MILWAUKEE SCHOOL BOARD EXPECTED TO APPROVE DOMESTIC PARTNER BENEFITS

Milwaukee - The Milwaukee Public School System (MPS) is expected to become the largest school district in the state of Wisconsin to offer benefits to domestic partners of its employees when the entire school board votes on a proposal November 29. The vote will follow the 4-1 approval of a limited package by board's finance committee nine days earlier.

The resolution asks the school board to support "equal provision of employment benefits regardless of an employee's sexual orientation or family status" to 113 administrative staff not covered by union contracts. Openly lesbian board member Cheryl Morales sponsored the resolution.

Just under a hundred people attended the Tuesday meeting where the measure was discussed. Support for the measure among attendees offered during public comment on the proposal was overwhelming, 21-1.

Supporters argued that the measure would help retain valuable staff who increasingly can find similar benefits offered in the corporate world. A recently issued national workplace report by the Human Rights Campaign showed a majority of the Fortune 500 companies now offer domestic partner benefits.

If approved, the resolution will signal the board's commitment to being open to similar benefits in future union contracts for all school district employees. The Milwaukee Area Technical College recently authorized domestic partner benefits for its employees, following the example set by the City of Milwaukee.

"By supporting that resolution, we're committed, and it's only about how," MPS Human Resources Director Deborah Ford told the Milwaukee Journal-Sentinel.

Milwaukee Teachers' Education Association president Dennis Oulahan also told reporter Alan J. Borsuk that benefits for partners had attracted far more support among union members than any other proposed contract change. He added that the union did not want to wait until their contract expires in 2009 to add such benefits.

In Wisconsin, three school districts in the Madison area - Madison, Middleton and Sun Prairie - and the LaCrosse School District also offer employee domestic partner benefits.

The committee also voted 4-1 on a second resolution criticizing the Journal-Sentinel for an earlier story that included a headline that suggested Morales had offered the benefits proposal for her personal gain. Local right-wing talk show hosts - including several on WTMJ-AM which is also owned by the company that publishes the paper - used the earlier piece in an attempt to stir up opposition among listeners to the proposal.

Board President Peter Blewett said the earlier story mischaracterized the proposal, adding that he believed Morales had no conflict of interest. Morales married her partner Tina Owen, an instructor at the MPS Alliance charter school, in Canada last April.

The earlier story also stated that MPS Superintendent William Andrekopoulos and his staff were opposed to Morales' proposal, reportedly saying the issue should be left to negotiations with unions.

Refreshments will also be available.

World AIDS Day provides governments, national AIDS programs, faith organizations, community organizations, and individuals with an opportunity to raise awareness and focus attention on the global AIDS epidemic. The World Health Organization recently lowered its world estimate to 33.6 million people worldwide living with HIV. However, more than 25 million people have died of AIDS since 1981.

The United States, like other nations around the world is deeply affected by HIV/AIDS. More than one million people in the U.S. are living with HIV and there are approximately 40,000 new cases of HIV every year.

qnu Quickies: Recent Stories Of Note

By Mike Fitzpatrick

Here in no particular order is Quest's take on stories of gay interest since the last issue. A friendly reminder that breaking news is updated daily on the QNU: Quest News Update site online. Visit us at: www.quest-online.com.

GOP Toilet Tryster Resigns, Gets AIDS Test:

Republicans pressured GOP Florida House Representative Bob Allen to resign following his November 9 conviction for trying to pay for gay sex with an undercover police officer last July. Though Allen faced 60 days in jail, he received six month's probation and was fined $250 plus $245 costs. Allen also was ordered never to return to the park where the incident happened, be tested for sexually transmitted diseases including HIV and attend a HIV awareness class. The disgraced GOP pol will vacate his seat on February 13.

In a rare bit of karma, Allen had sponsored a failed bill in the Florida statehouse earlier this year called the Lewdness and Indecent Exposure Bill, designed to increase the penalties for committing "unnatural and lascivious acts or exposure or exhibition of sexual organs committed within specified distance of certain locations."

Since his election in 2000, he has been considered one of the most homophobic politicians in the Florida state senate. He received the title of "Wicked Witch," which is reserved for "The Worst of the Worst," from Florida's Rainbow Democratic Gay & Lesbian organization.

FBI Files Show Gay Death Threats Against Falwell:

Moral Majority founder Jerry Falwell stirred up more than just passions with his attacks on abortion and homosexuality, according to recently-released FBI files. The 112-page released confidential report revealed that he also stirred up death threats - including one that sent agents scrambling to figure out how many gay bars there were in Cincinnati. The file was almost entirely of details about threats aimed at the televangelist, though there's no evidence anyone actually tried to harm him.

Falwell's FBI file contained a 1983 letter sent to his television ministry that concluded with the words, "Hoping you will die soon." It was accompanied by a small plastic box containing a live scorpion. There were logs of calls to his Liberty Baptist College warning that a $10,000 reward had been offered for Falwell's "assassination" and that it was to be carried out by "gays in Cincinnati."

