Drag It Out Of Me!

By Miss Lilly White

Grrrrr! I can't believe it's time for another scandalous drag report, and "par usuelle" there is drag-a-plenty to call out.

Seems a few fans feeling were hurt recently when at the very last minute the newly crowned Miss Cosmopolitan, Christina Chase and former Miss Cosmopolitan, Desereaa Triumph cancelled thier appearances at a benifit show for Camp Heartland (a camp for children with AIDS). Supposedly, they were told they would be fired if they performed. That seems so funny to me. I have worked at the Club 219 for many years and one thing that I could always count on was the owners support for the community and his willingness to always let us perform at benefit shows no matter when or where they were they held. I'm assuming the story must have been reported all wrong, because these divas surely wouldn't have given an excuse that could have been completely found out. I have a feeling that Christina's iron must have broke, and she didn't want to make another appearance in a wrinkled up dress.

Once again it seems the hot spot for all the most heinous crossdressing gossip is that quaint little metropolis just across the border, Rockford, IL. Recent Rockford resident Taylor Vaughn is apparently making quite an impression on the entire high heel wearing community. Evening gowns arent the only thing she apparently likes to aquire. She also likes to collect utility bills and roommates underwear. I have heard so many rumors about this precious lass I just can't keep them all straight. By the way it sounds, she is taking the town by storm, and they just weren't ready for her.

More news from Rockford? Can it be that the current reigning Miss Office and ColorStay lipstick spokesmodel, Gina Delicious was recently seen outside the well-known establishment whooping somebody's ass in the parking lot? Seems she had a posse to back her up while she gave the unfortunate victim the suckerpunch! He must have really riled her up to get her out from under her table. This is one lovely young diva that I wouldn't want to mess with!

As everybody knows this week was the annual Miss Gay USofA Pageant held in Dallas, TX. We were all proud to send two beautiful divas from our fabulous Dairystate to compete against girls from all around the country. Chantal and Dee Dee Winters the top scoring queens at the state pageant last November headed down south to see how they could do at a national level of illusionist competition. I was hoping that one of the stunning dolls would be bringing back a rhinestone hat, but unfortunately the Kenosha showgirl placed 33rd, and the Green Bay Packerette placed lower at 36th place. Congratulations to Alexis Gabrielle Sharrington from Jacksonville, FL - Miss Gay USofA 2002. Anybody interested should definitely check out the USofA website (www.USofA.org) to see lots of photos of all the girls from all around the USA. I have to say that they both looked like movie stars in thier evening gowns, and it is so hard to compete where the judges have no idea who you are. Better luck next year girls! I am so looking forward to seeing both of these girls at the upcoming Miss Southeastern Pageant to be held at that fashionable watering hole, Club 94 North.

With the national pageant going on, there were a lack of pageants to report on, so this column will be a little shorter than most. Be warned that next issue will be scandal packed with more gossip than one can choke down.

I would like to wish everyone and especially all my loyal readers a very happy pride weekend, and remember.... It was 33 years ago this June, that a bunch of lip-synching drag queens got sick of being descrimated against, stood up and started the modern gay rights movement that allow us all today to be "10% crowd and 100% proud!" Don't let anybody tell you different sisters!

There will be 3 talent nights this month if any of you girls are ready to take the stage to compete or perform. All are welcome. And as a few may know there will only be a couple of talent nights left before I make my "grand exit" and embark upon another chapter of my so-called life. Look for a drag extravaganza farewell show that will certainly star many of the gorgeous friends that I have made over the last 15 years here in Milwaukee.

Don't forget also ladies that the beautiful Candis Cayne from New York City will be making an appearance at the Miss Continental Pageant this month. And by all reports the lovely Cass Marie Domino will be there sporting her new "Mexican twins".

If anybody has some dish that needs to be told please e-mail me at my website www.misslilywhite.com. Thats all for now girls!

I'll be back in three weeks with all the grease. Stay fierce girls!

Tell Trinity!

