Damien of boyfunk.com,
BoysFeetClub.com
& Boysecrets.net

ON OUR COVER

Damien is indeed another new rising star of boyfunk.com, BoysFeetClub.com and Boysecrets.net. Damien is 18 years old, a Sagittarian; was born and raised in Texas, and now lives in San Diego, CA, where he is a biology student at UofC-SD. One of his newest ventures in cuteboyvideos.com, arriving on the web imminently.

"If I can stay in school long enough," Damien told Quest in a telephone interview Aug. 27, I'd like to get my Ph.d in biology.

Damien has a great future, obviously! We'll soon be seeing him in the newest DVDs and videos, too!

What a pleasure to have Damien as our cover model.

ATTENTION WEDNESDAY NIGHT GAY BOWLING LEAGUE PARTICIPANTS

We are starting September 3rd, 2003 and every Wednesday after

Riviera Lanes • Green Bay

bowling begins at 9pm

all invited for a good hump day of a time come join the fun!

Think You Can Handle This?!

Or think you can handle a chance to be featured in a major porn film aboard an all-gay Caribbean cruise this January?

Adult Entertainment Film Companies, Websites, and more want to see your ASSETS! You must be male, 18-23 y/o (only please), and height / weight proportionate. Couples fitting criteria also encouraged. It's a great way to make some extra cash, meet new people, travel, and have a guaranteed good time - especially for what you'd do anyway!

Auditions for models are being held EVERYWHERE across Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana (by appointment). So what do you have to lose? Final selections (for cruise) will be made by October 2003 so Don't delay

Wisconsin Cream City Chorus Announces New Season with Paula Foley Tillen

The Wisconsin Cream City Chorus is excited to announce their 2003-04 concert season with Paula Foley Tillen as their permanent artistic director.

She is an all around musician, well known in the local performing arts aommunity, and is in demand not only as a pianist, vocal coach and accompanist, but also for her work with the singing Group, Three Smart Girls.

An October 18 fund-raising event for the chorus will be held October 18 at Village Church, Juneau Avenue. The event will be a combination of solos, ensemble and full chorus pieces performed in a bistro atmosphere ...food, wine, memories of past concerts and dreams for the future.

The chorus' winter concert - Saturday Night at the Movies - is scheduled for January 10. Their spring concert - New Beginnings - will be held in April, and the annual Gay Cabaret Show - True Stories - will be staged in June.

Rehearsals for the season begin Wed., Sept. 3, 7 pm, at the LGBT Center; new members will be cheerfully welcomed. FMO (414) 276-8787 or write The Wisconsin Cream City Chorus, 315 W. Court St. (Suite 101), Milwaukee, WI 53212.

from the Lesbian and Gay Middle Eastern Community) to be presented on Sept. 11, 7 pm, at the LGBT Community Center, 315 W. Court St.

The video presents an emotional and revealing chorus of testimony from voices not previously raised, those of lesbians and gay men of Middle Eastern origin. As Jews, Christians and Muslims from Armenia, Syria, Iran, Egypt and Sudan, they all testify to the struggles of coming out and accepting themselves while confronting the traditional values of their families and their cultures. I Exist recently shared the award for Best Documentary at the 2003 New Festival, New York City's Lesbian and Gay Film Festival.

Act of Faith, a documentary by Dan Bree about men who are gay and Muslim, will also be presented.

A $2 donation at the showing is suggested.

'Homosexuality in the Bible' Series

Green Bay/Appleton Angels of Hope Pastor Announces

Rev. Elaine Thomas, pastor of Angels of Hope MCC (Green Bay and Appleton) will be preaching a series of Sunday sermons this month on what she calls 'clabber passages' of the Bible.

Writing in The Angels Voice, the church newsletter, Rev. Elaine says "What I call clabber passages of the Bible - verses often used to persecute us - will be my sermon topics for the full month of September."