One caller advised, "I know this is true, because my brother is one of them." Said another, "I intend to be the one to collect that money." The FBI dispatched agents to determine how many gay bars there were in the Ohio city so they could conduct possible surveillance of any homos thought to be harmful.

Michigan Gay Rights Group: Enough With The Police Sex Stings!

Michigan's Triangle Foundation thinks enough is enough. The gay rights group said it's investigating dozens of entrapment complaints involving police stings at freeway rest stops, including one on I-69 in the township of Clayton. At least one person from the area has asked the group for help, although it wouldn't release details.

"This is profiling," Triangle policy director Sean Konofsky said. "Heterosexuals are never targeted in public sex stings," noting an increase in police activity since the Senator Larry Craig episode in a Minneapolis airport restroom "All of a sudden it's exploded again," Konofsky said.

Clayton Township police admit that they have conducted several stings at the rest area, with the last occurring in July.

Rather than deter crime, police are "interested in making money, and they are interested in shaming gays," Konofsky said. "All these operations prove is that if you entice someone to break the law, they will."

Florida College "Pets Instead Of People: Insurance Plan Angers Gay Groups:

A gay rights group is accusing Palm Beach Community College (PBCC) of putting puppies ahead of people when it comes to health care coverage.

The college had sent an e-mail to employees in early November saying they can enroll in pet insurance, a new voluntary benefit that will take effect in January 2008. That decision rankled leaders of the Palm Beach County Human Rights Council, who have unsuccessfully lobbied PBCC to offer health benefits to domestic partners of gay and unmarried employees.

"While many pet owners consider their dogs and cats part of their families, there is a basic disconnect when an employer will insure an employee's pet but not an employee's partner," Council vice president Deidre Newton said. Newton is an alumna of the PBCC.

NEW STATE PROGRAM EXPANDS HIV HEALTH CARE ACCESS

Milwaukee - The AIDS Resource Center of Wisconsin (ARCW) has announced a new state program to begin in January 2008 that will provide people living with HIV who are currently enrolled in the AIDS Drug Assistance Program (ADAP) with access to comprehensive health insurance.

ARCW was the architect of the new program that Governor Jim Doyle included in his budget proposal. During the drawn-out budget process, ARCW lobbied the legislature extensively on the program and was ultimately successful in garnering strong bi-partisan support from leaders of both the Wisconsin State Senate and Assembly.

The plan was included in the budget passed by the legislature and signed into law by Doyle in late October.

"With this new plan, Wisconsin will continue to be a national leader in the fight against HIV and AIDS," ARCW Public Affairs Manager Bill Keeton told Quest. "The commitment of Governor Doyle as well as Democratic and Republican legislators to ensure access to health care for people living with HIV in our communities is to be applauded."

About 200 people with HIV and no health insurance enrolled in ADAP will potentially be eligible for the program. The new program will take funds now used to purchase medications for this group of people and instead purchase health insurance policies for them when it is cost efficient to do so.

"This program is a great way to make sure people with HIV can get health insurance," Keeton said. "A lot of people with HIV may not visit their doctor because they do not have insurance and can not afford the costs of a doctor's appointment. This program will help eliminate this barrier for many people living with HIV."

Additionally, the program will provide insurance coverage for a broader selection of medications than does ADAP and will cover costs for doctor's appointments, check-ups, laboratory tests and necessary hospital visits.

"People with HIV have the opportunity for a long and healthy life if they are able to get medications and regularly visit their doctors. Unfortunately, many people with HIV lack insurance and therefore do not visit a doctor or clinic until their health is in serious jeopardy," Keeton continued. "The new program will be in place to help make sure people living with HIV without the ability to pay for insurance or medical bills still get the health care and medications they need to live a long and healthy life."

People living with HIV who are currently enrolled in ADAP can contact their social work case managers or ARCW at 1-800-359-9272 to find out if they are eligible for the new health insurance program. Additionally, people can contact the Wisconsin AIDS/HIV program staff directly at 1-800-991-5532 to learn more about the program.

POLICE PROBE OF GREENVILLE LESBIAN'S KILLING NETS FEW LEADS

Greenville - More than a month has passed since Lara Plamann was found in a pole barn on her Greenville property dead of a gunshot wound. Outagamie County Sheriff's deputies found the 30-year old woman dead of a gunshot wound to the head on October 18. Dianna Siveny, who has described herself as Plamann's domestic partner, had reported her missing the night before.

Two detectives have worked full time on the case since the discovery. According to Sheriff's Captain Mike Jobe, the task of gathering and evaluating evidence takes time and patience, and requires waiting for items to be processed by the State Crime Lab.