Gay Men & Ancient Immortal Queens

Hey Trinity,
Why is it that so many gay men act feminine or queeny?
Yours, Queeny Queries Louisville, KY

Hey Queries,
Haven't you ever read the Fairy Tale Dictionary? In the section "Feminine Men & Immortal Queens"? it says, "Throughout history there lived generations of cultural, prominent and powerful queens who made the world a better place. When the Gods saw these fabulous queens they wanted to keep their spirit alive for eternity. Thus the God's chose some but not all very special gay men to carry on the spirit of these highly inspiring queens." Today, when we see a feminine gay man he is simply a vehicle for an ancient immortal queen.

DATING DILEMMA #63

Dear Trinity
My boyfriend has gone back to taking drugs. It is killing me and our relationship. But I am in love. What should I do? Thanks, Drug Disaster Portland, ME

Dear Disaster,
When my lovers turns to drugs I always want to turn to packing my bags. But first, I always call, visit, or find someone in Narcotics Anonymous. They KNOW what to do! Look in your local papers. Dating a drug addict has got to be... like dating a drug addict! If he doesn't want help then you may have to find... a new boyfriend. Be patient yet pushy!
Love, Trinity

Dear Trinity,
I have been dating someone for almost six months. I keep trying to find the perfect time to end the relationship but it is never the right time. This has been going on for almost two months. What is the right way to end it?
Wasting Time Cambridge, MA

Dear Wasting,
Is there ever the right way to say, "Get lost it's over!" Try sitting together in a private place, being clear headed, to the point and not start saying, "Well... Ah... And..." Someone always gets hurt in a breakup which means it is always about trying to hurt someone the least!

Dear Trinity,
I have a dinner meeting with my boyfriends parents, for the first time. How do I impress them?
Thanks, First Dinner! Raleigh, NC

Dear Dinner,
Those first meetings can make or break you and trying not to act nerves only makes you appear more insane. Take out your highlighter marker and start outlining these!

Trinity's Tips For Dinning Out With Someone You Want To Impress

1. If you must cough, sneeze or spit do it by turning AWAY from others and into a napkin.
2. (Men) Standing up when someone arrives and holding the door to let someone go ahead is oh so nice.
3. Keeping your head up and bringing the food to your mouth is much more attractive than SCOOPING the food into a face that is half bent over the plate.
4. Having a drink or two is common and natural but getting drunk and obnoxious promises that you will impressed NO ONE!
5. Eating fast or too much, drinking fast or too much, talking fast or too much and being impatient or too much are all things that people should do... ALONE!
6. Sharing food, sharing drinks and sharing dessert means that you're not only a fine diner but someone who gets asked out AGAIN and again.
7. Getting good directions, making reservations, being on time and being familiar with the menu before taking someone to dinner will make your night one to REMEMBER.
8. Getting lost, showing up to a restaurant without reservations, being late with a lame excuse and ordering food that you never tried before will make your night one to FORGET.
9. If you're a guest of someone you don't have to order the most expensive wine, appetizer, entree and dessert. Be a great date not an OVERPRICED one!
10. Lastly, if you're picky, hard to deal with, needy and like to have it your way then try making believe that your someone ELSE just until dinner is over.

xxx videos out now

A slew of new vids came out this past month that are worth your attention. Raging Stallion Studios has been very busy lately especially in the fetish and fantasy scene department. There's "Cops Gone Bad", "Sex Pack Eight", "Gay Boy Gang Bang" and "Sky's the Limit". Sky Donovan is featured in all three of these and this man is HOT! He has garnered a lot of awards recently and has his own production company at Raging Stallion. Gay Boy Gang Bang is my personal fav in the fantasy dept. It is obvious what the plot is, but the sex is really hot and this is the most realistic acting I have seen yet. You may want to turn the volume off if the yelling and name calling start to get to you. Wessley Morrow does a great job at being the asshole punk kid and is totally hot watching him riding Donovan. "Sky's The Limit" is the latest Raging Stallion sent me. It takes their brand of sex photography to the great outdoors, and as we have come to expect from this studio, the photography is better than most. These are all filmed in Sexascope, but it is lost on VHS. I am waiting for a DVD release to judge the picture quality.

Chi Chi La Rue has also been busy both with her online adventures and with three more releases. "Peep Show", "Finish Me Off", and "Oral Exams" Chi Chi has done a great job bringing us a slew of new men on the scene lately. The plots are a little weak, but most of the guys are great looking and the sex is pretty hot. The one that stands out is "Oral Exams" because of Matt Summers. (He is also in the other two vids.) My god that guy can take the hugest all-the-way-down! Being an oral fanatic myself, this is the best I have seen to date from Chi Chi. Keep up the great work girl!