Reverend Elaine continues, "I will explain each verse by pointing out the traditional conservative interpretations and follow the solid biblical scholarship that will refute those claims. I'll be pointing out Bible verses that are supportive, some that point to open acceptance of homosexuality and others that are a source of comfort and guidance to our community."

"I pray that this sermon series may dispel any questions or anxiety you may have concerning this topic as well as giving you a renewed sense of pride. The Bible belongs to all people, not just a few. We are indeed God's

Drag Queens, Drag Kings & Cross-Dressers Wanted for Health Survey

Researchers at the University of Minnesota are conducting a national transgender health study for transsexuals (MTF & FTM), cross-dressers or transvestites, drag queens, drag kings and other transgender individuals.

The TGStudy is an online study that examines the influence of gender on HIV risk among transgender people. The researchers believe that people who are transgender have unique experiences and insights that can help us to better understand the role of gender in HIV risk.

Hey everyone,

First of all, by the time you are reading this we will have had our representative for Miss Continental Miss Alexis St. James on her way back from the national competition held in Chicago. I will have a full update for you in the next column. When she does return, she will be giving up her title of Miss Napalese. It seems to me that the last couple girls to hold this title have done quite well for themselves. By the way, is it wrong to dress in drag at eight in the morning to have a married man over? Things that make you go hmmmmmmmm.

From my recollection, which as I get older is getting worse, the only thing going on this past week or two was the Miss Club 219 pageant. News at press time is they had ten contestants. Your winner: Taylor Roberts. Denise Williams came in next with Sharon Bumps third. I will have more detail for you on this one as it becomes available.

I had the pleasure of spending a recent Sunday afternoon with T.C. Hammond, Miss Alexis St. James and my friends Michelle and her boyfriend Scotty. I thought it was a good idea at first to spend a day at the breeder bars. It was fine until a few of them started getting tipsy and when it was time to move on, they would not tell me where they wanted to go. They simply told me to follow them. God help me, next thing I know I am pulling into a straight strip club in the day light on the Sabbath. If I was not going to hell before, I am now. I thought I would try it. The last time I was in a strip club, I was there with Miss C.C. Domino in drag. I figured, how could this be worse? Was I wrong. First, on a Sunday afternoon, it was not my intention to look at meat curtains. Second, Alexis was a little drunk, and trying her best to look like a boy, was tipping the strippers trying to buy their outfits off of them. After a stripper got on the bar where we were sitting, the stripper thought Michelle was hot and tried to pick her up. Michelle said no, but the stripper liked her so much she tipped Michelle. As the girl on the bar moved over to my corner, (we all know I like to sit in my corner) she danced for me. Being the well mannered person I am, I tipped her and she started to go behind me. Me not knowing that there was a stripper pole right behind me. She tried sliding down the pole, got her foot caught in my pants pocket and crashed face first into the floor below. Not that this would freak anybody out enough, but the bartender thought I threw the poor girl on the floor as he came running over to us. After she explained she fell all was good and I got the hell out of dodge! Never again!

Now on to some gossip, seems one of the queens running for state this year is under the assumption that when you win a state crown, you must have your own bobbie pins or steeple jacks to have your crown pinned in at the time you are announced the winner. I do not know who is messing with this poor girls mind but the truth of the matter is, they are taken out of the existing girls crowns to pin in the new one. Anyway, this one must be from "Venus" cause she is so sure of taking the title this year she went and bought a whole box.

Next we move to the Historic West were a wonderful show was put on by some out of town Drag Kings. The place was full to capacity as Neely mc'd. All I have to say if I did not know better, some of the "girls" make really hot boys! I warned you, if you missed this show, you were going to miss a lot. All the numbers were really great, there was a lot of group numbers that were very professional looking. The crowd loved every minute of it as I did.

I want to express some feelings that I have heard and also some points of view I have been told regarding titleholders. Things are getting way out of hand. People are having titles taken away for no reason, others who deserved to have them taken away never did.