Jobe said no one has been identified or eliminated as a suspect. Investigators and crime scene technicians spent five days after Plamann was found searching the couple's home and property. A hoped for break in the case evaporated after the owner of a Volkswagen Beetle came forward a day after police announced the driver as a possible "person of interest." "We haven't by any means hit a wall," Jobe told the Appleton Post-Crescent recently. "We're still plugging along and we are still working on it. There's still a lot of stuff to check. There's so much to do, people don't understand."

Those close to her still don't know much more than they did the day she was found six weeks ago. "It's frustrating in the sense we don't have exact answers, but they warned us from the start this is a long process," Bridget Plamann, Lara's sister-in-law, told reporter John Lee.

Investigators ask anyone who knew Lara Plamann and may have information about her or her death to call Lt. Christopher Proietti of the Outagamie County Sheriff's Department at 920-832-5629.

ROW DINNER SETS ATTENDANCE, FUNDRAISING RECORDS

Nearly $11,000 Raised At Northeast LGBT Foundation's Signature Event

Kimberly - Over two hundred attended the Rainbow Over Wisconsin annual dinner, auction, entertainment and dance here November 17, a 63% increase in ticket sales over last year. Organizers told Quest that preliminary figures indicate the event raised approximately $10,700 for ROW's Community Enrichment Fund grant program, the largest in the four-year history of the event.

Formal presentation of the Guernsey Gala Award was made to Jeff Nelson of the Napalese Lounge. Guernsey coordinator Marilyn Schroeder was named ROW Member Of The Year and The Chuck Hubbard Memorial Service Award was given to ROW secretary Mike Fitzpatrick.

Retiring President Dean Dayton was given a surprise award for his leadership and vision as ROW's longest serving Executive Board member. Dayton has served as either President or Vice-President since the organization was founded in 1996.

The entertainment program that followed was filled with numbers by some of the state's best known gay performers and pageant titleholders. Josie Lynn, Cass Marie Domino, Venus Love, Mabel Kane, Mr. Lukas, the legendary Loretta Lamour and current Mr. Wisconsin USA Unlimited Curtis Ryan offered their live vocal and impersonator talents.

The event was held at the Liberty Hall Banquet and Convention Center in Kimberly, and featured a menu of Smothered Breast Of Chicken, Medallions Of Roasted Tenderloin, Baby Red potatoes, Cajun Jambalaya, Stir-Fried Vegetables, Caesar & Spinach Salads, Tropical Fresh Fruit, homemade bakery roll mix, Southern Pecan Pie, and Double Chocolate Brownie Pie. The meal will served family style, allowing those wishing to enjoy only vegetarian items the opportunity to do so.

The annual ROW dinner is the foundation's signature fund-raising event, according to President Dean Dayton. "It's an opportunity for old friends to make new friends at a fun event that also advances the northeast Wisconsin community's 'gay agenda' by donating to Rainbow's Community Enrichment Fund," Dayton said.

HOLIDAY PUNCH HITS THE BOARDS

Milwaukee - It's that time of year! Once again Dale Gutzman has concocted a unique mixture of song and comedy at Off the Wall Theatre with Holiday Punch 2007.

Along with Music Director Chris Wszalek, and technical director David Roper, Gutzman brings one of Milwaukee's oldest Christmas show traditions to life in a brand new edition. And What do the crazy Off the Wall Crew have in store for you this holiday Season? Comedy Sketches include a look at Daniel Radcliffe (Harry Potter) appearing naked on stage in Equus, a visit to prison with Paris Hilton, a Bombay Bollywood version of the television game show Deal or No Deal, called appropriately enough Delhi or New Delhi, and a Broadway musical based on the Larry Craig scandal.

Gutzman also has fun with the TV shows Phenomenon, To Tell the Truth, and High School Musical. There is also a fun filled tribute to the city of Milwaukee. Plus all the usual audience involvement and improvisation that has made Holiday Punch legendary.

The Holiday Punch cast this year includes, Sharon Rise, Kristin Pagenkopf, Jeremy Welter, David Roper, David Kaye, Natasha Mortazavi, Mary Rodgers, Joseph Snyder, Annie Mater, Mary Henriksen, Lawrence Lukasavage, Michael Davis, and of course Gutzman himself.

Holiday Punch has been entertaining Milwaukee folks for a quarter of a century, and it appears that nothing can stop it! Dale Gutzman's Holiday Punch plays at Off the Wall Theatre, 127 E. Wells St. beginning December 14 through the end of the year, with two shows on New Years Eve. For the full schedule of performances and to order ticket, call 414-327-3552 or visit the Off The Wall website online at: www.offthewalltheatre.com.

CANDLELIGHT VIGIL MARKING AMENDMENT PASSAGE DRAWS 60

Green Bay - About sixty northeast Wisconsin area residents attended a candlelight vigil marking the passage of the so-called "Protection of Marriage" amendment to the Wisconsin constitution held in front to the Brown County courthouse here November 7. Andrew DeBaker of the Green Bay Action Network, a local LGBT advocacy group, spoke to the attendees, some of whom had traveled from the Fox Cities and Door County to participate. "We're still here, we're still going to work, raising our kids, living our lives," DeBaker said, after noting that while the passage of the amendment may have hurt the LGBT community, the community has regrouped and is ready to continue its struggle for full equality.