DANCING WEDNESDAY - SUNDAY

MUSIC CD RELEASES

Before we begin, we ran out of room to plug the gay related films appearing on the Sundance Film Channel for June. Each year they feature a great selection of fare, many from the festival circuit. Showtime is not to be outdone, however and is programming more for the LGBT community on Wednesdays this month as well. Stars Channel is also giving gay programming a try. With all this great gay TV, I ask the question, do we need a dedicated Gay Channel on cable?

Now to the music. Groovalicious record promoter Jimmy Smith sent us Aurora UK's album "Dreaming" and "The Cuts Session 001". "Dreaming" has lovely ballads and features a beautiful lead singer who is sure to be a future DIVA. I especially loved the cover version she does of "Ordinary World". Aurora will remind you a little of Celine Dion's music. The album also contains a radio edit that is jazzed up for dancing of the title track "Dreaming". I suspect several other cuts are also going to get the speeded up for the club treatment.

"The Cuts" is another compilation series featuring 10 club dance tracks. This is not the top 40 pop stuff but the music you hear at the raves and circuit parties. I won't go into detail because you know you gotta have this disc, now go out and buy it!

Also sent out to the gay bar circuit was Jennifer Lopez "Alive" just in time for her new feature movie. This is the second time we have had the media sending materials to gay bars nationwide to promote entertainment we especially seem to favor; Showtime sent posters and goodies to plug Queer As Folk earlier this year.

DavidE's Dish... Here we go children! Keep your hands and feet inside the ride at all times. The Summer of 2002 is getting off to one hell of a start. We just recovered from Memorial Day and now here comes PrideFest to slap ya up side the head! And then, on top of all the various pride celebrations going on in June, we have Ms. Cher herself saying, "Farewell" on July 13th at the Bradley Center. Honey, Cher's done had enough of that touring crap and she's going out with a Bang, Bang. But we'll get to that in a minute...

Over Memorial Day weekend Messie Bessie, Nephew Rob, Hubbie John, and I headed down to Chicago to mingle with the International Mr. Leather crowd. Lord have mercy and then some. DavidE ain't no leather queen, that's for sure. Sweetie, the only leather I was sportin' was Prada on my feet, Gucci on my belt, and a cock ring in my pants. I figured I should at least try to fit in. Yeah right! "Dancing Queen on the dancefloor!" Honey, this party boy stuck out like a sore thumb. Or should I say sore nipple? I'm sure there were all kinds of sore "bits n' pieces" that weekend. How kinky! Well anyhow, we simply went down to party at The Metro with my fave DJ of all time, ABEL. Now if you know anything about club music you know DJ Abel is one serious mother, when it comes to rockin' out a club. Abel is all about deep dark bass with lots of sexy, tribal shit thrown in just to make you hot, horny, and craving more. There really isn't any DJ better for a leather weekend. And based on the "nasty" things we saw going on, on the dancefloor the audience felt the same way. If you were lucky enough to be there, I hope you had as fabulous of a time as we did. Messie Bessie and I ran into a bunch of you Wisconsin boys and we showed Chicago how to party right!

Well I never thought I'd say this, but one massive party night in Chicago was enough for DavidE. That's right. The Queen of ClubLand laid low for the rest of Memorial Day. Even Messie Bessie that drunken lush only rocked it out for one night. Well we did turn Milwaukee on its ear Friday night, but hell that's a regular occurrence. What's a Friday night in Milwaukee without DavidE and Messie Bessie sloshing around from bar to bar? Hello, it's like peanut butter with the damn jelly!

So now Memorial Day is done and gone. Overall it was uneventful. No Milwaukee Classic softball tourney to keep our interest peaked. I sort of missed having all those out of town boys here for the weekend. But seeing that this ex-tramp is now happily married, all those boys would have gone to waste anyway. BUT we do have PrideFest starting on June 7th. I'm sure there will be loads of out of town boys here that weekend! OUCH! I just got slapped by my boyfriend. What a bitch!