Somebody needs to get this pageant system straightened out before it is one huge joke! I do not even know where to start, so I will just pick one and move on. First the recently won Mr. Rainbow Over Wisconsin title. Shortly after the sash was awarded, there was a miss understanding about the scores. It was rumored the scores were fixed. The following night the winner was caught in the bathroom kissing somebody else's husband. The promoters took his title away and gave it to the first runner up. After further investigation, turns out the scores were not fixed, just a misunderstanding about something that was said. Second, do we take titles away for kissing in a bathroom? More about that later.

Now it turns out that the winner of the Miss City Of Festivals pageant held in Milwaukee lied about her age and is only eighteen. The jury is still out on this one as to what to do. Personally, that is why there is a Miss Teen pageant. If you are not of legal age to be in a bar, then you are not eligible to run, period! Here is my thoughts on this whole thing. Keep in mind I have discussed this with a few key people and we all agree. What is happening??? In the past we have had title holders right up to the state level being involved with some pretty nasty things. You say you want examples? I will give you some. We have had a past state title holder that has a boyfriend, get caught in a bathroom on her knees tasting the local meat, and not her husbands. We have had a past title holder trash the idea of the crown so bad that her promoter was a hair away from taking it. We have had title holders doing coke in bathrooms and dressing rooms. One title holder was so intoxicated at a show, they stripped on stage from a girl to a boy. We have title holders having sex for money. Getting caught selling drugs, spending most of their reign in a jail cell, stealing money from bars and so on. Are these not reasons why titles should be taken away? It is the opinion of mine and others that some control needs to be obtained. What are the guidelines? What are the rules? How can we have title holders at all levels getting away with drugs and prostitution and public sex

MOVING OUT RIGHT THE FIRST TIME

Dearest Trinity,
I am moving out and on from a very dysfunctional relationship. And there is lots of drama. That is why I am leaving. But I want to move on with the least amount of drama. How?
Yours truly, Moving Drama Austin, TX

Dearest Moving Drama,
When it comes to moving on there's always drama and trauma. That's why you must plan your transition strategically, with a clear head and maybe even with the help of a lawyer. Most importantly, do it right the first time by getting all the help you need from the start, not when it's too late. Then once you're out and have gotten rid of everything that reminds you of him or her, take a wonderful, singles vacation somewhere intoxicating!
Love, Trinity

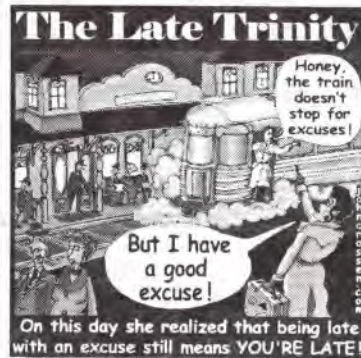

DATING DILEMMA #115

Dear Trinity,
I have been dating and sleeping with a "chaplain" from the military. But I recently found out that he is suppose to be a celibate priest. Should I be worried about his dishonesty? Yours, Celibate Date Las Vegas, NV

Dear Celibate Date,
You should always be worried about dishonesty and careful of men in the military who leave on "foreign affairs." However, you should also find out if he is interested in becoming a non celibate minister as well as make a mental note that this may just be a passing fling. And lastly, you should stay in the moment while having wild, exciting and exhausting sex!
Love, Trinity

Hey Trinity,
My girlfriend freaks out and goes on long lectures over my problem with being late. She is obsessive about it. I try to be on time but it is not always possible. How can I win with her?
Thanks, Late Again Columbus, OH

Hey Late Again,
Being late naturally makes people upset especially if you do it often. It also hints to other inconsistencies in your relationship which may add to your girlfriend's frustrations. She has to love you and hate your inconsistent behavior, never mind your lack of integrity about time (I didn't just say that)! Now, I know you want me to say, "Fix her" but when it comes lateness there are no excuses for missing the train!