DeBaker then introduced Fair Wisconsin Executive Director Glen Carlson who pointed out the political successes that wrapped the amendment loss. "The cold and callous forces of intolerance and injustice found that their fear-mongering and bluster not only did not get them the political gains they were hoping for, it actually cost them real political power," Carlson said. "In mobilizing the 'no' vote last year, particularly by mobilizing younger voters in historic numbers, we ended up ousting intolerant politicians and electing fair-minded legislators across the state.

Vigil poster Carlson then enumerated the political successes. "We have no more John Gard, no more Mark Green," he said. "The party of intolerance no longer has control of the State Senate. The Democrats picked up eight seats in the Assembly, took control of the State Senate, picked up a Congressional seat and retained the governorship."

Carlson also noted that intolerance is not limited to one political party. "Political party is not a precise proxy for fir mindedness on LGBT issues," he said. "Fair Wisconsin and the Green Bay Action Network will mobilize the forces of justice next year to elect even more pro-fairness legislators."

The Green Bay Action Network feels the event raised awareness that the negative effects this amendment continues to cause Wisconsin gay and lesbian couples and their families. "We want to remind the Wisconsin lawmakers and voters who put this mean-spirited amendment in effect that we are a part of this community, and that we will continue to fight for the rights we need and deserve," event coordinator and spokesman Andrew DeBaker had said prior to the vigil.

The Green Bay Action Network is a group of individuals actively working for the improvement of the lives of the LGBT community in Northeast Wisconsin. It is dedicated to reminding the general public of the discrimination LGBT people in Wisconsin face every day by lack of access to basic rights and freedoms including the right to get married.

DISCOUNT TICKETS TO AVENUE Q, SPAMALOT AVAILABLE FOR LGBT CENTER SUPPORTERS

Milwaukee - Broadway may be dark at the moment but two of its most gay-friendly hits are on their way to Milwaukee. And LGBT Community Center supporters can save up to 15% on advance sale tickets through November 30!

Avenue Q is the story of Princeton, a bright-eyed college grad who comes to New York City with big dreams and a tiny bank account. He soon discovers that the only neighborhood in his price range is Avenue Q; still, the neighbors seem nice. There's Brian the out-of-work comedian and his therapist fiancée Christmas Eve; Nicky the good-hearted slacker and his roommate Rod - a Republican investment banker who seems to have some sort of secret; an Internet addict called Trekkie Monster; and a very cute kindergarten teaching assistant named Kate. And would you believe the building's superintendent is Gary Coleman? (Yes, that Gary Coleman.) Together, Princeton and his newfound friends struggle to find jobs, dates, and their ever-elusive purpose in life.

Monty Python's Spamalot is the outrageous new musical comedy lovingly ripped off from the film classic "Monty Python and The Holy Grail." Directed by Tony Award-winner Mike Nichols, with a book by Eric Idle and music and lyrics by the Grammy Award-winning team of Mr. Idle and John Du Prez, Spamalot tells the tale of King Arthur and his Knights of the Round Table as they embark on their quest for the Holy Grail. Flying cows, killer rabbits, taunting Frenchmen and show-stopping musical numbers are just a few of the reasons audiences everywhere are eating up Spamalot.

The gay-friendly Avenue Q will run February 26 through March 2, 2008 at the Marcus Center's Uihlein Hall, 929 N. Water Street in downtown Milwaukee. Discount performances will be the matinees running Wednesday, February 27 and Saturday, March 1.

Spamalot is set to run April 19 through May 4, also at the Marcus Center venue. Discount performances will be the evening shows on May 1 and May 4. To obtain discounts ranging for 10-15%, visit the Marcus Center ticket website at: <http://www.eventusher.com>, and type in the password "lgbtrnke" (no parentheses) to purchase tickets to either or both shows. Deadline is November 30. For more information, call Kathy Miller at 414-273-7121 Ext. 210.

According to Dyer, ARCW is currently looking for young gay and bisexual men ages 21 and over to join the Bag Boyz HIV prevention program. Bag Boyz are trained volunteers who provide education, safer sex materials, and referrals to other gay men in bars and clubs throughout the Milwaukee area.

STAGEQ SETS DECEMBER AUDITIONS FOR TWO SHOWS

Madison - StageQ will hold auditions for its March production of the musical comedy Pulp by Patricia Kane. Pulp was originally produced by About Face Theater in Chicago. Pulp is an affectionate parody of the lurid lesbian fiction of the 1950s. Departing from the obligatory tragic endings of '50s lesbian pulp fiction, Kane not only happily pairs off three sets of lovers by the end of Pulp, but also has immense good fun with the punchy style of the genre, and the lure of lesbian bars, drag kings, and the appeal of Barbara Stanwyck.

