flavor of who I am in the world, which is a lesbian woman in this country.

JL: Where are the tough or easy audiences?

The easiest audience for a comic is Washington DC, because it's a big city. The people are educated, well read...they live the news. You get that in New York, but DC is still a southern city. The combination of being both open and warm & extremely savvy and well-read...any little reference you make they're right on it.

Every place offers it own little thing. That's how I feel. There are...um, some areas of our country where I have to speak slower. Because I have the accent when I'm "Down There." "They're all, (southern accent) What she say? I didn't understand anything!"

JL: Do you have a particularly favorite worst show?

No, because I deny them! Denial of the bad show. If it was a bad show, it was a negative experience, I've like blocked it out. But thanks for bringing it up!

JL: What do people think about gays and lesbians around the country?

It's do diverse. I did a show in Fayetteville, Arkansas and the next day...people were talking about how they still get their cars egged. One woman has a son from a marriage—she's gay now—but her son just gets beat up every other week. They're really fighting a little bit of a civil rights war, not like in Los Angeles, where fighting for civil rights [means] "We wanna get married." A two hour plane ride, they're fighting a totally different thing.

Then you get these little pockets...like Columbus, Ohio. It's in the Midwest, they're are certain expectations you're gonna have about how good or bad things are. There's twenty-five gay bars and maybe ten publications. It's crazy! You go forty minutes in any direction—including large[r] cities like Cleveland and Cincinnati—it's really a lot worse. What's that all about? Or like Salt Lake City, where I had this certain expectation, and yet my show there...we probably have four or five hundred people every time I do a show there. I've gone to their community center. It's small, but they own the building! I was impressed.

JL: And because of your job or by choice, you are a spokesperson for our community...

I'm all about that. I'd like to be King. (laughs) Notice I didn't say "queen" in present company. Didn't want to upset anybody!

I don't think we're at a place yet where I can stop encouraging or propagandizing people to come out to their families and work if it's safe, because if they passes a hundred laws that said you're not allowed to discriminate against gay people and gave us every right in the book, it won't change anything, because people still have their feeling about us. The only thing that ever changes that is when they meet us, learn who we are, talk to us, and return something to us.

DavidE's Dish... Oh honeys it's all about Cher, Cher, and more Cher. Tis the season of Cher and the world's a better place because of it! Forget the Olympics, <snore, snore> because there weren't even any cute guys to look at. Winter Olympics mean heavy uniforms and bodies all bundled up like Nanook of the North. All I can say is boring! BUT, the three Gen Xers who swept the men's snowboarding were fabulous. It just shows you how fierce America truly is. Rock on Lady Liberty!

Speaking of fierce ladies who should rule the world, other than me, here's the latest on Mz. Cher... Oh by the way, screw Madonna for now, she's on the back burner. Ms. Maddie is living in England desperately trying to hold onto her marriage. She ain't gettin' no press time from DavidE until she releases a sassy new, hotter than hell, song. So back to Cher...

Her brand new video for "Song for the Lonely" is now on VH1 and apparently is played constantly. Let me tell you sweetie, this video is awesome. Cher looks fabulous, the special effects are very cool, and the video gives you goose bumps all over. Many people are using "Song for the Lonely" as an anthem for what happened on Sept. 11th and this new video really pushes that sentiment. Once you see the video you'll totally know what I'm talking about. You can view the video at, www.cher.com or of course watch VH1, duh.

Rosie "I'm soon to come out as a lesbian" O'Donnell will have Cher as her guest on March 1st. I'm sure every gay man in America will have his VCR set to tape that episode. How fabulous will that be? Rosie and Cher back together again. YUMMY! Little side note on Rosie - sources tell me that she'll officially come out in her new autobiography which will be released in May. This is the same time she'll end her TV show. Anywho, like we all don't already know she's a dyke! Rosie's appearance on "Will & Grace" basically screamed, "I'm a lesbian." Oh wait, she did actually say that. Does this sound a hell of a lot like Ellen DeGeneres? Oh for God's sake, will these Hollywood fags and dykes just come out and be done with it.

So enough of the Hollywood drama. As if we all don't have enough drama in our lives. Mary J. is screamin' "No More Drama" while DavidE is in talks with Aaron Spelling to produce a sequel to "Dynasty." I'm envisioning a super fierce primetime soap opera called, "ClubLand" where Messie Bessie and I are arch enemies, a la Crystal and Alexis. In every episode Messie and I get into a huge fight because she slept with my husband. Of course we slap each other around a lot and I choke her with her own feather boa. But before I can kill her, she cracks a beer bottle over my head and I pass out. When I awake I'm stuck at an after hours party full of B-crowd people who simply are not fabulous. Oh my gawd what am I going to do? How can I get out of this horrible situation? Stay tuned for next week's exciting episode! Messie Bessie, you're a bitch and I'm comin' after you...