Dearest Trinity,
My roommate is on my case to "clean up" more when I go out especially on a date. He says, "Guys have to make themselves attractive too!" Shouldn't someone be attracted to me for who I am naturally? Sincerely, Natural Beauty Trenton, NJ

Dearest Natural Beauty,
Of course you should be yourself but why not be your best self, your groomed self, your clean self. If women spend hours at the beauty parlor men should spend some time too. So here are:

Trinity's Smart Tips For Men Just Before Going Out Or On A Date

1. Clipping or pulling out your (visual) nose hairs makes looking at you less like looking at a zoo animal.
2. Trimming your eyebrows (especially the curly, runaway ones) means you'll never get compared to Einstein or Mr. Hyde.
3. Shaving the hair off the back of your neck assures you'll look younger and less prehistoric.
4. Getting rid of the hair sprouting from your ears says, "I have a job. I have a mirror. And I won't eat you!"
5. Brushing and flossing before you go out keeps people listening while looking at you.
6. Styling your hair or trimming you bald head gives the idea that you're not a lonely, introverted, selfish Unabomber.
7. Dying the gray especially from your beard takes an immediate ten years off your life and your sexual history.
8. Manicures are not only healthy but a sign of class.
9. Doing a few pushups, pull-ups, dips and curls will give you a few hours of immediate shape, cut and curve.
10. Lastly, plaid, strips and polka dots, promise you'll be hard to look at yet do well at avoiding enemy attacks!

and trashing of their titles and promoters and nothing happens. One person gets caught making out in a bathroom and their title is taken away. Is this worse than drugs, stealing and prostitution? It is bad enough people think that all the systems are rigged. Even at the national level. Look at the last national Mr. we had here. He was a joke. After seeing and hearing about others he ran against I asked why he won. The answer given to me was he ran so many times they just gave it to him. How pathetic. I can understand some politics, but this is getting way out of control. Please try to understand I am not picking on any one promoter, I just want to know were the guidelines are, who has a copy of these rules and why are small things getting titles taken away when bigger things are not. If you can pull a title for kissing someone in a bathroom, then we would have to take away the majority of the titles held in the past. Promoters and owners alike are wondering why people do not care for the pageants anymore, gee, I wonder?

Enough about that. I hope you all enjoyed the last holiday weekend before the fall season starts. Be sure to keep in touch at your local taverns for the goings on for the winter months. There is darts on Tuesdays, bowling on Wednesdays and other fun specials and parties going on all over to keep us all from going stir crazy.

Til next time, See ya at the shows!

I received a very nice email from Ross K, the new Mr. Harbor Room. For those (LIKE ME) who would like to know a little more about Ross-here it is: I live in the country near Alpine Valley on one of my dad's farms. This should explain the leather overalls I wore for the competition. I was born 43 years ago number three- the "odd" child. Growing up in the small town of Burlington, I felt like the only one who was different. I even tried to fix myself by getting married (to a woman) 20 years ago. That only lasted a year. My family has accepted me regardless, and for this I am very thankful. My interests include leather, which is a new and exciting experience. I am ready and willing to learn. Jockstraps and related sports gear top my list. This is my second year in a gay softball league and I love it. My friends, church, home, gardening, cooking, camping and pets make my life complete. I have several occupations to choose from (still don't know what I want to do when I grow up). First, I drive and escort motor coach tours throughout the U.S. and Canada. Between trips I work at Vocational Industries. This is a workshop for persons with disabilities. I enjoy group outings into the community, letting them take advantage of things we take for granted. Next, I try to help my dad with his business doing carpentry and maintenance. Finally, I am very involved in several leadership positions in my small country church. My spiritual life vs. gay lifestyle was a challenge in the past. A 98-year-old member reassured me that we are all Gods children. Thanks to the support of the congregation I have found peace. My involvement with special needs keeps my life in perspective. I treat them with the same respect and dignity I would my best friend.