The play will be directed by Tara Ayres. Auditions will be held on Monday and Tuesday, December 10 and 11, 2007, with callbacks on Wednesday, December 12. Auditions will begin at 7 PM at 148 E Wilson Street, first floor, in Madison. Appointments may be arranged for a different date.

Actors will read from the script, and should also prepare one verse of a show tune (suggested composers: Cole Porter or George Gershwin.) Please bring selected sheet music with you for the accompanist. Wear clothes to move in. Copies of the script are available via e-mail upon request to pulp@stageq.com.

Roles are available for 5 or 6 women, ages 30 - 55. All roles involve singing. Performance dates for Pulp are March 7-29, 2008. Rehearsals will begin in late December. For more information about Pulp auditions contact pulp@stageq.com or call 608-661-9696, Ext 3 to leave contact information.

StageQ also will hold auditions for its February "dark nights" production of An Evening With Carol and Lydia, shorts by Lynda Suzuki and Carol Mullen. The plays will be directed by Katy Conley. Auditions will be held on Monday and Tuesday, December 17 and 18, 2007, with callbacks on Wednesday, December 19.

Auditions will begin at 7 PM at 148 E Wilson Street, first floor, in Madison. Appointments may be arranged for a different date. Actors will read from the scripts (6 short plays). Roles are available for 9 - 18 women, ages 20 - 70. The shorts may be double-cast. Performance dates for the shorts are February 11 - 27, 2008. Rehearsals will begin in late December.

For more information about An Evening With Carol and Lydia auditions contact shorts@stageq.com or call 608.661.9696, ext 3 to leave contact information.

GUESS WHO IS ON MYSPACE

myspace.com/midtowne\_spa\_milwaukee

For several decades the ability to see that "gay sensibility" in mass media has been evolving. It started with gay characters in the movies, then movies with a gay theme. We all know about the Will and Grace sitcom and Showtime's Queer as Folk. Recently two U.S. cable channels devoted to LGBT tastes: LOGO and here! took flight. Now there is Pride Radio with Ryan and Caroline. Imagine Will and Grace if they did a morning radio talk show. Yeah, it's something like that, but it's real!

Pride Radio is America's first nationally syndicated radio talk show targeted to the LGBT community is an innovative radio talk show formatted for FM stations across America, featuring interviews with celebrities, music artists, fashion gurus, travel experts, authors; gossip from leading Hollywood correspondents; coverage of entertainment and topical news, movie reviews, and lifestyle trends. Listeners can also call in to share their coming out stories.

I had the opportunity to meet up with Ryan at a Caribou Coffee in Mequon just before Thanksgiving while he was home for the holiday. It's easy to see how Ryan's infectious upbeat personality translates so well to a fun radio show format. It's not all fluff and nonsense either. Both co-hosts are well heeled in the media world working in Chicago and New York for several years.

Real-life best friends, Ryan Jay and Caroline Hand met as producers at the music television channel, VH-1. Collectively, they have produced for Bravo, MTV, Showtime and The Jerry Springer Show. They also produce the movie review blog, www.WeSeeMovies.com. The popular blog brought them to the attention of Cohen, who felt the pair's chemistry and and quirkiness was suitable for the new LGBT radio show he was developing. Clear Channel announced the deal this past fall.

"The time feels right to launch a radio program for our community and those who support us," Ryan told Jimmy Newsum in a recent interview. He noted being inspired by today's generation of gay men and women who are coming out earlier than ever before.

Ryan waited until after college to come out, "because at the time, there was no programming that spoke to me as a gay man. This was before Bravo's Queer Eye for the Straight Guy and Showtime's Queer As Folk. If I had found a radio show that validated my feelings, I would have busted out of that closet a lot sooner!" Don't feel too sorry for him though guys, Ryan did most of his coming out in Chicago. 'Nuff said.

Not everyone on the show is gay, according to Caroline Hand, the "Grace" sidekick to Ryan Jay's "Will" on Pride Radio. The pair embraces their sitcom label. They are even introduced on the show as radio's Will & Grace.

Caroline claims to be the token straight girl, but Hand's role is more instrumental than she says. "Women and gay men often share the same perspective and sharing the co-host responsibilities widens the audience to both gays and straights," Newsum noted in his interview.

A recent feature in Red, a Phoenix, AZ-based magazine noted the show has more than just a gay following. In fact it is embraced by a large part of the mainstream listening audience. "It just goes to show you entertainment is a two way street," Ryan said. "Just as the gay community embraces movies and shows with heterosexual themes, our show appeals to everyone who appreciates great entertainment."

Listeners can find Clear Channel's Pride Radio in 20 markets including Madison. There are at least 5 regular FM stations and the rest are carried on that new digital HD Radio. By checking www.ryanandcaroline.com I saw the duo are on WXXM in Madison and WKSC in Chicago. The show is taped in New York City at Premiere Studios, above Radio City Music Hall.