Anywho, it's right. PrideFest should be starting right when you're reading this little piece of trash. Make sure you get your gay ass down to SummerFest grounds for some serious homo-heaven. Catch all the fierce DJ's at the dance tent and make sure you say HI to little old me. I'll be bopping around all weekend with Messie Bessie, making complete fools out of ourselves. Our theme for PrideFest 2002 is "She's So Sloppy." Messie and I are taking "sloppy" to a whole new level and may the Lord above, Mother Nature, and Buddha all have mercy on our sorry ass souls come Monday morning! God love ya!

Speaking of God, or at least Cher. Can you believe she's saying farewell? On Saturday, July 13th every fag in the state will be at the Bradley Center to bid farewell to the one woman we've all strived to be. And let me tell you, those tickets are going for major dinero! Cher sure is saying farewell, and that bitch is taking all of our money with her! Tickets on eBay are going for over $200 each. Well I don't care who I haveto sleep with, blackmail, or kill I'm gettin' me a ticket! Ouch, that damn boyfriend slapped me again. OK, I won't sleep with anyone but the blackmail and the killing remain viable options!

May you all have a faboolous PrideFest and let's look forward to all the other pride celebrations happening around our state. We're HERE, we're QUEER, so let's make 2002 one freaky fierce YEAR! Party safe, play safe...

www.mephistoleathers.com or email Eric and talk to him at EKugelman@ mephistoleathers.com. Tell him Electric Mike from Milwaukee sent you (that's me!). I had a nice chat with the two owners of the shop in Sydney and I am very impressed. Check them out, they will be well worth your money the next time you want some new leathers.

Saturday led to more people showing up, more alcohol, and more shopping in the vendor mart. I also attended the LeatherNavigator.com party hosted by Tim and Service boy. Congrats to both of them on putting on a very nice reception, and I'm sure Tim is quite thankful to all who attended, and helped him break even on the cost of the room, booze, and spread of food he had set out for everyone. I ran into many people I knew from online at that party, and Saturday evening. I must say it's always nice putting a face and voice and real person to all the online chats. It is sometimes worth attending events like IML just for the chance to meet so many "friends." By the end of the night on Saturday, the hotel staff was looking quite frazzled. The Bar, and upper lobby of the bar (both on the same balcony) were so crowded, the hotel staff had to close off the areas in fear the balcony would collapse. Scary.

Sunday and the Contest. I have to thank my new friend Robert Davolt of SF for information from the contest, and I also need to say he's much sexier in person. I was not able to attend the contest, so between him, and several other sources, I had to figure out what went on to make the thing last so damned long. The first factor on the length was probably the size of the contestant pool. This year the contest had 65 contestants, more than any year previous from what I have been told. Now I need to take a flash back to my last column. We're going to touch on title holder etiquette again. When giving your farewell speech, you don't need to thank every family member, every friend, every trick, and every pet you've ever had. LESS IS MORE PEOPLE!!! A few concise sentences will leave a much more lasting impression than a sermon on the mount. Also, singing goodbye songs is just not a good thing. Remember your interior design lessons, and go for minimal rather than diving into the deep end of Christopher Lowell over the top. Congrats to the new International Mr. Leather - Stephen Weber Mr. Leather Texas 2002! He is a very woofy man who did one of the best Miss America waves I've ever seen coming up the escalator of the hotel.

With all that said, Monday brought the Black and Blue ball at the Eagle. Yours truly did not attend, because he was just too damned tired, and out of money. I haven't heard anything back yet about the ball, but it is always packed, and a blast. I will fill in more details in the next column. I'm going to cut this issue a bit short, as I am beyond exhausted and I can barely keep my facts in order.

Remember PrideFest is a mere two weekends away at the time of writing this, and I expect to see each and every one of you there. Yes, they have some organizational problems, but they still host a fantastic weekend where we can all be ourselves and show our pride. The leather show is going to be Sunday afternoon after the parade (if I remember correctly.) For more information, or if you want to volunteer for the show, contact Russ at the PrideFest offices (414-645-3378) Confidential to the person who knows this is for him: Just come say hello. The longer you wait, the harder it will be.