I get back twice what I give. I know personally the hurt involved in being teased. This has turned out to be a gift that developed my sensitivity. I am drawn to the person on the outside because that has been me. Never have I received so much attention and appreciation since becoming Mr. Harbor Room. The support from everyone has been overwhelming. A heartfelt thanks to all of you. It has been a shot of self-esteem and confidence. Maybe this lends truth to the ugly duckling syndrome. --What a man!

"Please Sir, May I Have Another!"

Lots of comments on the cover photo last issue. Yes, I am capable of smiling, and I have been doing a LOT of smiling since the last issue (continue reading for details). Photo credit should have gone to Israel Wright of Israel Wright Photographs, Inc. in Chicago. Israel is a fantastic photographer, regardless of how questionable his subject matter might be! Check out his work at israelwrightphotographs.com.

On the third weekend of every August, leather/levi men (and now women) converge on the Kamke Farm in Hilbert for a camping and party experience quite unlike any other "run" held anywhere. The event is hosted jointly by the Argonauts of Wisconsin and the Castaways M.C. of Milwaukee, hence the name "Joint Run."

Joint Run 2003 was held August 15-17. The theme of this year's run was "Barn Dance," so many of the weekend events were given a Country-Western flair. The weekend's schedule of events is similar each year, but the theme changes and the individual participants make each year's run entirely unique. This year there were many unregistered mosquito guests, so the flavor of the weekend was "Deep Woods Off."

On Friday night, the Castaways hosted their stage show, which turned out to be a "Friday Night Ho-Down" (how appropriate). One is never quite the same after seeing Ma Barker and her wardrobe selections. I know one of those dresses was actually a body bag. After seeing Dottee, Deedee, and Cheesecake Josephina, number, I am more convinced than ever that the two clubs need a mental therapy fund.

After the Castaways show, the dungeon, the bar, and the dance floor were busy until the wee morning hours. Kevin and Rich hosted a cocktail party in the dungeon. As usual, many of the attendees wore themselves out. You might say they "shot their wads," and in some cases I'm sure they probably did.

Saturday mornings at the run get off to a slow start for some (See previous paragraph). The Milwaukee Knights served "Eye-opener" cocktails, and a full breakfast buffet allowed everyone to re-fuel for round two.

Saturday afternoon, the attendees engaged in games like an "Udder Toss," a "3-Headed Cow Race," and an "Artificial De-semination Contest." Very bizarre. Gateway M. C. of St. Louis hosted a cocktail party in the barn and the Chicago Leather Club hosted a cocktail party on the verandah. The verandah cocktail party doubled as a retirement party for Ralph S. of Minneapolis- one of the founding members of the Black Guard.

Argonauts VP Al K (with lots of help from Indiana George and Mike) provided snackies. A little "free time" before dinner always provides a great opportunity to get to know each other better, tour some of the friendlier tents, and spend a little time "gussyin' up" for dinner. The Main Cocktail Party was hosted once again by the Black Guard of Minneapolis.

Dinner on Saturday evening was a "banquet-in-a-barn," complete with table linens, wine goblets, and a buffet-style meal consisting of several entrée choices, salads, veggie selections, breads, and an entire buffet of desserts. Before dinner, the traditional "Parade of Colors" was conducted, enabling each of the twelve represented clubs to display and honor their Club colors. The Castaways presented a special recognition award to Bob (Ma) Barker for his years of club support. Dinner, like all of the meals for the event, was excellent- thanks to Mike Petri and his kitchen staff. Chuck Rodocker (of Touche's in Chicago) provided dinner wine.

After dinner, the Argonauts hosted the annual "Mr. Northwoods" contest. This year's winner and the new Mr. Northwoods for 2003-2004 is Jon S. from Cleveland, Wisconsin. Congratulations to Jon and to all the contestants. Congratulations also to Andy Schaidler (Mr. Northwoods 2002-2003) for organizing a great contest, and for his fantastic year as the Northwoods titleholder.