Unfortunately the show isn't carried in Ryan's home town market, Milwaukee. It may take Quest readers and others calling or emailing WKTI or another station to get that done. Until then Milwaukee listeners with access to a Windows computer can check the website and even listen to some of the shows archived on the site. Sorry, Macintosh users (like me): Windows DRM is used by Clear Channel, so we get to wait.

If you are into movies then you should also check out www.WeSeeMovies.com. This blog will keep you up to date about what's good to watch. Believe me, they seem to know about everything coming out!

We have promised Ryan and Caroline the cover in January's Outbound Magazine. Ryan tells me he may have some new developments to share with us then.

Ask the Irreverent, Uncle Barbie

Your Intellectual Whore

(An effervescently gay advice columnist)

Disclaimer: Although the author of this syndicated column holds a doctorate in clinical psychology, the tongue-in-cheek advice given is for entertainment only and is not a substitute for therapy. Barbie responds to all emails...whether you deserve it or not. Send your questions to Uncle Barbie at: askunclebarbie@aol.com sentence you to life in prison, but there is a greater judgment that awaits you after you die." How many times have we heard the statement, "You will have to answer for your crimes to a higher power in the next life"?

To answer your question more specifically, I think you feel happy believing that your enemies are going to Hell because it reinforces your belief in a just world. Believing that the people who hurt you will, in turn, also be hurt is a defense mechanism. You are simply trying to console yourself--to even the score. It is a rather futile mental exercise and one that I strongly suggest you break. It's counterproductive to waste your energy on fantasies of petty revenge. Instead, focus your attention on more positive thoughts. All major religions encourage their members to love their fellow human beings. Since you have indicated that you are a Christian, I will relay the information in a contextual framework to which you will be more accustomed. Christ commanded his followers to love one another--even to love their enemies. That's quite an undertaking. However, you will find that feeling love is a much more rewarding experience than harboring hatred in your heart. We all have free will, so choose to think of your enemies as being a test from God/Goddess to see how well you can love your fellow human beings. Use THAT to console yourself.

A Clear Sign of the Apocalypse, Barbie

An Imitation Christ

Dear Uncle Barbie,

Why do I take such pleasure in knowing that Christ is going to punish the people I don't like? Several days ago, I ran into a woman who used to be my neighbor. I never did like her very much, but now I actually hate her, especially after what she said to me about my dad. She asked me, "What's new?" I started telling her that my dad was in the hospital and very sick. She smirked and said, "Oh, then there is a God after all." She was actually happy to hear that my dad was suffering. I know that my dad and she never got along very well, but I can't believe that she would be happy to find out that he was in pain. The only way I could make myself feel better was to tell myself that she would, undoubtedly, go to Hell for being such a bad person. It felt really good to know that she would burn in Hell for all eternity. So my question to you is this, why do I feel so happy knowing that my enemies are going to Hell?

Signed, Amber

Hello Amber,

Perhaps your name should be Ember rather than Amber (as in, a burning ember from Hell). You say you believe that Christ will punish the people you don't like. Thinking of Jesus as a vengeful god is to believe in an imitation Christ. For most loving people, wishing that another human being would spend eternity in pain would be a new low. For you, however, I suspect that this is just a new medium. I find it interesting that both you and your former neighbor draw satisfaction from the suffering of your enemies. I know you will hate me for saying this, but the two of you are more alike than you want to admit. (Now, I suppose, you are going to fantasize about me having a reservation at hotel Hell for making that last comment.) I am not intentionally trying to annoy you. It's just that it is my job, as a therapist, to cut through all the bullshit and point out the issues that everyone else is tiptoeing around. The issue here is, you want to see her suffer just as much as she wants to see your dad suffer. Of course, I cannot FORCE either one of you to change your attitude. As an advice columnist, it is not my job to CHANGE human behavior--only to poke fun of it. (It's a nice job, if you can get it.)

I am able to recognize and identify this type of destructive thought pattern because I grew up in a religious household that implemented and put into practice said mindset. Now that I look at this issue from a familial/domestic perspective, I am starting to sense that this whole punitive attitude of retaliation is starting to take on the flavor of parental punishment. I think most of us remember hearing the threatening phrase, "You're gonna get it when dad gets home." Perhaps this need you have to punish the "unholy" is a carryover from your childhood days when your parents unconsciously modeled that attitude for you. Be honest with yourself; you had to have picked up that viewpoint somewhere. Upon a broader reflection of societal values, the legal system in this country seems to be based on a punitive and moralistic foundation rather than one of rehabilitation and reconciliation. Even in the courtrooms, judges make similar moralistic statements, such as, "I can only

A FIRST ANNIVERSARY CHAT WITH KRUZ'S JERRY BREILING

Interview by Mike Fitzpatrick

Milwaukee - November 25 marked the first anniversary of the opening of Kruz for business and life partners Jerry Breiling and Serge Bellitelli. "Basically a man's bar," according to longtime bartender, and manager BSerge Bellitelli, Kruz is a "fun, clean, comfortable place for everyone to come." He dispels the notion that "we're not necessarily a Leather-Levi bar." "We're a 'people bar' with all types and walks of life coming in here," Breiling told Quest.