Woo hoo, I'm on the phone right now with Cher's agent. I think Cher is going to make a guest appearance on "ClubLand." It's going to be very "Love Boatish!" I'm definitely seeing an Emmy in DavidE's future. Adios children, I'm setting sail for "Fantasy Island." I'll send postcards...

SUZANNE WESTENHOEFER INTERVIEW by Jesse Littlemen

It's the morning after the standing room only show at the West Picture Show of Suzanne Westenhoefer, comedian extraordinaire. Usually, I don't plan on going to Perkins—like most late night folk, I just kind of end of there. But today is different: Before she makes an ass-backwards flight across the state to get to Madison, promoter Juli Adams invited me to visit with Suzanne.

She is a sight as she comes walking in the nonsmoking section. Sunglasses, travelling outfit, and an entourage of womynfolk to ensure her timely arrival at Austin Straubel. After settling in and an giving an incredibly funny demonstration of syrup containers singing "Stop in the Name of Love!" I start in on the interrogation.

JL: You've been in a relationship for ten years?

It'll be ten years in June...nine and a half. I can do math!

JL: You ever think of getting hitched—tying the not?

No, no. We're old-fashioned queers. We don't believe in marriage, or kids, and a lot of that other, you know, new fangled gay stuff. We're in Los Angeles. We just bought a house, it's three stories. It's three doors down from the original Lucy & Dezi House. When they first lived here and got married. So when you watch their story on E! Entertainment they always show them at that house...ITS JUST UP STREET!!!

We have two cats, but we also have this cat living in our backyard. We think that a homeless women who lived up on the Sunset Strip may have passed away, and she had this big orange tabby—it was hers! We've been trying to feed it, take care of it for about a year. he don't wanna come in the house, he stops by, he wants to get a little food, a little love and sugar, then he's on his way. But when you scratch his back, he does this (Suzanne Moves her head left and right in a particular way). So my friend sees this and goes, (imitating Stevie Wonder) "Very Superstitious / writing on the wall...i Omigod! Now it's, "Hey, you wanna see the cat do Stevie Wonder? Let's go out back!"

We feel like we could adopt him, but now we've bought a house down the street and across the block, and we're worrying about: "How are we gonna get the money? Will we get a loan? How we gonna let the cat know we've moved?"

Juli Adams(promoter of this event): You wouldn't like coming over to our house...we've got a big German Shepard.

It depends with me on large dogs, because I am fearful of them and people don't train them, and they jump on everybody!

Juli: Max doesn't jump on anybody, but he loves to sniff.

Quite frankly, that can be fun (whole table erupts in laughter). "Stop it, I said stop it! Or, faster...whatever!"

JL: What are you doing for the rest of the year?

I usually do ninety, a hundred shows in eighty cities. I'm going to acting class, I'll be auditioning...picking up dog poop in the backyard. [My girlfriend would say,] "Yeah, right! Not hardly! Once, in '87!"

The conversation then turns to her flying experiences after 9/11, and the 'erandom' airport security checks.

The profiles are so odd, because all of the things you think it would be it's not. It things like you have a one-way ticket or flight, if you're switching airlines, travelling alone...I think they're just targeting gay people. "Let's see what the queens are wearing!"

JL: I just flew out to San Francisco, and they have this new procedure where they essentially stick a metal detector wand down the front of your pants to make sure there's nothing hidden behind you belt buckle.

Okay, that's just the little story that boy told you!

JL: What's your favorite thing to do when your not at work?

Antiquing. I collect fiestaware. I have about a thousand pieces, and Wisconsin is a little hotbed where I can get a lot of good pieces.

JL: My mom just got a whole set as a gift. She loves it.

And where is your mom right now, and does she sleep heavily? (laughs) Well, it's funny.

Dreamgate Gallery.Com is Giving it Away

Dream Gate Gallery is back online after a hiatus of approximately four months, and the web site has been completely overhauled.

The break was required as the cyber-gallery's owner reorganized the business and made necessary changes to the gallery's web hosting services.

The revised site includes information about the company and a completely revamped gallery, which includes fully downloadable, royalty-free images.

The site also includes links to the gallery's three online stores, formed in partnership with Shop-Excite.com. The online stores include a book/music/movie store, an electronics shop and a gift shop.

Says owner Michael Sapp, "The new site represents an entirely new philosophy for Dream Gate. Previously, Dream Gate attempted to market its online images. Now, we are giving away the online art. We just hope that people will see what Dream Gate CAN do, and will give us the opportunity to DO IT in support of their graphic art and design projects."

The Dream Gate web site is located online at <http://www.dreamgategallery.com>