Following the contest, the dungeon re-opened, and the traditional out-door bonfire was lit. It was another fun-filled night, with cocktails in the dungeon courtesy of Andy, Brian, Ron, and TJ. I have to wonder where some of these boys and girls get their energy. One of these years, I'll save my wad for Saturday night.

After another fantastic breakfast buffet on Sunday morning, award presentations were made. Club participation awards went to Black Guard of Minneapolis (First Place), Chicago Leather Club (Second Place), and the KC Pioneers (Third Place). The Distance Award went to Bob Osswald, who again traveled from Denver, Colorado to attend this year's Joint Run. Sleep-space decorating award went to Joe G. and Gene D. of Milwaukee, with a "not-worth-mentioning" award going to Peoria Paul Hodge. It was another great weekend at the Kamke farm, and I am sure the 120-plus attendees will carry memories of Joint Run 2003 for years to come.

The weekend after the Joint Run, Argonauts VP Al Kamke and I skipped down to Indianapolis for the Great Lakes Leather Alliance (GLLA) weekend (August 22-24). This pansexual event included a number of interesting workshops, fantastic play spaces, and five regional leather title contests.

I highly recommend this annual event for anyone interested or immersed in the leather and/or bdsm lifestyle. The Saturday workshops alone make it worth the donation price. I had a great time, and want to thank Ms. Kendra McClain, Terry Snodgrass, emcees Sir Maxx, Ms. Connie, and Glen Paul, all the judges, boy Jose, First Lady of Leather Ms. Mary Elizabeth Boyd, Greg, s Place, the Metro and all of the organizers for their kindness and hospitality. Every one was fantastic. GLLA weekend is a very well organized and entertaining event! It was a tremendous opportunity to learn a few new tricks, and to meet some of the movers and shakers in our community- and let me tell you-They are all great people. They truly made us feel welcome.

Title winners were as follows: Bill Morse (Great Lakes LeatherSir 2003), Titusboy (Great Lakes Leatherboy 2003), Kat (Great Lakes Ms Leather Pride 2003), Milwaukee, s own izzy (Great Lakes Bootblack 2003), and Mistress Contance and slave drew (Great Lakes Master/slave 2003).

I'm happy to report that Stephen Seefeldt (Wisconsin L/L Daddy and Wisconsin Leather Sir 2003-2004) was first-runner-up at the Great Lakes Leather Sir contest at the GLLA weekend. Congratulations Stephen, and great job! In this competition, first-runner-ups really earn their keep. You are sure to have a busy year ahead of you!

From Israel Wright, Media Coordinator for Onyx of Chicago: Onyx Blackout 8 Behind the Eight Ball, begins Friday, October 10 at the Cell Block, located at 3702 N. Halsted, Chicago, with our cocktail and Registration/Package Pickup Party starting at 7pm. We will feature a live safer sex leather demonstration. Later that evening the Majestic Hotel is the site for the Weekend Package holder's party. We also have arranged a bar crawl for those folks who wish to celebrate Chicago's own flavor of the leather community. Another satisfying and eventful way to end the evening is to visit one of our returning sponsors the Steamworks.

Saturday, October 11 begins with a midday brunch, People Games, Annual General Meeting, another Live Safer Sex Demonstration, and ends with a real live Onyx Style Dungeon Party. An exhausting day it may seem but folks are advised to reserve some energy for the next day.

Sunday has our Onyx Annual Leather Buffet and Awards Ceremony followed by the Blowout Blackout 8 Dance party. This year Onyx welcomes a new sponsor, rentboy.com, who will be providing dancers to entice and keep the party jumping and humping. The featured DJ is Andre Hatchett. Look to our ad in future publications and check out our website-<http://www.Onyxmen.com> to see who will be the dancers performing this year -Thanks for the update, Israel!