Breiling has a long history of involvement with the city's gay bars. "I started working at the Wreck Room when I was 18 or 19, probably one of the youngest bartenders they ever had," Breiling said. Breiling has also worked at the Harbor Room, and M & Ms.

And "probably one of the smallest they ever had" he quipped. The others were "all big and beefy boys," he said. "They gave me a chance to prove myself to them and I ended up being the manager there for five or six years."

Breiling loves running Kruz. "I love the business, which makes a big difference for me," Breiling said.

Breiling has seen a lot of changes in the Milwaukee gay bar scene over the years. "From my first being out, it's a lot different now," he said. "Partially, I think it's because of the Internet. The old-fashioned way was come to the bar and meet somebody. Now you can do that on the Internet."

"The younger generation has a different agenda," Breiling said. "It's less cruisy. People come (to Kruz) mostly to socialize. We've got a lot of things going on - dart leagues, baseball teams, a couple of bowling teams."

Decor has changed as well. "Back in the (old days), everything was always dark. There were never any windows in any bars. Now you can actually see the person you're talking to versus the Braille technique," Breiling joked. "Back in the day, you went out to cruise, that's why we call it Kruz!"

Other factors have impacted the bar scene as well, Breiling feels. "The changes in the drunk driving laws: drunk driving is now a big issue," he said. "Before we'd say (to someone who had a few too many) 'Get in your car and get home!' Not any more."

The mainstreaming of the LGBT community has also impacted the gay bar scene. "You don't necessarily have to go to a gay bar to have a good time any more," Breiling said. "Everything is gay-friendly now - pretty much."

Recent changes in ownership have also impacted the Milwaukee gay bar scene, Breiling feels. "Look at the whole Third Ward: with M & M's and Wreck Room gone - that was the start of the changing over," he said. "People expect more from the bars now - with (drink) specials and special events."

Breiling's "silent partner" is also his life partner for eight years. When he's not doing his day job as a software developer, Serge Bellitelli works behind the scenes. "Far behind," Bellitelli joked. "I do the bookkeeping and the accounting."

On Kruz's first anniversary, Breiling is thankful for those who have supported him "throughout his career" in the bar business. "Everybody seems to know who I am, though I wish I could say I could remember everyone (I've met) by name - It's been a sea of people," he said. "I love my job: I get paid for entertaining!"

Ric Fest III-Karaoke

Ric Fest had its finale Saturday, Nov. 17th at Frank's Power Plant in Bayview! There was an exciting turnout with fifteen contestants competing from eight preliminaries! There were many talented contestants and lots of money raised. The winners for the finale are:

1. Mr. Ric Fest-Bob (Gay Bob from Chicago) Bortman representing M's.
2. Ms. Ric Fest-Eva representing Frank's Powerplant
3. Group-John Kaspar and Justin Moore representing BOOM, The ROOM
4. The Judges' Choice Award-Nastassja representing Timothy York's Bistro.

A total of $400 in prize money was awarded. A thank you goes out from the Ric Fest committee to all the bars who held preliminaries: M's, Fluid, Mona's, Switch, Timothy York's Bistro, Boom the Room, Frank's Power Plant, and Walker's Pint! Also, I want to thank all the people on the committee (Rhonda, Justin, Spencer, Chad, Doug, Nelson, Julie, Chef Lory and especially Becky) for helping judge at the preliminaries, helping set up decorations and silent auction, and all the work getting this event to happen.

Over $1,500 was raised from Ric Fest for a LGBT high school student going to college. Applications for the scholarship will be sent out in December to southeast Wisconsin schools, but the scholarship is open across the state of Wisconsin. An article in the WEAC teacher's union paper will also be coming out to promote it across Wisconsin. Finally, applications will be available at the LGBT Community Center. The scholarship winner will be announced this spring. Thank you to all that made this a success!

NEW ON TV by Glenn Bishop TORCHWOOD on BBC America

Normally Glenn has stacks and stacks of New Gay DVD Releases to screen but while channel surfing recently discovered "Torchwood," a fabulous new TV show in BBC America. Already the darling of the LGBT media, "Torchwood" features openly gay actor John Barrowman as Captain Jack Harkness, the enigmatic leader of the super-elite group Torchwood who have the responsibility to act as guardians of a time-riff that threatens the very safety of planet Earth.

For those not familiar yet with "Torchwood" - and you should be - Barrowman's Captain Jack was initially introduced during the recent reincarnation of the fabled British sci-fi cult classic, "Doctor Who." While on a sojourn during war-torn London of the 1940s, The Doctor encountered Captain Jack, then something of a celestial con man. Torchwood too had its origins during a delightful episode of "Doctor Who" when that venerable British monarch Queen Victoria foresaw the threat posed by other worlds.