That's it for me this week folks, keep sending those emails, and let me know what is up and coming so I can be sure to write about it! MikeyBear Leatherbear@wi.rr.com

HARBOR ROOM

OPEN 7:00 A.M. - 7 DAYS A WEEK

LEATHER LEATHER LEATHER LEATHER

Hello again hairy leather men! I hope everyone had a fun and sex filled weekend at IML, and from what I have heard everyone has made it home safely. For starters I must say it is amazingly ironic that I spent half of my last column talking about foot torture, and now am feeling like I went through it. My Feet HURT! I spent way too much walking around, and standing in some rather uncomfortable boots. Time to get a new pair, I'm taking donations EG. Enough about me (I really don't have a foot fetish. HONEST!), and on to the good stuff!!! (well actually. It is really all about me, because I'm just going to recant my weekend.)

Before I start with the IML weekend, I need to give some big congratulations to Chad who won the Harbor Room Uniform Contest. You looked fantastic! Now on to the rest of you queens who decided to show up in uniform but not enter. That was some serious bad form on your parts. As for the ones who pressured the bar to have the contest, it's your responsibility to recruit contestants. Don't assume that just because you build it, they will come. You're dealing with gay men; it takes a bit more effort than that.

After some slight miscommunication at the Cell Block, the Harley was not raffled off last Wednesday evening. Anyone at the bar got a chance to win a ticket to an "exclusive five hundred person party" where the bike will be given away. My friend Craig from Seattle at least won a t-shirt and yours truly left with a black Cell Block hanky. I will be sure to add it to my collection. I have to at least give the crew at the Cell Block some credit for giving some consolation prizes. I was much more taken by the sign in the lobby of the Hyatt: "Win a Chance to Win a Chance to win this Bike!" Wow, you too could have been entered into a pyramid scheme contest. All joking aside, CB and the Hyatt were raffling off 500 tickets to a party sponsored by Miller where the bike will be given away. I think it's in the middle of June, if anyone actually one a ticket, fill me in on the details, and let me know how the shindig went. The Cell Block had a nice and friendly crowd, and I hope my friend Brad from LA enjoyed his first time in the Yard.

Thursday was quite an interesting afternoon. The perch of choice were the couches on the main floor of the lobby to watch everyone check in. A word of advice: When traveling to a leather event, be it IML, MAL, ABW, LLC, or any of the other alphabet soup runs, be aware that hundreds if not thousands of homosexuals will be watching you when you check in. Showing up in worn leathers and Louis Vuitton luggage is going to get you noticed, and you will DEFINITELY get picked on. Don't act surprised when it happens.

Friday probably led to one of the most memorable phrases of the entire weekend being spoken, when someone (lord only knows who) made the comment "There are a few people here I could just spit on." Want to know more? Want to know what the obnoxious "Pfft!" sound is? And why it's going to be typed everywhere in my column? You'll just have to ask. Friday also marked the opening of the vendor mart. All I can say is WOW. It reminded me of a state fair flea market, only with Leather, S&M, and Rodeo Drive prices.

I'm going to get myself into a lot of trouble with this one, but it really needs to be said. I've noticed a rather disturbing trend the past few years in the vendor mart area: Price Gouging. Yes kiddies it's true, I saw no less than three supposedly "more reputable" vendors with prices much higher than their normally listed prices. A close friend pointed out a few more, but I wasn't as familiar with them so I couldn't verify but I implicitly trust his input. So Pfft to them! They will not longer get my business (except for the name plate I got at one, not realized they were one of the Pfft worthy vendors because I was so over tired.) With that said, I come to the decision to plug two vendors, or keep them my little secret. I'll plug one now, and decide if I'm going to share my little secret of who the other vendor is in the next few columns. I must say, (and no, I'm not getting compensated with this) that Mephisto Leathers of Sydney and Chicago had some of the best leather clothing in the entire market, if not THE best. Imagine my pleasant surprise when I found out the former Milwaukee's own Eric K is running the Chicago Branch. To give you some idea of the quality of their work, if you've ever seen the Sci-Fi show "Farscape" or the movie "The Matrix" You've seen their work. I spoke to Eric, and he said they are taking fittings, and placing orders. Your order will arrive in three weeks and he also guarantees the fit of whatever you purchase. Want to know more about them? Check out