So popular was Barrowman's charismatic Captain Jack, he returned for further adventures on "Doctor Who" before he eventually became the leader of Torchwood-Cardiff on a spin-off series. Captain Jack's crack Torchwood team of agents includes Owen Harper (Burn Gorman), both brilliant scientist and team troublemaker. Toshiko Sato plays Naoko Mori, a computer wiz while handsome Ianto Jones (Gareth David Lloyd) merely clean ups, order pizzas and look devastatingly good-looking in designer suits. But who is Captain Jack? Both in his earlier "Doctor Who" appearances and in the initial episodes of "Torchwood," Captain Jack is something of an enigma wrapped in a conundrum. Glenn isn't really sure what that means but it sounds just about right. None on his Torchwood team, including newbie character Gwen Cooper (Eve Myles), seem to know anything about him. But Gwen is determined to find out. As a cop who is added to the Torchwood team during the first episode, Gwen makes finding out about Captain Jack her first priority. Yet the only Captain Jack Harkness her sources discover is an American World War II fighter pilot killed during the war. Surely, that can't be him?

Without resorting to any spoilers, Glenn recommends everyone tune in to BBC America for Episode 12, appropriately titled, "Captain Jack Harkness." Not only will many questions about Captain Jack be answered, viewers will be treated to an episode so sweetly romantic, only the bitterest old queens will find themselves not moved to tears.

Tape it, Watch it or Switch channels

Sci-fi might not be everyone's cup of tea but Glenn recommends giving "Torchwood" a chance if not now while being broadcast on BBC America, then when available in January on DVD. Devised by Russell T Davies, creator of the original British "Queer as Folk" series, "Torchwood" is a smart, well-written and exciting futuristic drama with a definite gay sensibility.

Just the facts...

"Torchwood: Season 1" consists of 13 hour-long episodes and is broadcast on the cable network, BBC America. Original episodes screen at 8:00pm on Saturday nights. "Torchwood" begins an encore presentation on Saturday, December 8 with the first episode on BBC America. For full information about "Torchwood," logon to www.bbcamerica.com. The DVD of the series will be released on Tuesday, January 22 with a SRP of $79.95.

A BOY'S BOY

How can a boy have a boy?

There are more possibilities here than one might expect. Consider for example an Alpha boy in an extended Leather "family"; that is: more than one boy and possibly more than one Dom all living in the same place. Even though the alpha boy may not be in total control, he could be involved in an intimate affair with another boy living in that "family". Or it could be with a boy that is a regular visitor or player with him and a Dominant of that household/family. As a side note, two or more boys in a household can keep a dominant satisfied in multiple ways. Many Dom's enjoy being served by two or more boys at once, and later, watching them gratify each other as well.

Consider also the possibilities of just two boys living together. First of all both of them are likely to most often focus on pleasing the other. This will take place in daily living, domestic functions, and intimate activities as well. AND, it is just possibly an affair for emotional and sexual fulfillment only, rather than a Dom/sub play scene.

Many will think a boy cannot keep another boy satisfied but it isn't necessarily so. As one will often dominate for some fetishes; the other will dominate for other fetishes. Also, this lessens the interest for either to look outside the partnership for another person in that far more needs will be gratified. That in itself can decrease the possible jealousy aspect of a, boy/boy — male/male, relationship. Sorry ladies, I don't know nor understand Female arrangements so I cannot speak with any expertise in that area. Beyond that, there can evolve between the two a tendency on the part of the more submissive to yield to the others needs and accept taking the Dom roll in intimate activity to gratify that partner. It is sometimes difficult in these cases for an outsider to perceive who is the Dom and who the sub. Often it can be buried in the intricacies of their relationship. Also each boy can dominate in their own area of expertise of daily life. It may happen that the Most sub will tend to be the major breadwinner in the "family". That action in itself satisfies a need of some subs to serve, and therefore completes a subtle facet of a boy/boy relationship.

Then we can consider the Masochistic tendencies of one or both. Each will likely have some of this tendency. As such, they will both know what it means to receive those stimulations. Therefore most will have a sense of how to administer them. A good boy can become quite expert in the art of administering pleasurable pain to a partner. The receivers anticipation of more stimuli can increase the pleasure of the pain experienced at those moments and, an experienced boy will know that. Yes!, a boy can and does know how to tease and arouse another boy. This can allow a time for two boys to become more intimate with each other than they can be with any Dom. The control of self and each other can and does take on a new refinement beyond what any D/s activity might ever achieve. This can and often does lead to a very long, extended relationship. Quite often a boy will realize the full implications of the following quote :

"To accept and exercise complete control, One must accept and exercise complete responsibility" — inspired by Master Jim Glass —

Almost all truly dedicated boys understand this. I have met a few Dominants that also understand this. They are the few that I trust with the dedication of my physical being and emotional self to Them.

Thank You SIR ! boy jeff H. Milw., WI.
